For section 4, do we need to take any actions prior to the"plan" described in section four being developed and implemented? And who is responsible for developing the plan?

For section 6, should we adjudicate cases in TRIG hold? It doesn't seem like exemptions are forthcoming.

To start and just on this part of the EO:

1. Are the following forms impacted: N-400s, N-336, I-601A, I-131, I-765, N-565, I-130, ...?
2. Should we deschedule oath ceremonies for individuals from the 7?
3. How do we handle N-400s 120+ days from interview?
4. Should we stop RFEs?
5. Should we stop scheduling interviews?

Everyone should be compiling a list of all of their questions and getting them to Jess so Lori and I have a complete list. If there are URGENT questions that we need answers to before Monday go ahead and flag those for us but I'm not sure the Department is going to get to us immediately, they are likely dealing with issues at the POEs which have a bit more urgency. I did send the question of whether this impact naturalization or not to the Department in an attempt to get an answer this weekend only because we have oath ceremonies scheduled for Monday.

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Also, since part of the directive is to reviewing to enhance information we collect and screening, we likely will be proposing changes to the I-730 process, to include revisions to the form and the I-730A, which would be completed by the beneficiary. We have mock ups and can move quickly, but need to think first about those in pipeline. Maura has giving directive to staff outside US to cancel pick up document pickups for 730s for next week.

We are working on further guidance and of course will coordinate with SCOP.

State has also issued guidance. Will forward.

As we've discussed, the most urgent question is whether adjustments and extensions or changes of nonimmigrant status are impacted. If we can define "suspend processing" as "suspend prior to approval", then one option would be to continue with the interviews, since it is likely we have some that are scheduled as soon as Monday for affected applicants and then hold the cases post interview. We are trying to scrape our schedulers (C4 and NASS) to see when and where we have interviews scheduled for individuals from affected countries. We should have that sometime Monday.

Tracy,

It is my understanding that POTUS will sign the "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Attacks by Foreign Nationals" order today at 4:30pm. In complying with the EA I believe we need immediate clarification in Section 3 (c) relative to the 30 day suspension of processing immigrants and non-immigrants from the designated countries of interest and if this extends to processing of permanent resident applications. Though the EA states "immigrant and non-immigrant entry into the United States", once we grant an adjustment we "admit" that person. [redacted] We just need to clarify if by extension this applies to our product lines. If this is the case then Don and Dan will need to get guidance to the Field to put these adjudications on hold. Other than the refugee suspension that appears fully deployed on our end this appears the most urgent clarification we need relative to the EAs. (b)(5)

Hi All – attached is the executive order signed early this evening by the President. Please let me, Mike and Larry know if any questions or immediate impacts to policy come to mind. In the meantime, please send any questions!

Thanks,

Here is a quick summary (please read the entire document – I tried to hit the "highlights"):

1. Suspension of Issuance of Visas and Other Immigration Benefits to Nationals of Countries of Particular Concern. There are review and reporting requirements that shall be completed within 30 days and additional follow up reporting requirements. While the review is conducted, the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry into the United States of aliens from countries referred to in section 217(a)(12) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1187(a)(12), is suspended for 90 days. The Secretary shall provide a list of countries that do not provided necessary information to adjudicate and additional countries may be added. Visas may be issued to nationals of "blocked" countries in the national interest.
2. Implementing Uniform Screening Standards for All Immigration Programs A program, as part of the adjudication process for immigration benefits, to identify individuals seeking to enter the United States on a fraudulent basis with the intent to cause harm, or who are at risk of causing harm subsequent to their admission will be created and will include development of a uniform screening standard and procedure; a database of identity documents proffered by applicants; amended application forms with questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent; a process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest; and a mechanism to assess whether or not the applicant has the intent to commit criminal or terrorist acts after entering the United States.
3. Realignment of the U.S. Refugee Admissions Program for Fiscal Year 2017. Suspension of the U.S. Refugee Admissions Program (USRAP) for 120 days for review of the USRAP application and adjudication process to determine what additional procedures should be taken to ensure that those approved for refugee admission do not pose a threat to the security and welfare of the United States. After 120 days, USRAP admissions resume for nationals of countries for which have been determined that such additional procedures are adequate to ensure the security and welfare of the United States. Refugee claims made by individuals on the basis of religious-based persecution, provided that the religion of the individual is a minority religion in the individual's country of nationality will be prioritized. Admission of refugees from Syria will be suspended. The refugee limit will be 50,000 for fiscal year 2017.
4. Rescission of Exercise of Authority Relating to the Terrorism Grounds of Inadmissibility. The Secretaries of State and Homeland Security shall, in consultation with the Attorney General, consider rescinding the exercises of authority in section 212 of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1182, relating to the terrorism grounds of inadmissibility, as well as any related implementing memoranda.
5. Expedited Completion of the Biometric Entry-Exit Tracking System.
6. Visa Interview Security. The visa interview waiver program is suspended to ensure compliance with section 222 of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1222, which requires that all individuals seeking a nonimmigrant visa undergo an in-person interview, subject to specific statutory exceptions.
7. Visa Validity Reciprocity. The Secretary of State shall review all nonimmigrant visa reciprocity agreements to ensure that they are, with respect to each visa classification, truly reciprocal.

Hi all,
There was a lot in the news this weekend about Friday's Executive Order. Attached is the EO and below is a message that Molly sent out to Chiefs and Deputies on Saturday. We expect to get more guidance this week on how to implement the three Eos, but can't predict when anything will come through. The majority of decisions are being made at the DHS or WH level. So while I don't have many details or answers to share, I would ask that you all be ready to jump in to issues when they come up. As I get any new information, I will share with the team.

Thanks,

With the issuance of yesterday's EO, see attached, I wanted to reach out. It has been a busy week with many changes in the immigration world and I expect there is more to come. As you are likely aware, refugee circuit rides were put on hold for those leaving through February 15 even before the EO was signed. There should be more information coming on what is expected now thaht we have the language of the EO. IO is pausing pick-ups for 730s overseas next week, until we sort out what the EO means. Most of the immediate focus from the most recent EO has been on how to interpret the 212(f) suspension of entry provisions as CBP began implementing last night.

For the two prior EOs, I expect we will see some implementing guidance next week and some direction on how DHS will coordinate and prioritize implementing those orders. There will be a large effort across the Department and the whole Executive Branch focused on implementing these significant changes. Once I understand better how DHS is handling, I will have more of a sense of how we can leverage all of the expertise at OCC to help with this effort. I expect that Phil and I will have a discussion with OGC early next week. So I hope we can have a good discussion once I have a few more facts. Please don't hesitate to reach out if you have any specific questions. Interpretations of the latest EO are being coordinated at high levels over the weekend and I believe there will be implementing guidance sometime next week.

As this all develops, we will need everyone's help, creativity and expertise. Flexible and agile really is the most appropriate mantra and I know how much it actually applies to how you all approach your work. Thanks for your commitment.

Subject: Executive Order: PROTECTING THE NATION FROM FOREIGN TERRORIST ENTRY INTO THE UNITED STATES - Field Operations Instructions

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

Effectively immediately and until additional guidance is received, you may not take final action on any petition or application where the applicant is a citizen or national of Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya. Field offices may interview applicants for adjustment of status and other benefits according to current processing guidance and may process petitions and applications for individuals from these countries up to the point where a decision would be made. At that point, cases shall be placed on hold until further notice and will be shelved with specific NFTS codes which will be provided through the Regional Offices. Offices are not permitted make any final decision on affected cases to include approval, denial, withdrawal, or revocation.

Please look for additional guidance later this weekend on how to process naturalization applicants from one of the seven countries listed above who are currently scheduled for oath ceremony or whose N-400s have been approved and they are pending scheduling of oath ceremony.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures as needed in the coming days. Questions or requests for additional clarification may be directed to the Regional Offices through your chain of command.

Dear Colleen, Ron, Molly:

We received the inquiry below from the asylum HQ NACARA POC. I'm not sure if RAIO previously advised the asylum offices (for that brief period) to hold off on all I-881 adjudications or something (which would be odd because the applicants typically aren't from the affected countries in the EO). Regardless, per Lori's attached guidance on the EO, it seems as if the adjudication of NACARA 203 applications should continue as per usual as the I-881 is an application and NACARA applicants are "individuals in the United States" per the language in the 1st paragraph of Lori's guidance.

Please advise at your earliest convenience.

Thanks so much,

Reena,
Can you please advise me if based on this attached memo asylum offices can continue to adjudicate applications filed for suspension of deportation and cancellation of removal under NACARA 203?

In the first enumerated paragraph, the first sentence indicates that the E.O. "does not affect USCIS adjudications of applications and petitions filed for or on behalf of individuals in the United States [...]"

As the I-881 if filed by persons who claim eligibility for NACARA 203, I'm not sure that it falls under the category of "applications [...] filed for or on behalf of individuals in the United States."

The last sentence of first paragraph ("this includes, but is not limited to [...]") does not clarify the question as it isn't clear to what "this" refers.

CRS REPORT
Prepared for Members and Committees of Congress

Summary

The Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) provides that individual aliens outside the United States are "inadmissible"—or barred from admission to the country—on health, criminal, security, and other grounds set forth in the INA. However, the INA also grants the Executive several broader authorities that could be used to exclude certain individual aliens or classes of aliens for reasons that are not specifically prescribed in the INA.

Section 212(f) of the INA is arguably the broadest and best known of these authorities. It provides, in relevant part, that > Whenever the President finds that the entry of any aliens or of any class of aliens into the United States would be detrimental to the interests of the United States, he may by proclamation, and for such period as he shall deem necessary, suspend the entry of all aliens or any class of aliens as immigrants or nonimmigrants, or impose on the entry of aliens any restrictions he may deem to be appropriate.

Over the years, Presidents have relied upon Section 212(f) to suspend or otherwise restrict the entry of individual aliens and classes of aliens, often (although not always) in conjunction with the imposition of financial sanctions upon these aliens. Among those so excluded have been aliens whose actions "threaten the peace, security, or stability of Libya"; officials of the North Korean government; and aliens responsible for "serious human rights violations."

Neither the text of Section 212(f) nor the case law to date suggests any firm legal limits upon the President's exercise of his authority to exclude aliens under this provision. The central statutory constraint imposed on Section 212(f)'s exclusionary power is that the President must have found that the entry of any alien or class of aliens would be "detrimental to the interests of the United States." The statute does not address (1) what factors should be considered in determining whether aliens' entry is "detrimental" to U.S. interests; (2) when and how proclamations suspending or restricting entry should be issued; (3) what factors are to be considered in determining whether particular restrictions are "appropriate"; or (4) how long any restrictions should last. The limited case law addressing exercises of presidential authority under Section 212(f) also supports the view that this provision confers broad authority to bar or impose conditions upon the entry of aliens. Key among these cases is the Supreme Court's 1993 decision in Sale v. Haitian Centers Council, Inc., which held that the U.S. practice of interdicting persons fleeing Haiti outside U.S. territorial waters and returning them to their home country without allowing them to raise claims for asylum or withholding of removal did not violate the INA or the United Nations Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees. The U.S. practice had been established by Executive Order 12807, which was issued, in part, under the authority of Section 212(f) and "suspend[ed] the entry of aliens coming by sea to the United States without necessary documentation." However, depending on their scope, future executive actions under Section 212(f) could potentially be seen to raise legal issues that have not been prompted by the Executive's prior exercises of this authority.

Beyond Section 212(f), other provisions of the INA can also be seen to authorize the Executive to restrict aliens' entry to the United States. Most notably, Section 214(a)(1) prescribes that the "admission of any alien to the United States as a nonimmigrant shall be for such time and under such conditions as [the Executive] may by regulations prescribe." Section 215(a)(1) similarly provides that "it shall be unlawful for any alien" to enter or depart the United States "except under such reasonable rules, regulations, and orders, and subject to such limitations and exceptions as the President may prescribe." For example, President Carter cited Section 215(a)—rather than Section 212(f)—when authorizing the revocation of immigrant and nonimmigrant visas issued to Iranian citizens during the Iran Hostage Crisis.

The Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) provides that individual aliens outside the United States are "inadmissible"—or generally barred from admission to the country[1]—on health, criminal, security, and other grounds set forth in the INA.[2] However, the INA also grants the Executive several broad authorities that could be used to exclude certain individual aliens or classes of aliens for reasons that are not specifically set forth in the INA. Section 212(f) of the INA is arguably the broadest and best known of these provisions,[3] but Sections 214(a)(1) and 215(a)(1) can also be seen to authorize the Executive to restrict aliens' entry or admission to the United States.[4]

This report provides a brief overview of the Executive's authority under these provisions of the INA. It begins with and focuses primarily on Section 212(f). It also briefly notes other provisions.

Section 212(f) of the INA

The provisions currently in Section 212(f)—which have been part of the INA since its enactment in 1952[5]—state, in relevant part, that

> Whenever the President finds that the entry of any aliens or of any class of aliens into the United States would be detrimental to the interests of the United States, he may by proclamation and for such period as he shall deem necessary, suspend the entry of all aliens or any class of aliens as immigrants or nonimmigrants, or impose on the entry of aliens any restrictions he may deem to be appropriate.[6]

Legislative history materials from the time of the INA's enactment suggest that these provisions were seen to grant the President broad authority to bar or impose conditions upon the entry of aliens,[7] and Presidents over the years have relied upon Section 212(f) to suspend or restrict the entry of various groups of aliens, often (although not always) in conjunction with the imposition of financial sanctions upon them. Among those so excluded have been aliens whose actions

[1] The INA defines "admission" to mean "the lawful entry of an alien into the United States after inspection and authorization by an immigration officer." INA § 101(a)(13)(A), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(13)(A). The INA is codified in Title 8 of the United States Code, and references to the INA in this report also include references to the corresponding sections of Title 8.

Certain of these grounds of inadmissibility may be waived. See, e.g., INA § 212(a)(9)(B)(v), 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(9)(B)(v) (authorizing the Executive to waive the 3- and 10-year bars upon the admission of aliens who have been unlawfully present in the United States for more than 180 days if the refusal of admission to the alien would result in "extreme hardship" to a parent or spouse who is a U.S. citizen or lawful permanent resident (LPR)).

As is discussed later in this report, the term "entry" is no longer defined for purposes of the INA. See Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act (IIRIRA), P.L. 104-208, § 301(a), 110 Stat. 3009-575 (Sept. 30, 1996) (amending INA § 101(a)(13) so that it defines "admission," instead of "entry"). However, at one time, the INA defined the term "entry" to mean "any coming of an alien into the United States, from any foreign port or place or from an outlying possession, whether voluntarily or otherwise." INA § 101(a)(13), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(13) (1994). See infra notes 26-27 and accompanying text.

Neither the text of Section 212(f) nor the case law to date suggests any firm legal constraints upon the President's exercise of his authority under Section 212(f), as is explained below. However, future executive actions under INA § 212(f) could potentially be seen to raise legal issues that have not been prompted by the Executive's prior exercise of this authority.[11]

Statutory Language and Executive Branch Interpretations

On its face, Section 212(f) would appear to give the President broad authority to preclude or otherwise restrict the entry into the United States of individual aliens or classes of aliens who are outside the United States and lack recognized ties to the country.[12] The central statutory constraint imposed on Section 212(f)'s exclusionary power is that the President must have found that the entry of any aliens or class of aliens would be "detrimental to the interests of the United States" in order to exclude the alien or class of aliens.[13] The statute does not address (1) what factors should be considered in determining whether aliens' entry is "detrimental" to U.S. interests; (2) when and how proclamations suspending or restricting entry should be issued; (3) what factors are to be considered in determining whether particular restrictions are "appropriate"; or (4) how long any restrictions should last. There also do not appear to be any regulations addressing the exercise of presidential authority under Section 212(f).

The Department of State's Foreign Affairs Manual (FAM) seemingly provides the only publicly available executive branch guidance on the President's Section 212(f) authority. In relevant part, the FAM notes that Section 212(f) proclamations "typically" grant the Secretary of State authority to identify individuals covered by the proclamation and to waive its application for foreign policy [11] Not knowing the form that future restrictions might take, or the grounds upon which such restrictions might be subject to legal challenges, it would be premature to assess whether specific restrictions might be within the Executive's authority. However, it is important to note that aliens outside the United States who have no ties to the country generally have limited ability to challenge the denial of visas or admission to them. See, e.g., Shaughnessy v. Mezei, 345 U.S. 206, 216 (1953) ("Whatever our individual estimate of that policy and the fears on which it rests, respondent's right to enter the United States depends on the congressional will, and courts cannot substitute their judgment for the legislative mandate."); United States ex rel. Knauff v. Shaughnessy, 338 U.S. 537, 542 (1950) ("[A]n alien who seeks admission to this country may not do so under any claim of right. Admission of aliens to the United States is a privilege granted by the sovereign United States Government. Such privilege is granted to an alien only upon such terms as the United States shall prescribe."). But see Kleindienst v. Mandel, 408 U.S. 753, 762-63 (1972) (recognizing that U.S. persons adversely affected by the denial of a visa waiver to an alien outside the United States may have a right to challenge the denial under certain circumstances).

[12] LPRs who leave the United States for a brief period of time are distinguishable from, for example, refugees seeking to be admitted to the United States. See, e.g., Landon v. Plasencia, 459 U.S. 21, 32 (1982) (discussing due process concerns raised by the application to an LPR of a statute which provided for the exclusion of any alien who "at any time shall have, knowingly and for gain, encouraged, induced, assisted, abetted, or aided any other alien to enter or to try to enter the United States in violation of law").

or other national interests.[14] The FAM also notes that such proclamations may bar entry based on either affiliation or "objectionable" conduct. In addition, it provides that Section 212(f) may reach persons who are inadmissible under other provisions of law, in which case, the "statutory inadmissibilities are to be considered prior to determining whether a Presidential Proclamation applies."[15] However, the FAM is generally not seen as having the force of law to bind the executive branch.[16] Thus, the Executive would not need to engage in notice-and-comment rulemaking in order to alter particular practices contained in the FAM that have historically been associated with exercises of Section 212(f) authority (e.g., not relying on a 212(f) proclamation to bar the admission of aliens who are inadmissible on other grounds).[17]

Judicial Constructions of Section 212(f)

The limited case law addressing exercises of presidential authority under Section 212(f) also supports the view that this provision of the INA confers broad authority to suspend or restrict the entry of aliens. Key among these cases is the Supreme Court's 1993 decision in Sale v. Haitian Centers Council, Inc., which held that the U.S. practice of interdicting persons fleeing Haiti outside U.S. territorial waters and returning them to their home country without allowing them to raise claims for asylum and withholding of removal did not violate either the INA or the United Nations Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees.[18] The U.S. practice had been established by Executive Order 12807, which was issued, in part, under the authority of Section 212(f) of the INA[19] and "suspend[ed] the entry of aliens coming by sea to the United States without necessary documentation."[20] Although the Sale Court was primarily concerned with whether the INA and UN Convention provisions regarding withholding of removal applied extraterritorially,[21] it is arguably important for understanding the scope of the President's Section 212(f) authority. In particular, the Sale decision arguably helped clarify the relationship between exercises of the authority granted by Section 212(f) and those granted by other provisions of the INA, as well as the meaning of entry for purposes of Section 212(f).

[18] 509 U.S. 155, 158-59 (1993). Specifically at issue in Sale were the provisions currently in INA § 241(b)(3)(B) and Article 33 of the Convention, which both bar the return of aliens to countries where their life or freedom would be threatened because of their race, religion, nationality, political opinion, or membership in a particular social group. The United States is technically a party to the 1967 UN Protocol Relating to the Status of Refugees, not the 1951 Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees. However, the Protocol incorporated articles 2 to 34 of the Convention, and it is customary for commentators to refer to the Convention, not the Protocol, when discussing these articles.

[19] Executive Order 12,807 also cited INA § 215(a)(1), which provides that "[u]nless otherwise ordered by the President, it shall be unlawful for any alien to depart from or enter ... the United States except under such reasonable rules, regulations, and orders, and subject to such limitations and exceptions as the President may prescribe." 8 U.S.C. § 1185(a)(1). For further discussion of this provision, see infra "Other Provisions of the INA".

In particular, the Court rejected the view of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit ("Second Circuit") that interdiction was prohibited because of the INA's prohibition upon the then-Attorney General returning an alien to a country where he or she would be persecuted.[22] The Second Circuit had reached this conclusion by noting that the Attorney General was the President's "agent" in matters of immigration.[23] Therefore, it found that INA's prohibition on the Attorney General returning aliens to countries where the alien's life or freedom would be threatened because of the alien's race, religion, nationality, political opinion, or membership in a particular social group should be imputed to the rest of the executive branch.[24] The Supreme Court disagreed, however, holding that the interdiction program created by the President did not "usurp[] authority that Congress has delegated to, or implicate[] responsibilities that it has imposed on, the Attorney General alone."[25] The Court reached this conclusion, in part, because it viewed the INA as restricting only the then-Attorney General's immigration-related responsibilities under the act. It did not view the INA as restricting the President's actions in geographic areas outside of where Congress had authorized the Attorney General to act in the immigration context (i.e., outside the United States).[26] The upshot of this reasoning was that the Court declined to find that the interdiction program implemented under the authority of Section 212(f) ran afoul of statutory or treaty-based restrictions.

The Sale decision also helped define what is meant by the term entry as that term is used in Section 212(f). At the time when Sale was decided, the INA explicitly defined entry to encompass "any coming of an alien into the United States, from any foreign port or place or from an outlying possession, whether voluntarily or otherwise."[27] Therefore, consistent with this definition, the Court distinguished between (1) aliens who are "on our shores seeking admission" or "on the threshold of initial entry," and (2) aliens who are within the United States after entry, regardless of the legality of that entry.[28] While the statutory definition of entry that the Court relied upon was deleted from the INA as part of the amendments made by the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act (IIRIRA) of 1996 (P.L. 104-208),[29] the Sale Court's construction of entry has persisted in discussions of Section 212(f) and in other contexts.[30]

[22] Id. at 171-72. For several decades, the authority to interpret, implement, and enforce the provisions of the INA was primarily vested in the Attorney General. The Attorney General, in turn, delegated this authority to the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) within the Department of Justice. Following the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) pursuant to the Homeland Security Act of 2002 (P.L. 107-296), the INS was abolished and its functions were generally transferred to DHS. See 6 U.S.C. § 251. Although the INA still refers to the Attorney General in multiple places, such references are generally (although not universally) taken to mean the Secretary of Homeland Security. See generally CRS Legal Sidebar WSLG553, Does It Matter Whether the INA Says DOJ or DHS?: An Example Involving Revocation of Asylum, by Kate M. Lower court decisions provide some further discussion of exercises of 212(f) authority that would seem to be consistent with Sale. The most recent of these, an unpublished 2003 decision by the Second Circuit in Sesay v. Immigration and Naturalization Service [INS], granted deference to the Board of Immigration Appeals' (BIA's) determination that the alien petitioner was ineligible for asylum because a grant of asylum necessarily requires entry, and the petitioner's entry was barred by Presidential Proclamation 7062.[31] Previously, in its 1992 decision in Haitian Refugee Center, Inc. v. Baker, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit had noted various precedents characterizing the power to exclude aliens from the country as an "inherent executive power" when opining that Section 212(f) "clearly grants the President broad discretionary authority to control the entry of aliens into the United States."[32] A lower court, the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California, similarly emphasized the breadth of the executive's power over entry in conjunction with its discussion of Section 212(f) in its 1996 decision in Encuentro del Canto Popular v. Christopher, stating,

> The exclusion of aliens is a fundamental act of sovereignty. The right to do so stems not alone from legislative power but is inherent in the executive power to control the foreign affairs of the nation. When Congress prescribes a procedure concerning the admissibility of aliens, it is not dealing alone with a legislative power. It is implementing an inherent executive power.[33]

Collectively, Sale and these other decisions suggest that Section 212(f) gives the Executive significant power to bar or impose conditions upon the entry of aliens "on our shores seeking admission" or "on the threshold of initial entry."[34] None of these decisions note any limitations upon the President's power under Section 212(f). This silence could, however, be seen, in part, to reflect the arguably limited nature of the Executive's use of its Section 212(f) authority to date. As Table 1 below illustrates, prior exercises of presidential authority under Section 212(f) have

The Second Circuit noted, but did not address, arguments as to the relationship between Sections 212(d) and 212(f) in its decision. The Secretary of Homeland Security's authority to parole aliens into the United States under Section 212(d), however, could be seen as a counterpart to the President's authority under Section 212(f) in that the President may "parole"—or permit the entry into the United States—almost any alien, regardless of whether the alien is subject to one or more of the grounds of inadmissibility set forth in Section 212(a). See INA § 212(d)(5)(A), 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5)(A) ("The Attorney General [later, Secretary of Homeland Security] may [subject to certain restrictions involving refugees and alien laborers] in his discretion parole into the United States temporarily under such conditions as he may prescribe only on a case-by-case basis for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit any alien applying for admission to the United States.... The Christopher case arose from a challenge to the denial or revocation of visas to certain Cubans pursuant to Presidential Proclamation 5377, which suspended the entry of individuals whom the Secretary of State (or a designee) considered to be officers or employees of the Cuban government or Cuban Communist Party. As the district court noted, although the plaintiffs at times seem to have suggested that Section 212(f) itself is invalid, their argument was best construed as being that Presidential Proclamation 5377 was invalid because it conflicted with Section 901 of the Foreign Relations Authorization Act for FY1988-1989. Id. at 1363.

differed in terms of which and how many aliens are subject to exclusion. In no case to date, though, has the Executive purported to take certain types of action, such as barring all aliens from entering the United States for an extended period of time or explicitly distinguishing between categories of aliens based on their religion. Any such restrictions could potentially be seen to raise legal issues that were not raised by prior exclusions. For example, if the Executive were to seek to bar the entry of all aliens, as immigrants or nonimmigrants, for an extended time, questions could be raised about whether the President's action was consistent with Congress's intent in enacting statutes which prescribe criteria for the issuance of family- and employment-based immigrant and nonimmigrant visas and authorize the issuance of certain numbers of such visas each year.[35] Similarly, if the President were to purport to exclude aliens based on their religion, an argument could potentially be made that this action is in tension with U.S. treaty obligations[36] or the First Amendment.[37] (Distinctions between aliens based on nationality, in contrast, have historically been viewed as a routine feature of immigration legislation and subjected to deferential "rational basis" review by the courts.[38])

[35] For example, Section 203(a)(1) provides that "[q]ualified immigrants who are the unmarried sons or daughters of citizens of the United States shall be allocated visas in a number not to exceed 23,400" (with some additions possible) each year. See 8 U.S.C. § 1153(a)(1). [36] For example, Article 2 of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights provides that "[e]ach State Party ... undertakes to respect and to ensure to all individuals within its territory and subject to its jurisdiction the rights recognized in the present Covenant, without distinction of any kind" based on religion, among other things. United Nations, Human Rights, Office of the High Commissioner, International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, http://www.ohchr.org/en/professionalinterest/pages/ccpr.aspx (last accessed: Jan. 14, 2017). J. INT'L HUM. RTS. 1, 2 (2005). However, "Congress has not made the treaty enforceable in U.S. courts," and commentators have disagreed as to whether it or other provisions of law (e.g., the First Amendment) could serve as basis for invalidating the exclusion of certain aliens because of their religion. See, e.g., Debra Cassens Weiss, Would SCOTUS Uphold Trump's Plan to Bar Muslim Immigrants, ABA J., Dec. 9, 2015, http://www.abajournal.com/news/article/would_scotus_uphold_trumps_plan_to_bar_muslim_immigrants.

[37] Aliens outside the United States without recognized ties to the country might have difficulty in maintaining such a challenge. See id. However, in certain cases, a ban on the entry of persons based on religion could potentially be seen to impinge upon the First Amendment rights of U.S. citizens by, for example, excluding officers and teachers of that religion. Cf. Kleindienst v. Mandel, 408 U.S. 753, 762-63 (1972) (recognizing that U.S. persons whose constitutional rights are adversely affected by the denial of a visa way to an alien outside the United States may have the right to challenge the denial in certain circumstances).

Note: In a number of cases, the exclusions listed in Table 1 were expressly said to be waivable, in the Executive's discretion, when the entry of a particular alien otherwise subject to exclusion "would not be contrary to the interests of the United States." See, e.g., 50 Fed. Reg. 41329, at § 2 (Oct. 10, 1985).

Other Provisions of the INA

Beyond Section 212(f), other provisions of the INA can also be seen to authorize the Executive to restrict aliens' entry to the United States.[39] Most notably, Section 214(a)(1) prescribes that the "admission of any alien to the United States as a nonimmigrant shall be for such time and under such conditions as [the Executive] may by regulations prescribe."[40] (Nonimmigrants are aliens admitted to the United States for a specific period of time and purpose pursuant to one of the [39] In addition, yet other provisions of the INA could be seen to give the Executive discretion as to whether certain categories of aliens are admitted. For example, Section 207(a)(2) of the INA could be seen to give the Executive broad discretion in determining how many aliens are admitted to the United States as refugees each year. See 8 U.S.C. § 1157(a)(2). Other provisions outside immigration law could also apply. See National Defense Authorization Act for FY2017, P.L. 114-328, §§ 1261-1265.—Stat.—(Dec. 23, 2016) (sanctions for human rights abusers); Consolidated Appropriations Act, P.L. 114-113, § 7031(c), 129 Stat. 2755 (Dec. 18, 2015) (providing that certain foreign officials involved in "significant corruption" and their immediate family are ineligible for entry to the United States); Russia and Moldova Jackson-Vanik Repeal and Sergei Magnitsky Rule of Law Accountability Act of 2012, P.L. 112-208, §§ 404-406, 126 Stat. 1505-1509 (Dec. 14, 2012) (excluding certain aliens involved in human rights abuses).

"lettered" visas set forth in Section 101(a)(15) of the INA.[41]) Section 215(a)(1) similarly provides that "it shall be unlawful for any alien" to enter or depart the United States "except under such reasonable rules, regulations, and orders, and subject to such limitations and exceptions as the President may prescribe."[42] In the past, the Executive has relied upon Section 215(a)(1), in particular, to exclude certain aliens. For example, President Carter cited to Section 215(a) when authorizing the revocation of immigrant and nonimmigrant visas issued to Iranians during the Iran Hostage Crisis.[43]

The current Section 215(a) was enacted as part of the INA in 1952.[44] However, similar language appeared in earlier immigration-related statutes.[45] Both the earlier language and the initial version of Section 215(a) granted the President the power to impose additional restrictions upon aliens' entry into and departure from the United States during times of war and, in some cases, "national emergency."[46] The President's exclusion of certain aliens under this authority[47] was upheld in several court cases, the most notable of which was arguably the Supreme Court's 1950 decision in United States ex rel. Knauff v. Shaughnessy.[48] There, the Court rejected a challenge to the exclusion of a German "war bride" under regulations promulgated pursuant to Presidential Proclamation 2523, which was itself issued under the authority of a predecessor of Section 215(a).[49] In so doing, the Court rejected the excluded bride's argument that both the regulations and the underlying statute constituted an impermissible delegation of legislative power, reasoning that "[t]he exclusion of aliens is a fundamental act of sovereignty. The right to do so stems not

The Mezei Court, in particular, cited a number of precedents for the proposition that "the power to expel or exclude aliens [is] a fundamental sovereign attribute exercised by the Government's political departments largely immune from judicial control." 345 U.S. at 210 (citing Harisiades v. Shaughnessy, 342 U.S. 580 (1952); The Chinese Exclusion Case, 130 U.S. 581 (1889); and Fong Yue Ting v. United States, 149 U.S. 698 (1893)).

from legislative power but is inherent in the executive power to control the foreign affairs of the nation."[50] Therefore, in the Court's view, Congress could not have run afoul of the non-delegation doctrine by authorizing the President to exercise this power "for the best interests of the country" during wartime because the President already possessed such authority.[51] The Knauff Court similarly rejected the argument that the regulations in question were not "reasonable," as required by the statutory authority under which they were issued—which in relevant part, made it unlawful for an alien to enter the United States "except under such reasonable rules ... as the President may prescribe."[52] The Court did so because it viewed the regulations excluding aliens whose entry was "deemed prejudicial to the public interest" as "reasonable in the circumstances of the period for which they were authorized, namely, the national emergency of World War II."[53]

The statutory language regarding war and national emergency—which arguably factored into the Court's decision in Knauff—was deleted from Section 215(a) in 1978.[54] However, it seems unlikely that this deletion would serve as a basis for overruling the Knauff Court's conclusions about whether the power in question was impermissibly delegated to the Executive,[55] or about what constitutes a "reasonable" regulation for purposes of Section 215(a).[56] Knauff's statements about the inherent power of nations to exclude aliens outside the United States with no recognized ties to the country would also generally seem to remain good law.[57]

[56] There does not appear to be any court cases establishing what is meant by the term "reasonable regulations" for purposes of Section 215(a) and its predecessors. However, courts may grant considerable deference to the Executive's determinations in this area, given the "plenary power" that the political branches are generally seen to have over immigration. See, e.g., Mathews v. Diaz, 426 U.S. 67, 81 (1976) ("For reasons long recognized as valid, the responsibility for regulating the relationship between the United States and our alien visitors has been committed to the political branches of the Federal Government.").

Certain limits to this power have, however, been recognized, particularly as to aliens with recognized ties to the United States or who would need to be detained in the United States to effectuate their exclusion. See, e.g., CRS Legal Sidebar WSLG1695, Supreme Court to Hear Challenge to Aliens' Detention Pending Removal Proceedings, by Kate M. Subject: Executive Order and Refugee Processing

RAIO Colleagues,

As you know, last week we made the decision to temporarily suspend departures for both the Refugee Affairs Division (RAD) and International Operations (IO) circuit rides until February 15. We also temporarily suspended refugee interviews at all international field offices. Following further consultations with the Department of State Bureau for Population, Refugees and Migration (PRM), we have jointly decided that the remaining 2nd quarter circuit ride and USCIS international field office interview schedule will be completely revised. PRM is instructing the Refugee Support Centers to cancel this quarter's USCIS circuit rides and field office interviews at this time.

RAIO will be working with PRM in coming weeks and months to discuss when circuit rides and field office interviews will resume and to identify any interviews that will be needed to reach this year's revised goal of 50,000 admissions, as well as the FY18 ceiling, which has not yet been determined. At this time, we do not have any information to share on 3rd and 4th quarter circuit rides or field office processing, but we will continue to share additional information as it becomes available.

I would like to encourage you to review the RAIO ECN site that we have begun building to share information with you, as well as to provide a space for questions and collaboration:

Hello Everyone,

Great news – we can proceed with our normal processing of cases from the seven countries implicated in the recent Executive Order. Please remove the holds from the cases that we recently placed on hold and resume case processing, to include decision issuance. It's back to business as usual!

If you have any questions or concerns, just let me know.

All the best,
David

Attached is the written formal USCIS guidance that we have been waiting for that allows us to resume adjudicating affirmative asylum cases as normal.

I also checked with CSPED, and if you are asked by members of the public if we are operating "business as usual," we can respond affirmatively. If the inquiries are more complicated than that or relate to other aspects of the Executive Orders, please continue to forward those to me for response by HQ CSPED.

Thanks,
Ted

Below is what was sent out to ERO Field Operations. You may have this already, but thought it worth sending out. Troublesome (among a lot of troublesome things) is that a sworn statement is not being taken for those who withdraw their applications through From I-275.

To: Assistant Directors, Field Office Directors, and Deputy Field Office Directors

Subject: Guidance on Executive Order "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States"

Effective immediately, and pursuant to Executive Order entitled, "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States" (January 27, 2017), all entry into the United States for aliens who are nationals from Iran, Iraq, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria and Yemen is hereby suspended in accordance with Section 212(f) of the INA. This includes all non-immigrant classifications, with the exception of those foreign nationals traveling on diplomatic visas, NATO visas, C2 visas for travel to the United Nations, G1, G2, G-3, and G-4 visas. This also includes all immigrant classes of admission, returning resident aliens, refugees, and asylees.

U.S. Customs and Border Protection has provided the following and attached guidance to its employees. Furthermore, the Department to State provided CBP with a letter provisionally revoking all immigrant and non-immigrant visas for nationals of Iran, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, and Yemen; however, these revocations may not yet be annotated in the system. Please ensure that this memorandum and attached information are immediately disseminated to all ERO employees within your respective area of responsibility.

Further guidance is forthcoming, however if you have any immediate questions, please contact HQ Domestic Operations (A) Deputy Assistant Director (DAD)/East Ricardo Wong at [redacted] or (A) DAD/West Paul Capicchioni a[redacted]

CBP guidance is as follows:

Wherever possible, NTC-P will coordinate the denial of boarding through Immigration Advisory Program/Joint Security Program (IAP/JSP) locations, and Regional Carrier Liaison Groups (RCLG).

Should aliens, subject to the Executive Order, arrive at the port of entry, CBP officers are instructed to take the following actions:

Applicants bearing Non-Immigrant Visas and First Time Arriving Immigrants:

(1) All case processing will be recorded in Secure Integrated Government Mainframe Access (SIGMA) system, according to current policy/procedure.
(2) Subjects will be allowed to withdraw their application for admission on Form I-275, without a sworn statement. All other procedures pertaining to the processing of Form I-275 withdrawal cases apply.
(3) Should the alien decline to withdraw their application for admission, the alien will be placed in Expedited Removal in accordance with standard operating procedures.
(4) Aliens claiming fear of return will be referred to an asylum officer, and processed for Expedited Removal/Credible Fear (ERF). Aliens processed under ERF procedures will be referred to ERO for detention. Field Offices should clearly indicate to both CIS and ERO that aliens are subject to Executive Order during the referral process.

Returning Residents.

(1) Lawful Permanent Residents should be referred for TTRT/CTR examination and held at the port of entry until an exemption to the Executive Order is granted. The authority to grant an exemption has been delegated to the Commissioner of CBP, and further delegated to Directors of Field Operations and SES Port Directors. Once an exemption has been granted results of TTRT/CTR exam should be notated in CSIS with the following language: Individual is subject to Presidential Executive Order and barred from entry pursuant to 212(f) of the INA but has been granted an exemption per (insert DFO/SES PD).

Refugees, Asylees, Unaccompanied Children, and subjects returning to the US with Advanced Parole:

(1) Aliens from the above group who are prevented from entry solely as a result of the Executive Order, should be referred for TTRT/CTR examination and held at the port of entry until such time as an exemption to the Executive Order can be obtained. This exemption falls to the Secretary of State and Secretary of Homeland Security. Further guidance will be forthcoming on processing these exemptions.

Individuals who fall within any of the above may not be paroled, which includes port parole and deferred inspection. To the extent that there is an emergent medical issue related to an alien who falls within the Executive Order, CBP officers must accompany the alien for any medical care.

Returning aliens ineligible who withdraw their application for admission:

(1) Aliens arriving via air or sea: Commercial carriers are required to remove foreign aliens found ineligible for entry under this order pursuant to 241(c)(1) of the INA.
(2) Aliens arriving via land will be returned per current established procedures with the contiguous country.

Hello All:

Effective immediately, we have been instructed to prevent any asylum decision document from being issued in person or by mail to a national of any of the following countries unless or until we are instructed otherwise:

Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya

Please ensure that until further notice, no applicant from the countries above is served as asylum decision document in person or by mail. Any cases PUSHing should get mail-out notices and the cases will remain pending with out office until further notice.

You and your team members should continue to process these cases up to the point of decision service, but may not serve the decision documents at this time.

At this time, we may continue to serve APSO decision documents on individuals from these countries, just not asylum decision documents.

If you have any questions, please let me know.

Thank you,
David.

Subject: Executive Order and Refugee Processing

RAIO Colleagues,

As you know, last week we made the decision to temporarily suspend departures for both the Refugee Affairs Division (RAD) and International Operations (IO) circuit rides until February 15. We also temporarily suspended refugee interviews at all international field offices. Following further consultations with the Department of State Bureau for Population, Refugees and Migration (PRM), we have jointly decided that the remaining 2nd quarter circuit ride and USCIS international field office interview schedule will be completely revised. PRM is instructing the Refugee Support Centers to cancel this quarter's USCIS circuit rides and field office interviews at this time.

RAIO will be working with PRM in coming weeks and months to discuss when circuit rides and field office interviews will resume and to identify any interviews that will be needed to reach this year's revised goal of 50,000 admissions, as well as the FY18 ceiling, which has not yet been determined. At this time, we do not have any information to share on 3rd and 4th quarter circuit rides or field office processing, but we will continue to share additional information as it becomes available.

I would like to encourage you to review the RAIO ECN site that we have begun building to share information with you, as well as to provide a space for questions and collaboration:

The attached document is a matrix breaking down the EO into its component parts and action items. I've added columns for QAs and started compiling those I saw come across this morning and some early ones I saw from Div. 1.

The Policy and general objectives language at the beginning pulls key language from the EO for quick reference when we're drafting statements. The date conversion chart indicates the calendar dates associated with any specific timeframe mentioned in the EO.

I am working to convert this to Excel over the weekend so it's a little more scalable, but wanted to pass it on for initial use.

Please let me know if you have any questions or see anything that needs editing.

If there are URGENT questions that we need answers to before Monday go ahead and flag those for us but I'm not sure the Department is going to get to us immediately, they are likely dealing with issues at the POEs which have a bit more urgency. I did send the question of whether this impact naturalization or not to the Department in an attempt to get an answer this weekend only because we have oath ceremonies scheduled for Monday.

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Also, since part of the directive is to reviewing to enhance information we collect and screening, we likely will be proposing changes to the I-730 process, to include revisions to the form and the I-730A, which would be completed by the beneficiary. We have mock ups and can move quickly, but need to think first about those in pipeline. Maura has giving directive to staff outside US to cancel pick up document pickups for 730s for next week.

We are working on further guidance and of course will coordinate with SCOP.

State has also issued guidance. Will forward.

I can get word out over the weekend to the centers to suspend processing. I just need the list of 7 countries to include in my message. The Directors are already on notice of the possibility. I would exclude from the suspension any petitions for beneficiaries abroad and TPS/DACA.

Thanks for sending this, Lori.

As we've discussed, the most urgent question is whether adjustments and extensions or changes of nonimmigrant status are impacted. Separately, is there any impact on petitions for beneficiaries abroad since we would not be determining admissibility? I would think not, but it would be good to have clarity.

If we can define "suspend processing" as "suspend prior to approval", then one option would be to continue with the interviews, since it is likely we have some that are scheduled as soon as Monday for affected applicants and then hold the cases post interview. We are trying to scrape our schedulers (C4 and NASS) to see when and where we have interviews scheduled for individuals from affected countries. We should have that sometime Monday.

Tracy,

It is my understanding that POTUS will sign the "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Attacks by Foreign Nationals" order today at 4:30pm. In complying with the EA I believe we need immediate clarification in Section 3 (c) relative to the 30 day suspension of processing immigrants and non-immigrants from the designated countries of interest and if this extends to processing of permanent resident applications. Though the EA states "immigrant and non-immigrant entry into the United States", once we grant an adjustment we "admit" that person. [redacted] We just need to clarify if by extension this applies to our product lines. If this is the case then Don and Dan will need to get guidance to the Field to put these adjudications on hold. Other than the refugee suspension that appears fully deployed on our end this appears the most urgent clarification we need relative to the EAs. (b)(5)

Field Leadership

As noted below, it will be critical for field offices to ensure that staff members are aware of the need to hold all pending cases for individuals who were born or who are nationals of these countries. We will be providing the standard NFTS code to which offices must place these cases while pending additional guidance. It is important that all field offices uses the code provided to facilitate national tracking. I will provide you with that code Monday. Additionally, NER is in the process of creating a report for all field offices in USCIS what will identify the cases and NFTS file locations within your respective offices to facilitate the segregation of the cases. We should have that also early next week.

Please let us know if you have questions or concerns. Thanks

Subject: Executive Order: PROTECTING THE NATION FROM FOREIGN TERRORIST ENTRY INTO THE UNITED STATES - Field Operations Instructions

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

Effectively immediately and until additional guidance is received, you may not take final action on any petition or application where the applicant is a citizen or national of Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya. Field offices may interview applicants for adjustment of status and other benefits according to current processing guidance and may process petitions and applications for individuals from these countries up to the point where a decision would be made. At that point, cases shall be placed on hold until further notice and will be shelved with specific NFTS codes which will be provided through the Regional Offices. Offices are not permitted make any final decision on affected cases to include approval, denial, withdrawal, or revocation.

Please look for additional guidance later this weekend on how to process naturalization applicants from one of the seven countries listed above who are currently scheduled for oath ceremony or whose N-400s have been approved and they are pending scheduling of oath ceremony.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures as needed in the coming days. Questions or requests for additional clarification may be directed to the Regional Offices through your chain of command.

Sure, that would be great. I just don't want to be producing cards and then someone makes a decision we shouldn't, which means we have to manually pull them which is a lot of work, or we get them out and are then told to retrieve them, which is another issue.

But I agree with you, these folks are already here and have been properly vetted, (I presume) and the EO prohibits entry, not the grant of LPR or EAD benefit.

My two cents worth is that, since they are already LPRs and we only issuing a card that gives them proof of the benefit they have already been granted, that we should continue to issue the cards.

Sure, that would be great. I just don't want to be producing cards and then someone makes a decision we shouldn't, which means we have to manually pull them which is a lot of work, or we get them out and are then told to retrieve them, which is another issue.

But I agree with you, these folks are already here and have been properly vetted, (I presume) and the EO prohibits entry, not the grant of LPR or EAD benefit.

Thanks Mike.....

My two cents worth is that, since they are already LPRs and we only issuing a card that gives them proof of the benefit they have already been granted, that we should continue to issue the cards.

If you want, I can reach out to Field Ops for their take on it.

Colleagues,

Please see the message below from AD Daniel Renaud. Per his instructions please cease taking final action on those petitions and applications where the applicant or beneficiary is a citizen or national from any of the listed countries. If you encounter a case that falls into this category please set it aside for the time being. We'll issue further guidance early next week. Thanks for your help in this matter.

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

Effectively immediately and until additional guidance is received, you may not take final action on any petition or application where the applicant is a citizen or national of Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya. Field offices may interview applicants for adjustment of status and other benefits according to current processing guidance and may process petitions and applications for individuals from these countries up to the point where a decision would be made. At that point, cases shall be placed on hold until further notice and will be shelved with specific NFTS codes which will be provided through the Regional Offices. Offices are not permitted make any final decision on affected cases to include approval, denial, withdrawal, or revocation.

Please look for additional guidance later this weekend on how to process naturalization applicants from one of the seven countries listed above who are currently scheduled for oath ceremony or whose N-400s have been approved and they are pending scheduling of oath ceremony.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures as needed in the coming days. Questions or requests for additional clarification may be directed to the Regional Offices through your chain of command.

Field Leadership

As noted below, it will be critical for field offices to ensure that staff members are aware of the need to hold all pending cases for individuals who were born or who are nationals of these countries. We will be providing the standard NFTS code to which offices must place these cases while pending additional guidance. It is important that all field offices uses the code provided to facilitate national tracking. I will provide you with that code Monday. Additionally, NER is in the process of creating a report for all field offices in USCIS what will identify the cases and NFTS file locations within your respective offices to facilitate the segregation of the cases. We should have that also early next week.

Please let us know if you have questions or concerns. Thanks

Good Morning Michael/John,

I have sent the below message to all ISOs approved to work OT today and asked for them to confirm that they received my message.

I also contacted Richard Emhof who is the SISO on duty in the office and he confirmed that all ISOs in the office have been made aware of this directive.

I have instructed all Section Chiefs/SISOs to ensure that all ISOs are aware of and follow this directive. We will segregate these cases and await guidance from NER regarding the new NFTS RPCs to store them in.

FOD has suspended approvals on any application coming from a listed country in the Presidents EO. We will undoubtedly have cards in the production queue from these countries. The ban began on January 27th so I am presuming that anything in the queue would predate the EO.

Should we go ahead and produce the cards and mail them?

My recommendation is we produce and mail cards. These individuals are already in the US and have presumably been properly vetted. We will, however, do whatever instructed.

FOD has suspended approvals on any application coming from a listed country in the Presidents EO. We will undoubtedly have cards in the production queue from these countries. The ban began on January 27th so I am presuming that anything in the queue would predate the EO.

Should we go ahead and produce the cards and mail them?

My recommendation is we produce and mail cards. These individuals are already in the US and have presumably been properly vetted. We will, however, do whatever instructed.

Colleagues,

Please see the message below from AD Daniel Renaud. Per his instructions please cease taking final action on those petitions and applications where the applicant or beneficiary is a citizen or national from any of the listed countries. If you encounter a case that falls into this category please set it aside for the time being. We'll issue further guidance early next week. Thanks for your help in this matter.

Subject: Executive Order: PROTECTING THE NATION FROM FOREIGN TERRORIST ENTRY INTO THE UNITED STATES - Field Operations Instructions

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

Effectively immediately and until additional guidance is received, you may not take final action on any petition or application where the applicant is a citizen or national of Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya. Field offices may interview applicants for adjustment of status and other benefits according to current processing guidance and may process petitions and applications for individuals from these countries up to the point where a decision would be made. At that point, cases shall be placed on hold until further notice and will be shelved with specific NFTS codes which will be provided through the Regional Offices. Offices are not permitted make any final decision on affected cases to include approval, denial, withdrawal, or revocation.

Please look for additional guidance later this weekend on how to process naturalization applicants from one of the seven countries listed above who are currently scheduled for oath ceremony or whose N-400s have been approved and they are pending scheduling of oath ceremony.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures as needed in the coming days. Questions or requests for additional clarification may be directed to the Regional Offices through your chain of command.

Hi all. Just talked with Julie and got the first set of responses back in. Looks like FOD agrees that the 192 is the way to go. With that said, we will start working to incorporate feedback. It sounds like a meeting may be scheduled for tomorrow morning with Lori to solidify this. I'll be sure to keep you posted as new information is available.

I guess I'm ambivalent on the E-verify piece. I think the checks we do on the beneficiaries are most important and unless we think an employer may be complicit in any intended misdeeds, I don't know that it makes a difference that Microsoft vouches for someone or a mom and pop operation without e-verify. Neither would necessarily know what's in the head of their employees.

I don't think this will be our call either way so as long as we don't have operational concerns we should just flag as a policy call.

There is a part in the doc where we say we think the I-131 is better. If we don't, we should fix that and also explain why we think the I-192 is preferable.

Again, thanks to everyone.

We (SCOPS) voted for the I-192. It's cleaner for us to implement and CBP will not have issues if they need to ER the person. The I-192 will provide them with an I-797 that is a Transportation Letter (draft language attached). They would need to provide a valid passport and visa to enter and be inspected. On the other hand, if we issue a parole – CBP is worried that if issues arise, they may try to say they have a parole.

Also, while e-verify isn't related to admission, we added it because the Fortune 500 companies are asking to vouch for their employees (e.g. Microsoft, Amazon, Google, etc.). This would ensure that we are only accepting letters from legitimate businesses that have been vetted. We thought it would be good to leave in but completely understand if it's taken out somewhere along the process, as many are reviewing.

Overall the paper looks very good. Thanks to everyone for pulling it together so quickly.

The everify requirement would purely be a policy call. I don't see the nexus between e-verify use and a national interest determination related to admission so I would advocate for removing it.

I agree that adding work to VSC is problematic so if we could do I-192s elsewhere that would be better. We also need to validate the 18000 volume estimate as I don't know who provided it or how it was calculated.

If we believe the I-131 is better we should explain why.

Hi. Here are my concerns in the attached. Look forward to discussing.

- Why are we requiring E-Verify? Are we being told it is a requirement from the FO/Dept. or are we imposing it on ourselves? [redacted] (b)(5)
- If the I-192 is denied, what would be the legal basis for the removal charge be?
- I know VSC already does the I-192s for the victims relate work, but this will coincide with cap where the contractors will already be knee deep in data entry. Recommend moving this elsewhere.

Good morning Pam. Thanks so much for the feedback. It's for folks inside the US. We can certainly make that more clear.

Regarding the timeframe, as I understand it from Leslie, the major piece for start up is around the system updates. Leslie- please confirm. I don't know that those can be cut down.

All- If the system update timeframe ends up being too long, does the team have any ideas on what we can do without those in place for this? Also, if not 30 days for a processing time, what would you recommend?

Good morning, All,

The opening paragraph seems to imply this form/process may be used for those visa holders currently "stuck" outside the U.S., is that correct? Otherwise the process proposed is manageable for USCIS to implement – in the long term. If this is simply a short term fix, required for a small number of affected individuals during this 80 day period, then a 45 day startup and 30 day processing time doesn't seem to meet their immediate needs.

Pam

Hi all and thanks so much Karla. The I-192 version looks great.

I have been working on the 131 version, and because so much of that is similar to what we note about the I-192 processing, I decided to merge both options into one document and added some background to give some context. Take a look and let me know what you think about that approach.

Bottom line is it looks like we could implement either option in about 45 days as the system updates to notices and filing look minimal and simple web updates. Can you verify those timelines? Also, do we want to go as far as to make a recommendation on which we think is the right one to implement or simply present both?

Subject: EO Hold/ EDMS
Date: Tuesday, January 31, 2017 9:13:31 PM

Hi Pam,

I had a call with Lynn this afternoon and she had a few scenarios she ran by me regarding the hold on cases with nationals from the 7 countries listed in the EO. Please note these questions relate to 4 PP cases. (I know busting the clock isn't a concern, but just wanted to flag that piece for you.)

1.) Case was updated as an RFE in the system prior to EO, but was not schedule to be sent out until Monday (likely because of telework). This case is being held and VSC wants to know if they should continue to hold or if this case can be released.
2.) Case requires modification due to service error and a re-issuance of a notices, but was previously approved.

My thought process: Hold it all until further notice. (but I definitely defer to you.)

Also she mentioned the call with TSC and NSC regarding EDMS left her more concerned because the workaround for PP cases was labor intensive and while they've worked so far, the PP rate will be double at CSC and VSC and may be a strain for all. She say there are some IT releases in the mix that may help but isn't sure when they will be implemented. (No one on today's call was able to answer this question.) I'm thinking it might be helpful to schedule a call with Leslie and VSC/CSC since today's call didn't help a great deal. Would you be alright with that? I'm a little out of my element with this subject matter.

Thanks,
Stephanie

All: Good morning. I just wanted to check back in to see if I could get a copy of the consolidated list of questions that we ended up sending in last night for SCOPS.

Also, who has the lead to ensure that we advise the centers of this? Or, do we want to continue to hold for now? Just wanted to be sure I understood next steps.

Thanks again.

Yes. In my eagerness to respond quickly, I neglected to mention 8 CFR 103.7(e)(2)(ii). USCIS may retain the PP fee and not reach a conclusion on the request within 15 days, and not notify the person who filed the request, if USCIS opens an investigation for fraud or misrepresentation relating the to benefit request. So we do get to keep the fee if we go beyond 15 days if we are investigating for fraud or misrep.

Sure thing. I am pretty sure we have to refund if we do not take action in 15 days. The PP regs are at 8 CFR 103.7(e). It's 15 calendar days. Per 103.7(e)(2)(i) the 15 day processing period begins when USCIS receives the request for PP accompanied by an eligible employment-based immigration benefit request. Also per 103.7(e)(2)(i), if USCIS cannot reach a final decision on the request for which PP was requested, as evidenced by an approval, denial, NOID, or RFE, we will refund the PP fee but continue to process the case. I don't see anything in the PP regs that provide for any type of exception. Hope this helps. Let me know if you need anything else.

Good morning Sophia. Can you please take a look at the premium reg for us? Discussion this morning was if we have premium cases that will go beyond 15 days because they are part of this hold, do we refund? Looks like some of the centers already have some cases that are getting close to this situation between the 140s and 129s. It isn't that we can't adjudicate them in the timeframe, it's that we have an EO that may not allow for this…

Thanks in advance.

Hi. I just finished reading the whole EO. Section 3c, which suspends the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry, refers to those described in INA 217(a)(2). As far as I can tell, only Iraq and Syria are mentioned in this statutory provision. Are other countries affected or just Iraq and Syria? I couldn't find reference to any other countries anywhere else, so wanted to be sure I wasn't missing anything.

Regarding EAD categories that would include those in INA 217(a)(2), we have:

- (c)(1) For the dependents of A-1 and A-2 government officials.
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement;
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.
- (c)(4) For the dependents of G-1, G-3, or G-4 (I think this includes NATO and at the US Mission to the UN, too).
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement.
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.

There are some special immigrant categories applicable to As, Gs, and NATO. The I-360 is filed with Dallas and Phoenix LB and the I-485 is filed with Phoenix LB. I am thinking that NSC adjudicates these, but it would be best to confirm.

- I Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(I) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Includes:
  - Unmarried sons/daughters of an officer or employee, or a former officer or employee of an international organization described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Surviving spouses of deceased officers or employees of international organizations described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Retired officers and employees of international organizations.
  - Following to join/accompanying spouse of a retired officer or employee who was granted special immigrant status as a retired officer or employee of an international organization.
- L Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(L) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Looks like this covers NATO and the same categories of persons described in 101(a)(27)(I).

This is all I can think of for now. If I come up with anything else, I will send it forward.

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Importance: High

Hi. Per our conversation a little bit ago, here are some high level questions I got from folks for the Department to answer. I hope this is along the lines of what you are looking for. I didn't include the questions I sent you yesterday but if any of them need to be included let me know and I will put them back in.

1. Part of the uniform screening standard is to include "Amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent"

    a. Does this mean that all applications and petitions will need to be revised or standardized? We note that many of the forms have already be revised to include the questions related to criminality and national security.

    b. If the answer to one of these questions reveals potential issues, what bearing will this have on benefit types that do not accord status and where the issue is not grounds for denial?

2. As part of the uniform screening standard the EO includes a directive to develop "a process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest"

    a. Is this process/determination a discretionary call or will there be defined areas?

3. Information is to be collected on "any other information relevant to public safety and security as determined by the Secretary of Homeland security and the Attorney General, including information on the immigration status of foreign nationals charged with major offenses"

    a. What is the definition of "major offenses" as it relates to this section? How is it different from the term "aggravated felony" as defined in the INA 101(a)(43)?

4. Can we accept/adjudicate/approved (if eligible) I-730s for following to join family members of individuals granted asylum (FTJ-A) and I-730s for following to join family members of refugees? Is there any distinction between the processing of I-730s for asylees and refugees?

5. For those outside the US currently in T (victims of trafficking) or U (victims of severe form of crime) nonimmigrant status from the seven countries, will they be allowed re-entry? If waivers can be granted case by case, how will those requests be handled?

6. How does the EO impact TRIG exemptions?

7. What is expected of us in terms of reporting?

a. Data to be collected
b. Frequency
c. Transmission

FYI and in case you find this helpful, Pam sent me the numbers of FB/EB visas that were allocated to applicants from the applicable countries for FY-2017.

Iran	703 visa
Iraq	21 visas
Libya	47 visas
Somalia	7 visas
Sudan	9 visas
Syria	102 visas
Yemen	17 visas

I will go through all the EOs in more detail to see if there are other things that might impact us.

Subject: EO Hold

At the recently concluded leadership meeting we learned that the processing hold we put in place over the weekend will be lifted. All messaging must now be cleared through the Department, so we cannot communicate this in writing to the troops. However, I wanted you to know that so we don't waste time formulating questions about the hold or working on strategies to ensure compliance. I expect that the final guidance may be more nuanced on the processing of parole requests, but otherwise we are expecting to lift the hold on adjustments and other form types. Please do not share this further in light of the messaging restrictions. We hope to have formal cleared language later today or tomorrow.

TRIG WG Colleagues,

As many of might already be aware, the EO signed on January 27, 2017 entitled Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States, contains a paragraph on TRIG.

Specifically, Section 6, Recission of Exercise of Authority Relating to the Terrorism Grounds of Inadmissibility, states: The Secretaries of State and Homeland Security shall, in consultation with the Attorney General, consider rescinding the exercises of authority in section 212 of the INA, 8 USC 1182, relating to terrorism grounds of Inadmissibility, as well as any related implementing memoranda.

We have no further information on Section 6 at this time. As our POCs in OCC and OP&S work with their counterparts at the Department, we will share any new information with the Working Group. Existing exercises of authority (exemptions) remain valid at this time.

Thank you,
Karen

TRIG WG Colleagues,

As many of might already be aware, the EO signed on January 27, 2017 entitled Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States, contains a paragraph on TRIG.

Specifically, Section 6, Recission of Exercise of Authority Relating to the Terrorism Grounds of Inadmissibility, states: The Secretaries of State and Homeland Security shall, in consultation with the Attorney General, consider rescinding the exercises of authority in section 212 of the INA, 8 USC 1182, relating to terrorism grounds of Inadmissibility, as well as any related implementing memoranda.

We have no further information on Section 6 at this time. As our POCs in OCC and OP&S work with their counterparts at the Department, we will share any new information with the Working Group. Existing exercises of authority (exemptions) remain valid at this time.

Thank you,
Karen

You might want to inform Natalie that these countries are already identified as countries that require additional vetting per established regs under the last administration.

Or maybe I do have a question or two that is not specific to any form type. What is the underlying basis for this executive order? Is the Agency/White House taking the stance that everyone from the identified countries are threats to national security? Is there intel out there identifying or suspecting individuals from these countries as threats to national security? If there is no such intel, how is this justifiable?

Hi Linda.

I don't have any questions since Don's email this morning was clear in stating that there is a temporary suspension of adjudication on all applications, petitions, and requests involving citizens and nationals of the outlined countries.

Do you have any questions about the new Executive Order "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States" that need to be considered by DHS? Is there an impact to your portfolio that needs to be clarified? Operational questions will be directed to Karla for consideration, but the push now is for clarifying questions that need to be sent up. If yes, please forward in the next hour. Thanks! Linda

Sophia – The front office has asked that we provide them with a consolidated list of questions by COB today. I would like you to have the lead on that and we have told the Division Chiefs to funnel anything they come up with to you for consolidation. Since the deadline is COB, I think we should plan to have a cutoff by 2:00 so you can have time to consolidate and James and I can have time to review/edit before sending them up. We should do our best to identify them all but I'm sure we will be able to add questions later if we miss any. I'd really like to focus on questions that need to be elevated to the Department for guidance, not operational/logistical questions that we need to address within USCIS! Those are important too but they should go to Karla who will be our POC on operational issues. Our questions for the front office should focus on understanding and clarifying the EO itself, not the broader hold that was instituted over the weekend pending further guidance.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Don

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Hi Pam,

Our questions (which I'm sure have already been asked) are:

For COS/EOS requests, how do we go about adjudicating those? Of particular concern are the cases already included in our existing backlog. Is there a distinction between cases filed in the past versus now or in the future?

For Cap cases, do we reject cases with beneficiaries from the listed countries or do accept the cases and hold them?

Thanks,
Stephanie

Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

At the recently concluded leadership meeting we learned that the processing hold we put in place over the weekend will be lifted. All messaging must now be cleared through the Department, so we cannot communicate this in writing to the troops. However, I wanted you to know that so we don't waste time formulating questions about the hold or working on strategies to ensure compliance. I expect that the final guidance may be more nuanced on the processing of parole requests, but otherwise we are expecting to lift the hold on adjustments and other form types. Please do not share this further in light of the messaging restrictions. We hope to have formal cleared language later today or tomorrow.

Hi. One of the questions I flagged is whether/how the EO impacts the 180-day auto extension under AC21 for timely filed renewal applications under the eligible categories, which includes those admitted as refugees, granted asylum, and pending asylum, among others, which could impact folks from affected countries. We had been working with Magteld and her team all last week to resolve the plain language issues and also fine tune and I believe the web page is with the FO. I also believe that the ETA from OCOMM for posting was today or tomorrow. Until we have a better handle on the EO and how it affects us, would you like to me to reach out to OCOMM or ask Magteld to reach out to OCOMM to put a hold on that web page?

Hi. It ended up being more questions than what I initially thought. Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

Let me know if you have any questions.

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

Subject: Nationwide Injuction on Executive Order
Date: Friday, February 03, 2017 9:51:48 PM

U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services

Nationwide Injunction on Executive Order

A federal district court in Washington state has issued a nationwide injunction of each one of the following provisions of the January 27, 2017 Executive Order on Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States:

- Section 3(c)
- Section 5(a)
- Section 5(b)
- Section 5(c)
- Section 5(e) to the extent that it purports to prioritize refugee claims of certain religious minorities

All enforcement of the above-listed sections of the Executive Order must halt immediately. The judge's written order is available here. To be clear, the injunction is effective right now and compliance with the ruling must begin immediately.

Accordingly, effective immediately U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services will suspend any and all actions implementing the affected sections of the Executive Order entitled, "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States" (January 27, 2017). Additionally, USCIS shall not proceed with any action that prioritizes refugee claims of certain religious minorities. Further, suspension of the U.S. Refugee Admission Program is no longer in effect. Suspension of the entry of Syrian nationals as refugees is also no longer in effect.

We are informed that the Administration is considering options to expeditiously appeal this ruling. We will update you with further guidance as soon as it is received.

Implementing President Trump's Executive Order on Protecting the Homeland

To all Department of Homeland Security personnel:

As you have likely seen in the news, it's been a busy weekend for DHS personnel. On Friday, President Trump signed an Executive Order to provide further guidance to DHS on enforcing our immigration laws and to suspend entry into the United States certain classes of foreign nationals in order to ensure our immigration system is working in a way that best protects the safety and security of the American public.

As we worked to implement this Executive Order, a number of court orders were issued based on lawsuits filed in the wake of the order. Upon issuance of the court orders, U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) immediately began taking steps to comply with the orders and did so with professionalism.

Concurrently, the Department of Homeland Security continues to work with our partners in the Departments of Justice and State to implement President Trump's Executive Order to protect the Nation from foreign terrorist entry into the United States.

We are committed to ensuring that all individuals affected by the Executive Orders, including those affected by the court orders, are being provided all rights afforded under the law. We are also working closely with airline partners to prevent travelers who would not be granted entry under the Executive Orders from boarding international flights to the United States.

As I said over the weekend, in applying the provisions of the President's Executive Order, the entry of lawful permanent residents is in the national interest. Accordingly, absent significant derogatory information indicating a serious threat to public safety and welfare, lawful permanent resident status will be a dispositive factor in our case-by-case determinations.

We are and will continue enforcing President Trump's Executive Order humanely and with professionalism. We are and will remain in compliance with judicial orders. DHS will continue to protect the homeland.

Thank you to all the men and women on the front lines who worked to implement the President's guidance. You are a credit to your agencies and this Department.

Sincerely,

John F. Kelly
Secretary of Homeland Security

With honor and integrity, we will safeguard the American people, our homeland, and our values.

We can help with Donna's idea by providing a list of all cases. We can start with all open cases with those country parameters and manually remove those to whom the hold would not apply.

We will have Kevin start on it first thing Monday morning. I'll send the message now.

Center Directors and Deputies,

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

While we await further guidance, we must temporarily suspend adjudication of all applications, petitions or requests involving citizens or nationals of the listed countries. At this point there are no exceptions for any form types, to include I-90s or I-765s. Please physically segregate any files that are impacted by this temporary hold pending further guidance. As you would expect, we will be developing a weekly report format for you to identify the number and types of cases on hold.

Center Directors and Deputies,

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

While we await further guidance, we must temporarily suspend adjudication of all applications, petitions or requests involving citizens or nationals of the listed countries. At this point there are no exceptions for any form types, to include I-90s or I-765s. Please physically segregate any files that are impacted by this temporary hold pending further guidance. Subject:	Friday"s EO
Date:	Saturday, January 28, 2017 9:07:25 AM

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

One more thing, the suspension does not,apply to This suspension of entry does not apply to those foreign nationals traveling on A-1, A-2, G-1, G-2, G-3, G-4, NATO, C-2 or diplomatic type visas, or to issuance of visas in those categories. Do we adjudicate anything related to those visa categories at the centers?

Hi Don. Good morning. My first thought is yes, we can run for the countries in the system to identity the cases. I think the only way to have a flag in the system is to manually put a supervisory hold on each of them in Claims. I'll brainstorm some more as well...hope this helps.

We can help with Donna's idea by providing a list of all cases. We can start with all open cases with those country parameters and manually remove those to whom the hold would not apply.

We will have Kevin start on it first thing Monday morning. I'll send the message now.

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Good morning All

We can help with Donna's idea by providing a list of all cases. We can start with all open cases with those country parameters and manually remove those to whom the hold would not apply.

We will have Kevin start on it first thing Monday morning. I'll send the message now.

Hi Don. Good morning. My first thought is yes, we can run for the countries in the system to identity the cases. I think the only way to have a flag in the system is to manually put a supervisory hold on each of them in Claims. I'll brainstorm some more as well...hope this helps.

Thanks.

One more thing, the suspension does not apply to This suspension of entry does not apply to those foreign nationals traveling on A-1, A-2, G-1, G-2, G-3, G-4, NATO, C-2 or diplomatic type visas, or to issuance of visas in those categories. Do we adjudicate anything related to those visa categories at the centers?

Center Directors and Deputies,

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

While we await further guidance, we must temporarily suspend adjudication of all applications, petitions or requests involving citizens or nationals of the listed countries. At this point there are no exceptions for any form types, to include I-90s or I-765s. Please physically segregate any files that are impacted by this temporary hold pending further guidance. As you would expect, we will be developing a weekly report format for you to identify the number and types of cases on hold.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures in the coming days.

Please ensure this guidance is conveyed as soon as possible to all appropriate employees and get back to us with any questions. Also, please reply to let me know each center has received this message.

Thanks,

Don

Referred to U.S. Customs and Border Protection

THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary

EXECUTIVE ORDER

- - - - - - -

PROTECTING THE NATION FROM FOREIGN TERRORIST ENTRY INTO THE UNITED STATES

By the authority vested in me as President by the Constitution and laws of the United States of America, including the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA), 8 U.S.C. 1101 et seq., and section 301 of title 3, United States Code, and to protect the American people from terrorist attacks by foreign nationals admitted to the United States, it is hereby ordered as follows:

Section 1. Purpose. The visa-issuance process plays a crucial role in detecting individuals with terrorist ties and stopping them from entering the United States. Perhaps in no instance was that more apparent than the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, when State Department policy prevented consular officers from properly scrutinizing the visa applications of several of the 19 foreign nationals who went on to murder nearly 3,000 Americans. And while the visa-issuance process was reviewed and amended after the September 11 attacks to better detect would-be terrorists from receiving visas, these measures did not stop attacks by foreign nationals who were admitted to the United States.

Numerous foreign-born individuals have been convicted or implicated in terrorism-related crimes since September 11, 2001, including foreign nationals who entered the United States after receiving visitor, student, or employment visas, or who entered through the United States refugee resettlement program. Deteriorating conditions in certain countries due to war, strife, disaster, and civil unrest increase the likelihood that terrorists will use any means possible to enter the United States. The United States must be vigilant during the visa-issuance process to ensure that those approved for admission do not intend to harm Americans and that they have no ties to terrorism.

In order to protect Americans, the United States must ensure that those admitted to this country do not bear hostile attitudes toward it and its founding principles. The United States cannot, and should not, admit those who do not support the Constitution, or those who would place violent ideologies over American law. In addition, the United States should not admit those who engage in acts of bigotry or hatred (including "honor" killings, other forms of violence against women, or the persecution of those who practice religions different from their own) or those who would oppress Americans of any race, gender, or sexual orientation.

Sec. 2. Policy. It is the policy of the United States to protect its citizens from foreign nationals who intend to commit terrorist attacks in the United States; and to prevent the admission of foreign nationals who intend to exploit United States immigration laws for malevolent purposes.

Sec. 3. Suspension of Issuance of Visas and Other Immigration Benefits to Nationals of Countries of Particular Concern. (a) The Secretary of Homeland Security, in consultation with the Secretary of State and the Director of National Intelligence, shall immediately conduct a review to determine the information needed from any country to adjudicate any visa, admission, or other benefit under the INA (adjudications) in order to determine that the individual seeking the benefit is who the individual claims to be and is not a security or public-safety threat.

(b) The Secretary of Homeland Security, in consultation with the Secretary of State and the Director of National Intelligence, shall submit to the President a report on the results of the review described in subsection (a) of this section, including the Secretary of Homeland Security's determination of the information needed for adjudications and a list of countries that do not provide adequate information, within 30 days of the date of this order. The Secretary of Homeland Security shall provide a copy of the report to the Secretary of State and the Director of National Intelligence.

(c) To temporarily reduce investigative burdens on relevant agencies during the review period described in subsection (a) of this section, to ensure the proper review and maximum utilization of available resources for the screening of foreign nationals, and to ensure that adequate standards are established to prevent infiltration by foreign terrorists or criminals, pursuant to section 212(f) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1182(f), I hereby proclaim that the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry into the United States of aliens from countries referred to in section 217(a)(12) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1187(a)(12), would be detrimental to the interests of the United States, and I hereby suspend entry into the United States, as immigrants and nonimmigrants, of such persons for 90 days from the date of this order (excluding those foreign nationals traveling on diplomatic visas, North Atlantic Treaty Organization visas, C-2 visas for travel to the United Nations, and G-1, G-2, G-3, and G-4 visas).

(d) Immediately upon receipt of the report described in subsection (b) of this section regarding the information needed for adjudications, the Secretary of State shall request all foreign governments that do not supply such information to start providing such information regarding their nationals within 60 days of notification.

(e) After the 60-day period described in subsection (d) of this section expires, the Secretary of Homeland Security, in consultation with the Secretary of State, shall submit to the President a list of countries recommended for inclusion on a Presidential proclamation that would prohibit the entry of foreign nationals (excluding those foreign nationals traveling on diplomatic visas, North Atlantic Treaty Organization visas, C-2 visas for travel to the United Nations, and G-1, G-2, G-3, and G-4 visas) from countries that do not provide the information requested pursuant to subsection (d) of this section until compliance occurs.

(f) At any point after submitting the list described in subsection (e) of this section, the Secretary of State or the Secretary of Homeland Security may submit to the President the names of any additional countries recommended for similar treatment.

(g) Notwithstanding a suspension pursuant to subsection (c) of this section or pursuant to a Presidential proclamation described in subsection (e) of this section, the Secretaries of State and Homeland Security may, on a case-by-case basis, and when in the national interest, issue visas or other immigration benefits to nationals of countries for which visas and benefits are otherwise blocked.

(h) The Secretaries of State and Homeland Security shall submit to the President a joint report on the progress in implementing this order within 30 days of the date of this order, a second report within 60 days of the date of this order, a third report within 90 days of the date of this order, and a fourth report within 120 days of the date of this order.

Sec. 4. Implementing Uniform Screening Standards for All Immigration Programs. (a) The Secretary of State, the Secretary of Homeland Security, the Director of National Intelligence, and the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation shall implement a program, as part of the adjudication process for immigration benefits, to identify individuals seeking to enter the United States on a fraudulent basis with the intent to cause harm, or who are at risk of causing harm subsequent to their admission. This program will include the development of a uniform screening standard and procedure, such as in-person interviews; a database of identity documents proffered by applicants to ensure that duplicate documents are not used by multiple applicants; amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent; a mechanism to ensure that the applicant is who the applicant claims to be; a process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest; and a mechanism to assess whether or not the applicant has the intent to commit criminal or terrorist acts after entering the United States.

(b) The Secretary of Homeland Security, in conjunction with the Secretary of State, the Director of National Intelligence, and the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, shall submit to the President an initial report on the progress of this directive within 60 days of the date of this order, a second report within 100 days of the date of this order, and a third report within 200 days of the date of this order.

Sec. 5. Realignment of the U.S. Refugee Admissions Program for Fiscal Year 2017. (a) The Secretary of State shall suspend the U.S. Refugee Admissions Program (USRAP) for 120 days. During the 120-day period, the Secretary of State, in conjunction with the Secretary of Homeland Security and in consultation with the Director of National Intelligence, shall review the USRAP application and adjudication process to determine what additional procedures should be taken to ensure that those approved for refugee admission do not pose a threat to the security and welfare of the United States, and shall implement such additional procedures. Refugee applicants who are already in the USRAP process may be admitted upon the initiation and completion of these revised procedures. Upon the date that is 120 days after the date of this order, the Secretary of State shall resume USRAP admissions only for nationals of countries for which the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Homeland Security, and the Director of National Intelligence have jointly determined that such additional procedures are adequate to ensure the security and welfare of the United States.

(b) Upon the resumption of USRAP admissions, the Secretary of State, in consultation with the Secretary of Homeland Security, is further directed to make changes, to the extent permitted by law, to prioritize refugee claims made by individuals on the basis of religious-based persecution, provided that the religion of the individual is a minority religion in the individual's country of nationality. Where necessary and appropriate, the Secretaries of State and Homeland Security shall recommend legislation to the President that would assist with such prioritization.

(c) Pursuant to section 212(f) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1182(f), I hereby proclaim that the entry of nationals of Syria as refugees is detrimental to the interests of the United States and thus suspend any such entry until such time as I have determined that sufficient changes have been made to the USRAP to ensure that admission of Syrian refugees is consistent with the national interest.

(d) Pursuant to section 212(f) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1182(f), I hereby proclaim that the entry of more than 50,000 refugees in fiscal year 2017 would be detrimental to the interests of the United States, and thus suspend any such entry until such time as I determine that additional admissions would be in the national interest.

(e) Notwithstanding the temporary suspension imposed pursuant to subsection (a) of this section, the Secretaries of State and Homeland Security may jointly determine to admit individuals to the United States as refugees on a case-by-case basis, in their discretion, but only so long as they determine that the admission of such individuals as refugees is in the national interest -- including when the person is a religious minority in his country of nationality facing religious persecution, when admitting the person would enable the United States to conform its conduct to a preexisting international agreement, or when the person is already in transit and denying admission would cause undue hardship -- and it would not pose a risk to the security or welfare of the United States.

(f) The Secretary of State shall submit to the President an initial report on the progress of the directive in subsection (b) of this section regarding prioritization of claims made by individuals on the basis of religious-based persecution within 100 days of the date of this order and shall submit a second report within 200 days of the date of this order.

(g) It is the policy of the executive branch that, to the extent permitted by law and as practicable, State and local jurisdictions be granted a role in the process of determining the placement or settlement in their jurisdictions of aliens eligible to be admitted to the United States as refugees. To that end, the Secretary of Homeland Security shall examine existing law to determine the extent to which, consistent with applicable law, State and local jurisdictions may have greater involvement in the process of determining the placement or resettlement of refugees in their jurisdictions, and shall devise a proposal to lawfully promote such involvement.

Sec. 6. Rescission of Exercise of Authority Relating to the Terrorism Grounds of Inadmissibility. The Secretaries of State and Homeland Security shall, in consultation with the Attorney General, consider rescinding the exercises of authority in section 212 of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1182, relating to the terrorism grounds of inadmissibility, as well as any related implementing memoranda.

Sec. 7. Expedited Completion of the Biometric Entry-Exit Tracking System. (a) The Secretary of Homeland Security shall expedite the completion and implementation of a biometric entry-exit tracking system for all travelers to the United States, as recommended by the National Commission on Terrorist Attacks Upon the United States.

(b) The Secretary of Homeland Security shall submit to the President periodic reports on the progress of the directive contained in subsection (a) of this section. The initial report shall be submitted within 100 days of the date of this order, a second report shall be submitted within 200 days of the date of this order, and a third report shall be submitted within 365 days of the date of this order. Further, the Secretary shall submit a report every 180 days thereafter until the system is fully deployed and operational.

Sec. 8. Visa Interview Security. (a) The Secretary of State shall immediately suspend the Visa Interview Waiver Program and ensure compliance with section 222 of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1222, which requires that all individuals seeking a nonimmigrant visa undergo an in-person interview, subject to specific statutory exceptions.

(b) To the extent permitted by law and subject to the availability of appropriations, the Secretary of State shall immediately expand the Consular Fellows Program, including by substantially increasing the number of Fellows, lengthening or making permanent the period of service, and making language training at the Foreign Service Institute available to Fellows for assignment to posts outside of their area of core linguistic ability, to ensure that non-immigrant visa-interview wait times are not unduly affected.

Sec. 9. Visa Validity Reciprocity. The Secretary of State shall review all nonimmigrant visa reciprocity agreements to ensure that they are, with respect to each visa classification, truly reciprocal insofar as practicable with respect to validity period and fees, as required by sections 221(c) and 281 of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1201(c) and 1351, and other treatment. If a country does not treat United States nationals seeking nonimmigrant visas in a reciprocal manner, the Secretary of State shall adjust the visa validity period, fee schedule, or other treatment to match the treatment of United States nationals by the foreign country, to the extent practicable.

Sec. 10. Transparency and Data Collection. (a) To be more transparent with the American people, and to more effectively implement policies and practices that serve the national interest, the Secretary of Homeland Security, in consultation with the Attorney General, shall, consistent with applicable law and national security, collect and make publicly available within 180 days, and every 180 days thereafter:

(i) information regarding the number of foreign nationals in the United States who have been charged with terrorism-related offenses while in the United States; convicted of terrorism-related offenses while in the United States; or removed from the United States based on terrorism-related activity, affiliation, or material support to a terrorism-related organization, or any other national security reasons since the date of this order or the last reporting period, whichever is later;

(ii) information regarding the number of foreign nationals in the United States who have been radicalized after entry into the United States and engaged in terrorism-related acts, or who have provided material support to terrorism-related organizations in countries that pose a threat to the United States, since the date of this order or the last reporting period, whichever is later; and

(iii) information regarding the number and types of acts of gender-based violence against women, including honor killings, in the United States by foreign nationals, since the date of this order or the last reporting period, whichever is later; and

(iv) any other information relevant to public safety and security as determined by the Secretary of Homeland Security and the Attorney General, including information on the immigration status of foreign nationals charged with major offenses.

(b) The Secretary of State shall, within one year of the date of this order, provide a report on the estimated long-term costs of the USRAP at the Federal, State, and local levels.

Sec. 11. General Provisions. (a) Nothing in this order shall be construed to impair or otherwise affect:

(i) the authority granted by law to an executive department or agency, or the head thereof; or

(ii) the functions of the Director of the Office of Management and Budget relating to budgetary, administrative, or legislative proposals.

(b) This order shall be implemented consistent with applicable law and subject to the availability of appropriations.

(c) This order is not intended to, and does not, create any right or benefit, substantive or procedural, enforceable at law or in equity by any party against the United States, its departments, agencies, or entities, its officers, employees, or agents, or any other person.

Here is the latest EO. OCOM will put out an agency alert. Any inquires get referred to WH Press, OLA inquiries also go to WH. DHS cced.

RAIO/FOD/FDNS/SCOPS all have equities that are operational in nature. Feel free to send me questions and I'll do my best to answer them or get an answer or at least flag it for DHS.

We are going to likely need a lead for tracking and coordinating all activities related to the EOs. If anyone has a good candidate please let me know. I'd like to get that person in place on Monday.

Center Directors and Deputies,

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

While we await further guidance, we must temporarily suspend adjudication of all applications, petitions or requests involving citizens or nationals of the listed countries. At this point there are no exceptions for any form types, to include I-90s or I-765s. Please physically segregate any files that are impacted by this temporary hold pending further guidance. As you would expect, we will be developing a weekly report format for you to identify the number and types of cases on hold.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures in the coming days.

Please ensure this guidance is conveyed as soon as possible to all appropriate employees and get back to us with any questions. Also, please reply to let me know each center has received this message.

Thanks,

Don

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be à changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

One more thing, the suspension does not apply to This suspension of entry does not apply to those foreign nationals traveling on A-1, A-2, G-1, G-2, G-3, G-4, NATO, C-2 or diplomatic type visas, or to issuance of visas in those categories. Do we adjudicate anything related to those visa categories at the centers?

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

Hi. I just finished reading the whole EO. Section 3c, which suspends the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry, refers to those described in INA 217(a)(2). As far as I can tell, only Iraq and Syria are mentioned in this statutory provision. Are other countries affected or just Iraq and Syria? I couldn't find reference to any other countries anywhere else, so wanted to be sure I wasn't missing anything.

Regarding EAD categories that would include those in INA 217(a)(2), we have:

- (c)(1) For the dependents of A-1 and A-2 government officials.
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement;
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.
- (c)(4) For the dependents of G-1, G-3, or G-4 (I think this includes NATO and at the US Mission to the UN, too).
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement.
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.

There are some special immigrant categories applicable to As, Gs, and NATO. The I-360 is filed with Dallas and Phoenix LB and the I-485 is filed with Phoenix LB. I am thinking that NSC adjudicates these, but it would be best to confirm.

- I Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(I) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Includes:
  - Unmarried sons/daughters of an officer or employee, or a former officer or employee of an international organization described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Surviving spouses of deceased officers or employees of international organizations described in INA

101(a)(15)(G)(i).
    - Retired officers and employees of international organizations.
    - Following to join/accompanying spouse of a retired officer or employee who was granted special immigrant status as a retired officer or employee of an international organization.
- L Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(L) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Looks like this covers NATO and the same categories of persons described in 101(a)(27)(I).

This is all I can think of for now. If I come up with anything else, I will send it forward.

Hi. It ended up being more questions than what I initially thought. Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

Let me know if you have any questions.

1. Acceptance of Applications: Can we accept benefit applications and petitions from, or on behalf, of nationals of the listed countries?
   - If no, must we reject?
   - If we can accept the filing, can adjudicate if approval does not convey any status?
   - How does this affect immigrant and nonimmigrant visa petitions, since the approval does not convey a status?
   - If we can accept the filing but cannot adjudicate, must we place these filings on hold?
   - How does this affect upcoming H-1B cap season?
     - The initial 90-day "suspension of entry" will run past H-1B cap filing season.
     - If the 90-day suspension is lifted or modified in part, the H-1B cap season will have closed.

2. Individuals Already in the United States in a Valid Nonimmigrant Status: For those individuals already in a lawful nonimmigrant status, how does this affect their ability to:
   - Change to another nonimmigrant status?
   - Extend their nonimmigrant stay?
   - Apply for adjustment of status?

3. EADs/Work Authorization:
   - How does this affect individuals who are already work authorized incident to status, regardless of the EAD, and where the EAD is evidence of the work authorization they already have? These individuals are included in 8 CFR 274a.12(a).
   - Any individual who is work authorized and believes he/she was wrongly terminated or denied employment has recourse through DOJ's Office of Special Counsel. So if the EO prevents us from issuing EADs to individuals who are already employment authorized and they are refused employment or terminated, has this been coordinated with OSC?
   - Categories under category (a) that could be impacted:
     - (a)(3) admitted as refugee
     - (a)(4) paroled as refugee
     - (a)(5) granted asylum
     - (a)(6) admitted as K-1 fiances/K-2 dependent children
     - (a)(7) admitted as N-8 parent or N-9 dependent child of someone granted LPR status as a special immigrant under INA 101(a)(27)(I) [former and retired international employees/NATO, surviving spouses, and children]
     - (a)(9) admitted as K-3 nonimmigrant of USC/K-4 dependent children
     - (a)(10) granted withholding of removal
     - (a)(12) granted TPS
     - (a)(15) in valid V nonimmigrant status
     - (a)(16) in valid T status – victim of trafficking
     - (a)(17) in valid U status – victim of severe form of crime

4. AC 21:
   - Does the EO impact AC 21?

- Auto EAD Extension: The AC21 regulation includes a provision granting an automatic extension of the EAD/work authorization for up to 180 days for individuals who timely file their renewal EAD applications and whose renewal is under one of the 15 eligible categories.
  - Effective 1/17, receipt notices issued by LB (via OnBase) and the centers (via C3) include language regarding the auto 180-day extension, so nationals of affected countries who timely filed a renewal EAD application under one of the above categories on or after 1/17 are receiving notices that include the auto extension language.
  - OCC asked us to include individuals who filed before 1/17/17 and whose renewal applications are pending on 1/17. Because receipt notices for cases filed at LB before 1/17 did not have the eligibility category (they do now), OCC wants us to reissue notices to these folks. We have been working with OIT to do a sweep of pending renewal cases filed at LB so that we could reissue the notices. As noted above, this includes applicants from the affected countries. We received updates late Friday afternoon on what is and isn't possible, and are on hold until we know whether we need to make any modifications to our proposed process to comply with the EO. Since the automatic EAD extension for TPS is already covered in the FRN applicable to the specific designation, one option would be to exclude all TPS renewal applicants from the sweep and reissue the receipt notices to the remaining renewal applicants who filed with LB before 1/17/17.
- Compelling Circumstances EAD (CC EAD): Does the EO affect our ability to accept/grant applications for CC EADs. The AC1 regulation created a new C35 category for individuals in the LPR process to apply for a CC EAD. Examples given include Government interest. Would a showing of compelling circumstances/Government interest be sufficient to grant the EAD?

5. Students/STEM OPT:

- F-1 students from the affected countries who are in valid status eligible to apply for practical training? The regulations allow them to apply for pre-completion, post completion, and STEM OPT. The regulations also allow them to receive curricular practical training without filing with USCIS.
- Per 8 CFR 274a.12(b)(6)(v), F-1 academic students who timely file their application for STEM OPT (before their post completion OPT expires) are authorized to be employed while their application for STEM OPT is pending.

6. TPS:

- How does this affect individuals from the affected countries who have TPS? Once you are granted TPS, you technically have it until it is formally withdrawn. Somalia was just extended. Syria and Yemen were recently re-designated for TPS, and the designation in effect before the re-designation was extended.
- Does this mean we treat those who already have TPS and are applying for a renewal differently than those who are applying for an initial grant of TPS under the re-designation?
- Somalia:
  - Just extended; current re-registration period is 1/17/17 to 3/20/17; no re-designation.

- For those who already have TPS and asked for a renewal, their EADs have been extended automatically until 9/17/17.

- Syria:
  - Re-designated for TPS on 8/1/16.
  - Re-registration period for those who already had TPS was 8/1/16 to 9/30/16.
  - Filing period to ask for an initial grant of TPS under the re-designation was 8/1/16 to 1/30/17.
  - For those who already have TPS and asked for a renewal, their EADs have been extended automatically until 3/31/17.
- Yemen:
  - Re-designated for TPS on 1/4/17.
  - Re-registration period for those who already have TPS is 1/4/17 to 3/6/17.
  - Filing period to ask for an initial grant of TPS under the re-designation is 1/4/17 to 7/3/17.
- Sudan and South Sudan:
  - There are separate TPS designations in effect for Sudan and South Sudan.
  - Does the EO cover Sudan and South Sudan or just Sudan?
  - Most recent designation for Sudan and South Sudan is 5/3/13.
  - Current designation for each expires 11/2/17.
  - Re-registration period for each designation closed 3/25/16.
  - The latest initial re-registration period for each closed 7/25/16.
  - Each designation had an auto EAD extension, which expired 11/2/16.

Hi. It ended up being more questions than what I initially thought. Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

Let me know if you have any questions.

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

One more thing, the suspension does not apply to This suspension of entry does not apply to those foreign nationals traveling on A-1, A-2, G-1, G-2, G-3, G-4, NATO, C-2 or diplomatic type visas, or to issuance of visas in those categories. Do we adjudicate anything related to those visa categories at the centers?

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Hi. It ended up being more questions than what I initially thought. Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

Let me know if you have any questions.

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Here is the latest EO. OCOM will put out an agency alert. Any inquires get referred to WH Press, OLA inquiries also go to WH. DHS cced.

RAIO/FOD/FDNS/SCOPS all have equities that are operational in nature. Feel free to send me questions and I'll do my best to answer them or get an answer or at least flag it for DHS.

We are going to likely need a lead for tracking and coordinating all activities related to the EOs. If anyone has a good candidate please let me know. I'd like to get that person in place on Monday.

Hi. One of the questions I flagged is whether/how the EO impacts the 180-day auto extension under AC21 for timely filed renewal applications under the eligible categories, which includes those admitted as refugees, granted asylum, and pending asylum, among others, which could impact folks from affected countries. We had been working with Magteld and her team all last week to resolve the plain language issues and also fine tune and I believe the web page is with the FO. I also believe that the ETA from OCOMM for posting was today or tomorrow. Until we have a better handle on the EO and how it affects us, would you like to me to reach out to OCOMM or ask Magteld to reach out to OCOMM to put a hold on that web page?

Good morning Sophia. Can you please take a look at the premium reg for us? Discussion this morning was if we have premium cases that will go beyond 15 days because they are part of this hold, do we refund? Looks like some of the centers already have some cases that are getting close to this situation between the 140s and 129s. It isn't that we can't adjudicate them in the timeframe, it's that we have an EO that may not allow for this…

Thanks in advance.

Hi. I just finished reading the whole EO. Section 3c, which suspends the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry, refers to those described in INA 217(a)(2). As far as I can tell, only Iraq and Syria are mentioned in this statutory provision. Are other countries affected or just Iraq and Syria? I couldn't find reference to any other countries anywhere else, so wanted to be sure I wasn't missing anything.

Regarding EAD categories that would include those in INA 217(a)(2), we have:

- (c)(1) For the dependents of A-1 and A-2 government officials.
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement;
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.
- (c)(4) For the dependents of G-1, G-3, or G-4 (I think this includes NATO and at the US Mission to the UN, too).
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement.
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.

There are some special immigrant categories applicable to As, Gs, and NATO. The I-360 is filed with Dallas and Phoenix LB and the I-485 is filed with Phoenix LB. I am thinking that NSC adjudicates these, but it would be best to confirm.

- I Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(I) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Includes:
  - Unmarried sons/daughters of an officer or employee, or a former officer or employee of an international organization described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Surviving spouses of deceased officers or employees of international organizations described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Retired officers and employees of international organizations.
  - Following to join/accompanying spouse of a retired officer or employee who was granted special immigrant status as a retired officer or employee of an international organization.
- L Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(L) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Looks like this covers NATO and the same categories of persons described in 101(a)(27)(I).

This is all I can think of for now. If I come up with anything else, I will send it forward.

Sophia – The front office has asked that we provide them with a consolidated list of questions by COB today. I would like you to have the lead on that and we have told the Division Chiefs to funnel anything they come up with to you for consolidation. Since the deadline is COB, I think we should plan to have a cutoff by 2:00 so you can have time to consolidate and James and I can have time to review/edit before sending them up. We should do our best to identify them all but I'm sure we will be able to add questions later if we miss any. I'd really like to focus on questions that need to be elevated to the Department for guidance, not operational/logistical questions that we need to address within USCIS. Those are important too but they should go to Karla who will be our POC on operational issues. Our questions for the front office should focus on understanding and clarifying the EO itself, not the broader hold that was instituted over the weekend pending further guidance.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Don

Sure thing. I am pretty sure we have to refund if we do not take action in 15 days. The PP regs are at 8 CFR 103.7(e). It's 15 calendar days. Per 103.7(e)(2)(i) the 15 day processing period begins when USCIS receives the request for PP accompanied by an eligible employment-based immigration benefit request. Per 103.7(e)(2)(ii), if USCIS cannot reach a final decision on the request for which PP was requested, as evidenced by an approval, denial, NOID, or RFE, we will refund the PP fee but continue to process the case. I don't see anything in the PP regs that provide for any type of exception. Hope this helps. Let me know if you need anything else.

Good morning Sophia. Can you please take a look at the premium reg for us? Discussion this morning was if we have premium cases that will go beyond 15 days because they are part of this hold, do we refund? Looks like some of the centers already have some cases that are getting close to this situation between the 140s and 129s. It isn't that we can't adjudicate them in the timeframe, it's that we have an EO that may not allow for this…

Thanks in advance.

Hi. I just finished reading the whole EO. Section 3c, which suspends the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry, refers to those described in INA 217(a)(2). As far as I can tell, only Iraq and Syria are mentioned in this statutory provision. Are other countries affected or just Iraq and Syria? I couldn't find reference to any other countries anywhere else, so wanted to be sure I wasn't missing anything.

Regarding EAD categories that would include those in INA 217(a)(2), we have:

- (c)(1) For the dependents of A-1 and A-2 government officials.
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement;
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.
- (c)(4) For the dependents of G-1, G-3, or G-4 (I think this includes NATO and at the US Mission to the UN, too).
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement.
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.

There are some special immigrant categories applicable to As, Gs, and NATO. The I-360 is filed with Dallas and Phoenix LB and the I-485 is filed with Phoenix LB. I am thinking that NSC adjudicates these, but it would be best to confirm.

- I Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(I) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Includes:
  - Unmarried sons/daughters of an officer or employee, or a former officer or employee of an international organization described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Surviving spouses of deceased officers or employees of international organizations described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Retired officers and employees of international organizations.

Let me know if you have any questions.

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

- Following to join/accompanying spouse of a retired officer or employee who was granted special immigrant status as a retired officer or employee of an international organization.

- L Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(L) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Looks like this covers NATO and the same categories of persons described in 101(a)(27)(I).

This is all I can think of for now. If I come up with anything else, I will send it forward.

Hi. It ended up being more questions than what I initially thought. Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Sophia – The front office has asked that we provide them with a consolidated list of questions by COB today. I would like you to have the lead on that and we have told the Division Chiefs to funnel anything they come up with to you for consolidation. Since the deadline is COB, I think we should plan to have a cutoff by 2:00 so you can have time to consolidate and James and I can have time to review/edit before sending them up. We should do our best to identify them all but I'm sure we will be able to add questions later if we miss any. I'd really like to focus on questions that need to be elevated to the Department for guidance, not operational/logistical questions that we need to address within USCIS. Those are important too but they should go to Karla who will be our POC on operational issues. Our questions for the front office should focus on understanding and clarifying the EO itself, not the broader hold that was instituted over the weekend pending further guidance.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Don

I will need to know if we are expected to hold adjudications and of what. C3 is pretty easy, paper, but ELIS will be problematic. I'm trying to find out if ELIS can flag products and hold them from entering the ready to adjudicate queue.

If there are any other processing changes that will require systems we will need those specifics.

One more thing, the suspension does not apply to This suspension of entry does not apply to those foreign nationals traveling on A-1, A-2, G-1, G-2, G-3, G-4, NATO, C-2 or diplomatic type visas, or to issuance of visas in those categories. Do we adjudicate anything related to those visa categories at the centers?

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Sure thing. I am pretty sure we have to refund if we do not take action in 15 days. The PP regs are at 8 CFR 103.7(e). It's 15 calendar days. Per 103.7(e)(2)(i) the 15 day processing period begins when USCIS receives the request for PP accompanied by an eligible employment-based immigration benefit request. Per 103.7(e)(2)(ii), if USCIS cannot reach a final decision on the request for which PP was requested, as evidenced by an approval, denial, NOID, or RFE, we will refund the PP fee but continue to process the case. I don't see anything in the PP regs that provide for any type of exception. Hope this helps. Let me know if you need anything else.

Good morning Sophia. Can you please take a look at the premium reg for us? Discussion this morning was if we have premium cases that will go beyond 15 days because they are part of this hold, do we refund? Looks like some of the centers already have some cases that are getting close to this situation between the 140s and 129s. It isn't that we can't adjudicate them in the timeframe, it's that we have an EO that may not allow for this…

Thanks in advance.

Hi. I just finished reading the whole EO. Section 3c, which suspends the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry, refers to those described in INA 217(a)(2). As far as I can tell, only Iraq and Syria are mentioned in this statutory provision. Are other countries affected or just Iraq and Syria? I couldn't find reference to any other countries anywhere else, so wanted to be sure I wasn't missing anything.

Regarding EAD categories that would include those in INA 217(a)(2), we have:

- (c)(1) For the dependents of A-1 and A-2 government officials.
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement;
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.
- (c)(4) For the dependents of G-1, G-3, or G-4 (I think this includes NATO and at the US Mission to the UN, too).
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement.
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.

There are some special immigrant categories applicable to As, Gs, and NATO. The I-360 is filed with Dallas and Phoenix LB and the I-485 is filed with Phoenix LB. I am thinking that NSC adjudicates these, but it would be best to confirm.

- I Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(I) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Includes:

- Unmarried sons/daughters of an officer or employee, or a former officer or employee of an international organization described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
- Surviving spouses of deceased officers or employees of international organizations described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
- Retired officers and employees of international organizations.
- Following to join/accompanying spouse of a retired officer or employee who was granted special immigrant status as a retired officer or employee of an international organization.

- L Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(L) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Looks like this covers NATO and the same categories of persons described in 101(a)(27)(I).

This is all I can think of for now. If I come up with anything else, I will send it forward.

We should do our best to identify them all but I'm sure we will be able to add questions later if we miss any. I'd really like to focus on questions that need to be elevated to the Department for guidance, not operational/logistical questions that we need to address within USCIS. My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

One more thing, the suspension does not apply to This suspension of entry does not apply to those foreign nationals traveling on A-1, A-2, G-1, G-2, G-3, G-4, NATO, C-2 or diplomatic type visas, or to issuance of visas in those categories. Do we adjudicate anything related to those visa categories at the centers?

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Yes. In my eagerness to respond quickly, I neglected to mention 8 CFR 103.7(e)(2)(ii). USCIS may retain the PP fee and not reach a conclusion on the request within 15 days, and not notify the person who filed the request, if USCIS opens an investigation for fraud or misrepresentation relating the to benefit request. So we do get to keep the fee if we go beyond 15 days if we are investigating for fraud or misrep.

Sure thing. I am pretty sure we have to refund if we do not take action in 15 days. The PP regs are at 8 CFR 103.7(e). It's 15 calendar days. Per 103.7(e)(2)(i) the 15 day processing period begins when USCIS receives the request for PP accompanied by an eligible employment-based immigration benefit request. Also per 103.7(e)(2)(i), if USCIS cannot reach a final decision on the request for which PP was requested, as evidenced by an approval, denial, NOID, or RFE, we will refund the PP fee but continue to process the case. I don't see anything in the PP regs that provide for any type of exception. Hope this helps. Let me know if you need anything else.

Good morning Sophia. Can you please take a look at the premium reg for us? Discussion this morning was if we have premium cases that will go beyond 15 days because they are part of this hold, do we refund? Looks like some of the centers already have some cases that are getting close to this situation between the 140s and 129s. It isn't that we can't adjudicate them in the timeframe, it's that we have an EO that may not allow for this…

Thanks in advance.

Hi. I just finished reading the whole EO. Section 3c, which suspends the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry, refers to those described in INA 217(a)(2). As far as I can tell, only Iraq and Syria are mentioned in this statutory provision. Are other countries affected or just Iraq and Syria? I couldn't find reference to any other countries anywhere else, so wanted to be sure I wasn't missing anything.

Regarding EAD categories that would include those in INA 217(a)(2), we have:

- (c)(1) For the dependents of A-1 and A-2 government officials.
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement;
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.
- (c)(4) For the dependents of G-1, G-3, or G-4 (I think this includes NATO and at the US Mission to the UN, too).
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement.
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.

There are some special immigrant categories applicable to As, Gs, and NATO. The I-360 is filed with Dallas and Phoenix LB and the I-485 is filed with Phoenix LB. I am thinking that NSC adjudicates these, but it would be best to confirm.

- I Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(I) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Includes:
  - Unmarried sons/daughters of an officer or employee, or a former officer or employee of an international organization described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Surviving spouses of deceased officers or employees of international organizations described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Retired officers and employees of international organizations.
  - Following to join/accompanying spouse of a retired officer or employee who was granted special immigrant status as a retired officer or employee of an international organization.
- L Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(L) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Looks like this covers NATO and the same categories of persons described in 101(a)(27)(I).

This is all I can think of for now. If I come up with anything else, I will send it forward.

Hi,

I will need to know if we are expected to hold adjudications and of what. C3 is pretty easy, paper, but ELIS will be problematic. I'm trying to find out if ELIS can flag products and hold them from entering the ready to adjudicate queue.

If there are any other processing changes that will require systems we will need those specifics.

Sophia – The front office has asked that we provide them with a consolidated list of questions by COB today. I would like you to have the lead on that and we have told the Division Chiefs to funnel anything they come up with to you for consolidation. Since the deadline is COB, I think we should plan to have a cutoff by 2:00 so you can have time to consolidate and James and I can have time to review/edit before sending them up. We should do our best to identify them all but I'm sure we will be able to add questions later if we miss any. I'd really like to focus on questions that need to be elevated to the Department for guidance, not operational/logistical questions that we need to address within USCIS. Those are important too but they should go to Karla who will be our POC on operational issues. Our questions for the front office should focus on understanding and clarifying the EO itself, not the broader hold that was instituted over the weekend pending further guidance.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Don

Hi. It ended up being more questions than what I initially thought. Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

Let me know if you have any questions.

One more thing, the suspension does not apply to This suspension of entry does not apply to those foreign nationals traveling on A-1, A-2, G-1, G-2, G-3, G-4, NATO, C-2 or diplomatic type visas, or to issuance of visas in those categories. Do we adjudicate anything related to those visa categories at the centers?

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

All – I asked the regs team to give us an idea of the tie frames for doing and re-doing forms as well as regs:

For forms , if, for instance, we have to add new vetting questions, OMB approval can be accomplished relatively quickly as an emergency action (compared to the normal process).
Steps and qualifications for emergency OMB approval:
1) OP&S division, operational directorates, OCC, and RCD collaborate on the amended form and/or instructions.
2) RCD prepares the relevant PRA supporting documents (Supporting Statement, etc.) working with OIDP and Office of Privacy
3) Draft a memo justifying the emergent need (e.g., the EO), signed by USCIS CIO and DHS CIO.
4) RCD submits the package to OMB. OMB approval under emergency will only be valid for 6 months. To extend the validity of the OMB approval beyond 6 months, RCD would need to publish the 60- and 30-day Notices as normal and then resubmit the package to OMB.
As a side note, the interior enforcement EO took away the Privacy Act protections that the USG had extended to non-citizens (by policy I believe). This change may significantly impact how the Privacy Act is interpreted w/r/t USCIS forms and systems, and may or may not cause changes to our Privacy Threshold Analyses which support the PRA process. We need to get a legal opinion on whether our PTAs, etc. will change because of this, and if we can update the relevant PRA supporting documents as they come up in the queue (i.e. as RCD starts work upon expiration) or if this needs to be implemented immediately (which would be a significant workload).

For regs, the time it took to get the EA rules out from the Nov. 20, 2014 memo are good barometers of the average timeline when there is WH support and it's moving as an emergency action:
- Average of 12-16 months for drafting and publishing an NPRM (but note that there was already some work done on EA before the 11/2014 announcement)
- Average of 6-8 months to review public comments, draft final rule, and publish the final rule.

Caveats: 1) The above assumes a relatively hands-off approach of OGC staff-level attorneys and economists prior to moving to OGC FO, S1 FO, and OMB. Also assumes that the timelines for S1 FO review will be similarly expedited (i.e. a matter of hours wherein the Assistant General Counsel briefs S1 and obtains signature). 2) The "effective date" will largely depend on the speed that our computer systems can be stood up. 3) Also, of course, depends on the number and complexity of public comments received and the continued availability of monetary resources to fund contractor support of our regulatory projects (comment analysis).

We expect today to put out general guidance that the EO does not impact citizenship cases. DHS is reviewing the language. Everything else is on hold.

The Policy and general objectives language at the beginning pulls key language from the EO for quick reference when we're drafting statements. The date conversion chart indicates the calendar dates associated with any specific timeframe mentioned in the EO.

I am working to convert this to Excel over the weekend so it's a little more scalable, but wanted to pass it on for initial use.

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Also, since part of the directive is to reviewing to enhance information we collect and screening, we likely will be proposing changes to the I-730 process, to include revisions to the form and the I-730A, which would be completed by the beneficiary. We have mock ups and can move quickly, but need to think first about those in pipeline. Maura has giving directive to staff outside US to cancel pick up document pickups for 730s for next week.

We are working on further guidance and of course will coordinate with SCOP.

State has also issued guidance. Will forward.

Tracy,

It is my understanding that POTUS will sign the "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Attacks by Foreign Nationals" order today at 4:30pm. In complying with the EA I believe we need immediate clarification in Section 3 (c) relative to the 30 day suspension of processing immigrants and non-immigrants from the designated countries of interest and if this extends to processing of permanent resident applications. Though the EA states "immigrant and non-immigrant entry into the United States", once we grant an adjustment we "admit" that person (b)(5) [redacted] We just need to clarify if by extension this applies to our product lines. If this is the case then Don and Dan will need to get guidance to the Field to put these adjudications on hold. Other than the refugee suspension that appears fully deployed on our end this appears the most urgent clarification we need relative to the EAs.

Yes. In my eagerness to respond quickly, I neglected to mention 8 CFR 103.7(e)(2)(ii). USCIS may retain the PP fee and not reach a conclusion on the request within 15 days, and not notify the person who filed the request, if USCIS opens an investigation for fraud or misrepresentation relating the to benefit request. So we do get to keep the fee if we go beyond 15 days if we are investigating for fraud or misrep.

Sure thing. I am pretty sure we have to refund if we do not take action in 15 days. The PP regs are at 8 CFR 103.7(e). It's 15 calendar days. Per 103.7(e)(2)(i) the 15 day processing period begins when USCIS receives the request for PP accompanied by an eligible employment-based immigration benefit request. Also per 103.7(e)(2)(i), if USCIS cannot reach a final decision on the request for which PP was requested, as evidenced by an approval, denial, NOID, or RFE, we will refund the PP fee but continue to process the case. I don't see anything in the PP regs that provide for any type of exception. Hope this helps. Let me know if you need anything else.

Good morning Sophia. Can you please take a look at the premium reg for us? Discussion this morning was if we have premium cases that will go beyond 15 days because they are part of this hold, do we refund? Looks like some of the centers already have some cases that are getting close to this situation between the 140s and 129s. It isn't that we can't adjudicate them in the timeframe, it's that we have an EO that may not allow for this…

Hi. I just finished reading the whole EO. Section 3c, which suspends the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry, refers to those described in INA 217(a)(2). As far as I can tell, only Iraq and Syria are mentioned in this statutory provision. Are other countries affected or just Iraq and Syria? I couldn't find reference to any other countries anywhere else, so wanted to be sure I wasn't missing anything.

Regarding EAD categories that would include those in INA 217(a)(2), we have:

- (c)(1) For the dependents of A-1 and A-2 government officials.
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement;
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.
- (c)(4) For the dependents of G-1, G-3, or G-4 (I think this includes NATO and at the US Mission to the UN, too).
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement.
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.

There are some special immigrant categories applicable to As, Gs, and NATO. The I-360 is filed with Dallas and Phoenix LB and the I-485 is filed with Phoenix LB. I am thinking that NSC adjudicates these, but it would be best to confirm.

- I Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(I) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Includes:
  - Unmarried sons/daughters of an officer or employee, or a former officer or employee of an international organization described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Surviving spouses of deceased officers or employees of international organizations described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Retired officers and employees of international organizations.
  - Following to join/accompanying spouse of a retired officer or employee who was granted special immigrant status as a retired officer or employee of an international organization.
- L Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(L) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Looks like this covers NATO and the same categories of persons described in 101(a)(27)(I).

This is all I can think of for now. If I come up with anything else, I will send it forward.

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Don – Responding just to you given the flurry of emails and so I can be exactly clear on what you need. I am asking the BCs to give high level type of questions that need to be elevated to the Dept, as you asked, but when I looked at what was already in the matrix that the FO sent, which appears to include questions from FOD, some of those are either form specific a bit more operational in nature, so I just want to be sure we don't miss anything. Thanks!!

Sophia – The front office has asked that we provide them with a consolidated list of questions by COB today. I would like you to have the lead on that and we have told the Division Chiefs to funnel anything they come up with to you for consolidation. Since the deadline is COB, I think we should plan to have a cutoff by 2:00 so you can have time to consolidate and James and I can have time to review/edit before sending them up. We should do our best to identify them all but I'm sure we will be able to add questions later if we miss any. I'd really like to focus on questions that need to be elevated to the Department for guidance, not operational/logistical questions that we need to address within USCIS. Those are important too but they should go to Karla who will be our POC on operational issues. Our questions for the front office should focus on understanding and clarifying the EO itself, not the broader hold that was instituted over the weekend pending further guidance.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Hi. It ended up being more questions than what I initially thought. Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

Let me know if you have any questions.

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

I'd really like to focus on questions that need to be elevated to the Department for guidance, not operational/logistical questions that we need to address within USCIS. Those are important too but they should go to Karla who will be our POC on operational issues. Our questions for the front office should focus on understanding and clarifying the EO itself, not the broader hold that was instituted over the weekend pending further guidance.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Don

Hi. It ended up being more questions than what I initially thought. Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

Let me know if you have any questions.

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

One more thing, the suspension does not apply to This suspension of entry does not apply to those foreign nationals traveling on A-1, A-2, G-1, G-2, G-3, G-4, NATO, C-2 or diplomatic type visas, or to issuance of visas in those categories. Do we adjudicate anything related to those visa categories at the centers?

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Sophia – The front office has asked that we provide them with a consolidated list of questions by COB today. I would like you to have the lead on that and we have told the Division Chiefs to funnel anything they come up with to you for consolidation. Since the deadline is COB, I think we should plan to have a cutoff by 2:00 so you can have time to consolidate and James and I can have time to review/edit before sending them up. We should do our best to identify them all but I'm sure we will be able to add questions later if we miss any. Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

One more thing, the suspension does not apply to This suspension of entry does not apply to those foreign nationals traveling on A-1, A-2, G-1, G-2, G-3, G-4, NATO, C-2 or diplomatic type visas, or to issuance of visas in those categories. Do we adjudicate anything related to those visa categories at the centers?

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Sophia – The front office has asked that we provide them with a consolidated list of questions by COB today. I would like you to have the lead on that and we have told the Division Chiefs to funnel anything they come up with to you for consolidation. Since the deadline is COB, I think we should plan to have a cutoff by 2:00 so you can have time to consolidate and James and I can have time to review/edit before sending them up. We should do our best to identify them all but I'm sure we will be able to add questions later if we miss any. I'd really like to focus on questions that need to be elevated to the Department for guidance, not operational/logistical questions that we need to address within USCIS. Those are important too but they should go to Karla who will be our POC on operational issues. Our questions for the front office should focus on understanding and clarifying the EO itself, not the broader hold that was instituted over the weekend pending further guidance.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Hi. It ended up being more questions than what I initially thought. Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

Subject: EO Hold
Date: Monday, January 30, 2017 11:29:17 AM

At the recently concluded leadership meeting we learned that the processing hold we put in place over the weekend will be lifted. All messaging must now be cleared through the Department, so we cannot communicate this in writing to the troops. However, I wanted you to know that so we don't waste time formulating questions about the hold or working on strategies to ensure compliance. I expect that the final guidance may be more nuanced on the processing of parole requests, but otherwise we are expecting to lift the hold on adjustments and other form types. Please do not share this further in light of the messaging restrictions. We hope to have formal cleared language later today or tomorrow.

One more thing, the suspension does not apply to This suspension of entry does not apply to those foreign nationals traveling on A-1, A-2, G-1, G-2, G-3, G-4, NATO, C-2 or diplomatic type visas, or to issuance of visas in those categories. Do we adjudicate anything related to those visa categories at the centers?

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Sophia -- The front office has asked that we provide them with a consolidated list of questions by COB today. I would like you to have the lead on that and we have told the Division Chiefs to funnel anything they come up with to you for consolidation. Since the deadline is COB, I think we should plan to have a cutoff by 2:00 so you can have time to consolidate and James and I can have time to review/edit before sending them up. We should do our best to identify them all but I'm sure we will be able to add questions later if we miss any. I'd really like to focus on questions that need to be elevated to the Department for guidance, not operational/logistical questions that we need to address within USCIS. Those are important too but they should go to Karla who will be our POC on operational issues. Our questions for the front office should focus on understanding and clarifying the EO itself, not the broader hold that was instituted over the weekend pending further guidance.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Don

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

1. Acceptance of Applications: Can we accept benefit applications and petitions from, or on behalf, of nationals of the listed countries?
   - If no, must we reject?
   - If we can accept the filing, can adjudicate if approval does not convey any status?
   - How does this affect immigrant and nonimmigrant visa petitions, since the approval does not convey a status?
   - If we can accept the filing but cannot adjudicate, must we place these filings on hold?
   - How does this affect upcoming H-1B cap season?
     - The initial 90-day "suspension of entry" will run past H-1B cap filing season.
     - If the 90-day suspension is lifted or modified in part, the H-1B cap season will have closed.

2. Individuals Already in the United States in a Valid Nonimmigrant Status: For those individuals already in a lawful nonimmigrant status, how does this affect their ability to:
   - Change to another nonimmigrant status?
   - Extend their nonimmigrant stay?
   - Apply for adjustment of status?

3. EADs/Work Authorization:
   - How does this affect individuals who are already work authorized incident to status, regardless of the EAD, and where the EAD is evidence of the work authorization they already have? These individuals are included in 8 CFR 274a.12(a).
   - Any individual who is work authorized and believes he/she was wrongly terminated or denied employment has recourse through DOJ's Office of Special Counsel. So if the EO prevents us from issuing EADs to individuals who are already employment authorized and they are refused employment or terminated, has this been coordinated with OSC?
   - Categories under category (a) that could be impacted:
     - (a)(3) admitted as refugee
     - (a)(4) paroled as refugee
     - (a)(5) granted asylum
     - (a)(6) admitted as K-1 fiances/K-2 dependent children
     - (a)(7) admitted as N-8 parent or N-9 dependent child of someone granted LPR status as a special immigrant under INA 101(a)(27)(I) [former and retired international employees/NATO, surviving spouses, and children]
     - (a)(9) admitted as K-3 nonimmigrant of USC/K-4 dependent children
     - (a)(10) granted withholding of removal
     - (a)(12) granted TPS
     - (a)(15) in valid V nonimmigrant status
     - (a)(16) in valid T status – victim of trafficking
     - (a)(17) in valid U status – victim of severe form of crime

4. AC 21:
   - Does the EO impact AC 21?

- Auto EAD Extension: The AC21 regulation includes a provision granting an automatic extension of the EAD/work authorization for up to 180 days for individuals who timely file their renewal EAD applications and whose renewal is under one of the 15 eligible categories.
  - Effective 1/17, receipt notices issued by LB (via OnBase) and the centers (via C3) include language regarding the auto 180-day extension, so nationals of affected countries who timely filed a renewal EAD application under one of the above categories on or after 1/17 are receiving notices that include the auto extension language.
  - OCC asked us to include individuals who filed before 1/17/17 and whose renewal applications are pending on 1/17. Because receipt notices for cases filed at LB before 1/17 did not have the eligibility category (they do now), OCC wants us to reissue notices to these folks. We have been working with OIT to do a sweep of pending renewal cases filed at LB so that we could reissue the notices. As noted above, this includes applicants from the affected countries. We received updates late Friday afternoon on what is and isn't possible, and are on hold until we know whether we need to make any modifications to our proposed process to comply with the EO. Since the automatic EAD extension for TPS is already covered in the FRN applicable to the specific designation, one option would be to exclude all TPS renewal applicants from the sweep and reissue the receipt notices to the remaining renewal applicants who filed with LB before 1/17/17.
- Compelling Circumstances EAD (CC EAD): Does the EO affect our ability to accept/grant applications for CC EADs. The AC1 regulation created a new C35 category for individuals in the LPR process to apply for a CC EAD. Examples given include Government interest. Would a showing of compelling circumstances/Government interest be sufficient to grant the EAD?

5. Students/STEM OPT:

- F-1 students from the affected countries who are in valid status eligible to apply for practical training? The regulations allow them to apply for pre-completion, post completion, and STEM OPT. The regulations also allow them to receive curricular practical training without filing with USCIS.
- Per 8 CFR 274a.12(b)(6)(v), F-1 academic students who timely file their application for STEM OPT (before their post completion OPT expires) are authorized to be employed while their application for STEM OPT is pending.

6. TPS:

- How does this affect individuals from the affected countries who have TPS? Once you are granted TPS, you technically have it until it is formally withdrawn. Somalia was just extended. Syria and Yemen were recently re-designated for TPS, and the designation in effect before the re-designation was extended.
- Does this mean we treat those who already have TPS and are applying for a renewal differently than those who are applying for an initial grant of TPS under the re-designation?
- Somalia:
  - Just extended; current re-registration period is 1/17/17 to 3/20/17; no re-designation.

- For those who already have TPS and asked for a renewal, their EADs have been extended automatically until 9/17/17.

- Syria:
  - Re-designated for TPS on 8/1/16.
  - Re-registration period for those who already had TPS was 8/1/16 to 9/30/16.
  - Filing period to ask for an initial grant of TPS under the re-designation was 8/1/16 to 1/30/17.
  - For those who already have TPS and asked for a renewal, their EADs have been extended automatically until 3/31/17.
- Yemen:
  - Re-designated for TPS on 1/4/17.
  - Re-registration period for those who already have TPS is 1/4/17 to 3/6/17.
  - Filing period to ask for an initial grant of TPS under the re-designation is 1/4/17 to 7/3/17.
- Sudan and South Sudan:
  - There are separate TPS designations in effect for Sudan and South Sudan.
  - Does the EO cover Sudan and South Sudan or just Sudan?
  - Most recent designation for Sudan and South Sudan is 5/3/13.
  - Current designation for each expires 11/2/17.
  - Re-registration period for each designation closed 3/25/16.
  - The latest initial re-registration period for each closed 7/25/16.
  - Each designation had an auto EAD extension, which expired 11/2/16.

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Sophia – The front office has asked that we provide them with a consolidated list of questions by COB today. I would like you to have the lead on that and we have told the Division Chiefs to funnel anything they come up with to you for consolidation. Since the deadline is COB, I think we should plan to have a cutoff by 2:00 so you can have time to consolidate and James and I can have time to review/edit before sending them up. We should do our best to identify them all but I'm sure we will be able to add questions later if we miss any. I'd really like to focus on questions that need to be elevated to the Department for guidance, not operational/logistical questions that we need to address within USCIS. Those are important too but they should go to Karla who will be our POC on operational issues. Our questions for the front office should focus on understanding and clarifying the EO itself, not the broader hold that was instituted over the weekend pending further guidance.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Subject: RE: Friday's EO

Hi. It ended up being more questions than what I initially thought. Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

Let me know if you have any questions.

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs. However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Thanks. Folks were sending me questions and asking me for the documents so they could scramble to pull their questions together for me, so in light of this I told them to just hold up for now until they get further info from me.

Subject: EO Hold

At the recently concluded leadership meeting we learned that the processing hold we put in place over the weekend will be lifted. All messaging must now be cleared through the Department, so we cannot communicate this in writing to the troops. However, I wanted you to know that so we don't waste time formulating questions about the hold or working on strategies to ensure compliance. I expect that the final guidance may be more nuanced on the processing of parole requests, but otherwise we are expecting to lift the hold on adjustments and other form types. Please do not share this further in light of the messaging restrictions. We hope to have formal cleared language later today or tomorrow.

Basically, we need to ask the questions we think only the Department can answer. As you may have seen in my recent message, the hold will soon be much more narrowly defined as the decision has been made that "entry" essentially means what it has always meant. Adjustments, EOS and COS will resume processing as will I-90s, I-765s and everything else that clearly doesn't result in an "entry" at time of approval. So all the questions related to clarifying case types on hold because of "entry" restrictions don't need to be included. We probably do have questions related to the impact on I-730s depending on how they want the "refugee" processing hold to be implemented, which is separate from the "entry" issue.

Call me if you need to 2-1020.

Don – Responding just to you given the flurry of emails and so I can be exactly clear on what you need. I am asking the BCs to give high level type of questions that need to be elevated to the Dept, as you asked, but when I looked at what was already in the matrix that the FO sent, which appears to include questions from FOD, some of those are either form specific a bit more operational in nature, so I just want to be sure we don't miss anything. Thanks!!

Sophia – The front office has asked that we provide them with a consolidated list of questions by COB today. I would like you to have the lead on that and we have told the Division Chiefs to funnel anything they come up with to you for consolidation. Since the deadline is COB, I think we should plan to have a cutoff by 2:00 so you can have time to consolidate and James and I can have time to review/edit before sending them up. We should do our best to identify them all but I'm sure we will be able to add questions later if we miss any. I'd really like to focus on questions that need to be elevated to the Department for guidance, not operational/logistical questions that we need to address within USCIS. Those are important too but they should go to Karla who will be our POC on operational issues. Our questions for the front office should focus on understanding and clarifying the EO itself, not the broader hold that was instituted over the weekend pending further guidance.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

I would like you to have the lead on that and we have told the Division Chiefs to funnel anything they come up with to you for consolidation. Since the deadline is COB, I think we should plan to have a cutoff by 2:00 so you can have time to consolidate and James and I can have time to review/edit before sending them up. We should do our best to identify them all but I'm sure we will be able to add questions later if we miss any. I'd really like to focus on questions that need to be elevated to the Department for guidance, not operational/logistical questions that we need to address within USCIS. Those are important too but they should go to Karla who will be our POC on operational issues. Our questions for the front office should focus on understanding and clarifying the EO itself, not the broader hold that was instituted over the weekend pending further guidance.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Don

Hi. It ended up being more questions than what I initially thought. Since I had a number of questions, I put them in the attached Word document so they can be more easily be combined with Pam's questions and questions anyone else may have. There is a potential AC21 impact regarding renewals filed under the eligible categories. I am also attaching a list of those categories so you have it handy as you read through the document.

Let me know if you have any questions.

My comments and questions:

There is a large population of I-730s from the effected countries and smaller population of I-130s. Adjudication of these petitions does not admit a person, therefore if the Bene is overseas the EO would apply to the visa issuance at our office or DOS not our SCs.

However, if the bene is in the US and adjusting stateside would that be seen as an entry? FOD would handle these cases.

Will this EO prevent USCIS from adjudicating EOS and/or COS requests filed by nationals from the effected countries?

Would 765s be effected? Would there be an instance where CBP would accept an EAD doc as evidence for admission? Canadian and Mexicans perhaps?

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Subject: Questions
Date: Monday, January 30, 2017 12:14:47 PM

Hi Sophia,

ADJ DIVISION questions – edit at will:

Mainly concerning definitions:

Sec 4 states as part of the uniform screening standard "Amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent" Does this mean all form types will need to be revised or standardized? (Note – many of the forms have already be revised to include the inadmissibility questions)

Sec 4 states as part of the uniform screening standard "a process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest" Is this a discretionary call or will there be defined areas with a point system?

Sec 8 (b)(iv) states information is to be collected on "any other information relevant to public safety and security as determined by the Secretary of Homeland security and the Attorney General, including information on the immigration status of foreign nationals charged with major offenses" What is the definition of "major offenses" as it relates to this section?

Operational Questions:

For COS/EOS requests, how do we go about adjudicating those? Of particular concern are the cases already included in our existing backlog. Is there a distinction between cases filed in the past versus now or in the future?

For Cap cases, do we reject cases with beneficiaries from the listed countries or do accept the cases and hold them?

- Are FTJ-A cases affected (i730) in the same way FTJ-R cases are affected by the pause in refugee processing? FTJ-A cases would be admitted as asylees.

- For those outside the US currently in T or U nonimmigrant status from the seven countries, will they be allowed re-entry?

- Don said in the email chain below "One more thing, the suspension does not apply to those foreign nationals traveling on A-1, A-2, G-1, G-2, G-3, G-4, NATO, C-2 or diplomatic type visas, or to issuance of visas in those categories. Do we adjudicate anything related to those visa categories at the centers?"

Based on the exception mentioned above, are the Centers allowed to adjudicate an I-485 from applicants from these countries who used one of these diplomatic visas in their last entry or are they on hold with the rest?

Just as an FYI.
Below are the numbers of FB/EB visas that were allocated to applicants from these countries for FY-2017.

Iran	703 visa
Iraq	21 visas
Libya	47 visas
Somalia	7 visas
Sudan	9 visas
Syria	102 visas
Yemen	17 visas

Yes. In my eagerness to respond quickly, I neglected to mention 8 CFR 103.7(e)(2)(ii). USCIS may retain the PP fee and not reach a conclusion on the request within 15 days, and not notify the person who filed the request, if USCIS opens an investigation for fraud or misrepresentation relating the to benefit request. So we do get to keep the fee if we go beyond 15 days if we are investigating for fraud or misrep.

Sure thing. I am pretty sure we have to refund if we do not take action in 15 days. The PP regs are at 8 CFR 103.7(e). It's 15 calendar days. Per 103.7(e)(2)(i) the 15 day processing period begins when USCIS receives the request for PP accompanied by an eligible employment-based immigration benefit request. Also per 103.7(e)(2)(i), if USCIS cannot reach a final decision on the request for which PP was requested, as evidenced by an approval, denial, NOID, or RFE, we will refund the PP fee but continue to process the case. I don't see anything in the PP regs that provide for any type of exception. Hope this helps. Let me know if you need anything else.

Good morning Sophia. Can you please take a look at the premium reg for us? Discussion this morning was if we have premium cases that will go beyond 15 days because they are part of this hold, do we refund? Looks like some of the centers already have some cases that are getting close to this situation between the 140s and 129s. It isn't that we can't adjudicate them in the timeframe, it's that we have an EO that may not allow for this…

Thanks in advance.

Hi. I just finished reading the whole EO. Section 3c, which suspends the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry, refers to those described in INA 217(a)(2). As far as I can tell, only Iraq and Syria are mentioned in this statutory provision. Are other countries affected or just Iraq and Syria? I couldn't find reference to any other countries anywhere else, so wanted to be sure I wasn't missing anything.

Regarding EAD categories that would include those in INA 217(a)(2), we have:

- (c)(1) For the dependents of A-1 and A-2 government officials.
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement;
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.
- (c)(4) For the dependents of G-1, G-3, or G-4 (I think this includes NATO and at the US Mission to the UN, too).

  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement.
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.

There are some special immigrant categories applicable to As, Gs, and NATO. The I-360 is filed with Dallas and Phoenix LB and the I-485 is filed with Phoenix LB. I am thinking that NSC adjudicates these, but it would be best to confirm.

- I Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(I) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Includes:
  - Unmarried sons/daughters of an officer or employee, or a former officer or employee of an international organization described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Surviving spouses of deceased officers or employees of international organizations described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Retired officers and employees of international organizations.
  - Following to join/accompanying spouse of a retired officer or employee who was granted special immigrant status as a retired officer or employee of an international organization.
- L Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(L) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Looks like this covers NATO and the same categories of persons described in 101(a)(27)(I).

This is all I can think of for now. If I come up with anything else, I will send it forward.

Importance: High

Hi. Per our conversation a little bit ago, here are some high level questions I got from folks for the Department to answer. I hope this is along the lines of what you are looking for. I didn't include the questions I sent you yesterday but if any of them need to be included let me know and I will put them back in.

1. Part of the uniform screening standard is to include "Amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent"

    a. Does this mean that all applications and petitions will need to be revised or standardized? We note that many of the forms have already be revised to include the questions related to criminality and national security.

    b. If the answer to one of these questions reveals potential issues, what bearing will this have on benefit types that do not accord status and where the issue is not grounds for denial?

2. As part of the uniform screening standard the EO includes a directive to develop "a process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest"

    a. Is this process/determination a discretionary call or will there be defined areas?

3. Information is to be collected on "any other information relevant to public safety and security as determined by the Secretary of Homeland security and the Attorney General, including information on the immigration status of foreign nationals charged with major offenses"

    a. What is the definition of "major offenses" as it relates to this section? How is it different from the term "aggravated felony" as defined in the INA 101(a)(43)?

4. Can we accept/adjudicate/approved (if eligible) I-730s for following to join family members of individuals granted asylum (FTJ-A) and I-730s for following to join family members of refugees? Is there any distinction between the processing of I-730s for asylees and refugees?

5. For those outside the US currently in T (victims of trafficking) or U (victims of severe form of crime) nonimmigrant status from the seven countries, will they be allowed re-entry? If waivers can be granted case by case, how will those requests be handled?

6. How does the EO impact TRIG exemptions?

7. What is expected of us in terms of reporting?

a. Data to be collected
b. Frequency
c. Transmission

FYI and in case you find this helpful, Pam sent me the numbers of FB/EB visas that were allocated to applicants from the applicable countries for FY-2017.

Iran	703 visa
Iraq	21 visas
Libya	47 visas
Somalia	7 visas
Sudan	9 visas
Syria	102 visas
Yemen	17 visas

I will go through all the EOs in more detail to see if there are other things that might impact us.

At the recently concluded leadership meeting we learned that the processing hold we put in place over the weekend will be lifted. All messaging must now be cleared through the Department, so we cannot communicate this in writing to the troops. However, I wanted you to know that so we don't waste time formulating questions about the hold or working on strategies to ensure compliance. I expect that the final guidance may be more nuanced on the processing of parole requests, but otherwise we are expecting to lift the hold on adjustments and other form types. Please do not share this further in light of the messaging restrictions. We hope to have formal cleared language later today or tomorrow.

Hi. Per our conversation a little bit ago, here are some high level questions I got from folks for the Department to answer. I hope this is along the lines of what you are looking for. I didn't include the questions I sent you yesterday but if any of them need to be included let me know and I will put them back in.

1. Part of the uniform screening standard is to include "Amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent"

   a. Does this mean that all applications and petitions will need to be revised or standardized? We note that many of the forms have already be revised to include the questions related to criminality and national security.

   b. If the answer to one of these questions reveals potential issues, what bearing will this have on benefit types that do not accord status and where the issue is not grounds for denial?

   a. Is this process/determination a discretionary call or will there be defined areas?

3. Information is to be collected on "any other information relevant to public safety and security as determined by the Secretary of Homeland security and the Attorney General, including information on the immigration status of foreign nationals charged with major offenses"

   a. What is the definition of "major offenses" as it relates to this section? How is it different from the term "aggravated felony" as defined in the INA 101(a)(43)?

4. Can we accept/adjudicate/approved (if eligible) I-730s for following to join family members of individuals granted asylum (FTJ-A) and I-730s for following to join family members of refugees? Is there any distinction between the processing of I-730s for asylees and refugees?

Yes. In my eagerness to respond quickly, I neglected to mention 8 CFR 103.7(e)(2)(ii). USCIS may retain the PP fee and not reach a conclusion on the request within 15 days, and not notify the person who filed the request, if USCIS opens an investigation for fraud or misrepresentation relating the to benefit request. So we do get to keep the fee if we go beyond 15 days if we are investigating for fraud or misrep.

Sure thing. I am pretty sure we have to refund if we do not take action in 15 days. The PP regs are at 8 CFR 103.7(e). It's 15 calendar days. Per 103.7(e)(2)(i) the 15 day processing period begins when USCIS receives the request for PP accompanied by an eligible employment-based immigration benefit request. Also per 103.7(e)(2)(i), if USCIS cannot reach a final decision on the request for which PP was requested, as evidenced by an approval, denial, NOID, or RFE, we will refund the PP fee but continue to process the case. I don't see anything in the PP regs that provide for any type of exception. Hope this helps. Let me know if you need anything else.

Good morning Sophia. Can you please take a look at the premium reg for us? Discussion this morning was if we have premium cases that will go beyond 15 days because they are part of this hold, do we refund? Looks like some of the centers already have some cases that are getting close to this situation between the 140s and 129s. It isn't that we can't adjudicate them in the timeframe, it's that we have an EO that may not allow for this…

Thanks in advance.

Hi. I just finished reading the whole EO. Section 3c, which suspends the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry, refers to those described in INA

217(a)(2). As far as I can tell, only Iraq and Syria are mentioned in this statutory provision. Are other countries affected or just Iraq and Syria? I couldn't find reference to any other countries anywhere else, so wanted to be sure I wasn't missing anything.

Regarding EAD categories that would include those in INA 217(a)(2), we have:

- (c)(1) For the dependents of A-1 and A-2 government officials.
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement;
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.
- (c)(4) For the dependents of G-1, G-3, or G-4 (I think this includes NATO and at the US Mission to the UN, too).
  - These are adjudicated at the NSC.
  - Requires favorable DOS endorsement.
  - DOS sends only the favorably endorsed applications to NSC.

There are some special immigrant categories applicable to As, Gs, and NATO. The I-360 is filed with Dallas and Phoenix LB and the I-485 is filed with Phoenix LB. I am thinking that NSC adjudicates these, but it would be best to confirm.

- I Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(I) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Includes:
  - Unmarried sons/daughters of an officer or employee, or a former officer or employee of an international organization described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Surviving spouses of deceased officers or employees of international organizations described in INA 101(a)(15)(G)(i).
  - Retired officers and employees of international organizations.
  - Following to join/accompanying spouse of a retired officer or employee who was granted special immigrant status as a retired officer or employee of an international organization.
- L Special Immigrants (INA 101(a)(27)(L) who meet certain residence and physical presence requirements. Looks like this covers NATO and the same categories of persons described in 101(a)(27)(I).

This is all I can think of for now. If I come up with anything else, I will send it forward.

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Subject: Friday's EO

Sorry to bother you over the weekend. The President signed an executive order on Friday titled "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States". Among other things, it prevents the entry of citizens or nationals from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for a 90 day period. I am working with Dan, Andrew, Tracy and Lori on a message to send out this weekend that would suspend certain adjudications while we seek guidance/clarity on how this will specifically apply to our workloads.

Most likely, on Monday we will want to identify any potentially impacted cases in C3 and ELIS. I assume it will be possible to run reports identifying cases with applicants, requestors or beneficiaries from these countries sorted by form type. Does anyone know if we could somehow flag them for hold? Ideally we'd be able to prevent accidental approval, but even if we can't stop approval it would be good to flag them for adjudicators. Also, this isn't an indefinite hold so whatever we do it needs to allow normal processing to proceed fairly easily at some point in the future.

At this point, I'm just looking for thoughts and ideas on how to identify what will be a changing universe of cases and flag them for possible special handling. I'd prefer to keep this among ourselves for now so please check with me before sharing with anyone. Any thoughts or concerns are appreciated.

Thanks,

Don

Importance: High

Hi. Per our conversation a little bit ago, here are some high level questions I got from folks for the Department to answer. I hope this is along the lines of what you are looking for. I didn't include the questions I sent you yesterday but if any of them need to be included let me know and I will put them back in.

1. Part of the uniform screening standard is to include "Amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent"

    a. Does this mean that all applications and petitions will need to be revised or standardized? We note that many of the forms have already be revised to include the questions related to criminality and national security.

    b. If the answer to one of these questions reveals potential issues, what bearing will this have on benefit types that do not accord status and where the issue is not grounds for denial?

2. As part of the uniform screening standard the EO includes a directive to develop "a process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest"

    a. Is this process/determination a discretionary call or will there be defined areas?

3. Information is to be collected on "any other information relevant to public safety and security as determined by the Secretary of Homeland security and the Attorney General, including information on the immigration status of foreign nationals charged with major offenses"

    a. What is the definition of "major offenses" as it relates to this section? How is it different from the term "aggravated felony" as defined in the INA 101(a)(43)?

4. Can we accept/adjudicate/approved (if eligible) I-730s for following to join family members of individuals granted asylum (FTJ-A) and I-730s for following to join family members of refugees? Is there any distinction between the processing of I-730s for asylees and refugees?

5. For those outside the US currently in T (victims of trafficking) or U (victims of severe form of crime) nonimmigrant status from the seven countries, will they be allowed re-entry? If waivers can be granted case by case, how will those requests be handled?

6. How does the EO impact TRIG exemptions?

7. What is expected of us in terms of reporting?

a. Data to be collected
b. Frequency
c. Transmission

FYI and in case you find this helpful, Pam sent me the numbers of FB/EB visas that were allocated to applicants from the applicable countries for FY-2017.

Iran	703 visa
Iraq	21 visas
Libya	47 visas
Somalia	7 visas
Sudan	9 visas
Syria	102 visas
Yemen	17 visas

I will go through all the EOs in more detail to see if there are other things that might impact us.

Subject: EO Hold

At the recently concluded leadership meeting we learned that the processing hold we put in place over the weekend will be lifted. All messaging must now be cleared through the Department, so we cannot communicate this in writing to the troops. However, I wanted you to know that so we don't waste time formulating questions about the hold or working on strategies to ensure compliance. I expect that the final guidance may be more nuanced on the processing of parole requests, but otherwise we are expecting to lift the hold on adjustments and other form types. Please do not share this further in light of the messaging restrictions. We hope to have formal cleared language later today or tomorrow.

Good evening,

First, I'd like to thank everyone for all the work you've done already in reviewing and preparing to implement the series of Executive Orders that have been released over the past few days. I know this is a heavy lift, but as I've seen many times before within this agency, I know we will rise to the occasion and do what needs to be done in a manner that exemplifies professionalism and thoughtfulness.

Attached are two trackers for deliverables. The first is DHS's tracker and the second is an internal USCIS tracker which summarizes the assignments from our meeting this afternoon. If there are any assignments that are missing or not properly listed in the attached internal tracker, please let me know and I will make the corrections (Phil B., I know I missed the section that was assigned to you specifically, but I didn't make a note and couldn't remember).

I will also post these documents on the ECN.

Thank you,

Memorandum

TO: All USCIS Employees

FROM: Lori L. Scialabba
Acting Director

SUBJECT: Guidance Concerning Executive Order on Immigration

On January 27, President Trump signed an Executive Order entitled "Protecting The Nation From Foreign Terrorist Entry Into The United States." This memorandum provides guidance from the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) regarding the impact of this Executive Order on various immigration benefit requests.

All USCIS employees should be aware of current guidance from DHS, specifically:

1. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order does not affect USCIS adjudication of applications and petitions filed for or on behalf of individuals in the United States regardless of their country of nationality. Section 3(c) also does not affect applications and petitions by lawful permanent residents outside the United States, or applications and petitions for individuals outside the United States whose approval does not directly confer travel authorization (including any immigrant or nonimmigrant visa petition). This includes, but is not limited to, the matters discussed more specifically in paragraphs 2, 3 and 5 below.

2. Applications to Register Permanent Residence or Adjust Status (Form I-485) may continue to be adjudicated, according to existing policies and procedures, for applicants who are nationals of countries designated in the Executive Order.

3. USCIS will adjudicate Refugee/Asylee Relative Petitions (Form I-730) for all beneficiaries, from any country of nationality, currently in the United States according to existing policies and procedures. Further guidance will be issued with respect to beneficiaries currently outside of the United States.

4. USCIS will continue refugee interviews when the person is a religious minority in his or her country of nationality facing religious persecution. Additionally, USCIS will continue refugee interviews in jurisdictions where there is a preexisting international agreement related to refugee processing. USCIS will not approve a refugee application for an individual who we determine would pose a risk to the security or welfare of the United States.

5. USCIS will continue adjudicating all affirmative asylum cases according to existing policies and procedures.

Questions concerning the information contained in this memorandum may be addressed via your directorate or program office through appropriate supervisory channels.

Memorandum

TO: All USCIS Employees

FROM: Lori L. Scialabba
Acting Director

SUBJECT: Guidance Concerning Executive Order on Immigration

On January 27, President Trump signed an Executive Order entitled "Protecting The Nation From Foreign Terrorist Entry Into The United States." This memorandum provides guidance from the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) regarding the impact of this Executive Order on various immigration benefit requests.

All USCIS employees should be aware of current guidance from DHS, specifically:

1. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order does not affect USCIS adjudication of applications and petitions filed for or on behalf of individuals in the United States regardless of their country of nationality. Section 3(c) also does not affect applications and petitions by lawful permanent residents outside the United States, or applications and petitions for individuals outside the United States whose approval does not directly confer travel authorization (including any immigrant or nonimmigrant visa petition). This includes, but is not limited to, the matters discussed more specifically in paragraphs 2, 3 and 5 below.

2. Applications to Register Permanent Residence or Adjust Status (Form I-485) may continue to be adjudicated, according to existing policies and procedures, for applicants who are nationals of countries designated in the Executive Order.

3. USCIS will adjudicate Refugee/Asylee Relative Petitions (Form I-730) for all beneficiaries, from any country of nationality, currently in the United States according to existing policies and procedures. Further guidance will be issued with respect to beneficiaries currently outside of the United States.

4. USCIS will continue refugee interviews when the person is a religious minority in his or her country of nationality facing religious persecution. Additionally, USCIS will continue refugee interviews in jurisdictions where there is a preexisting international agreement related to refugee processing. USCIS will not approve a refugee application for an individual who we determine would pose a risk to the security or welfare of the United States.

5. USCIS will continue adjudicating all affirmative asylum cases according to existing policies and procedures.

Questions concerning the information contained in this memorandum may be addressed via your directorate or program office through appropriate supervisory channels.

I think the issue we still need clarification on is whether that hold for I-730 beneficiaries outside the US would only be for refugee follow-to-joins (all nationalities) and asylee follow-to-joins who are nationals or duals of one of the 7 countries.

And please note that under our current guidance staff can continue to process the I-730s for asylee following to join who are not in the 7 counties. We will of course be reviewing that process just as we review the process for all other benefits as directed under the order, while we continue to process.

To be clear, we are only holding up where the bene is from one of the 7 and is overseas. We are holding whether they are asylee or refugee follow to joins. As I understand it, we aren't actually approving them but are rather "provisionally" approving them subject to final approval after interview. We should get clarification if the provisional approvals are subject to the hold as well, or if they can continue. Also, I would think denials could proceed but we'll hold all pending further guidance.

I think the issue we still need clarification on is whether that hold for I-730 beneficiaries outside the US would only be for refugee follow-to-joins (all nationalities) and asylee follow-to-joins who are nationals or duals of one of the 7 countries.

They have to be in the U.S. to apply, but it's possible they may travel before approval and a family member may send it to them. I assume we don't worry about that.

Shouldn't we be providing some kind of notice to those of the 7 nationalities who may have an I-131 approved that they may not be able to get back into the U.S.? I worry about giving a signal that by approving the request, they won't have a problem returning. CBP has guidance that they would need a waiver to get back in.

There is already standard language that the decision to parole will be made at a POE. It would be problematic to try to introduce special language for only certain I-512s.

There is already standard language that the decision to parole will be made at a POE. It would be problematic to try to introduce special language for only certain I-512s.

Shouldn't we be providing some kind of notice to those of the 7 nationalities who may have an I-131 approved that they may not be able to get back into the U.S.? I worry about giving a signal that by approving the request, they won't have a problem returning. CBP has guidance that they would need a waiver to get back in.

They have to be in the U.S. to apply, but it's possible they may travel before approval and a family member may send it to them. I assume we don't worry about that.

Subject: Deliverable Due 2/17--Sec. 4a EO: Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States
Date: Friday, February 03, 2017 10:20:18 AM
Attachments: EO Forms List (TENTATIVE) FEB 2 2017 V3.pdf

Good morning,

Thank you for your work on the deliverables already completed. I appreciate everyone's timely responses.

The next big deliverable we have is in regards to Sec. 4a and 4b of the Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry EO. Proposals related to the items below are due to me by COB Friday, February 17, 2017. FDNS has the overall lead on this deliverable, but there will also be several working groups that may be co-coordinated by other directorates with FDNS. Here is the specific language from the EO:

> "This program will include the development of a uniform screening standard and procedure, such as in-person interviews; a database of identity documents proffered by applicants to ensure that duplicate documents are not used by multiple applicants; amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent; a mechanism to ensure that the applicant is who the applicant claims to be; a process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest; and a mechanism to assess whether or not the applicant has the intent to commit criminal or terrorist acts after entering the United States."

Because there are a lot of pieces to this section and because the pieces affect different directorates, we will likely need a few working groups to tackle this one. As discussed at the meeting yesterday, these are the proposed working groups:

- Interviews (FOD to co-lead)
- Identity Document Database
- Identity verification
- Form revisions (OP&S proposal attached)
- Immigrant integration (OoC to co-lead)

As of now DHS has not provided a template or format for the proposals (and I'm told one will not be coming this week). Should I receive a template, I will pass it along, but I think for now we can proceed with just writing up the proposal.

The deliverables tracker has been updated on the ECN and now includes all the items and target completion dates that were provided in the DHS Implementation Plan. To summarize some of the upcoming deliverables (Foreign Terrorist Entry EO deliverables should go to me. Everyone—

As Julie mentions below, FOD was designated to co-lead with FDNS the interview portion of Section 4 (a) Implementing Uniform Screening Standards for All Immigration Programs. The relevant interview portions of Section 4(a) are as follows:

1. The development of a uniform screening standard and procedure, such as in-person interviews;
2. A mechanism to ensure that the applicant is who the applicant claims to be;
3. A process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest;
4. Amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent; and
5. A mechanism to assess whether or not the applicant has the intent to commit criminal or terrorist acts after entering the United States.

I know a lot of work has been done already in various manners that impacts this goal and can be utilized for this task. We would like to convene the process for articulating how the interview process has been and/or can be enhanced (best practices, new policies, new tools/systems, resources, and/or additional questions) to ensure we are using our interviews in the best way to inform our eligibility, credibility and national security/public safety determinations.

Lisette Kvortek will serve as the FOD working group coordinator and will work with the FDNS POC to organize the work. I'd ask that folks self-identify as a responsible party and name a POC representing your office. Since work is due on the 17th, we'd like to get started asap.

Thank you.

The next big deliverable we have is in regards to Sec. 4a and 4b of the Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry EO. Proposals related to the items below are due to me by COB Friday, February 17, 2017. FDNS has the overall lead on this deliverable, but there will also be several working groups that may be co-coordinated by other directorates with FDNS. Here is the specific language from the EO:

> "This program will include the development of a uniform screening standard and procedure, such as in-person interviews; a database of identity documents proffered by applicants to ensure that duplicate documents are not used by multiple applicants; amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent; a mechanism to ensure that the applicant is who the applicant claims to be; a process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest; and a mechanism to assess whether or not the applicant has the intent to commit criminal or terrorist acts after entering the United States."

Because there are a lot of pieces to this section and because the pieces affect different directorates, we will likely need a few working groups to tackle this one. As discussed at the meeting yesterday, these are the proposed working groups:

- Interviews (FOD to co-lead)
- Identity Document Database
- Identity verification
- Form revisions (OP&S proposal attached)

- Immigrant integration (OoC to co-lead)

As of now DHS has not provided a template or format for the proposals (and I'm told one will not be coming this week). Should I receive a template, I will pass it along, but I think for now we can proceed with just writing up the proposal.

The deliverables tracker has been updated on the ECN and now includes all the items and target completion dates that were provided in the DHS Implementation Plan. To summarize some of the upcoming deliverables (Foreign Terrorist Entry EO deliverables should go to me. Steve Duggan is the POC on the Border Security and Enhancing Public Safety in the Interior EOs):

Everyone—

As Julie mentions below, FOD was designated to co-lead with FDNS the interview portion of Section 4 (a) Implementing Uniform Screening Standards for All Immigration Programs. The relevant interview portions of Section 4(a) are as follows:

1. The development of a uniform screening standard and procedure, such as in-person interviews;
2. A mechanism to ensure that the applicant is who the applicant claims to be;
3. A process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest;
4. Amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent; and
5. A mechanism to assess whether or not the applicant has the intent to commit criminal or terrorist acts after entering the United States.

I know a lot of work has been done already in various manners that impacts this goal and can be utilized for this task. We would like to convene the process for articulating how the interview process has been and/or can be enhanced (best practices, new policies, new tools/systems, resources, and/or additional questions) to ensure we are using our interviews in the best way to inform our eligibility, credibility and national security/public safety determinations.

Lisette Kvortek will serve as the FOD working group coordinator and will work with the FDNS POC to organize the work. I'd ask that folks self-identify as a responsible party and name a POC representing your office. Since work is due on the 17th, we'd like to get started asap.

Thank you.

Yes, we definitely want I-765 applicants to go to an ASC. It's also possible we may want some or all non-immigrant EOS/COS to go to an ASC as well for identity confirmation. In fact, this may be the time to impose an ASC visit on anyone stateside at least once to confirm/lock identity. I'm thinking in the future where we are person-centric and everyone needs a hardened account to transact business with us. Even if we don't require it for everyone immediately it would be good to have the option as we continue to transform.

Hi. Responding only to you so we can discuss internally. One of the things we have been wanting to do for a very long time is require anyone filing an I-765 to go to an ASC, but OCC said they didn't think we have the authority to do it, so it never got put into motion. This might be the ideal time to revive those discussions. Also, FYI, the we have form revisions in process to the I-485 and I-765 that have 3 lines for the applicant to indicate all other names used. [redacted] (b)(5) [redacted] You would still need to check the file for documents with other names but at least these additional names listed on the form would go into the up-front check, as opposed to the alias check downstream. So potentially you might find something just a little sooner rather than later.

Hi. Just want to be sure I understand my role what if anything I should be doing right now. Michael Valverde said FOD has the lead on the items listed below, which includes interview protocols, fraud detection, assessing likelihood to commit criminal/terrorist acts, and forms revisions. OP&S drew up a list of candidates for form revisions. Regarding fraud/interview protocols and assessing security/criminal risks, I certainly am glad to represent SCOPS in meetings with FDNS, but am checking in case Ron or April would be better suited because they have the background in security screening and vetting, which I do not have, and they work closely with FDNS. Again, I am very glad to do it; just want to make sure you have the right person on the job for those particular pieces. ☺ Regarding the forms, I assume OP&S will be calling a meeting. I can reach out to Larry Levine.

Everyone—

As Julie mentions below, FOD was designated to co-lead with FDNS the interview portion of Section 4 (a) Implementing Uniform Screening Standards for All Immigration Programs. The relevant interview portions of Section 4(a) are as follows:

1. The development of a uniform screening standard and procedure, such as in-person interviews;
2. A mechanism to ensure that the applicant is who the applicant claims to be;
3. A process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest;
4. Amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent; and
5. A mechanism to assess whether or not the applicant has the intent to commit criminal or terrorist acts after entering the United States.

I know a lot of work has been done already in various manners that impacts this goal and can be utilized for this task. We would like to convene the process for articulating how the interview process has been and/or can be enhanced (best practices, new policies, new tools/systems, resources, and/or additional questions) to ensure we are using our interviews in the best way to inform our eligibility, credibility and national security/public safety determinations.

Lisette Kvortek will serve as the FOD working group coordinator and will work with the FDNS POC to organize the work. I'd ask that folks self-identify as a responsible party and name a POC representing your office. Since work is due on the 17th, we'd like to get started asap.

Thank you.

Good morning,

Thank you for your work on the deliverables already completed. I appreciate everyone's timely responses.

The next big deliverable we have is in regards to Sec. 4a and 4b of the Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry EO. Proposals related to the items below are due to me by COB Friday, February 17, 2017. FDNS has the overall lead on this deliverable, but there will also be several working groups that may be co-coordinated by other directorates with FDNS. Here is the specific language from the EO:

Because there are a lot of pieces to this section and because the pieces affect different directorates, we will likely need a few working groups to tackle this one. As discussed at the meeting yesterday, these are the proposed working groups:

- Interviews (FOD to co-lead)

As of now DHS has not provided a template or format for the proposals (and I'm told one will not be coming this week). Should I receive a template, I will pass it along, but I think for now we can proceed with just writing up the proposal.

Subject: Questions on EO for adoptions.

Adding to the questions:

Is South Sudan impacted?
Does the hold include I-600As?
Is the case affected if one of the PAPs is an LPR from one of the seven countries (they would likely not be able to travel to complete adoption proceedings in country, as required by most).
Will the agency reject petitions (e.g. I-600, I-130) from these countries?
Can we process fingerprint refreshes for PAPs adopting children from these countries?
Are we aware of any families who are overseas and unable to travel?

Thank you,

We are pulling a report from ACMS so I will confirm shortly.

We have not received guidance on the I-600A, either.

On that note, we actually have three questions:

Is South Sudan impacted?
Does the hold include I-600As?
Is the case affected if one of the PAPs is an LPR from one of the seven countries (they would likely not be able to travel to complete adoption proceedings in country, as required by most).

Just a quick run through of ACMS shows we have some open cases. The Iranian cases are not yet assigned. Shelly has the Yemeni cases, and Trevor has the Sudanese cases. Not as fancy as a Robin report, but something to start with.

Colleagues,

Please see the message below from AD Daniel Renaud. Per his instructions please cease taking final action on those petitions and applications where the applicant or beneficiary is a citizen or national from any of the listed countries. If you encounter a case that falls into this category please set it aside for the time being. We'll issue further guidance early next week. Thanks for your help in this matter.

Subject: Executive Order: PROTECTING THE NATION FROM FOREIGN TERRORIST ENTRY INTO THE UNITED STATES - Field Operations Instructions

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

Effectively immediately and until additional guidance is received, you may not take final action on any petition or application where the applicant is a citizen or national of Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya. Field offices may interview applicants for adjustment of status and other benefits according to current processing guidance and may process petitions and applications for individuals from these countries up to the point where a decision would be made. At that point, cases shall be placed on hold until further notice and will be shelved with specific NFTS codes which will be provided through the Regional Offices. Offices are not permitted make any final decision on affected cases to include approval, denial, withdrawal, or revocation.

Please look for additional guidance later this weekend on how to process naturalization applicants from one of the seven countries listed above who are currently scheduled for oath ceremony or whose N-400s have been approved and they are pending scheduling of oath ceremony.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures as needed in the coming days. Questions or requests for additional clarification may be directed to the Regional Offices through your chain of command.

NER ran a scrape of C3 data. Field Ops has 13,376 pending case filed by or on behalf of an individual from one of the 7 countries. That number, of course is limited to cases that can be identified through systems data, and does not account for cases with missing data in the system or dual citizens where the third country was listed. Its close enough, though to get an idea of the number of impacted cases.

Since it appears the EO does not apply to the citizenship line of business, we will hold off on a run of C4.

I did misunderstand. We will push the legal discussion as far as we can to get answers to inform your policy discussion which may be useful to some points more than others. Still all are consumed with real live situations at ports and in courts. So answers slow.

2-USCIS does adjudicate certain visas --but not adjudicating doesn't suspend entry like 212(f) suggests.

Thanks Molly. I should have been a little clearer on the intent of this. Its just to get the conversation started with DHS. This is for policy discussion, It's not for public consumption. I think much of what youa re suggestion is perfect for public statements. I put the explanations in so DHS knows why we are taking the position we are for each question.

2. I think if we use the word visa we're going to not be allowed to continue to adjudicate them. We don't do visas. Do we?

3. I'd really like to get the go ahead to continue doing as much as possible in the refugee arena. I like your statement for public consumption.

4. I like this for a statement for OCOM to use.

5. I'm assuming we can adjudicate asylum requests but we should get clarification.

Here we go. I've added Todd and Jessica for clean up once I have reactions because these answers could go any number of ways. I"m just getting a sense of our answer here. It's not pretty or diplomatic.

1. THe EOs are to protect the NS and safety of the U.S. From persons entering our country from the designated countries and does not apply to people in the U.S. Applying for adjustment of status. (OCC check me on this.). I know the EO uses language like all immigration benefits but the details address visa issuance to NIVs and IVs. Maybe the intent is to include adjustment but as long as this answer isn't completely ridiculous I'd like to start here.

2. USCIS will continue to adjudicate various petitions and applications. Visas are not issued by USCIS

3. Yes, in light of the language in the EO we will continue these refugee interviews.

4. THis will be done on a case by case basis. (We will need some standards for this)

5. This will be done on a case by case basis. (Ditto on standards and procedures)

6. Yes.

Let's hear what everyone h as to say.

All:

We have been asked by DHS to draft and clear within USCIS responses to the questions we sent up earlier.

Also, FYI, attached is what CBP submitted back to DHS OPA. We will be adding to that document so the questions should similarly be framed as media inquiries and I have taken a stab at that below.

DHS has asked for our responses as soon as possible tonight. Please send to me and I will forward them along.

1. Does the Executive Order apply to I-485 applications to adjust to LPR status here in the U.S.?

2. Does this impact USCIS ability to adjust visas of those eligible to adjust in the U.S., such as a family based petition or an employment based petition?

3. Can USCIS continue refugee interviews of religious minorities and for countries with which we have an agreement?

4. Will the U.S. accept emergency requests to process a refugee who will then travel?

5. Can the exception for refugee admission be used in I-730 cases?

6. Does "from one of the seven countries" mean citizen, national or born in?

7. Does the Executive Order apply to those currently being adjudicated for naturalization?

USCIS will continue to adjudicate N-400 applications for naturalization and administer the oath of citizenship for approved candidates who remain eligible.

Regarding COS and EOS, it occurred to me to wonder to what extent there actually are nonimmigrants from those countries. Numbers aren't huge, but they are there. For FY 2015 per DHS yearbook, total nonimmigrant admissions for nationals of these countries were:
Iraq, 21,381
Iran, 35,266
Libya, 3,879
Yemen, 5,549
Sudan, 4,792
Syria, 16,018
Somalia, 359

Numbers for the two preceding years were similar. There are also tables further breaking it down by category ut I didn't dig into it that deeply.

All-

The 2:45 call did not address any of our outstanding issues. The call centered on a group of travel ready refugees and a discussion on whether to recommend applying a waiver allowing them to travel and be admitted. However, there is a WH principals' call at 4:00 that Lori will be on and we were encouraged to send our questions forward in advance of that call so DHS can either get us answers based on their knowledge or address the questions during the 4:00 call. Lori will be forwarding those questions. Stay tuned, we may have some guidance on at least some of our issues later today.

I think that's the case with all benefits within the country, isn't it? The EO says examine benefit processes but the only thing it cuts off is entry into the United States from abroad, as I read it. Is that others' understanding? So if we mention natz, which I am certainly not suggesting we shouldn't, then we probably should expand the item to cover other benefits within the US. Thanks, Phil osed this question to DHS HQ just this morning because we had a 1:00 ceremony at the WAS field office th five individuals from the seven countries. I got a response back from DHS just before 1:00 indicating that were good to go ahead with naturalizing those individuals. So, the answer is no, it does not apply to didates for naturalization.

Per information shared with field leadership over the weekend, field offices may interview applicants for adjustment of status and other benefits according to current processing guidance and may process petitions and applications for individuals from these countries up to the point where a decision would be made. At that point, cases shall be placed on hold until further notice and will be shelved with specific NFTS codes which will be provided through the Regional Offices. Offices are not permitted make any final decision on affected cases to include approval, denial, withdrawal, or revocation.

Thanks

It is imperative that you ensure staff members fully understand that we are holding all pending cases for the seven countries only and with the exception of N400s and N600s. I have had questions about cases that are not from these countries. Place these cases in an RPC for now and we will get you a national RPC for mandatory use by all field offices hopefully by 11:30 am along with a report to help you locate and segregate any of these cases in your offices. The most important thing is to ensure your staff is aware that if they encounter any cases (other than N400 and N600) that they hold the cases.

Thank you!

FACT SHEET: Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry to the United States

WASHINGTON - The executive order signed on January 27, 2017, allows for the proper review and establishment of standards to prevent terrorist or criminal infiltration by foreign nationals. The United States has the world's most generous immigration system, yet it has been repeatedly exploited by terrorists and other malicious actors who seek to do us harm. In order to ensure that the United States government can conduct a thorough and comprehensive analysis of the national security risks posed from our immigration system, it imposes a 90-day suspension on entry to the United States of nationals of certain designated countries—countries that were designated by Congress and the Obama Administration as posing national security risks in the Visa Waiver Program.

In order to protect Americans, and to advance the national interest, the United States must ensure that those entering this country will not harm the American people subsequent to their entry, and that they do not bear malicious intent toward the United States and its people. The executive order protects the United States from countries compromised by terrorism and ensures a more rigorous vetting process. This Executive Order ensures that we have a functional immigration system that safeguards our national security.

This executive order, as well as the two issued earlier in the week, provide the Department with additional resources, tools and personnel to carry out the critical work of securing our borders, enforcing the immigration laws of our nation, and ensuring that individuals who pose a threat to national security or public safety cannot enter or remain in our country. Protecting the American people is the highest priority of our government and this Department.

The Department of Homeland Security will faithfully execute the immigration laws and the President's executive order, and we will treat all of those we encounter humanely and with professionalism.

Authorities

The Congress provided the president of the United States, in section 212(f) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA), with the authority to suspend the entry of any class of aliens the president deems detrimental to the national interest. This authority has been exercised by nearly every president since President Carter, and has been a component of immigration laws since the enactment of the INA in 1952.

Actions

For the next 90 days, nearly all travelers, except U.S. citizens, traveling from Iraq, Syria, Sudan, Iran, Somalia, Libya, and Yemen will be temporarily suspended from entry to the United States. The 90 day period will allow for proper review and establishment of standards to prevent terrorist or criminal infiltration by foreign nationals.

Importantly, however, lawful permanent residents of the United States traveling on a valid I-551 will be allowed to board U.S. bound aircraft and will be assessed for exceptions at arrival ports of entry, as appropriate. The entry of these individuals, subject to national security checks, is in the national interest. Therefore, we expect swift entry for these individuals.

In the first 30 days, DHS will perform a global country-by-country review of the information each country provides when their citizens apply for a U.S. visa or immigration benefit. Countries will then have 60 days to comply with any requests from the U.S. government to update or improve the quality of the information they provide.

DHS and the Department of State have the authority, on a case-by-case basis, to issue visas or allow the entry of nationals of these countries into the United States when it serves the national interest. These seven countries were designated by Congress and the Obama Administration as posing a significant enough security risk to warrant additional scrutiny in the visa waiver context.

The Refugee Admissions Program will be temporarily suspended for the next 120 days while DHS and interagency partners review screening procedures to ensure refugees admitted in the future do not pose a security risk to citizens of the United States.

The executive order does not prohibit entry of, or visa issuance to, travelers with diplomatic visas, North Atlantic Treaty Organization visas, C-2 visas for travel to the United Nations, and G-1, G-2, G-3, and G-4 visas.

The Department of Homeland Security along with the Department of State, the Office of the Director of National Intelligence, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation will develop uniform screening standards for all immigration programs government-wide.

Upon resumption of the U.S. Refugee Admissions Program, refugee admissions to the United States will not exceed 50,000 for fiscal year 2017.

The Secretary of Homeland Security will expedite the completion and implementation of a biometric entry-exit tracking system of all travelers into the United States.

Federal Government
As part of a broader set of government actions, the Secretary of State will review all nonimmigrant visa reciprocity agreements to ensure that they are, with respect to each visa classification, truly reciprocal.

The Department of State will suspend the Visa Interview Waiver Program and ensure all individuals seeking nonimmigrant visas undergo an in-person interview.

Transparency
The Department of Homeland Security, in order to be more transparent with the American people, and to more effectively implement policies and practices that serve the national interest will make information available to the public every 180 days. In coordination with the Department of Justice, DHS will provide information regarding the number of foreign nationals charged with terrorism-related offense or gender-based violence against women while in the United States.

Field Leadership

Just a brief update based on where we stand with the information shared over the weekend regarding the recent executive order.

As noted, offices must immediately begin holding all pending cases, with the exception of N600s and N400s, filed by or on behalf of someone from the seven countries outlined in the executive order until additional guidance is provided. We are putting the final touches on a report for all field offices that will assist you with identifying the cases that must be retrieved and held in abeyance. This report will provide you with the NFTS location of these cases in your respective offices. Further, we will provide you with a standard NFTS code that all offices must use for the purpose of holding these cases. Until you receive the report and NFTS code, it is imperative that offices ensure that all staff members are aware of the need to identify and hold these filings without further adjudication.

Many of you have asked whether we can expect additional information to assist with addressing customer and stakeholder inquiries. I am sure you can all appreciate how fluid this situation is at the present time. We don't have talking points for customer service or outreach at this point and we have no deadline by which we expect to have those. We can answer questions about the status of the work that we adjudicate. Beyond that, we cannot and should not respond. I know this may be frustrating to the staff and public alike but unfortunately we simply do not have any additional information. We will be certain to share anything we receive as soon as it is disseminated.

Thank you and stay tuned! (b)(6)

Subject: Executive Order: PROTECTING THE NATION FROM FOREIGN TERRORIST ENTRY INTO THE UNITED STATES - Field Operations Instructions

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

Effectively immediately and until additional guidance is received, you may not take final action on any petition or application where the applicant is a citizen or national of Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya. Field offices may interview applicants for adjustment of status and other benefits according to current processing guidance and may process petitions and applications for individuals from these countries up to the point where a decision would be made. At that point, cases shall be placed on hold until further notice and will be shelved with specific NFTS codes which will be provided through the Regional Offices. Offices are not permitted make any final decision on affected cases to include approval, denial, withdrawal, or revocation.

Please look for additional guidance later this weekend on how to process naturalization applicants from one of the seven countries listed above who are currently scheduled for oath ceremony or whose N-400s have been approved and they are pending scheduling of oath ceremony.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures as needed in the coming days. Questions or requests for additional clarification may be directed to the Regional Offices through your chain of command.

Subject: RE: Executive Order

All – I asked the regs team to give us an idea of the tie frames for doing and re-doing forms as well as regs:

For forms , if, for instance, we have to add new vetting questions, OMB approval can be accomplished relatively quickly as an emergency action (compared to the normal process).
Steps and qualifications for emergency OMB approval:
1) OP&S division, operational directorates, OCC, and RCD collaborate on the amended form and/or instructions.
2) RCD prepares the relevant PRA supporting documents (Supporting Statement, etc.) working with OIDP and Office of Privacy
3) Draft a memo justifying the emergent need (e.g., the EO), signed by USCIS CIO and DHS CIO.
4) RCD submits the package to OMB. OMB approval under emergency will only be valid for 6 months. To extend the validity of the OMB approval beyond 6 months, RCD would need to publish the 60- and 30-day Notices as normal and then resubmit the package to OMB.
As a side note, the interior enforcement EO took away the Privacy Act protections that the USG had extended to non-citizens (by policy I believe). This change may significantly impact how the Privacy Act is interpreted w/r/t USCIS forms and systems, and may or may not cause changes to our Privacy Threshold Analyses which support the PRA process. We need to get a legal opinion on whether our PTAs, etc. will change because of this, and if we can update the relevant PRA supporting documents as they come up in the queue (i.e. as RCD starts work upon expiration) or if this needs to be implemented immediately (which would be a significant workload).

For regs, the time it took to get the EA rules out from the Nov. 20, 2014 memo are good barometers of the average timeline when there is WH support and it's moving as an emergency action:

- Average of 12-16 months for drafting and publishing an NPRM (but note that there was already some work done on EA before the 11/2014 announcement)
- Average of 6-8 months to review public comments, draft final rule, and publish the final rule.

Caveats: 1) The above assumes a relatively hands-off approach of OGC staff-level attorneys and economists prior to moving to OGC FO, S1 FO, and OMB. Also assumes that the timelines for S1 FO review will be similarly expedited (i.e. a matter of hours wherein the Assistant General Counsel briefs S1 and obtains signature). 2) The "effective date" will largely depend on the speed that our computer systems can be stood up. 3) Also, of course, depends on the number and complexity of public comments received and the continued availability of monetary resources to fund contractor support of our regulatory projects (comment analysis).

We expect today to put out general guidance that the EO does not impact citizenship cases. DHS is reviewing the language. Everything else is on hold.

The attached document is a matrix breaking down the EO into its component parts and action items. I've added columns for QAs and started compiling those I saw come across this morning and some early ones I saw from Div. 1.

The Policy and general objectives language at the beginning pulls key language from the EO for quick reference when we're drafting statements. The date conversion chart indicates the calendar dates associated with any specific timeframe mentioned in the EO.

I am working to convert this to Excel over the weekend so it's a little more scalable, but wanted to pass it on for initial use.

Please let me know if you have any questions or see anything that needs editing.

As we've discussed, the most urgent question is whether adjustments and extensions or changes of nonimmigrant status are impacted. If we can define "suspend processing" as "suspend prior to approval", then one option would be to continue with the interviews, since it is likely we have some that are scheduled as soon as Monday for affected applicants and then hold the cases post interview. We are trying to scrape our schedulers (C4 and NASS) to see when and where we have interviews scheduled for individuals from affected countries. We should have that sometime Monday.

Tracy,

It is my understanding that POTUS will sign the "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Attacks by Foreign Nationals" order today at 4:30pm. In complying with the EA I believe we need immediate clarification in Section 3 (c) relative to the 30 day suspension of processing immigrants and non-immigrants from the designated countries of interest and if this extends to processing of permanent resident applications. Though the EA states "immigrant and non-immigrant entry into the United States", once we grant an adjustment we "admit" that person. [redacted]
We just need to clarify if by extension this applies to our product lines. If this is the case then Don and Dan will need to get guidance to the Field to put these adjudications on hold. Other than the refugee suspension that appears fully deployed on our end this appears the most urgent clarification we need relative to the EAs. (b)(5)

I'm fine to share this with the field, since it is a press release its cleared. As of right now, we are holding all cases except N-400s and N-600s. I'd want to make sure we do not confuse the field and have some of them read the Press release as an indication to proceed on I-485s.

STATEMENT BY SECRETARY JOHN KELLY ON THE ENTRY OF LAWFUL PERMANENT RESIDENTS INTO THE UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON – In applying the provisions of the president's executive order, I hereby deem the entry of lawful permanent residents to be in the national interest.

Accordingly, absent the receipt of significant derogatory information indicating a serious threat to public safety and welfare, lawful permanent resident status will be a dispositive factor in our case-by-case determinations.

HQ Leadership Team—
Just so everyone is on the same page:

- We are good to interview, adjudicate, and administer the oath to all N400 applicants;
- Similarly, N600s are good to go;
- We are holding all other requests for immigration benefits from those folks covered by the order (seven countries);
- USCIS has sought guidance on a number of things, including whether or not 485s are covered by the order;
- Other than the public statements made and the fact sheet (attached), there's not too much we can say at this time;

I expect more actionable information to come out through the course of today and hope to provide clarity to folks soon. Thank you all for your work this weekend—please keep raising issues as they come up.

Field Leadership

Just a brief update based on where we stand with the information shared over the weekend regarding the recent executive order.

As noted, offices must immediately begin holding all pending cases, with the exception of N600s and N400s, filed by or on behalf of someone from the seven countries outlined in the executive order until additional guidance is provided. We are putting the final touches on a report for all field offices that will assist you with identifying the cases that must be retrieved and held in abeyance. This report will provide you with the NFTS location of these cases in your respective offices. Further, we will provide you with a standard NFTS code that all offices must use for the purpose of holding these cases. Until you receive the report and NFTS code, it is imperative that offices ensure that all staff members are aware of the need to identify and hold these filings without further adjudication.

Many of you have asked whether we can expect additional information to assist with addressing customer and stakeholder inquiries. I am sure you can all appreciate how fluid this situation is at the present time. We don't have talking points for customer service or outreach at this point and we have no deadline by which we expect to have those. We can answer questions about the status of the work that we adjudicate. Beyond that, we cannot and should not respond. I know this may be frustrating to the staff and public alike but unfortunately we simply do not have any additional information. We will be certain to share anything we receive as soon as it is disseminated.

Thank you and stay tuned!

IN THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE NINTH CIRCUIT

STATE OF WASHINGTON, et al.,
Plaintiffs-Appellees,
v.

DONALD TRUMP, President of the United States, et al.
Defendants-Appellants.

ON APPEAL FROM THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

REPLY IN SUPPORT OF EMERGENCY MOTION FOR STAY PENDING APPEAL

NOEL J. FRANCISCO
Acting Solicitor General

CHAD A. READLER
Acting Assistant Attorney General
AUGUST E. FLENTJE
Special Counsel to the Assistant Attorney General
DOUGLAS N. LETTER
SHARON SWINGLE
H. THOMAS BYRON
LOWELL V. STURGILL JR.
CATHERINE DORSEY
Attorneys, Appellate Staff
Civil Division, Room 7241
U.S. Department of Justice
950 Pennsylvania Ave., NW
Washington, DC 20530

The district court erred in entering a nationwide injunction barring enforcement of multiple sections of the President's Order "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States." The Order is a lawful exercise of the President's constitutional and statutory authority over the entry of aliens to the United States and the admission of refugees, which grants him broad discretion to suspend entry of any class of aliens to protect the national interest. Relying on that authority, the President has directed a temporary suspension of entry and the issuance of visas, in order to permit an orderly review and revision of the procedures for screening aliens from countries that have an identified link to terrorism and an increased risk of terrorist activity, see 8 U.S.C. § 1187(a)(12). As another district court recently concluded, the President's desire to "ensure that resources are available to review screening procedures and that adequate standards are in place to protect against terrorist attacks," Order § 3(c), provides a "facially legitimate and bona fide" justification that satisfies any constitutional scrutiny that applies. Louhghalam v. Trump, Civ. Action No. 17-10154-NMG, Order 18-19 (D. Mass. Feb. 3, 2017); see also id. at 10-11, 15-16.

Furthermore, even if injunctive relief were appropriate, the district court's injunction was overbroad. As the White House Counsel's Memorandum clarified, the Order does not apply to long-term permanent residents. The State's remaining challenge is thus limited to "people who have been here and have, overnight, lost the right to travel, lost the right to visit their families, lost the right to go perform research, lost the right to go speak at conferences around the world." Transcript 15-16; see also id. at 7, 8. Putting to the side that the denial of a visa is unreviewable even in a suit brought by the alien, much less by a third party, the only section of the Order to impose those harms is Section 3(c). And the district court's injunction should have been limited to individuals whose interests the State invoked not as parens patrie, but because their inability to travel directly imposed some concrete harm on the State.

The State's response barely acknowledges serious legal errors identified in defendants' stay motion. The arguments the State does make are erroneous.

1. Contrary to the State's contention (Response 5-6), this Court has appellate jurisdiction. The district court received briefs from both sides and held an adversary hearing on plaintiffs' motion for injunctive relief. Cf. Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(b) (temporary restraining order (TRO) may issue "without written or oral notice to the adverse party"). Moreover, the injunction contains no expiration date, and the State concedes (Response 6) that, under the proposed schedule, it will remain in effect for at least 15 days. Cf. Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(b)(2) (TRO should not be imposed for more than 14 days). The injunction is therefore immediately appealable, see Service Employees v. Nat'l Union of Healthcare Workers, 598 F.3d 1061, 1067 (9th Cir. 2010), as the district court itself contemplated. Transcript 44

(stating that court would enter written order "so that by the time the Ninth Circuit opens on Monday, [the parties will] be in a position to be able to seek review of it"); id. 51.

2. Plaintiffs argue (Response 7-8) that the injunction does not impose any irreparable harm. But the injunction reinstates procedures that the President determined were inadequate to "stop attacks by foreign nationals who were admitted to the United States." Order § 1; see also id. § 2. The Order temporarily suspends entry of aliens from seven countries that have previously been identified by Congress and the Executive Branch as posing a heightened risk of terrorism. See 8 U.S.C. § 1187(a)(12)(A); https://www.dhs.gov/news/20016/02/18/ dhs-announcees-further-travel-restrictions-visa-waiver-program. The issuance of visas will be resumed once existing screening practices can be put in place "to prevent infiltration [into this Nation] by foreign terrorists or criminals," Order § 3(c). Similarly, the temporary suspension of the U.S. refugee program will be lifted once the Secretaries of State and Homeland Security, in consultation with the Director of National Intelligence, determine "what additional procedures should be taken to ensure that those approved for refugee admission do not pose a threat to the security and welfare of the United States." The potential national security harms resulting from the compelled application of procedures that the President has determined to be inadequate to protect the Nation cannot be undone. Nor can the harm to our constitutional separation of powers.

3. Washington also lacks standing to challenge the Order. The State continues to assert that university faculty and students are prevented from flying, but vague allegations about harm to universities' reputation or mission are not sufficiently concrete for standing. Nor is speculation about a possible loss in tax revenue due to a potential decrease in foreign visitors. Were the Court to find standing based on incidental impacts to the State's treasury, virtually any change in federal policy could prompt an Article III dispute, an approach the Supreme Court decisively has rejected. See DaimlerChrysler Corp. v. Cuno, 547 U.S. 332, 341 (2006).[1]

The State also invokes a parens patriae theory based on an interest in preventing "grievous harms on [the State's] residents." Response 13. But a State lacks the authority to sue "as the representative of its citizens" in order to protect them from the operation of federal law. Massachusetts v. Mellon, 262 U.S. 447, 485-86 (1923); State of South Carolina v. Katzenbach, 383 U.S. 301, 324 (1966); compare Alfred L. Snapp & Son, Inc. v. Puerto Rico ex rel. Barez, 458 U.S. 592 (1982) (finding standing to sue to invoke the protections of federal law);

[1] City of Sausalito v. O'Neill, 386 F.3d 1186 (9th Cir. 2004), is not to the contrary. In that case, there was a direct link between the challenged construction project and the alleged injury to the adjacent City's natural resources, aesthetic, and economy. 386 F.3d at 1199.

Massachusetts v. EPA, 549 U.S. 497, 520 n.17 (2007) (noting "critical difference" between permitting a State to assert the rights of its citizens under federal law and attempting to protect its citizens from operation of federal law).

The State invokes the "special solicitude" for states referred to in Massachusetts v. EPA, but there, Massachusetts sought to enforce a congressionally created "procedural right" to protect its "sovereign territory." 549 U.S. at 519-20, 522-23. Here, the State's interest in protecting its territory is not at issue, and the State has identified no other comparable injury to any legally protected rights.

4. Furthermore, the State has no legally protected interest implicated by the Order. It is indisputable that, under the statutory scheme governing the issuance of visas, the grant of a visa does not confer any right of admission into the United States to the alien, 8 U.S.C. § 1201(h), and the Secretary of State "may, at any time, in his discretion, revoke such visa or other documentation." Id. § 1201(i). In cases in which a visa is revoked, there is no right of judicial review "except in the context of a removal proceeding," and only if the visa revocation "provides the sole ground for removal." Id. As a matter of constitutional protection, even an alien admitted into this country, who has as a result come within the protection of the Fifth Amendment's due process clause, has no protected property or liberty interest in the retention of his visa. Knoetze v. U.S. Dep't of State, 634 F.2d 207, 212 (5th Cir. 1981). A fortiori, a State cannot challenge the denial of a visa to a third-party alien.

5. Finally, the injunction was improper because Washington is unlikely to succeed on the merits of its claims.

a. Washington's primary claim of injury is the inability of aliens from the seven countries identified in Section 3(c) of the Order, and who reside in Washington, to travel abroad, for fear that they will not be admitted back into the United States upon their return.

The President has discretion under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f) to suspend the entry of any class of aliens into the United States, and the exclusion of aliens is also "a fundamental act of sovereignty * * * inherent in the executive power to control the foreign affairs of the nation." Knauff v. Shaughnessy, 338 U.S. 537, 542 (1950). The State does not address the text of § 1182(f), or the extensive caselaw relating to the exclusion of aliens from the United States. And although the State suggests that it is somehow impermissible for the President to rely on § 1182(f) "to impose a categorical ban on admission" on the basis that 'some members of a class might engage in misconduct" (Response 23), the statute's sweeping grant of authority to suspend the entry "of any class of aliens," "for such period as [the President] shall deem necessary," whenever the President finds that it would be "detrimental to the interests of the United States," clearly authorizes a categorical suspension to prevent a risk to the Nation.

b. Rather than acknowledge the established law precluding judicial review of the denial or revocation of a visa to an alien, the State asserts that the Order violates the constitutional rights of lawful permanent residents. Response at 10, 15 & n.3, 16. But as defendants have explained, and the White House Counsel's Memorandum clarifies, Exhibit D, the Executive Order simply does not apply to lawful permanent residents.

The Order applies only to aliens who lack lawful permanent resident status, most of whom are aliens outside the United States who have not been admitted to this country. Under Kleindiest v. Mandel, 408 U.S. 753 (1972), the President's legitimate and rational explanation for the suspension of visas to those aliens is sufficient to establish its constitutionality. See also Loughalam, Order 18-19. The State's due process and equal protection arguments thus fail.

Washington invokes Justice Kennedy's opinion in Kerry v. Din, 135 S. Ct. 2128 (2015), for the proposition that courts should "look behind the stated motives for exclusion" of a non-resident alien. But Justice Kennedy's decision endorses the "reasoning and the holding in Mandel," recognizing "the congressional power to make rules for the exclusion of aliens, and the ensuing power to delegate authority to the Attorney General to exercise substantial discretion in that field."

Id. at 2141. The State claims that it has made a sufficiently particularized showing of bad faith to "look behind the stated motives for exclusion" in the Order, Response 10, but its allegations are not meaningfully different from the allegations in. Mandel that the visa denial was because of the alien's advocacy of revolutionary Marxism and world communism, rather than his failure to comply with the terms of prior visas. 408 U.S. at 756. And in both cases, the denial of visas was being reviewed at the behest of U.S. citizens who claimed to have a constitutionally protected interest in the grant of a visa. The State, in contrast, has no such constitutional rights to invoke with respect to the denial of a visa to a resident or non-resident alien.[2]

c. Washington also argues that "courts routinely review executive decisions with far greater security implications than this Order." In those cases, however, the Court was reviewing government actions against individuals who had rights under the U.S. Constitution and/or federal statutes. See, e.g., Hamdi v. Rumsfeld, 542 U.S. 507, 535 (2004) (plurality op.) (reviewing the indefinite detention of a U.S. citizen, which was alleged to violate 18 U.S.C. § 4001(a) and the Due Process Clause); Boumediene v. Bush, 553 U.S. 723 (2008) (reviewing the detention of aliens held to have constitutionally protected interest in habeas corpus review). Those cases do not override longstanding precedent that aliens outside the United States have no right or interest in their admission to the United States protected by the Due Process Clause, Knauff v. Shaughnessy, 338 U.S. 537, 543 (1950), and that any constitutional challenge by a United States resident to the denial of a visa is reviewed under the deferential standard set out in Mandel.

d. Washington continues to argue that the President's temporary suspension of the issuance of visas under Section 3(c) of the Order contravenes 8 U.S.C. § 1152(a)(1)(A). This statutory restriction does not apply to entry at all, and it is not properly understood to restrict § 1182(f)'s broad grant of discretionary authority, particularly as applied to direct a review and revision of procedures for processing visa applications and to temporarily suspend issuing visas pending completion of that review. See 8 U.S.C. § 1152(a)(1)(B). Furthermore, as a matter of statutory construction a court should, whenever possible, "interpret two seemingly inconsistent statutes to avoid a potential conflict," California ex rel. Sacramento Metro. Air Quality Mgmt. Dist. v. United States, 215 F.3d 1005, 1012 (9th Cir. 2000), and should interpret "the specific [to] govern[] the general." RadLAX Gateway Hotel v. Amalgamated Bank, 132 S. Ct. 2065, 2070-71 (2012). Here, the two statutory provisions are easily reconciled: § 1152(a)(1)(A) establishes a general default rule that applies in the absence of Presidential action, while § 1182(f) governs the specific instance in which the President determines that entry of a "class of aliens" would be "detrimental to the interests of the United States." The placement of the anti-discrimination rule within § 1152 further indicates that the rule is not intended to curb the President's authority under § 1182(f). Had Congress intended to impose an overarching prohibition on nationality-based distinctions, it presumably would have enacted it as a general provision of the INA, rather than as a subpart of a subsection addressing the implementation of nationality-based numerical limitations for the issuance of immigrant visas.

e. The State's Establishment Clause claim is also without merit. As the district court properly held in Louhghalam, Order 13, the Executive Order is "neutral with respect to religion."

Washington relies on Larson v. Valente, 456 U.S. 228 (1982), but that holding is limited to cases where a government statute or practice "explicitly discriminates against a certain religious group." Sep. of Church & State Comm. v. City of Eugene, 95 F.3d 617, 623 (9th Cir. 1996). Laws that "give relief to a religious minority" "are in tune with the Bill of Rights," Kong v. Scully, 341 F.3d 1132, 1141 (9th Cir. 2003), and Section 5(b) of the Order applies equally to all religious minorities seeking refugee status "on the basis of religious-based persecution," not just admissions for nationals of the seven countries of concern.

As the district court recognized in Louhghalam, Section 5(b) "could be invoked to give preferred refugee status to a Muslim individual in a country that is predominantly Christian." Order 13. It does not impose any unconstitutional burden on the exercise of a particular faith.

6. Regardless of the district court's evaluation of the merits and the plaintiff's likelihood of success, the injunction entered by the district court is fatally.

Plaintiff plainly cannot show that the Order is invalid in all of its applications given that, at a minimum, unadmitted and nonresident aliens have no constitutional rights. United States v. Verdugo-Urquidez, 494 U.S. 259, 269 (1990). Accordingly, the district court should not have enjoined application of the Order with respect to any aliens outside the United States, nor provisions of the Order—including Section 5(a) and 5(c)—that apply only to aliens outside United States. The State contends (Opposition 9 n.2) that it need not show that the Order is unlawful in all of its applications because it is bringing an as-applied, rather than a facial, challenge because it challenges only portions of the Order. But the State sought and obtained relief consistent with a facial challenge, enjoining sections 3(c), and 5(a), (b), (c), (e) in toto, and nationwide rather than with respect to just limited applications of those provisions. See, e.g., Center for Competitive Politics v. Harris, 784 F.3d 1307, 1314 (9th Cir. 2015)). Had the Order been enjoined as applied, the injunction would have been limited to application of Section 3(c) to the State (or, at most, to resident aliens in the State whose visa denials imposed concrete harm on the State).

Furthermore, plaintiffs conceded below that their challenge to Section 5(b) is not ripe for review. See Transcript 15 (section 5(b) claim "does not necessarily require immediate injunction"). The State has failed to justify any relief—let alone emergency injunctive relief—with respect to this provision.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, defendants respectfully request that the Court enter a stay pending appeal of the district court's February 3, 2017, injunctive order.

Respectfully submitted,

(2) Facts showing the existence and nature of the emergency

As set forth more fully in the motion, the district court has entered a nationwide injunction barring enforcement of provisions of an Executive Order issued pursuant to constitutional and statutory authority to address national security concerns, which is imposing irreparable harm on the defendants and the general public. The injunction contravenes the constitutional separation of powers; harms the public by thwarting enforcement of an Executive Order issued by the nation's elected representative; and second-guesses the President's expert national security judgment about the quantum of risk posed by the admission of certain classes of aliens and the best means of minimizing that risk.

(3) When and how counsel notified

The undersigned counsel notified counsel for the plaintiffs by email on February 4, 2017, of the defendants' intent to file this motion. Service will be effected by electronic service through the CM/ECF system.

INTRODUCTION

The President of the United States has made a complex national security judgment that "[d]eteriorating conditions in certain countries due to war, strife, disaster, and civil unrest increase the likelihood that terrorists will use any means possible to enter the United States," and that our nation accordingly must take steps "to ensure that those approved for admission do not intend to harm Americans and that they have no ties to terrorism." Executive Order: Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States (Jan. 27, 2017) (Executive Order) (Exhibit A).

Under his constitutional authority to control the admission of aliens into this country, and his congressionally delegated authority under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f) to "suspend the entry of * * * any class of aliens" whose entry "would be detrimental to the interests of the United States," the President has directed a 90-day suspension of entry for individuals from seven countries previously identified as posing a heightened risk; a 120-day suspension of the U.S. Refugee Admissions Program; and an indefinite suspension of entry of Syrian nationals as refugees until the President determines that sufficient changes to the refugee program have been made "to ensure that admission of Syrian refugees is consistent with the national interest." Exec. Order §§ 3(c), (5)(a), (c). That Order is a lawful exercise of the political branches' plenary control over the admission of aliens into the United States.

The district court nevertheless issued an immediate, nationwide injunction barring the enforcement of those and additional provisions of the Executive Order.

A stay of this injunction is warranted pending appeal. The injunction raises legal questions of the highest magnitude, and the government is likely to succeed on appeal. The injunction conflicts with the basic principle that the decision whether to admit an alien into the United States rests exclusively with the federal political branches. See Landon v. Plasencia, 459 U.S. 21, 32 (1982) ("[A]n alien seeking initial admission to the United States requests a privilege and has no constitutional rights regarding his application, for the power to admit or exclude aliens is a sovereign prerogative."). It also contravenes the considered judgment of Congress that the President should have the unreviewable authority to suspend the admission of any class of aliens. The district court's decision gave virtually no explanation why the State of Washington has a high likelihood of success on the merits of its claims. And it entered the injunction at the behest of the State of Washington, which is not subject to the Executive Order, has not shown that it is injured by the Order, and brings a facial challenge. The scope of the injunction is also overbroad.

The balance of harms here weighs strongly in favor of a stay pending appeal, as well as an immediate administrative stay pending consideration of the request for a full stay pending appeal. The injunction immediately harms the public by second-guessing and thwarting enforcement of an Executive Order issued by the President, based on his national security judgment about the quantum of risk posed by the admission of certain classes of aliens. As the President acted in accordance with both statutory and constitutional authorization, the relief irreparably harms our system of government by contravening constitutional separation of powers principles. The State, by comparison, has identified only modest, speculative harms it would suffer from enforcement of the Executive Order, which could in any event be minimized by expediting appeal.

BACKGROUND

A. The Immigration and Nationality Act

In the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 ("INA"), 8 U.S.C. §§ 1101 et seq., as amended, Congress established the legal framework for deciding which aliens may enter and remain in the United States. Congress expressly granted the President broad discretionary authority, whenever he "finds that the entry of any aliens or of any class of aliens into the United States would be detrimental to the interests of the United States," to "suspend the entry of all aliens or any class of aliens as immigrants or nonimmigrants, or impose on the entry of aliens any restrictions he may deem to be appropriate * * *." 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f).

Every President over the last thirty years has invoked this authority,[1] including to restrict certain classes of aliens based on nationality. President Reagan suspended entry of certain Cuban nationals as immigrants into the United States. See 1986 WL 796773 (Aug. 22, 1986). President Clinton largely suspended entry of Sudanese officials of Sudan, a country also addressed in the current Executive Order. See 1996 WL 33673860 (Nov. 22, 1996).

Congress likewise has drawn distinctions based on nationality in the immigration laws. In 2015, Congress excluded nationals of Iraq and Syria from a program permitting entry into the United States as a nonimmigrant without a visa (i.e., an alien admitted on a temporary basis). Pub. L. No. 114-113, 129 Stat. 2242, 2990 (2015) (codified at 8 U.S.C. § 1187(a)(12)). Congress also created a process by which the Executive Branch could designate additional "Countries or areas of concern," for exclusion of a country's nationals. See id. § 1187(a)(12)(D). As of February 2016, the Executive Branch had extended that exclusion to nationals of Iran, Sudan, Libya, Somalia, and Yemen, in an effort to ensure that the visa waiver program's "requirements are commensurate with the growing threat from foreign terrorist fighters." See https://www.dhs.gov/news/2016/02/18/dhs-announces-further-travel-restrictions-visa-waiver-program. Significantly, the seven countries excluded from the visa waiver program are the same countries covered by Section 3(c) of the Executive Order.

B. Presidential Authority over Foreign Affairs and National Security

In addition to his statutory authority to deny entry to certain classes of aliens, the President has broad constitutional authority in this area. See U.S. Const., art. II, § 2 ("Commander in Chief" power, and authority to "make treaties" and "appoint ambassadors"), § 3 (power to "receive ambassadors"). Article II confers upon the President expansive authority over foreign affairs, national security, and immigration. See, e.g., Knauff v. Shaughnessy, 338 U.S. 537, 542 (1950) ("The exclusion of aliens is a fundamental act of sovereignty * * * inherent in the executive power to control the foreign affairs of the nation.").

C. The President's Executive Order

Invoking these constitutional and statutory authorities, the President issued an Executive Order "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States." (Exhibit A). The Order is intended "to protect the American people from terrorist attacks by foreign nationals admitted to the United States." Executive Order § 2.

The Order directs a number of actions in the interests of national security. See id. §§ 2-11. The Secretary of Homeland Security is directed to conduct an immediate review to identify the "information needed from any country * * * to determine that [an] individual seeking [an immigration-related] benefit is who the individual claims to be and is not a security or public-safety threat." Id. § 3(a). The Order also directs a process for requesting necessary information from foreign governments that do not supply such information, and consequences for countries not providing it. See id. § 3(d)-(f).

While that review is ongoing, the Executive Order suspends entry for 90 days of aliens from the seven countries identified in 8 U.S.C. § 1187(a)(12). Id. § 3(c). Exceptions may be made on a case-by-case basis. Id. § 3(g). The suspension of entry does not apply to lawful permanent residents of the United States (i.e., an immigrant admitted with the privilege of residing permanently in the United States, 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(2)). See Feb. 1, 2017 Memorandum (Exhibit B).

The Executive Order also suspends the U.S. refugee program for 120 days to permit a review of the "application and adjudication process to determine what additional procedures should be taken to ensure that those approved for refugee admission do not pose a threat to the security and welfare of the United States."

Executive Order § 5(a). Once the refugee program is resumed, the Secretary of State is directed to "make changes, to the extent permitted by law, to prioritize refugee claims made by individuals on the basis of religious-based persecution, provided that the religion of the individual is a minority religion in the individual's country of nationality." Id. § 5(b). The Order permits the entry of individual refugees on a case-by-case basis during suspension of the program. Id. § 5(e).

Finally, the Executive Order suspends entry of nationals of Syria as refugees even after resumption of the refugee program, predicated upon the President's finding pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f) that such entry "is detrimental to the interests of the United States." Id. § 5(c). Such suspension will continue until the President determines that sufficient changes have been made to the refugee program "that admission of Syrian refugees is consistent with the national interest." Id.

D. Procedural History

The State of Washington brought this action on January 30, 2017, asserting a constitutional and statutory claims against the United States, the President, the Secretary of Homeland Security, and the Secretary of State. Complaint (Exhibit C). On the same day, Washington moved for a temporary restraining order. R3. Washington subsequently amended its complaint to add the State of Minnesota as a plaintiff. See R8, 17.

Defendants opposed Washington's motion. R50. Thereafter, at the February 3, 2017 hearing, the district court orally issued a nationwide injunction, to take effect immediately, barring enforcement of sections 3(c), 5(a)-(c), and 5(e) of the Executive Order. See Transcript _ (Exhibit C). The court also denied defendants' motion to stay its order. See id. _.

The district court subsequently issued a written order enjoining defendants from enforcing Sections 3(c), 5(a), and 5(c) of the Executive Order, and enjoining any prioritization of refugee claims of certain religious minorities pursuant to Sections 5(b) and 5(e). See R52 (Exhibit D). The injunction is "granted on a nationwide basis," and prohibits enforcement of the specified sections "at all United States borders and ports of entry pending further orders from this court." R52, pp. 5-6.

ARGUMENT

An immediate stay pending appeal is appropriate in this case because the Government can make (1) a strong showing of likelihood of success on appeal; (2) a likelihood that it will be irreparably harmed absent a stay; (3) a diminished prospect that petitioners will be substantially harmed if the court grants a stay; and (4) a public interest in granting a stay. See Hilton v. Braunskill, 481 U.S. 770, 776 (1987).

This Court has jurisdiction over the appeal under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(a)(1). Although temporary restraining orders are ordinarily not appealable, this Court has jurisdiction over appeals from "interlocutory orders of the district courts pertaining to injunctions"; "the essence of the order, not its moniker," determines appealability. Service Employees v. Nat'l Union of Healthcare, 598 F.3d 1061, 1067 (9th Cir. 2010). Where, as here, the "district court holds an adversary hearing and the basis for the court's order was strongly challenged," and the length of the injunction (in this case, indefinite) "exceeds the ordinary duration" of temporary restraining orders, classification of the order as a TRO is "unlikely" and the order is instead properly treated as an appealable injunctive order. Id.

A. The Government Is Likely to Succeed on Appeal.

In entering an injunctive order, the district court reasoned that the State of Washington was likely to succeed on the merits of their claims.[2] That conclusion, however, ignores the serious questions as to the State's standing to bring suit and the merits of its claims.

1. The State Lacks Article III Standing to Bring this Action.

Like any party, a State must establish standing, which requires showing "an invasion of a legally protected interest" that is "concrete and particularized" and

[2] Because the State of Minnesota, which was added as a plaintiff in the amended complaint, did not move for interim injunctive relief, we address only the standing of the Washington.

"actual or imminent, not 'conjectural' or 'hypothetical.'" Lujan v. Defs. of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 560-61 (1992).

The district court reasoned that the Executive Order "adversely affects the States' residents in areas of employment, education, business, family relations, and freedom to travel," and that these harms "extend to the States by virtue of their roles as parens patriae of the residents living within their borders." R52, at 4-5. But the Supreme Court long ago established that a state cannot bring a parens patriae action against federal defendants. See Massachusetts v. Mellon, 262 U.S. 447, 485-86 (1923). In dismissing Massachusetts' challenge to a federal statute designed to "protect the health of mothers and infants," the Court explained that "it is no part of [a state's] duty or power to enforce [its citizens'] rights in respect of their relations with the federal government." Id. at 485-86; accord South Caroline v. Katzenbach, 383 U.S. 301, 324 (1966).

The district court here also reasoned that "the States themselves are harmed by virtue of the damage that implementation of the Executive Order has inflicted upon the operations and missions of their public universities and other institutions of higher learning, as well as injury to the States' operations, tax bases, and public funds." R52, p.5. These alleged harms are neither concrete nor particularized.

With respect to Washington's public universities, most if not all of the students and faculty members the State identifies are not prohibited from entering the United States, and others' alleged difficulties are hypothetical or speculative.[3] That is particularly true given the waiver authority granted by the Executive Order in cases in which issuance of a visa or other immigration benefit would be in the national interest. See Executive Order §§ 3(g), 5(e). Furthermore, any assertion of harm to the universities' reputations and ability to attract students is insufficiently concrete to show standing. See Whitmore v. Arkansas, 495 U.S. 149, 155 (1990). And although Washington suggested that the Executive Order might affect its recruitment efforts and child welfare system, it conceded that it could not identify any currently affected state employees, nor any actual impact on its child welfare system. See Schumacher Decl. ¶ 7, ECF No. 17-5; Strus Decl., ECF No. 17-6. Speculation does not establish injury in fact. Whitmore, 495 U.S. at 158.[4]

(b)(5)

Washington's contentions regarding its tax base and public funds are equally flawed, particularly given the lack of any direct link between the State's status as a tax collector and the challenged Executive action. See Florida v. Mellon, 273 U.S.

[redacted]

[3] See, e.g., Second Riedinger Decl. ¶¶ 3-7, ECF No. 17-2 (allegations about lawful permanent residents, who are not impacted by the Executive Order); Boesenberg Decl. ¶ 6, ECF No. 17-3 (same); Second Riedinger Decl. ¶ 8 (asserting that certain countries may "ban * * * U.S. travelers" in response to the Executive Order); Second Chaudhry Decl. ¶ 8, ECF No. 17-4 (alleging one faculty member may not be able to return to the university at a future date).

[4] Washington cited no case recognizing the standing of a State to bring an Establishment Clause challenge, and it is not clear how a State can suffer "spiritual or psychological harm" or have "religious beliefs" that can be "stigmatized." Catholic League for Religious & Civil Rights v. City & Cty. of San Francisco, 624 F.3d 1043, 1051-52 (9th Cir. 2010).

at 17-18 (finding no standing based on Florida's allegation that challenged law would diminish tax base by inducing citizens to remove property from the state); Iowa ex rel. Miller v. Block, 771 F.2d 347, 353 (8th Cir. 1985) (state's assertion that challenged action would "forc[e] unemployment up and state tax revenues down" insufficient for standing).

2. The Order Is a Valid Exercise of the Executive's Constitutional Power and Authority Granted by Congress

The Executive Order was issued pursuant to Congress' broad delegation of authority to the President to "suspend the entry of all aliens or any class of aliens as immigrants or nonimmigrants, or impose on the entry of aliens any restrictions he may deem to be appropriate." 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f). The express delegation from Congress, coupled with the President's own Article II powers over foreign affairs and national security, mean that the President's "authority is at its maximum, for it includes all that he possesses in his own right plus all that Congress can delegate." Zivotofsky ex rel. Zivotofsky v. Kerry, 135 S. Ct. 2076, 2083-84 (2015).

In the immigration context specifically, "[t]he Supreme Court has 'long recognized the power to expel or exclude aliens as a fundamental sovereign attribute exercised by the Government's political departments largely immune from judicial control.'" Cardenas v. United States, 826 F.3d 1164, 1169 (9th Cir. 2016) (quoting Fiallo v. Bell, 430 U.S. 787, 792 (1977)). "When Congress delegates this plenary power to the Executive, the Executive's decisions are likewise generally shielded from administrative or judicial review." Cardenas, 826 F.3d at 1169.[5]

The Order falls squarely within the express delegation in 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f) of "the extreme power to prevent the entry of any alien or groups of aliens into this country as well as the lesser power to grant entry to such person or persons with any restriction on their entry as he may deem to be appropriate." Mow Sun Wong v. Campbell, 626 F.2d 739, 744 n.9 (9th Cir. 1980); accord Haitian Refugee Ctr., Inc. v. Baker, 953 F.2d 1498, 1507 (11th Cir. 1992). As noted above (at pp. pincite), prior Presidents have repeatedly invoked this authority to suspend entry of certain classes of aliens, at least twice drawing distinctions based on nationality. In reviewing an Executive Order directing the interdiction and forcible repatriation of undocumented aliens outside the territorial waters of the United States, the Supreme Court found it "perfectly clear that 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f) * * * grants the President ample power to establish a naval blockade that would simply deny illegal Haitian migrants the ability to disembark on our shores." Sale v. Haitian Ctrs.

[5] As an example of Executive authority in this area, under the long-established doctrine of consular non-reviewability, a non-resident alien outside the United States has no right to judicial review of a consular officer's denial of a visa. See Capistrano v. Dep't of State, 267 F. App'x 593, 594 (9th Cir. 2008). Even a petitioning U.S. citizen has no legally protected interest with respect to an alien's separate visa application. See Saavedra Bruno v. Albright, 197 F.3d 1153, 1164 (D.C. Cir. 1999).

Council, Inc., 509 U.S. 155, 164 n.13, 187 (1993) (emphasis added). Courts have also repeatedly affirmed that "[d]istinctions on the basis of nationality may be drawn in the immigration field by the Congress or the Executive." Narenji v. Civiletti, 617 F.2d 745, 747 (D.C. Cir. 1979); see also Jean v. Nelson, 727 F.2d 957, 978 n.30 (11th Cir. 1984) (en banc), aff'd, 472 U.S. 846 (1985); Rajah v. Mukasey, 544 F.3d 427, 435 (2d Cir. 2008).

Washington argued in district court that the President's authority under § 1182(f) is limited by 8 U.S.C. § 1152(a)(1)(A), which provides, with certain exceptions, that "no person shall receive any preference or priority or be discriminated against in the issuance of an immigrant visa because of the person's race, sex, nationality, place of birth, or place of residence." But this restriction applies only to the "issuance of an immigrant visa"—meaning that it does not apply to nonimmigrant visas or to refugees (who generally do not enter the United States with a visa). In addition, § 1152(a)(1)(B) makes clear that the statute does not "limit the authority of the Secretary of State to determine the procedures for the processing of immigrant visa applications * * *." This reveals that the Executive Order, in part or in whole, is not covered by the restrictions of subsection (A), because it governs the procedures for suspending and then resuming the processing of certain visa applications. See, e.g., Executive Order §§ 3(a), 5(a).

More fundamentally, § 1152(a)(1)(A) is not properly understood to constrain § 1182(f)'s broad grant of discretionary authority. As a matter of statutory construction a court should, whenever possible, "interpret two seemingly inconsistent statutes to avoid a potential conflict," California ex rel. Sacramento Metro. Air Quality Mgmt. Dist. v. United States, 215 F.3d 1005, 1012 (9th Cir. 2000), and should interpret "the specific [to] govern[] the general." RadLAX Gateway Hotel v. Amalgamated Bank, 132 S. Ct. 2065, 2070-71 (2012). Here, the two statutory provisions are easily reconciled: § 1152(a)(1)(A) establishes a general default rule that applies in the absence of Presidential action, while § 1182(f) governs the specific instance in which the President determines that entry of a "class of aliens" would be "detrimental to the interests of the United States." That reconciling construction is also consistent with the practice of prior Presidents of drawing nationality-based distinctions under § 1182(f), as well as the nationality-based distinctions drawn by Congress and the Executive in enacting and implementing § 1187(a)(12). Washington's interpretation, in contrast, would lead to the untenable result that the United States could not suspend entry of nationals of a country with which the United States is at war.[6]

[redacted]

[6] The placement of the anti-discrimination rule within § 1152 further indicates that the rule is not intended to curb the President's authority under § 1182(f). Had Congress intended to impose an overarching prohibition on nationality-based distinctions, it presumably would have enacted it as a general provision of the INA, rather than as a subpart of a subsection addressing the

3. The District Court Improperly Second-Guessed the Executive's National Security Determinations Underlying the Executive Order

By its plain terms, 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f) vests complete discretion in the President to determine whether "the entry of any aliens or of any class of aliens into the United States would be detrimental to the interests of the United States," for the period "as he shall deem necessary," and to impose such conditions of entry as "he may deem appropriate." The President's exercise of this discretion "is not limited to circumstances defined in the statute," and "the statute provides no discernable standards" for reviewing his determination. Haitian Refugee Ctr., Inc. v. Baker, 789 F. Supp. 1552, 1575-76 (S.D. Fla. 1991); see also Webster v. Doe, 486 U.S. 592, 594, 600-01 (1988) (holding that similar statutory language vested the Director of Central Intelligence with complete discretion over employee discharges, and thus judicial review was precluded).

Furthermore, judicial review of the President's determination that suspension of entry of certain classes of aliens was necessary at this moment to protect national security would implicate the federal political branches' plenary constitutional authority over foreign affairs, national security, and immigration. See, e.g., Harisiades v. Shaughnessy, 342 U.S. 580, 588-89 (1952) ("[A]ny policy toward aliens is vitally and intricately interwoven with contemporaneous policies in regard to the conduct of foreign relations, the war power, and the maintenance of a republican form of government."). "[I]t is not within the province of any court, unless expressly authorized by law, to review the determination of the political branch of the Government to exclude a given alien." Knauff, 338 U.S. at 543; see also INS v. Aguirre-Aguirre, 526 U.S. 415, 425 (1999) ("[J]udicial deference to the Executive Branch is especially appropriate in the immigration context where officials 'exercise especially sensitive political functions that implicate questions of foreign relations.'").

The Constitution vests the Executive with the duty of protecting our Nation's security, and Congress has specifically empowered the President to suspend the entry of categories of aliens if he finds that their entry would be detrimental to the national interest. There is accordingly no basis for the Judiciary to second-guess the President's determinations in that regard. See Al Haramain Islamic Found., Inc. v. Dep't of Treasury, 686 F.3d 965, 980 (9th Cir. 2012) (judiciary "owe[s] unique deference to the executive branch's determination that we face 'an unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security' of the United States" (quoting an Executive Order)).

Washington argued that the district court should disregard the President's stated rationale for issuing the Executive Order because it was prompted by religious animus toward Islam. That argument is inconsistent with Kleindienst v.

Mandel, 408 US. 753 (1972), which held that, "when the Executive exercises" immigration authority "on the basis of a facially legitimate and bona fide reason, the courts will [not] look behind the exercise of that discretion[.]" Id. at 770. Here, the Executive Order undeniably states a facially legitimate and bona fide reason—ensuring "the "proper review and maximum utilization of available resources for the screening of foreign nationals" and "that adequate standards are established to prevent infiltration by foreign terrorists." Executive Order, § 3(c); cf. Kerry v. Din, 135 S. Ct. 2128, 2140 (2015) (Kennedy, J., concurring) (noting that Mandel's "reasoning has particular force in the area of national security"). The Order thus "provides a 'reasonably conceivable state of facts [which concerns national security] and that could provide a rational basis for the classification." Louhghalam v. Trump, Civ. No. 17-10154-NMG, Order, at 11 (D. Mass. Fe. 3, 2017). The judicial inquiry envisioned by the States would create substantial separation-of-powers problems, by permitting probing of the President's subjective motive in issuing the Order. Cf. United States v. O'Brien, 391 U.S. 367, 383-84 (1968) (inquiry into the subjective motives of members of Congress is a "hazardous matter").

4. The State's Constitutional Challenges Are Without Merit

Washington raises equal protection and procedural due process challenges under the Fifth Amendment, but "[t]he word 'person' in the context of the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment cannot * * * be expanded to encompass the States of the Union." Katzenbach, 383 U.S. at 323-24; see also Premo v. Martin, 119 F.3d 764, 771 (9th Cir. 1997). Nor can Washington invoke the Fifth Amendment rights of its citizens against the federal government. See Katzenbach, 383 U.S. at 324.

Furthermore, the majority of individuals who are affected by the Executive Order are non-resident aliens outside the United States, who have no constitutional rights relating to their entry into the United States. See Kleindienst v. Mandel, 408 U.S. 753, 762 (1972) (deeming it "clear" that "an unadmitted and nonresident alien" "had no constitutional right of entry to this country as a nonimmigrant or otherwise."); Plasencia, 459 U.S. at 32. This is fatal to Washington's facial challenges, which require it to show that there is no constitutionally valid application of the Executive Order.

Washington argued in district court that Section 5(b) of the Order violates the Establishment Clause by "giv[ing] preference to Christian refugees while disadvantaging Muslim refugees." TRO Mot. at 7. That is wrong. Section 5(b) provides an accommodation for refugees from each country that participates in the refugee program, not just those specified in sections 3(a) & (c). As a result, section 5(b) does not "tilt the scales in favor of Christian refugees at the expense of Muslims," TRO Mot. at 12, but rather is neutral with respect to religion. See

(b)(5)

Louhghalam, Civ. No. 17-10154-NMG, Order, at 13 (Section 5(b) does not favor Christians over Muslims in violation of the Establishment Clause because it "could be invoked to give preferred refugee status to a Muslim individual in a country that is predominantly Christian"). Nor is Washington's Establishment Clause challenge to Section 5(b) ripe for review, since that section does not take effect for at least 120 days (i.e., "Upon the resumption of USRAP admissions").

5. The District Court Improperly Issued a Nationwide Injunction.

The district court also erred by prohibiting enforcement of the Executive Order provisions at issue "on a nationwide basis." R52, p. 5. An injunction should extend no further "than necessary to provide complete relief to plaintiffs." Madsen v. Women's Health Ctr., Inc., 512 U.S. 753, 765 (1994) (quoting Califano v. Yamasaki, 442 U.S. 682, 702 (1979); see also Lewis v. Casey, 518 U.S. 343, 358 (1996). The district court's order violates this rule by extending beyond the two state plaintiffs in this case, and to all jurisdictions nationwide, including the District of Massachusetts, which has just upheld the Executive Order against constitutional challenges similar to those presented here, Louhghalam, Civ. No. 17-10154-NMG, Order, at 18-19. "Courts ordinarily should not award injunctive relief that would cause substantial interference with another court's sovereignty." United States v. AMC Ent., Inc., 549 F.3d 760, 770 (9th Cir. 2008).

B. The Balance of Harms Weighs Strongly in Favor of a Stay.

The balance of harms also favors a stay of the district court's injunction pending this Court's expedited consideration of the government's appeal.

First, the district court's injunctive order imposes irreparable harm on the government by barring enforcement of the Executive Order in a manner that intrudes heavily on the constitutional separation of powers. Judicial intrusion on the political branches' exclusive authority over the admission of aliens, by violating the separation of powers, in itself constitutes irreparable injury. See, e.g., Adams, 570 F.2d at 954 (vacating preliminary injunction that directed action by the Secretary of State in foreign affairs, which "deeply intrude[d] into the core concerns of the executive branch"). Stays have repeatedly been granted in similar contexts to prevent a significant breach of inter-branch comity. See, e.g., INS v. Legalization Assistance Project, 510 U.S. 1301, 1306 (1993) (O'Connor, J., in chambers) (staying district court injunction interfering with the government's execution of immigration statute, noting that injunction was "an improper intrusion by a federal court into the workings of a coordinate branch of the Government"); Schweiker v. McClure, 452 U.S. 1301, 1302-03 (1981) (Rehnquist, J., in chambers); Committee on Judiciary of U.S. House of Representatives v. Miers, 542 F.3d 909, 911 (D.C. Cir. 2008).

Second, the district court's order contravenes the considered national security judgment of the President that the admission of certain classes of aliens at this time to the United States, under the existing screening and visa-issuance procedures, poses an unacceptable risk to the safety of the nation. "'[N]o governmental interest is more compelling than the security of the Nation.'" Jifry v. FAA, 370 F.3d 1174, 1183 (D.C. Cir. 2004) (quoting Haig v. Agee, 453 U.S. 280, 307 (1981)). "[T]he Government's interest in combating terrorism is an urgent objective of the highest order." Holder v. Humanitarian Law Project, 130 S. Ct. 2705, 2724 (2010). "It is rarely appropriate for courts to intervene in matters closely related to national security." Merida Delgado v. Gonzales, 428 F.3d 916, 920 (10th Cir. 2005) (citing Haig v. Agee, 453 U.S. 280, 292 (1981)).

This is particularly true as to predictive judgments about the potential national security threat posed by a class of aliens and the level of risk to accept. A reviewing court would not be well-equipped to ascertain the quantum of risk, or a reasonable margin of error in assessing risk. Cf. Oryszak v. Sullivan, 576 F.3d at 525-26 ("'Egan teaches plainly that review of the breadth of [the margin of error acceptable in assessing the security risk posed by an individual] is outside the authority of a nonexpert body.'" (quoting Krc, 905 F.2d at 395) (alternation in original)); Kaplan v. Conyers, 733 F.3d 1148, 1166 (Fed. Cir. 2012) (en banc) (holding that courts cannot review Department of Defense's determination regarding an employee's eligibility to occupy a sensitive position that implicates national security). Judicial second-guessing of the President's national security suffers is sufficient to tilt the balance. Furthermore, the federal government's appeal could be significantly expedited in order to minimize any prejudice to the State.

Given the substantial harms posed by the district court's order, the defendants also respectfully request that this Court enter an immediate administrative stay pending consideration of the merits of this motion. If the Court declines to enter an administrative stay, however, the defendants request that the Court order expedited briefing of this motion.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the defendants respectfully request that the Court enter an immediate administrative stay pending consideration of this motion. If the Court declines to enter an immediate administrative stay, the defendants request that the Court order expedited briefing of the motion. The defendants also request that the Court enter a stay pending appeal of the district court's February 3, 2017, injunctive order.

No. 2:17-cv-00141 (JLR)

DECLARATION OF DAVID J. GLAWE

I, David J. Glawe, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, and based upon my personal knowledge and information made known to me from official records reasonably relied upon by me in the course of my employment, hereby declare as follows relating to the above-titled matter.

1. I am the [official title]. Prior to acting in this position, I was the Assistant Commissioner, Office of Intelligence and Investigative Liaison, U.S. Customs and Border Protection. Prior to joining the Department of Homeland Security, I served as a Senior National Intelligence Service Officer in the Office of the Director of National Intelligence, responsible for overseeing and integrating all aspects of the U.S. Intelligence Community's collection and analytic efforts regarding threat finance and transnational organized crime. I was a Senior Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for [time period]. I have been a law enforcement officer for twenty-two years. I have an expertise in targeting the illicit movement of money involving counterintelligence, counter-proliferation, and terrorist and criminal networks worldwide.

2. [CURRENT ROLE DESCRIPTION]. I am familiar with the security threats that the United States faces overseaes, at its borders, and within the country. I am also familiar with the efforts DHS has taken both with respect to the resources and strategic framework in place to respond to these threats.

3. On January 27, 2017, the President issued Executive Order 13769 entitled, "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States" (the Executive Order). The Executive Order putslaees specific travel restrictions in place to address particular areas of the world that pose a unique threat to the United States. Specifically, the Executive Order affects nationals of seven nations: Iraq, Syria, Iran, Sudan, Libya, Somalia, and Yemen. The Executive Order builds upon recognition by both Congress and the previous Administration that these countries pose a unique threat to the United States, and travel from these countries requires additional scrutiny and vigilance. The Executive Order also places additional restrictions on worldwide refugee travel to the United States.

4. Consistent with the requirements of the Visa Waiver Program Improvement and Terrorist Travel Prevention Act of 2015, the then-Secretary of Homeland Security, Jeh Johnson, certified to Congress that Yemen, Somalia, and Libya should join those countries specifically listed by Congress as countries where nationality or, travel to or from may represent a heightened threat to the United States.

(b)(5)

5. Preventing the entry into the United States of individuals who are from areas of particular concern is consistent with protecting the United States from the heightened threat of terrorism from nationals from areas of active conflict, including direct conflict with terrorist organizations.

Country Specific Threats

6. Each of the countries specified in the Executive Order for additional travel restrictions poses a substantial risk to American security. —For instance, as explained below, Iraq, Syria, Libya, Somalia and Yemen are active conflict zones with extensive operational and organizational presence of ISIS, Al Qaeda and their affiliates. There is no meaningful governance structure in vast swaths of the territory of each of these countries. The governments of these countries each lack the structure which would allow them to meaningfully share information related to individuals seeking to travel to the United States, such as information regarding terrorism, or to substantially cooperated with the United States on effective counterterrorism efforts. This lapse is particularly critical given that the most effective way to combat the risk to the national security is to share information with partner governments about their nationals and the risk that they may pose.

a. Iraq. The nation of Iraq is currently an active combat zone. The Iraqi army is engaged against ISIS forces present in Iraq. This is a fluid and evolving situation, for instance, as the Iraqi army seeks to regain full operational control within Mosul. At the same time, many Iraqi nationals have joined forces with ISIS. Iraq is politically unstable, and lacks a meaningful government presence in large portions of the country. It is unable to provide adequate cooperation to the United States in the advance review of any Iraqi nationals seeking to come to the United States ~~as a refugee or on~~ a non-immigrant or immigrant ~~visa~~. The increased pressure on ISIS may encourage ISIS fighters to flee the battlefield and attempt to enter the United States through the refugee program, or by obtaining non-immigrant or immigrant visas at U.S. diplomatic posts abroad.

b. Iran. Iran has been linked to sponsorship of various terrorist organizations, including Al Qaeda and remains designated as a state sponsor of terrorism. Iran has permitted Al Qaeda to use its country as a facilitation hub, permitting funds and fighters to transit its borders. Iran has also contributed to broader instability in the region by providing a base for terrorist organizations, particularly Al Qaeda, to transport fighters to unstable situations in South Asia and Syria. Iran also does not cooperate with the United States or its allies in counterterrorism efforts and, critically, in the sharing of information about potential high-risk individuals.

c. Libya. Libya remains an active combat zone, and there is no effective governmental control over significant parts of its territory and currently lacks a permanent United States diplomatic post. Libyan commerce has been significantly affected by regular instability and political violence since its civil war in 2011. The threat has grown exponentially since 2012, when ISIS started to aggressively conduct operations in Tripoli. Weak intelligence and security services are ill-equipped to prevent ISIS's creation of a foothold in Libya and, as a result, in North Africa. Its law enforcement have lacked the capacity to detect, deter and respond to terrorist and other violent incidents. Security and law enforcement officials have been targeted in kidnappings and assassinations, further eroding the ability of that government to address threats on its own security. This power vacuum has created opportunities for terrorist groups to exploit the lack of central institutions within Libya. Given its instability, Libya cannot effectively cooperate with American counterterrorism efforts.

d. Somalia. Somalia's central government is in its infancy, as the first central government since 1991 formed in August 2012. However, it has not proved to be a stable government and the United States does not currently maintain a permanent diplomatic post in Somalia. The extremist group Al Shabaab has maintained its presence in Somalia for years, taking advantage of the weak institutions and porous borders. Al Shabaab's terrorist attacks are also growing in sophistication, moving from small arms and explosives to a mortar shelling at Kismayo International Airport and a smuggled IED aboard Daalo Airlines flight 159. And this sophistication has already been shown to be part of a competent external operations capability. For instance, the attacks on the Westgate Mall in Nairobi, Kenya and Garissa University, Kenya, were well-planned and well-executed, and involved sophisticated intelligence collection, surveillance and reconnaissance of the target. The United States has every indication that Al Shabaab, centered in Somalia, intends to continue, including through global outreach for individuals to join their efforts. Given the political instability, lack of governmental control, and presence of an increasingly sophisticated, focused, terrorist organization, individuals traveling from Somalia pose a unique potential risk to the United States. There is little question that at this moment, Somalia cannot cooperate with the United States in its counterterrorism efforts.

(b)(5)

[redacted]

e. Sudan. Sudan is a politically unstable country and is designated as a state sponsor of terrorism. The Sudanese government has been unwilling or unable to collaborate with the United States on its counterterrorism efforts, including information-sharing about high-risk individuals who may try to enter the United States ~~as a refugee or~~ on an immigrant or non-immigrant visa.

(b)(5)

f. Syria. Syrian forces are engaged in military and counterterrorism efforts against ISIS, placing pressure on its strongholds in Raqqa and throughout Northern Syria. If these efforts are successful, ISIS fighters may attempt to flee the battlefield and attempt to enter the United States through its refugee program or by obtaining non-immigrant or immigrant visas at diplomatic posts abroad. Additionally, Syria is a politically unstable country, and its government lacks effective control of significant parts of Syrian physical territory. Indeed, the situation in Syria is unstable to the extent that the United States does not currently have a permanent diplomatic post within the country. Given this instability and the inability or unwillingness of Syrian authorities to cooperate fully with the United States in the advance review of individuals seeking to travel to the United States on an immigrant or non-immigrant visa, individuals arriving from Syria place a significant strain on American national security and travel screening resources.

g. Yemen. Like the other countries described above, Yemen also currently experiences political instability and lacks effective governmental control over significant portions of the country. Terrorist organizations, including Al-Qa'ida in the Arabian Peninsula (AQAP) and ISIS have exploited the political and security vacuum left by conflict between the Temini government and the Houthi-led opposition. Involvement by other countries, such as Iran, taken together with sectarian divides between Shia and Sunni have given a greater foothold for AQAP and ISIS in this area. Yemen's military and security forces have been degraded by current conflicts within the country, and it is also unable to cooperate with the United States in its counterterrorism efforts. The situation is so unstable that the United States currently does not have a permanent diplomatic post within Yemen. Most individuals who seek to travel to the United States must travel to Djibouti in order to obtain travel documents.

7. The seven countries identified above pose unique risks because they each include heightened numbers of individuals who are likely to be members of or exposed to terrorist or extremist groups. These seven countries also impose significant operational hurdles to the United States because they cannot or do not cooperate with American counterterrorism efforts. In short, these countries place some of the highest security strain on American national security resources, and they also present some of the most significant challenges to developing the operational awareness needed to safely and efficiently process legitimate travel into the United States. These challenges are a sharp contrast to other countries that may present a number of high-risk nationals but that provide extensive cooperation with the United States government to detect these individuals and separate them from legitimate travel.

Mission Improvements from Executive Order

8. The temporary restrictions on travel outlined in the Executive Order are essential to enable DHS to effectively serve its mission of providing adequate screening procedures to ensure protection of the American homeland. This mission is a challenge each day, given the number of individuals that pass through ports of entry every day upon arriving in the United States. CBP officers processed more than 382 million travelers at air, land, and sea ports of entry in fiscal year 2015. In fiscal year 2016, on average, CBP processed over 1.1 million travelers a day. This amounts to an average of over 300,000 individuals arriving at air-ports every single day. CBP processed over 387 million travelers at air, land, and sea ports of entry in FY 2016, including over 326,000 international air passengers and crew on an average day. Additionally, in Fiscal Year 2016 alone, CBP officers arrested 8,129 individuals at ports of entry who were wanted for serious crimes. Officers also identified 274,821 inadmissible individuals at ports of entry.

9. Given the volume of travel that crosses the United States borders on any particular day, it is reasonable to pause the entry of ~~those~~ individuals from these seven countries ~~without~~ under the travel restrictions established by the Executive Order. The Executive Order establishes a process for DHS to devote its full attention to ensuring that those who seek to travel to the United States from these uniquely risky countries, instead of forcing CBP to make critical determinations about national security risks for immigrant and non-immigrant visa holders and refugees from these high risk areas alongside the hundreds of thousands of other travelers who present themselves at airports every day.

10. Indeed, even in the first week of implementing the Executive Order, DHS was able to identify critical gaps that create security vulnerabilities for the United States. These gaps exist in terms of additional data sources that need to be made available to agencies involved in granting immigration benefits to support effective risk assessment, including critical classified information, as well as information from foreign partners to help identify travel to and from conflict zones. This information is not currently available to U.S. immigration agencies.

11. For example, financial information is one of the best means for law enforcement, intelligence, and immigration agencies to identify links between individual applicants for immigration benefits and terrorist networks. Based on lessons learned from the week of implementing the Executive Order, DHS is expanding partnerships with the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (FinCEN) within the Department of Treasury to fully utilize this financial data. This includes developing better mechanisms to allow interface between this information and the DHS immigration benefits screening.

12. Additionally, by implementing the Executive Order, it has become clear to DHS that there is a need to enhance vetting capabilities by expanding coordination with the Federal Bureau of Investigation's (FBI's) National Crime Information Center (NCIC) to ensure that DHS obtains the most up to date information regarding individuals who may pose a risk to the United States.

13. DHS is also investigating ways to expand its use of social media information and intelligence-gathering operations while preserving privacy protections for individuals. Both the American public and foreign travelers from the United States will benefit from safer travel as a result of this cooperation. If the Executive Order cannot continue in effect, both classes of individuals will lose this benefit because this increased cooperation will be developed and implemented without the benefit of travel restrictions to provide additional security in the interim period while these strategies are employed.

14. Implementation of the Executive Order has highlighted the critical importance of increasing the interaction between the immigration agencies and classified intelligence community holdings.

Institutional Efficiencies Lost

15. In the week that the Executive Order has been in effect, DHS, particularly CBP, and its inter-agency partners have gained substantial institutional knowledge and developed significant experience in implementing the terms of the Executive Order efficiently and professionally. For example, DHS has been engaged around the clock since the Executive Order went into effect with its partners within other agencies, including the Departments of State and Justice to ensure that the Executive Order is fully implemented. If the Executive Order ~~is~~ continues to be restrained or enjoined, CBP will irreparably lose this vast institutional knowledge that it has already built and begin anew with its enforcement cooperation strategies when any judicial restrictions on enforcement of the Executive Order are lifted.

16. Education of travelers and private carriers engaged in the travel industry has also been essential to eliminate any confusion surrounding the Executive Order. Over the past week, DHS has provided significant education outreach to air carriers and travelers so that they understand the full effect of the Executive Order. This education effort will be irreparably nullified by the restraining order, as travelers will again be confused if the Executive Order again takes effect following a favorable ruling from the court.

Immigration Process Challenges

17. Given DHS's broad mission, I am also familiar with the general threats the homeland faces from terrorism. The cultivation of home-grown violent extremism and promotion of terrorism by sending money from the United States to foreign terrorist groups are particular concerns. Any ~~immigration~~ immigrant or non-immigrant benefits that are granted to individuals during any time that the Executive Order is enjoined or restrained ~~will~~ could provide permanent benefits to their recipients. For example, a foreign national from Somalia who travels to the United States during this time who has been ~~exposed to or~~ involved in extremism ~~will~~ may make permanent, beneficial contacts in the United States. Contacts in the United States who may be predisposed to extremist beliefs ~~will~~ may also have new and permanent connections outside the United States. Given the substantial risk that these countries present to the United States, once an individual is permitted to enter, there is a risk to American security.

18. The Executive Order bars the entry of individuals from the seven named countries who hold immigrant visas. Yet, once an individual is admitted to the United States on ~~such~~ an immigrant visa, that individual becomes a lawful permanent resident of the United States. ~~There is no mechanism to remove such an individual other than~~If any of those individuals become removable, there is no mechanism to remove such an individual other than full immigration removal proceedings. Those proceedings place the burden on the United States to prove removability for those lawful permanent residents within the United States. This is often extremely difficult for individuals about whom there is classified information but the use of which would substantially risk the sources and methods of collection of that very data.

19. ~~For~~ If any individuals currently outside the United States who hold immigrant visas, are~~who were~~ permitted to enter as lawful permanent residents, and become removable, the subsequent removal proceedings, including any appeals through the Circuit Courts may take [time period]. (b)(5)

20. Thus, even if a lawful permanent resident may be placed in removal proceedings, particularly where there is a need to detain such an individual, the United States will bear substantial costs related to the removal and detention processes. Depending on the nature of the charges and the jurisdiction where an individual is detained, moreover, the government may be permitted to detain the individual in its custody throughout the removal proceedings.

21. Even for those individuals who simply enter on a nonimmigrant visa, there are significant concerns with the rate of those who do not depart at the time required by their visas. Individuals who are placed in removal proceedings, where not detained, often do not appear at their immigration hearings. (b)(5)

22. These difficulties are compounded by state and local entity's refusal to cooperate with Federal entities seeking to remove individuals. This failure to cooperate with removal efforts leaves the federal government's resources with respect to removal efforts stretched to the limit.

23. Yet, to the extent that the United States is required to permit individuals to enter, it ~~will have no recourse but to~~ may have to expend law enforcement efforts to identify individuals already present, locate those individuals and go through full removal proceedings if the individual were to become removable as an overstay or for some other reason.

(b)(5)

[redacted]

24. The Executive Order is a necessary response to allow DHS and other Federal agencies to respond to unique operational challenges and threats posed by a small number of countries. A stoppage in execution of the Order will irreparably undermine DHS's mission of protecting America's homeland.

Pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1746, I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my information, knowledge, and belief.

Executed on this 5th day of February 2017, in Washington, DC.

(2) Facts showing the existence and nature of the emergency

As set forth more fully in the motion, the district court has entered a nationwide injunction barring enforcement of provisions of an Executive Order issued pursuant to constitutional and statutory authority to address national security concerns, which is imposing irreparable harm on the defendants and the general public. The injunction contravenes the constitutional separation of powers; harms the public by thwarting enforcement of an Executive Order issued by the nation's elected representative; and second-guesses the President's expert national security judgment about the quantum of risk posed by the admission of certain classes of aliens and the best means of minimizing that risk.

(3) When and how counsel notified

The undersigned counsel notified counsel for the plaintiffs by email on February 4, 2017, of the defendants' intent to file this motion. Service will be effected by electronic service through the CM/ECF system.

(4) Submissions to the district court

The defendants requested a stay from the district court on February 3, 2017, which the district court orally denied.

INTRODUCTION

The President of the United States has made a complex national security judgment that "[d]eteriorating conditions in certain countries due to war, strife, disaster, and civil unrest increase the likelihood that terrorists will use any means possible to enter the United States," and that our nation accordingly must take steps "to ensure that those approved for admission do not intend to harm Americans and that they have no ties to terrorism." Executive Order: Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States (Jan. 27, 2017) (Executive Order) (Exhibit A).

Under his constitutional authority to control the admission of aliens into this country, and his congressionally delegated authority under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f) to "suspend the entry of * * * any class of aliens" whose entry "would be detrimental to the interests of the United States," the President has directed a 90-day suspension of entry for individuals from seven countries previously identified as posing a heightened risk; a 120-day suspension of the U.S. Refugee Admissions Program; and an indefinite suspension of entry of Syrian nationals as refugees until the President determines that sufficient changes to the refugee program have been made "to ensure that admission of Syrian refugees is consistent with the national interest." Exec. Order §§ 3(c), (5)(a), (c). That Order is a lawful exercise of the political branches' plenary control over the admission of aliens into the United States.

The district court nevertheless issued an immediate, nationwide injunction barring the enforcement of those and additional provisions of the Executive Order.

A stay of this injunction is warranted pending appeal. The injunction raises legal questions of the highest magnitude, and the government is likely to succeed on appeal. The injunction conflicts with the basic principle that the decision whether to admit an alien into the United States rests exclusively with the federal political branches. See Landon v. Plasencia, 459 U.S. 21, 32 (1982) ("[A]n alien seeking initial admission to the United States requests a privilege and has no constitutional rights regarding his application, for the power to admit or exclude aliens is a sovereign prerogative."). It also contravenes the considered judgment of Congress that the President should have the unreviewable authority to suspend the admission of any class of aliens. The district court's decision gave virtually no explanation why the State of Washington has a high likelihood of success on the merits of its claims. And it entered the injunction at the behest of the State of Washington, which is not subject to the Executive Order, has not shown that it is injured by the Order, and brings a facial challenge. The scope of the injunction is also overbroad.

The balance of harms here weighs strongly in favor of a stay pending appeal, as well as an immediate administrative stay pending consideration of the request for a full stay pending appeal. The injunction immediately harms the public by second-guessing and thwarting enforcement of an Executive Order issued by the President, based on his national security judgment about the quantum of risk posed by the admission of certain classes of aliens. As the President acted in accordance with both statutory and constitutional authorization, the relief irreparably harms our system of government by contravening constitutional separation of powers principles. The State, by comparison, has identified only modest, speculative harms it would suffer from enforcement of the Executive Order, which could in any event be minimized by expediting appeal.

BACKGROUND

A. The Immigration and Nationality Act

In the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 ("INA"), 8 U.S.C. §§ 1101 et seq., as amended, Congress established the legal framework for deciding which aliens may enter and remain in the United States. Congress expressly granted the President broad discretionary authority, whenever he "finds that the entry of any aliens or of any class of aliens into the United States would be detrimental to the interests of the United States," to "suspend the entry of all aliens or any class of aliens as immigrants or nonimmigrants, or impose on the entry of aliens any restrictions he may deem to be appropriate * * *." 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f).

Every President over the last thirty years has invoked this authority,[1] including to restrict certain classes of aliens based on nationality. President Reagan suspended entry of certain Cuban nationals as immigrants into the United States. See 1986 WL 796773 (Aug. 22, 1986). President Clinton largely suspended entry of Sudanese officials of Sudan, a country also addressed in the current Executive Order. See 1996 WL 33673860 (Nov. 22, 1996).

Congress likewise has drawn distinctions based on nationality in the immigration laws. In 2015, Congress excluded nationals of Iraq and Syria from a program permitting entry into the United States as a nonimmigrant without a visa (i.e., an alien admitted on a temporary basis). Pub. L. No. 114-113, 129 Stat. 2242, 2990 (2015) (codified at 8 U.S.C. § 1187(a)(12)). Congress also created a process by which the Executive Branch could designate additional "Countries or areas of concern," for exclusion of a country's nationals. See id. § 1187(a)(12)(D). As of February 2016, the Executive Branch had extended that exclusion to nationals of Iran, Sudan, Libya, Somalia, and Yemen, in an effort to ensure that the visa waiver program's "requirements are commensurate with the growing threat from foreign terrorist fighters." See https://www.dhs.gov/news/2016/02/18/dhs-announces-further-travel-restrictions-visa-waiver-program. Significantly, the seven countries excluded from the visa waiver program are the same countries covered by Section 3(c) of the Executive Order.

B. Presidential Authority over Foreign Affairs and National Security

In addition to his statutory authority to deny entry to certain classes of aliens, the President has broad constitutional authority in this area. See U.S. Const., art. II, § 2 ("Commander in Chief" power, and authority to "make treaties" and "appoint ambassadors"), § 3 (power to "receive ambassadors"). Article II confers upon the President expansive authority over foreign affairs, national security, and immigration. See, e.g., Knauff v. Shaughnessy, 338 U.S. 537, 542 (1950) ("The exclusion of aliens is a fundamental act of sovereignty * * * inherent in the executive power to control the foreign affairs of the nation.").

C. The President's Executive Order

Invoking these constitutional and statutory authorities, the President issued an Executive Order "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States." (Exhibit A). The Order is intended "to protect the American people from terrorist attacks by foreign nationals admitted to the United States." Executive Order § 2.

The Order directs a number of actions in the interests of national security. See id. §§ 2-11. The Secretary of Homeland Security is directed to conduct an immediate review to identify the "information needed from any country * * * to determine that [an] individual seeking [an immigration-related] benefit is who the individual claims to be and is not a security or public-safety threat." Id. § 3(a). The Order also directs a process for requesting necessary information from foreign governments that do not supply such information, and consequences for countries not providing it. See id. § 3(d)-(f).

While that review is ongoing, the Executive Order suspends entry for 90 days of aliens from the seven countries identified in 8 U.S.C. § 1187(a)(12). Id. § 3(c). Exceptions may be made on a case-by-case basis. Id. § 3(g). The suspension of entry does not apply to lawful permanent residents of the United States (i.e., an immigrant admitted with the privilege of residing permanently in the United States, 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(2)). See Feb. 1, 2017 Memorandum (Exhibit B).

The Executive Order also suspends the U.S. refugee program for 120 days to permit a review of the "application and adjudication process to determine what additional procedures should be taken to ensure that those approved for refugee admission do not pose a threat to the security and welfare of the United States."

Executive Order § 5(a). Once the refugee program is resumed, the Secretary of State is directed to "make changes, to the extent permitted by law, to prioritize refugee claims made by individuals on the basis of religious-based persecution, provided that the religion of the individual is a minority religion in the individual's country of nationality." Id. § 5(b). The Order permits the entry of individual refugees on a case-by-case basis during suspension of the program. Id. § 5(e).

Finally, the Executive Order suspends entry of nationals of Syria as refugees even after resumption of the refugee program, predicated upon the President's finding pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f) that such entry "is detrimental to the interests of the United States." Id. § 5(c). Such suspension will continue until the President determines that sufficient changes have been made to the refugee program "that admission of Syrian refugees is consistent with the national interest." Id.

D. Procedural History

The State of Washington brought this action on January 30, 2017, asserting a constitutional and statutory claims against the United States, the President, the Secretary of Homeland Security, and the Secretary of State. Complaint (Exhibit C). On the same day, Washington moved for a temporary restraining order. R3. Washington subsequently amended its complaint to add the State of Minnesota as a plaintiff. See R8, 17.

Defendants opposed Washington's motion. R50. Thereafter, at the February 3, 2017 hearing, the district court orally issued a nationwide injunction, to take effect immediately, barring enforcement of sections 3(c), 5(a)-(c), and 5(e) of the Executive Order. See Transcript _ (Exhibit C). The court also denied defendants' motion to stay its order. See id. _.

The district court subsequently issued a written order enjoining defendants from enforcing Sections 3(c), 5(a), and 5(c) of the Executive Order, and enjoining any prioritization of refugee claims of certain religious minorities pursuant to Sections 5(b) and 5(e). See R52 (Exhibit D). The injunction is "granted on a nationwide basis," and prohibits enforcement of the specified sections "at all United States borders and ports of entry pending further orders from this court." R52, pp. 5-6.

ARGUMENT

An immediate stay pending appeal is appropriate in this case because the Government can make (1) a strong showing of likelihood of success on appeal; (2) a likelihood that it will be irreparably harmed absent a stay; (3) a diminished prospect that petitioners will be substantially harmed if the court grants a stay; and (4) a public interest in granting a stay. See Hilton v. Braunskill, 481 U.S. 770, 776 (1987).

This Court has jurisdiction over the appeal under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(a)(1). Although temporary restraining orders are ordinarily not appealable, this Court has jurisdiction over appeals from "interlocutory orders of the district courts pertaining to injunctions"; "the essence of the order, not its moniker," determines appealability. Service Employees v. Nat'l Union of Healthcare, 598 F.3d 1061, 1067 (9th Cir. 2010). Where, as here, the "district court holds an adversary hearing and the basis for the court's order was strongly challenged," and the length of the injunction (in this case, indefinite) "exceeds the ordinary duration" of temporary restraining orders, classification of the order as a TRO is "unlikely" and the order is instead properly treated as an appealable injunctive order. Id.

A. The Government Is Likely to Succeed on Appeal.

In entering an injunctive order, the district court reasoned that the State of Washington was likely to succeed on the merits of their claims.[2] That conclusion, however, ignores the serious questions as to the State's standing to bring suit and the merits of its claims.

1. The State Lacks Article III Standing to Bring this Action.

Like any party, a State must establish standing, which requires showing "an invasion of a legally protected interest" that is "concrete and particularized" and

[2] Because the State of Minnesota, which was added as a plaintiff in the amended complaint, did not move for interim injunctive relief, we address only the standing of the Washington.

"actual or imminent, not 'conjectural' or 'hypothetical.'" Lujan v. Defs. of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 560-61 (1992).

The district court reasoned that the Executive Order "adversely affects the States' residents in areas of employment, education, business, family relations, and freedom to travel," and that these harms "extend to the States by virtue of their roles as parens patriae of the residents living within their borders." R52, at 4-5. But the Supreme Court long ago established that a state cannot bring a parens patriae action against federal defendants. See Massachusetts v. Mellon, 262 U.S. 447, 485-86 (1923). In dismissing Massachusetts' challenge to a federal statute designed to "protect the health of mothers and infants," the Court explained that "it is no part of [a state's] duty or power to enforce [its citizens'] rights in respect of their relations with the federal government." Id. at 485-86; accord South Caroline v. Katzenbach, 383 U.S. 301, 324 (1966).

The district court here also reasoned that "the States themselves are harmed by virtue of the damage that implementation of the Executive Order has inflicted upon the operations and missions of their public universities and other institutions of higher learning, as well as injury to the States' operations, tax bases, and public funds." R52, p.5. These alleged harms are neither concrete nor particularized.

With respect to Washington's public universities, most if not all of the students and faculty members the State identifies are not prohibited from entering the United States, and others' alleged difficulties are hypothetical or speculative.[3] That is particularly true given the waiver authority granted by the Executive Order in cases in which issuance of a visa or other immigration benefit would be in the national interest. See Executive Order §§ 3(g), 5(e). Furthermore, any assertion of harm to the universities' reputations and ability to attract students is insufficiently concrete to show standing. See Whitmore v. Arkansas, 495 U.S. 149, 155 (1990). And although Washington suggested that the Executive Order might affect its recruitment efforts and child welfare system, it conceded that it could not identify any currently affected state employees, nor any actual impact on its child welfare system. See Schumacher Decl. ¶ 7, ECF No. 17-5; Strus Decl., ECF No. 17-6. Speculation does not establish injury in fact. Whitmore, 495 U.S. at 158.[4]

Washington's contentions regarding its tax base and public funds are equally flawed, particularly given the lack of any direct link between the State's status as a tax collector and the challenged Executive action. See Florida v. Mellon, 273 U.S.

[3] See, e.g., Second Riedinger Decl. ¶¶ 3-7, ECF No. 17-2 (allegations about lawful permanent residents, who are not impacted by the Executive Order); Boesenberg Decl. ¶ 6, ECF No. 17-3 (same); Second Riedinger Decl. ¶ 8 (asserting that certain countries may "ban * * * U.S. travelers" in response to the Executive Order); Second Chaudhry Decl. ¶ 8, ECF No. 17-4 (alleging one faculty member may not be able to return to the university at a future date).

[4] Washington cited no case recognizing the standing of a State to bring an Establishment Clause challenge, and it is not clear how a State can suffer "spiritual or psychological harm" or have "religious beliefs" that can be "stigmatized." Catholic League for Religious & Civil Rights v. City & Cty. of San Francisco, 624 F.3d 1043, 1051-52 (9th Cir. 2010).

at 17-18 (finding no standing based on Florida's allegation that challenged law would diminish tax base by inducing citizens to remove property from the state); Iowa ex rel. Miller v. Block, 771 F.2d 347, 353 (8th Cir. 1985) (state's assertion that challenged action would "forc[e] unemployment up and state tax revenues down" insufficient for standing).

2. The Order Is a Valid Exercise of the Executive's Constitutional Power and Authority Granted by Congress

The Executive Order was issued pursuant to Congress' broad delegation of authority to the President to "suspend the entry of all aliens or any class of aliens as immigrants or nonimmigrants, or impose on the entry of aliens any restrictions he may deem to be appropriate." 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f). The express delegation from Congress, coupled with the President's own Article II powers over foreign affairs and national security, mean that the President's "authority is at its maximum, for it includes all that he possesses in his own right plus all that Congress can delegate." Zivotofsky ex rel. Zivotofsky v. Kerry, 135 S. Ct. 2076, 2083-84 (2015).

In the immigration context specifically, "[t]he Supreme Court has 'long recognized the power to expel or exclude aliens as a fundamental sovereign attribute exercised by the Government's political departments largely immune from judicial control.'" Cardenas v. United States, 826 F.3d 1164, 1169 (9th Cir. 2016) (quoting Fiallo v. Bell, 430 U.S. 787, 792 (1977)). "When Congress delegates this plenary power to the Executive, the Executive's decisions are likewise generally shielded from administrative or judicial review." Cardenas, 826 F.3d at 1169.[5]

The Order falls squarely within the express delegation in 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f) of "the extreme power to prevent the entry of any alien or groups of aliens into this country as well as the lesser power to grant entry to such person or persons with any restriction on their entry as he may deem to be appropriate." Mow Sun Wong v. Campbell, 626 F.2d 739, 744 n.9 (9th Cir. 1980); accord Haitian Refugee Ctr., Inc. v. Baker, 953 F.2d 1498, 1507 (11th Cir. 1992). As noted above (at pp. pincite), prior Presidents have repeatedly invoked this authority to suspend entry of certain classes of aliens, at least twice drawing distinctions based on nationality. In reviewing an Executive Order directing the interdiction and forcible repatriation of undocumented aliens outside the territorial waters of the United States, the Supreme Court found it "perfectly clear that 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f) * * * grants the President ample power to establish a naval blockade that would simply deny illegal Haitian migrants the ability to disembark on our shores." Sale v. Haitian Ctrs.

[5] As an example of Executive authority in this area, under the long-established doctrine of consular non-reviewability, a non-resident alien outside the United States has no right to judicial review of a consular officer's denial of a visa. See Capistrano v. Dep't of State, 267 F. App'x 593, 594 (9th Cir. 2008). Even a petitioning U.S. citizen has no legally protected interest with respect to an alien's separate visa application. See Saavedra Bruno v. Albright, 197 F.3d 1153, 1164 (D.C. Cir. 1999).

Council, Inc., 509 U.S. 155, 164 n.13, 187 (1993) (emphasis added). Court have also repeatedly affirmed that "[d]istinctions on the basis of nationality may be drawn in the immigration field by the Congress or the Executive." Narenji v. Civiletti, 617 F.2d 745, 747 (D.C. Cir. 1979); see also Jean v. Nelson, 727 F.2d 957, 978 n.30 (11th Cir. 1984) (en banc), aff'd, 472 U.S. 846 (1985); Rajah v. Mukasey, 544 F.3d 427, 435 (2d Cir. 2008).

Washington argued in district court that the President's authority under § 1182(f) is limited by 8 U.S.C. § 1152(a)(1)(A), which provides, with certain exceptions, that "no person shall receive any preference or priority or be discriminated against in the issuance of an immigrant visa because of the person's race, sex, nationality, place of birth, or place of residence." But this restriction applies only to the "issuance of an immigrant visa"—meaning that it does not apply to nonimmigrant visas or to refugees (who generally do not enter the United States with a visa). In addition, § 1152(a)(1)(B) makes clear that the statute does not "limit the authority of the Secretary of State to determine the procedures for the processing of immigrant visa applications * * *." This reveals that the Executive Order, in part or in whole, is not covered by the restrictions of subsection (A), because it governs the procedures for suspending and then resuming the processing of certain visa applications. See, e.g., Executive Order §§ 3(a), 5(a).

More fundamentally, § 1152(a)(1)(A) is not properly understood to constrain § 1182(f)'s broad grant of discretionary authority. As a matter of statutory construction a court should, whenever possible, "interpret two seemingly inconsistent statutes to avoid a potential conflict," California ex rel. Sacramento Metro. Air Quality Mgmt. Dist. v. United States, 215 F.3d 1005, 1012 (9th Cir. 2000), and should interpret "the specific [to] govern[]' the general." RadLAX Gateway Hotel v. Amalgamated Bank, 132 S. Ct. 2065, 2070-71 (2012). Here, the two statutory provisions are easily reconciled: § 1152(a)(1)(A) establishes a general default rule that applies in the absence of Presidential action, while § 1182(f) governs the specific instance in which the President determines that entry of a "class of aliens" would be "detrimental to the interests of the United States." That reconciling construction is also consistent with the practice of prior Presidents of drawing nationality-based distinctions under § 1182(f), as well as the nationality-based distinctions drawn by Congress and the Executive in enacting and implementing § 1187(a)(12). Washington's interpretation, in contrast, would lead to the untenable result that the United States could not suspend entry of nationals of a country with which the United States is at war.[6]

[6] The placement of the anti-discrimination rule within § 1152 further indicates that the rule is not intended to curb the President's authority under § 1182(f). Had Congress intended to impose an overarching prohibition on nationality-based distinctions, it presumably would have enacted it as a general provision of the INA, rather than as a subpart of a subsection addressing the

3. The District Court Improperly Second-Guessed the Executive's National Security Determinations Underlying the Executive Order

By its plain terms, 8 U.S.C. § 1182(f) vests complete discretion in the President to determine whether "the entry of any aliens or of any class of aliens into the United States would be detrimental to the interests of the United States," for the period "as he shall deem necessary," and to impose such conditions of entry as "he may deem appropriate." The President's exercise of this discretion "is not limited to circumstances defined in the statute," and "the statute provides no discernable standards" for reviewing his determination. Haitian Refugee Ctr., Inc. v. Baker, 789 F. Supp. 1552, 1575-76 (S.D. Fla. 1991); see also Webster v. Doe, 486 U.S. 592, 594, 600-01 (1988) (holding that similar statutory language vested the Director of Central Intelligence with complete discretion over employee discharges, and thus judicial review was precluded).

Furthermore, judicial review of the President's determination that suspension of entry of certain classes of aliens was necessary at this moment to protect national security would implicate the federal political branches' plenary constitutional authority over foreign affairs, national security, and immigration. See, e.g., Harisiades v. Shaughnessy, 342 U.S. 580, 588-89 (1952) ("[A]ny policy toward aliens is vitally and intricately interwoven with contemporaneous policies in regard to the conduct of foreign relations, the war power, and the maintenance of a republican form of government."). "[I]t is not within the province of any court, unless expressly authorized by law, to review the determination of the political branch of the Government to exclude a given alien." Knauff, 338 U.S. at 543; see also INS v. Aguirre-Aguirre, 526 U.S. 415, 425 (1999) ("[J]udicial deference to the Executive Branch is especially appropriate in the immigration context where officials 'exercise especially sensitive political functions that implicate questions of foreign relations.'").

The Constitution vests the Executive with the duty of protecting our Nation's security, and Congress has specifically empowered the President to suspend the entry of categories of aliens if he finds that their entry would be detrimental to the national interest. There is accordingly no basis for the Judiciary to second-guess the President's determinations in that regard. See Al Haramain Islamic Found., Inc. v. Dep't of Treasury, 686 F.3d 965, 980 (9th Cir. 2012) (judiciary "owe[s] unique deference to the executive branch's determination that we face 'an unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security' of the United States" (quoting an Executive Order)).

Washington argued that the district court should disregard the President's stated rationale for issuing the Executive Order because it was prompted by religious animus toward Islam. That argument is inconsistent with Kleindienst v.

Mandel, 408 US. 753 (1972), which held that, "when the Executive exercises" immigration authority "on the basis of a facially legitimate and bona fide reason, the courts will [not] look behind the exercise of that discretion[.]" Id. at 770. Here, the Executive Order undeniably states a facially legitimate and bona fide reason—ensuring "the "proper review and maximum utilization of available resources for the screening of foreign nationals" and "that adequate standards are established to prevent infiltration by foreign terrorists." Executive Order, § 3(c); cf. Kerry v. Din, 135 S. Ct. 2128, 2140 (2015) (Kennedy, J., concurring) (noting that Mandel's "reasoning has particular force in the area of national security"). The Order thus "provides a 'reasonably conceivable state of facts [which concerns national security] and that could provide a rational basis for the classification." Louhghalam v. Trump, Civ. No. 17-10154-NMG, Order, at 11 (D. Mass. Fe. 3, 2017). The judicial inquiry envisioned by the States would create substantial separation-of-powers problems, by permitting probing of the President's subjective motive in issuing the Order. Cf. United States v. O'Brien, 391 U.S. 367, 383-84 (1968) (inquiry into the subjective motives of members of Congress is a "hazardous matter").

4. The State's Constitutional Challenges Are Without Merit

Washington raises equal protection and procedural due process challenges under the Fifth Amendment, but "[t]he word 'person' in the context of the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment cannot * * * be expanded to encompass the States of the Union." Katzenbach, 383 U.S. at 323-24; see also Premo v. Martin, 119 F.3d 764, 771 (9th Cir. 1997). Nor can Washington invoke the Fifth Amendment rights of its citizens against the federal government. See Katzenbach, 383 U.S. at 324.

Furthermore, the majority of individuals who are affected by the Executive Order are non-resident aliens outside the United States, who have no constitutional rights relating to their entry into the United States. See Kleindienst v. Mandel, 408 U.S. 753, 762 (1972) (deeming it "clear" that "an unadmitted and nonresident alien" "had no constitutional right of entry to this country as a nonimmigrant or otherwise."); Plasencia, 459 U.S. at 32. This is fatal to Washington's facial challenges, which require it to show that there is no constitutionally valid application of the Executive Order.

Washington argued in district court that Section 5(b) of the Order violates the Establishment Clause by "giv[ing] preference to Christian refugees while disadvantaging Muslim refugees." TRO Mot. at 7. That is wrong. Section 5(b) provides an accommodation for refugees from each country that participates in the refugee program, not just those specified in sections 3(a) & (c). As a result, section 5(b) does not "tilt the scales in favor of Christian refugees at the expense of Muslims," TRO Mot. at 12, but rather is neutral with respect to religion. See Louhghalam, Civ. No. 17-10154-NMG, Order, at 13 (Section 5(b) does not favor Christians over Muslims in violation of the Establishment Clause because it "could be invoked to give preferred refugee status to a Muslim individual in a country that is predominantly Christian"). Nor is Washington's Establishment Clause challenge to Section 5(b) ripe for review, since that section does not take effect for at least 120 days (i.e., "Upon the resumption of USRAP admissions").

5. The District Court Improperly Issued a Nationwide Injunction.

The district court also erred by prohibiting enforcement of the Executive Order provisions at issue "on a nationwide basis." R52, p. 5. An injunction should extend no further "than necessary to provide complete relief to plaintiffs." Madsen v. Women's Health Ctr., Inc., 512 U.S. 753, 765 (1994) (quoting Califano v. Yamasaki, 442 U.S. 682, 702 (1979); see also Lewis v. Casey, 518 U.S. 343, 358 (1996). The district court's order violates this rule by extending beyond the two state plaintiffs in this case, and to all jurisdictions nationwide, including the District of Massachusetts, which has just upheld the Executive Order against constitutional challenges similar to those presented here, Louhghalam, Civ. No. 17-10154-NMG, Order, at 18-19. "Courts ordinarily should not award injunctive relief that would cause substantial interference with another court's sovereignty." United States v. AMC Ent., Inc., 549 F.3d 760, 770 (9th Cir. 2008).

B. The Balance of Harms Weighs Strongly in Favor of a Stay.

The balance of harms also favors a stay of the district court's injunction pending this Court's expedited consideration of the government's appeal.

First, the district court's injunctive order imposes irreparable harm on the government by barring enforcement of the Executive Order in a manner that intrudes heavily on the constitutional separation of powers. Judicial intrusion on the political branches' exclusive authority over the admission of aliens, by violating the separation of powers, in itself constitutes irreparable injury. See, e.g., Adams, 570 F.2d at 954 (vacating preliminary injunction that directed action by the Secretary of State in foreign affairs, which "deeply intrude[d] into the core concerns of the executive branch"). Stays have repeatedly been granted in similar contexts to prevent a significant breach of inter-branch comity. See, e.g., INS v. Legalization Assistance Project, 510 U.S. 1301, 1306 (1993) (O'Connor, J., in chambers) (staying district court injunction interfering with the government's execution of immigration statute, noting that injunction was "an improper intrusion by a federal court into the workings of a coordinate branch of the Government"); Schweiker v. McClure, 452 U.S. 1301, 1302-03 (1981) (Rehnquist, J., in chambers); Committee on Judiciary of U.S. House of Representatives v. Miers, 542 F.3d 909, 911 (D.C. Cir. 2008).

Second, the district court's order contravenes the considered national security judgment of the President that the admission of certain classes of aliens at this time to the United States, under the existing screening and visa-issuance procedures, poses an unacceptable risk to the safety of the nation. "'[N]o governmental interest is more compelling than the security of the Nation.'" Jifry v. FAA, 370 F.3d 1174, 1183 (D.C. Cir. 2004) (quoting Haig v. Agee, 453 U.S. 280, 307 (1981)). "[T]he Government's interest in combating terrorism is an urgent objective of the highest order." Holder v. Humanitarian Law Project, 130 S. Ct. 2705, 2724 (2010). "It is rarely appropriate for courts to intervene in matters closely related to national security." Merida Delgado v. Gonzales, 428 F.3d 916, 920 (10th Cir. 2005) (citing Haig v. Agee, 453 U.S. 280, 292 (1981)).

This is particularly true as to predictive judgments about the potential national security threat posed by a class of aliens and the level of risk to accept. A reviewing court would not be well-equipped to ascertain the quantum of risk, or a reasonable margin of error in assessing risk. Cf. Oryszak v. Sullivan, 576 F.3d at 525-26 ("'Egan teaches plainly that review of the breadth of [the margin of error acceptable in assessing the security risk posed by an individual] is outside the authority of a nonexpert body.'" (quoting Krc, 905 F.2d at 395) (alternation in original)); Kaplan v. Conyers, 733 F.3d 1148, 1166 (Fed. Cir. 2012) (en banc) (holding that courts cannot review Department of Defense's determination regarding an employee's eligibility to occupy a sensitive position that implicates national security). Judicial second-guessing of the President's national security determination in itself imposes substantial harm on the government and the nation at large.

Furthermore, an order barring the Executive Branch from enforcing a Presidential Executive Order inherently imposes harm on the government and the public at large, by thwarting the legal effect of the public's chosen representative. Cf. New Motor Vehicle Bd. v. Orrin W. Fox Co., 434 U.S. 1345, 1351 (1977) (Rehnquist, J., in chambers) ("[A]ny time a State is enjoined by a court from effectuating statutes enacted by representatives of its people, it suffers a form of irreparable injury."); see also United States v. Oakland Cannabis Buyers' Coop., 532 U.S. 483, 497 (2001) (recognizing that, in assessing the public interest, a court must heed "the judgment of Congress, deliberately expressed in legislation," and "the balance that Congress has struck").

Finally, enjoining operative provisions of the Executive Order, which would require the Executive Branch to treat non-resident aliens' visas as valid and potentially would result in their admission into the United States, could cloud the clear legal and factual distinction between their present status as inadmissible aliens not lawfully present in the United States, and their desired status as aliens who were lawfully admitted to this country.

In contrast, the State has not shown that it faces irreparable harm if the Executive Order continues to be enforced, and certainly not that any harm it would suffers is sufficient to tilt the balance. Furthermore, the federal government's appeal could be significantly expedited in order to minimize any prejudice to the State.

Given the substantial harms posed by the district court's order, the defendants also respectfully request that this Court enter an immediate administrative stay pending consideration of the merits of this motion. If the Court declines to enter an administrative stay, however, the defendants request that the Court order expedited briefing of this motion.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the defendants respectfully request that the Court enter an immediate administrative stay pending consideration of this motion. If the Court declines to enter an immediate administrative stay, the defendants request that the Court order expedited briefing of the motion. The defendants also request that the Court enter a stay pending appeal of the district court's February 3, 2017, injunctive order.

No. 2:17-cv-00141 (JLR)

DECLARATION OF DAVID J. GLAWE

I, David J. Glawe, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, and based upon my personal knowledge and information made known to me from official records reasonably relied upon by me in the course of my employment, hereby declare as follows relating to the above-titled matter.

1. I am the [official title]. Prior to acting in this position, I was the Assistant Commissioner, Office of Intelligence and Investigative Liaison, U.S. Customs and Border Protection. Prior to joining the Department of Homeland Security, I served as a Senior National Intelligence Service Officer in the Office of the Director of National Intelligence, responsible for overseeing and integrating all aspects of the U.S. Intelligence Community's collection and analytic efforts regarding threat finance and transnational organized crime. I was a Senior Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for [time period]. I have been a law enforcement officer for twenty-two years. I have an expertise in targeting the illicit movement of money involving counterintelligence, counter-proliferation, and terrorist and criminal networks worldwide.

2. [CURRENT ROLE DESCRIPTION]. I am familiar with the security threats that the United States faces overseaes, at its borders, and within the country. I am also familiar with the efforts DHS has taken both with respect to the resources and strategic framework in place to respond to these threats.

3. On January 27, 2017, the President issued Executive Order 13769 entitled, "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States" (the Executive Order). The Executive Order putslaces specific travel restrictions in place to address particular areas of the world that pose a unique threat to the United States. Specifically, the Executive Order affects nationals of seven nations: Iraq, Syria, Iran, Sudan, Libya, Somalia, and Yemen. The Executive Order builds upon recognition by both Congress and the previous Administration that these countries pose a unique threat to the United States, and travel from these countries requires additional scrutiny and vigilance. The Executive Order also places additional restrictions on worldwide refugee travel to the United States.

4. Consistent with the requirements of the Visa Waiver Program Improvement and Terrorist Travel Prevention Act of 2015, the then-Secretary of Homeland Security, Jeh Johnson, certified to Congress that Yemen, Somalia, and Libya should join those countries specifically listed by Congress as countries where nationality or, travel to or from may represent a heightened threat to the United States.

(b)(5)

5. Preventing the entry into the United States of individuals who are from areas of particular concern is consistent with protecting the United States from the heightened threat of terrorism from nationals from areas of active conflict, including direct conflict with terrorist organizations.

Country Specific Threats

6. Each of the countries specified in the Executive Order for additional travel restrictions poses a substantial risk to American security. —For instance, as explained below, Iraq, Syria, Libya, Somalia and Yemen are active conflict zones with extensive operational and organizational presence of ISIS, Al Qaeda and their affiliates. There is no meaningful governance structure in vast swaths of the territory of each of these countries. The governments of these countries each lack the structure which would allow them to meaningfully share information related to individuals seeking to travel to the United States, such as information regarding terrorism, or to substantially cooperated with the United States on effective counterterrorism efforts. This lapse is particularly critical given that the most effective way to combat the risk to the national security is to share information with partner governments about their nationals and the risk that they may pose.

a. Iraq. The nation of Iraq is currently an active combat zone. The Iraqi army is engaged against ISIS forces present in Iraq. This is a fluid and evolving situation, for instance, as the Iraqi army seeks to regain full operational control within Mosul. At the same time, many Iraqi nationals have joined forces with ISIS. Iraq is politically unstable, and lacks a meaningful government presence in large portions of the country. It is unable to provide adequate cooperation to the United States in the advance review of any Iraqi nationals seeking to come to the United States as ~~a refugee or on~~ a non-immigrant or immigrant ~~visa~~. The increased pressure on ISIS may encourage ISIS fighters to flee the battlefield and attempt to enter the United States through the refugee program, or by obtaining non-immigrant or immigrant visas at U.S. diplomatic posts abroad.

b. Iran. Iran has been linked to sponsorship of various terrorist organizations, including Al Qaeda and remains designated as a state sponsor of terrorism. Iran has permitted Al Qaeda to use its country as a facilitation hub, permitting funds and fighters to transit its borders. Iran has also contributed to broader instability in the region by providing a base for terrorist organizations, particularly Al Qaeda, to transport fighters to unstable situations in South Asia and Syria. Iran also does not cooperate with the United States or its allies in counterterrorism efforts and, critically, in the sharing of information about potential high-risk individuals.

c. Libya. Libya remains an active combat zone, and there is no effective governmental control over significant parts of its territory and currently lacks a permanent United States diplomatic post. Libyan commerce has been significantly affected by regular instability and political violence since its civil war in 2011. The threat has grown exponentially since 2012, when ISIS started to aggressively conduct operations in Tripoli. Weak intelligence and security services are ill-equipped to prevent ISIS's creation of a foothold in Libya and, as a result, in North Africa. Its law enforcement hasve lacked the capacity to detect, deter and respond to terrorist and other violent incidents. Security and law enforcement officials have been targeted in kidnappings and assassinations, further eroding the ability of that government to address threats on its own security. This power vacuum has created opportunities for terrorist groups to exploit the lack of central institutions within Libya. Given its instability, Libya cannot effectively cooperate with American counterterrorism efforts.

(b)(5)

d. Somalia. Somalia's central government is in its infancy, as the first central government since 1991 formed in August 2012. However, it has not proved to be a stable government and the United States does not currently maintain a permanent diplomatic post in Somalia. The extremist group Al Shabaab has maintained its presence in Somalia for years, taking advantage of the weak institutions and porous borders. Al Shabaab's terrorist attacks are also growing in sophistication, moving from small arms and explosives to a mortar shelling at Kismayo International Airport and a smuggled IED aboard Daalo Airlines flight 159. And this sophistication has already been shown to be part of a competent external operations capability. For instance, the attacks on the Westgate Mall in Nairobi, Kenya and Garissa University, Kenya, were well-planned and well-executed, and involved sophisticated intelligence collection, surveillance and reconnaissance of the target. The United States has every indication that Al Shabaab, centered in Somalia, intends to continue, including through global outreach for individuals to join their efforts. Given the political instability, lack of governmental control, and presence of an increasingly sophisticated, focused, terrorist organization, individuals traveling from Somalia pose a unique potential risk to the United States. There is little question that at this moment, Somalia cannot cooperate with the United States in its counterterrorism efforts.

[redacted]

(b)(5)

[redacted]

e. Sudan. Sudan is a politically unstable country and is designated as a state sponsor of terrorism. The Sudanese government has been unwilling or unable to collaborate with the United States on its counterterrorism efforts, including information-sharing about high-risk individuals who may try to enter the United States ~~as a refugee or~~ on an immigrant or non-immigrant visa.

(b)(5)

f. Syria. Syrian forces are engaged in military and counterterrorism efforts against ISIS, placing pressure on its strongholds in Raqqa and throughout Northern Syria. If these efforts are successful, ISIS fighters may attempt to flee the battlefield and attempt to enter the United States through its refugee program or by obtaining non-immigrant or immigrant visas at diplomatic posts abroad. Additionally, Syria is a politically unstable country, and its government lacks effective control of significant parts of Syrian physical territory. Indeed, the situation in Syria is unstable to the extent that the United States does not currently have a permanent diplomatic post within the country. Given this instability and the inability or unwillingness of Syrian authorities to cooperate fully with the United States in the advance review of individuals seeking to travel to the United States on an immigrant or non-immigrant visa, individuals arriving from Syria place a significant strain on American national security and travel screening resources.

g. Yemen. Like the other countries described above, Yemen also currently experiences political instability and lacks effective governmental control over significant portions of the country. Terrorist organizations, including Al-Qa'ida in the Arabian Peninsula (AQAP) and ISIS have exploited the political and security vacuum left by conflict between the Temini government and the Houthi-led opposition. Involvement by other countries, such as Iran, taken together with sectarian divides between Shia and Sunni have given a greater foothold for AQAP and ISIS in this area. Yemen's military and security forces have been degraded by current conflicts within the country, and it is also unable to cooperate with the United States in its counterterrorism efforts. The situation is so unstable that the United States currently does not have a permanent diplomatic post within Yemen. Most individuals who seek to travel to the United States must travel to Djibouti in order to obtain travel documents.

7. The seven countries identified above pose unique risks because they each include heightened numbers of individuals who are likely to be members of or exposed to terrorist or extremist groups. These seven countries also impose significant operational hurdles to the United States because they cannot or do not cooperate with American counterterrorism efforts. In short, these countries place some of the highest security strain on American national security resources, and they also present some of the most significant challenges to developing the operational awareness needed to safely and efficiently process legitimate travel into the United States. These challenges are a sharp contrast to other countries that may present a number of high-risk nationals but that provide extensive cooperation with the United States government to detect these individuals and separate them from legitimate travel.

Mission Improvements from Executive Order

8. The temporary restrictions on travel outlined in the Executive Order are essential to enable DHS to effectively serve its mission of providing adequate screening procedures to ensure protection of the American homeland. This mission is a challenge each day, given the number of individuals that pass through ports of entry every day upon arriving in the United States. CBP officers processed more than 382 million travelers at air, land, and sea ports of entry in fiscal year 2015. In fiscal year 2016, on average, CBP processed over 1.1 million travelers a day. This amounts to an average of over 300,000 individuals arriving at air-ports every single day. CBP processed over 387 million travelers at air, land, and sea ports of entry in FY 2016, including over 326,000 international air passengers and crew on an average day. Additionally, in Fiscal Year 2016 alone, CBP officers arrested 8,129 individuals at ports of entry who were wanted for serious crimes. Officers also identified 274,821 inadmissible individuals

at ports of entry.

9. Given the volume of travel that crosses the United States borders on any particular day, it is reasonable to pause the entry of ~~those~~ individuals from these seven countries ~~without~~ under the travel restrictions established by the Executive Order. The Executive Order establishes a process for DHS to devote its full attention to ensuring that those who seek to travel to the United States from these uniquely risky countries, instead of forcing CBP to make critical determinations about national security risks for immigrant and non-immigrant visa holders and refugees from these high risk areas alongside the hundreds of thousands of other travelers who present themselves at airports every day.

10. Indeed, even in the first week of implementing the Executive Order, DHS was able to identify critical gaps that create security vulnerabilities for the United States. These gaps exist in terms of additional data sources that need to be made available to agencies involved in granting immigration benefits to support effective risk assessment, including critical classified information, as well as information from foreign partners to help identify travel to and from conflict zones. This information is not currently available to U.S. immigration agencies.

11. For example, financial information is one of the best means for law enforcement, intelligence, and immigration agencies to identify links between individual applicants for immigration benefits and terrorist networks. Based on lessons learned from the week of implementing the Executive Order, DHS is expanding partnerships with the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (FinCEN) within the Department of Treasury to fully utilize this financial data. This includes developing better mechanisms to allow interface between this information and the DHS immigration benefits screening.

12. Additionally, by implementing the Executive Order, it has become clear to DHS that there is a need to enhance vetting capabilities by expanding coordination with the Federal Bureau of Investigation's (FBI's) National Crime Information Center (NCIC) to ensure that DHS obtains the most up to date information regarding individuals who may pose a risk to the United States.

13. DHS is also investigating ways to expand its use of social media information and intelligence-gathering operations while preserving privacy protections for individuals. Both the American public and foreign travelers from the United States will benefit from safer travel as a result of this cooperation. If the Executive Order cannot continue in effect, both classes of individuals will lose this benefit because this increased cooperation will be developed and implemented without the benefit of travel restrictions to provide additional security in the interim period while these strategies are employed.

14. Implementation of the Executive Order has highlighted the critical importance of increasing the interaction between the immigration agencies and classified intelligence community holdings.

Institutional Efficiencies Lost

15. In the week that the Executive Order has been in effect, DHS, particularly CBP, and its inter-agency partners have gained substantial institutional knowledge and developed significant experience in implementing the terms of the Executive Order efficiently and professionally. For example, DHS has been engaged around the clock since the Executive Order went into effect with its partners within other agencies, including the Departments of State and Justice to ensure that the Executive Order is fully implemented. If the Executive Order ~~is~~ continues to be restrained or enjoined, CBP will irreparably lose this vast institutional knowledge that it has already built and begin anew with its enforcement cooperation strategies when any judicial restrictions on enforcement of the Executive Order are lifted.

16. Education of travelers and private carriers engaged in the travel industry has also been essential to eliminate any confusion surrounding the Executive Order. Over the past week, DHS has provided significant education outreach to air carriers and travelers so that they understand the full effect of the Executive Order. This education effort will be irreparably nullified by the restraining order, as travelers will again be confused if the Executive Order again takes effect following a favorable ruling from the court.

Immigration Process Challenges

17. Given DHS's broad mission, I am also familiar with the general threats the homeland faces from terrorism. The cultivation of home-grown violent extremism and promotion of terrorism by sending money from the United States to foreign terrorist groups are particular concerns. Any ~~immigration~~ immigrant or non-immgrant benefits that are granted to individuals during any time that the Executive Order is enjoined or restrained ~~will~~ could provide permanent benefits to their recipients. For example, a foreign national from Somalia who travels to the United States during this time who has been ~~exposed to or~~ involved in extremism ~~will~~ may make permanent, beneficial contacts in the United States. Contacts in the United States who may be predisposed to extremist beliefs ~~will~~ may also have new and permanent connections outside the United States. Given the substantial risk that these countries present to the United States, once an individual is permitted to enter, there is a risk to American security.

18. The Executive Order bars the entry of individuals from the seven named countries who hold immigrant visas. Yet, once an individual is admitted to the United States on ~~such~~ an immigrant visa, that individual becomes a lawful permanent resident of the United States. ~~There is no mechanism to remove such an individual other than~~If any of those individuals become removable, there is no mechanism to remove such an individual other than full immigration removal proceedings. Those proceedings place the burden on the United States to prove removability for those lawful permanent residents within the United States. This is often extremely difficult for individuals about whom there is classified information but the use of which would substantially risk the sources and methods of collection of that very data.

19. ~~For~~ If any individuals currently outside the United States who hold immigrant visas, ~~are~~who were permitted to enter as lawful permanent residents, and become removable, the subsequent removal proceedings, including any appeals through the Circuit Courts may take [time period].

[redacted]

20. Thus, even if a lawful permanent resident may be placed in removal proceedings, particularly where there is a need to detain such an individual, the United States will bear substantial costs related to the removal and detention processes. Depending on the nature of the charges and the jurisdiction where an individual is detained, moreover, the government may be permitted to detain the individual in its custody throughout the removal proceedings.

21. Even for those individuals who simply enter on a nonimmigrant visa, there are significant concerns with the rate of those who do not depart at the time required by their visas. Individuals who are placed in removal proceedings, where not detained, often do not appear at their immigration hearings.

[redacted]

22. These difficulties are compounded by state and local entity's refusal to cooperate with

(b)(5)

Federal entities seeking to remove individuals. This failure to cooperate with removal efforts leaves the federal government's resources with respect to removal efforts stretched to the limit.

23. Yet, to the extent that the United States is required to permit individuals to enter, it ~~will have no recourse but to~~ may have to expend law enforcement efforts to identify individuals already present, locate those individuals and go through full removal proceedings if the individual were to become removable as an overstay or for some other reason.

(b)(5)

[redacted]

24. The Executive Order is a necessary response to allow DHS and other Federal agencies to respond to unique operational challenges and threats posed by a small number of countries. A stoppage in execution of the Order will irreparably undermine DHS's mission of protecting America's homeland.

Pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1746, I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my information, knowledge, and belief.

Executed on this 5th day of February 2017, in Washington, DC.

Hi Jason,

I just got off a call with CoS Kirstjen Nielsen (as part of a larger call with the political appointees). They asked that I reach out to OGC and request that I be included on calls related to the appeal of the Washington District TRO. I may not need to be on all the calls - just the ones that touch upon USCIS operational issues.

I'm not sure who the OGC POC is for that case. Would it be Nader? Anyway, if you could, please find out and forward on this request to whoever that is.

Thanks,
Craig

Subject: RE: Deliverable Due 2/17--Sec. 4a EO: Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States

Everyone—

As Julie mentions below, FOD was designated to co-lead with FDNS the interview portion of Section 4 (a) Implementing Uniform Screening Standards for All Immigration Programs. The relevant interview portions of Section 4(a) are as follows:

1. The development of a uniform screening standard and procedure, such as in-person interviews;
2. A mechanism to ensure that the applicant is who the applicant claims to be;
3. A process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest;
4. Amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent; and
5. A mechanism to assess whether or not the applicant has the intent to commit criminal or terrorist acts after entering the United States.

I know a lot of work has been done already in various manners that impacts this goal and can be utilized for this task. We would like to convene the process for articulating how the interview process has been and/or can be enhanced (best practices, new policies, new tools/systems, resources, and/or additional questions) to ensure we are using our interviews in the best way to inform our eligibility, credibility and national security/public safety determinations.

Lisette Kvortek will serve as the FOD working group coordinator and will work with the FDNS POC to organize the work. I'd ask that folks self-identify as a responsible party and name a POC representing your office. Since work is due on the 17th, we'd like to get started asap.

Thank you.

Subject: Deliverable Due 2/17--Sec. 4a EO: Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States

Good morning,

Thank you for your work on the deliverables already completed. I appreciate everyone's timely responses.

The next big deliverable we have is in regards to Sec. 4a and 4b of the Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry EO. Proposals related to the items below are due to me by COB Friday, February 17, 2017. FDNS has the overall lead on this deliverable, but there will also be several working groups that may be co-coordinated by other directorates with FDNS. Here is the specific language from the EO:

> "This program will include the development of a uniform screening standard and procedure, such as in-person interviews; a database of identity documents proffered by applicants to ensure that duplicate documents are not used by multiple applicants; amended application forms that include questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent; a mechanism to ensure that the applicant is who the applicant claims to be; a process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest; and a mechanism to assess whether or not the applicant has the intent to commit criminal or terrorist acts after entering the United States."

Because there are a lot of pieces to this section and because the pieces affect different directorates, we will likely need a few working groups to tackle this one. As discussed at the meeting yesterday, these are the proposed working groups:

- Interviews (FOD to co-lead)
- Identity Document Database
- Identity verification
- Form revisions (OP&S proposal attached)
- Immigrant integration (OoC to co-lead)

As of now DHS has not provided a template or format for the proposals (and I'm told one will not be coming this week). Should I receive a template, I will pass it along, but I think for now we can proceed with just writing up the proposal.

The deliverables tracker has been updated on the ECN and now includes all the items and target completion dates that were provided in the DHS Implementation Plan. To summarize some of the upcoming deliverables (Foreign Terrorist Entry EO deliverables should go to me. Steve Duggan is the POC on the Border Security and Enhancing Public Safety in the Interior EOs):

To be clear, we are only holding up where the bene is from one of the 7 and is overseas. We are holding whether they are asylee or refugee follow to joins. As I understand it, we aren't actually approving them but are rather "provisionally" approving them subject to final approval after interview. We should get clarification if the provisional approvals are subject to the hold as well, or if they can continue. Also, I would think denials could proceed but we'll hold all pending further guidance.

And please note that under our current guidance staff can continue to process the I-730s for asylee following to join who are not in the 7 counties. We will of course be reviewing that process just as we review the process for all other benefits as directed under the order, while we continue to process.

I think the issue we still need clarification on is whether that hold for I-730 beneficiaries outside the US would only be for refugee follow-to-joins (all nationalities) and asylee follow-to-joins who are nationals or duals of one of the 7 countries.

I think that is generally right for SCOPS. RAIO, especially IO, would have additional things to hold.

Memorandum

TO: All USCIS Employees

FROM: Lori L. Scialabba Lori Scialabba
Acting Director

SUBJECT: Guidance Concerning Executive Order on Immigration

On January 27, President Trump signed an Executive Order entitled "Protecting The Nation From Foreign Terrorist Entry Into The United States." This memorandum provides guidance from the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) regarding the impact of this Executive Order on various immigration benefit requests.

All USCIS employees should be aware of current guidance from DHS, specifically:

1. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order does not affect USCIS adjudication of applications and petitions filed for or on behalf of individuals in the United States regardless of their country of nationality. Section 3(c) also does not affect applications and petitions by lawful permanent residents outside the United States, or applications and petitions for individuals outside the United States whose approval does not directly confer travel authorization (including any immigrant or nonimmigrant visa petition). This includes, but is not limited to, the matters discussed more specifically in paragraphs 2, 3 and 5 below.

2. Applications to Register Permanent Residence or Adjust Status (Form I-485) may continue to be adjudicated, according to existing policies and procedures, for applicants who are nationals of countries designated in the Executive Order.

3. USCIS will adjudicate Refugee/Asylee Relative Petitions (Form I-730) for all beneficiaries, from any country of nationality, currently in the United States according to existing policies and procedures. Further guidance will be issued with respect to beneficiaries currently outside of the United States.

4. USCIS will continue refugee interviews when the person is a religious minority in his or her country of nationality facing religious persecution. Additionally, USCIS will continue refugee interviews in jurisdictions where there is a preexisting international agreement related to refugee processing. USCIS will not approve a refugee application for an individual who we determine would pose a risk to the security or welfare of the United States.

5. USCIS will continue adjudicating all affirmative asylum cases according to existing policies and procedures.

Questions concerning the information contained in this memorandum may be addressed via your directorate or program office through appropriate supervisory channels.

Subject: EO Tasking on Information for Adjudications--Due COB 2/2
Attachments: Information from Foreign Governments.doc

Attached is the first cut of information we'd want from other countries to assist in our adjudications process based on the conversation we had this afternoon. For this tasking we just need a list that SCO can incorporate into the larger report they are drafting for this deliverable. Because the final report needs to be provided to the WH within 30 days, please provide any comments/edits/additions by COB tomorrow, February 2, 2017.

Thank you,

Hi Kristie,

Attached are 2 letters that we have received addressed to AD1 regarding the EO. The Department has received several letters addressed to S1 as well and they all have been assigned to OGC.
CBP has received similar letters.

We cannot respond to the letters addressed to AD1 until we receive language from the Department. DHS is preparing a template letter for these Congressional letters that once approved, we can use.

At this time we are "holding" for the language.

Dear Director Scialabba,

It has come to my attention that several individuals with visas and some with Lawful Permanent Resident (LPR) status have been detained at Newark Liberty International Airport and being denied entry into the United States as a result of the Executive Order issued by President Trump on January 27, 2016. In order to assist my constituents and better understand the implementation of this Executive Order and the scope of issues affecting my constituents, I would like to kindly request the following information from USCIS:

Any and all guidance, directives, and/or policies from the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) regarding the implementation of Executive Order "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Entry into the United States by Foreign Nationals" and how it is being interpreted and implemented on current visa holders seeking entry into the United States, visa applicants, LPRs, dual citizens, United States citizens and to any other individuals from the seven designated countries in the Executive Order applying for or renewing any of the immigration benefits listed above or any other immigration benefit.

Understanding the implementation of this Executive Order and the scope of the pressing issues affecting my constituents will help my office identify ways to assist them.

Thank you for your consideration.

Field leadership,

Just wanted to give you a heads-up on instructions you may need to begin implementing on Monday. In light of the language in Friday's Executive Order, we may need to put a hold on decision-making for asylum cases from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya. We may also be asked to postpone any scheduled interviews.

On Monday morning, you should plan on preventing any decision document from being issued in person or by mail to a national of any of the above countries unless or until you are instructed otherwise.

You should also review you list of upcoming interviews and be preparing to cancel any scheduled interviews for persons from one of the listed countries. DO NOT cancel any interviews, however, until you receive instructions from HQ on how to proceed. Hopefully, we will have more guidance on the interviews by Monday morning.

Please let Ted and I know if you have any questions.

Thanks!

John

A literal reading of the EO and cited INA sections would not indicate that this processing suspension applies to the processing of asylum applications, but I understand why it might be wise to cancel interviews and place on hold cases from the relevant countries while we await additional guidance. Unless you want us to hold off, I will issue such guidance by e-mail today.

FYI.

I think we also need guidance on how this applies to asylum. May want to cancel interviews and place in hold asylum applicants from these countries.

I am hoping we can work with the front office to get a memo to all USCIS staff to be issued Monday.

Center Directors and Deputies,

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

While we await further guidance, we must temporarily suspend adjudication of all applications, petitions or requests involving citizens or nationals of the listed countries. At this point there are no exceptions for any form types, to include I-90s or I-765s. Please physically segregate any files that are impacted by this temporary hold pending further guidance. As you would expect, we will be developing a weekly report format for you to identify the number and types of cases on hold.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures in the coming days.

Please ensure this guidance is conveyed as soon as possible to all appropriate employees and get back to us with any questions. Also, please reply to let me know each center has received this message.

Thanks,

Don

Everyone,

As of the moment, the instructions I sent out yesterday stay in place until we get further instruction from agency/department leadership. As you can see from the below chain, Joanna has notified leadership of our present instructions and is seeking further guidance.

Given what is happening at the airports, I understand that some additional guidance is needed on CF/RF processing. CF/RF screenings should continue for anyone who is placed into ER and is referred to us after making a fear claim, or anyone subject to reinstatement or admin removal order who is referred to us after making a fear claim. We confer no benefit in the screening process, so our work in these areas should continue unless/until we are instructed otherwise.

Please feel free to continue to submit any questions that you may have.

Jessica,

Attached please find a preliminary list of implementation issues for RAIO. These are ones that are most time sensitive, in that we need to get guidance out to the field as soon as possible – by Sunday evening, if possible.

This does not include the most urgent issue regarding the list of individuals State is requesting to exempt so they can travel, which is being worked separately.

Let me know if you have questions. Also including content in the message in case that is helpful for those on phones.

Thanks,

RAIO Time Sensitive Questions on the Executive Order

Refugee Processing – what can continue?

For reference - current circuit rides:

1. Cape Town, South Africa (total number of cases is 166) – deployed through February 3:
   a. 92% nationality is Somali – Claims are mostly based on religious beliefs (different interpretations of Islam than Al Shabaab)
   b. 8% nationality is Democratic Republic of Congo – Claims are nationality claims based on tribe.
2. Indonesia (total number of cases is 130) – deployed through February 10:
   a. 95% nationality is Burmese – religious minority Rohingya population
   b. 5% nationality is Afghan – No claim info available
3. Vienna (RAD CR – one officer is currently onsite processing cases) – deployed through February 24:
   a. 100% from Iran – claims are religious persecution as either Assyrian/Armenian Christians or Bahai
   b. Note that these cases must obtain special visas to enter Austria and can only remain in Vienna for a very limited amount of time.

Urgent time-sensitive questions (need answers by Sunday evening, if possible):

1. Can the officer in Vienna resume interview on Monday? In light of the "notwithstanding" language at Sec. 5(e), we propose that he continue w/interviews as planned.

   In particular, that section says that the USRAP can use discretion to admit refugees during the 120-day suspension "when admitting the person would enable the United States to conform its conduct to a preexisting international agreement..." We have such an agreement w/Austria. What we are proposing is not actually ADMISSIONS, however, but continuing w/RAD interviews, which seems in keeping with the intent and spirit of this provision. Since these applicants are Iranian religious minorities, we believe that their future admission would need to be assessed under the 90-day rule in Sec. 3.

2. Can we continue interviewing in Indonesia? We recommend that we continue, at least for the Rohingya population. PRM's guidance to RSC's is to continue processing around the world and just to cancel travel for the affected population, and we are working with them on determining best course of action for this caseload.

3. Should we continue interviews in South Africa? We think it would not be the best use of resources to continue to interview this population and intend to move forward to curtail those interviews. We are consulting with PRM.

4. Should we continue interviews in Moscow? We have Lautenberg interviews scheduled in Moscow all week. This includes P1s and Lautenberg (largely Ukrainian religious minorities traveling in from the Ukraine for their interviews). Some of the P-1s travel in from remote areas. Our proposed plan:

   Where someone may already be in transit, we intend to continue with the interview if the individual was a Lautenberg or other religious minority, even though we are all still awaiting guidance on how the religious minority exception may be defined. For those other P1s, we intend to collect prints and inform them of the suspension, but not conduct an interview. We don't want to continue interviewing if we may have to do reinterviews later based on a new or amended approach to processing.

5. We believe we have P-1s also scheduled in New Delhi. Would follow same approach as above.

Less Urgent:

6. Should we resume planning scheduling CR for Nauru (originally planned for Feb. 5-6, but suspended). We believe this falls under the "preexisting international agreement" provision is the USG agreement w/Australia concerning Nauru. State believes that having visible evidence of progress is important to both the Australian gov't and to the refugees, whose hopelessness has led to violence, self-harm, non-compliance, etc.

Asylum Processing:

1. Does the suspension apply to processing affirmative asylum applications filed by individuals from the countries on the list?

   - We have notified field leadership that they should arrange to stop any decision-issuance to asylum applicants from the listed countries until they are instructed otherwise.
   - We have told them to review their upcoming schedules and prepare to cancel any interviews for nationals from the listed countries. They were told not to actually begin cancelling the interviews until they received further guidance from HQ.

Refugee Travel Documents:

Should USCIS continue to issue refugee travel documents (domestically and abroad) to those not on the list? IO currently has a number of pending requests for refugee documents and the vast majority are Iraqi and the individuals are currently in Iraq. Will issue guidance to suspend processing those on the list, but what about the others?

TRIG:

Should we tell staff to hold off on approving cases for existing TRIG exemptions while all exemptions are being reviewed for possible rescission?

I-730's Processed Abroad:

1. Can USCIS continue to process following-to-join (I-730) applications for asylee family members from countries not on the list (e.g., China)? State's guidance to consular officers is to continue processing those. We have not issued any yet.
2. If we issued a travel document to a refugee FTJ or an asylee FTJ from one of the 7 countries before the 1/27/17 E.O. and the beneficiary hasn't traveled yet, should we try to get the travel document or packet back?

All,

State/PRM, RAD, and IO spoke this evening to coordinate and determine next steps with respect to refugee processing. Latest we've heard is that the EO will be signed tomorrow, so we still don't have final language which will be key in determining handling of on-going CRs in Cape Town and Indonesia (RAD also has a circuit rider interviewing Lautenbergs in Vienna now), and refugee processing in our field offices. The final EO language will also help inform processing of Lautenbergs in MOS, and other religious minorities (including Rohingya in Indonesia). We need to continue to interview refugee cases until told otherwise.

In the meantime, though, we are cancelling all CRs scheduled to depart between now and February 15, consistent with RAD. This includes the fingerprinting CR to Malta that departs Monday. PRM has notified their RSCs of these cancellations.

RAD, IO and PRM will have a standing daily meeting for the foreseeable future to coordinate, as needed.

More info and guidance to follow when available. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Maura

All,

FYI that RAD is suspending CRs through February 15 in light of the Executive Order that is expected tomorrow and which will affect refugee processing. We will be awaiting implementing guidance from DHS once the order is signed and can then assess what action we may need to take on our 2 currently deployed CRs and those scheduled for departure in February. We'll also then get a sense of how our I-730 caseloads will be affected.

I'm sure you've seen drafts online of the executive order as well as much press about what's likely coming, but we don't know what, if anything, of what's been reported may get changed in the final hours before the EO is signed.

FYI,

Maura

Dear RAD staff – I know that many of you have seen draft copies of an Executive Order related to the USRAP that is expected to be finalized and signed tomorrow. In light of this anticipated announcement, we've determined that it would be prudent to suspend circuit rides that are scheduled to depart between now and February 15.

We are also suspending the remaining PDBs planned for this week.

For our TDYers who are here in DC, we will be sharing information as soon as possible about travel arrangements for returning to home offices.

I hope to share more information tomorrow.

All,

This evening, the EO affecting refugee processing was signed, however we have not yet seen the final text. We believe we will need to stop processing refugees on Monday – I should know more and will confirm later this weekend. DHS is aware of our 2 on-going CRs as well as RAD's in Vienna, and I hope to soon let you know whether we'll need to have our travelers curtail. We are also seeking guidance from DHS on Lautenberg processing in MOS and whether that will be able to continue.

In the meantime, please have your offices cancel all travel document pick-ups for I-730s (both refugee and asylee FTJs) for the next week. That will give us some time to get direction from DHS on the impact that today's EO will have on I-730 processing. We will also coordinate with State early next week on steps taken with respect to that caseload.

It will take some time to get the DHS implementing guidance for the EO, so I appreciate your patience while we sort out precisely what the impact of the EO will be. I will be sure to share any information with you as I can – and please do not hesitate to pose questions so that I can ensure we get the answers you need.

Thanks,

Maura

All,

State/PRM, RAD, and IO spoke this evening to coordinate and determine next steps with respect to refugee processing. Latest we've heard is that the EO will be signed tomorrow, so we still don't have final language which will be key in determining handling of on-going CRs in Cape Town and Indonesia (RAD also has a circuit rider interviewing Lautenbergs in Vienna now), and refugee processing in our field offices. The final EO language will also help inform processing of Lautenbergs in MOS, and other religious minorities (including Rohingya in Indonesia). We need to continue to interview refugee cases until told otherwise.

In the meantime, though, we are cancelling all CRs scheduled to depart between now and February 15, consistent with RAD. This includes the fingerprinting CR to Malta that departs Monday. PRM has notified their RSCs of these cancellations.

RAD, IO and PRM will have a standing daily meeting for the foreseeable future to coordinate, as needed.

Thanks,

Maura

See below. This relates to the refugee Executive Order. As noted, it was signed, but HQ/IO has not yet seen it. Of immediate priority is that we are cancelling both refugee and I-730 interviews (both refugee and asylee FTJ), as well as the pick of travel packets by I-730 applicants. While Maura's email mentions cancelling I-730 travel package pickups, but does not mention cancelling interviews, in a separate reply to an inquiry from EMEA she indicates that for now interviews should also be cancelled.

More to follow as info becomes available.

Hi Don,

As you saw from my other email, there is no corporate decision on the CRs yet. We are going to continue to stay the course and will be revisiting the CR in Cape Town and Indonesia on Monday.

In the meantime, for the Indonesia CR, I've raised with PRM the possibility of prioritizing interviews of Rohingya cases. Margaret Burkhart will help to coordinate this and will check to see if this is possible without causing undue anxiety among the other applicants. If you or Greg can reach out to her to coordinate, that would be great.

On a separate note, I'm attaching here for your awareness a message PRM sent to its RSCs. Note the last line:

In the meantime, RSCs should not/not cancel any other processing activities (short of traveling scheduling and departure) until further guidance is issued from PRM.

PRM is aware of what we are proposing as guidance for MOS, as well as what's happening with our CRs, so I think we are in synch.

Don, do you have refugee interviews scheduled this week in NDI?

Just curious. Were there any further discussions today (your time) regarding interviewing on Monday. If not, any corporate decision made on Sunday won't be delivered until Monday morning Indonesia time. Then we'll have to make it up as we go along.

Right now there's no plan to stop interviewing on Monday unless that instruction comes from HQ.

Field managers,

I wanted to make you aware of the statement made by Secretary Kelly earlier today with respect to LPRs re-entering the United States. Consistent with S1's directive, all field offices should continue to process I-131A applications filed by LPRs overseas, regardless of the nationality of the applicant. To confirm, I-131As filed by LPRs who are nationals or dual nationals of the 7 countries outlined in the Executive Order signed on January 27 (Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, and Yemen), should continue to be adjudicated and travel documents issued per existing guidance.

Additional guidance related to the issuance of that E.O. will be forthcoming. Thanks for your patience – I know you have a number of questions, and we will work as quickly as we can with others in USCIS and the Department to clarify them.

Thanks,

DDs/DDDs,

I realize that you have many questions about the Executive Order and appreciate that you have been sending them forward. Please continue to do so. Unfortunately, things remain in flux and we do not have cleared guidance we can provide other than the following for the next few days or less (if we get additional guidance sooner):

- Do not issue any final approvals for any I-730 refugee following to join cases. Further guidance will be coming about how to update CAMINO, etc.
- Do not issue any final approvals for any other application, including I-730 asylee following to join adjudication and travel eligibility cases for nationals or dual nationals of the 7 countries referenced in the Executive Order (Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, and Yemen), with the exception of I-131As (see attached email). You can approve I-131As for all applicants following existing guidance, which requires that you flag for HQ any with serious derogatory information for possible discretionary denials. Further guidance will be coming.
- If you have refugee cases scheduled for Monday or Tuesday of this week, please cancel them if there is sufficient time to do so. If there is not sufficient time to cancel, then please collect the applicant's biometrics, review his or her bio-data for accuracy and completeness, and inform the applicant that he/she will be notified when the case is able to proceed in the future.

Right now, we are staying the course on the refugee CR in Indonesia; the team on the ground can continue interviewing and processing the cases there until further notice.

The above guidance is only a stop-gap to assist in addressing the most urgent needs for the next couple of days when more detailed cleared guidance can be issued. Also, for awareness, OCOMM is working on talking points and FAQs related to the Executive Order, which should be issued via USCIS Broadcast soon.

I appreciate the difficulty of being on the front line and getting inquiries from the public and others for which we don't yet have complete answers. Many people throughout the Agency and Department are working hard to sort out the impact of the E.O. on the Agency, and I will continue to keep you posted.

Thank you for your continued patience as we navigate the current policy changes.

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and Effectively immediately and until additional guidance is received, you may not take final action on any petition or application where the applicant is a citizen or national of Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya. Field offices may interview applicants for adjustment of status and other benefits according to current processing guidance and may process petitions and applications for individuals from these countries up to the point where a decision would be made. At that point, cases shall be placed on hold until further notice and will be shelved with specific NFTS codes which will be provided through the Regional Offices. Offices are not permitted make any final decision on affected cases to include approval, denial, withdrawal, or revocation.

Subject: Executive Order and Refugee Processing

RAIO Colleagues,

As you know, last week we made the decision to temporarily suspend departures for both the Refugee Affairs Division (RAD) and International Operations (IO) circuit rides until February 15. We also temporarily suspended refugee interviews at all international field offices. Following further consultations with the Department of State Bureau for Population, Refugees and Migration (PRM), we have jointly decided that the remaining 2nd quarter circuit ride and USCIS international field office interview schedule will be completely revised. PRM is instructing the Refugee Support Centers to cancel this quarter's USCIS circuit rides and field office interviews at this time.

RAIO will be working with PRM in coming weeks and months to discuss when circuit rides and field office interviews will resume and to identify any interviews that will be needed to reach this year's revised goal of 50,000 admissions, as well as the FY18 ceiling, which has not yet been determined. At this time, we do not have any information to share on 3rd and 4th quarter circuit rides or field office processing, but we will continue to share additional information as it becomes available.

I would like to encourage you to review the RAIO ECN site that we have begun building to share information with you, as well as to provide a space for questions and collaboration:

2017 Executive Orders

You will find there a place where you may submit questions anonymously. Or, you can identify yourself in case we want to get back to you with any follow up questions to clarify your question. While the site tracks number of "responses," that actually means number of questions. It may take a bit of time, but once we have a number of questions, we will work on posting the questions and responses. Also, something to watch for in the coming weeks is that we will be seeking your views on certain implementation issues through the feedback section of that ECN site (such as additional information it would be helpful to know when processing a benefit request).

Thank you for your support, flexibility and patience.

Subject: Executive Order Updates and Refugee Processing

RAIO Colleagues,

As stated in the USCIS Broadcast, U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services has suspended any and all actions implementing the affected sections of the Executive Order entitled, "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States" (January 27, 2017) (these affected sections are Sections 3(c), Section 5(a), Section 5(b), Section 5 (c) and Section 5 (e) to the extent that it purports to prioritize refugee claims of certain religious minorities).

USCIS has resumed approving refugee cases that are otherwise eligible for refugee resettlement. The travel schedule of these approved cases will be determined by the Department of State so as not to exceed the refugee ceiling set by the current Administration. At this time, USCIS generally will not be regularly conducting refugee interviews in international field offices, or deploying additional circuit rides this quarter other than select, previously scheduled circuit rides. USCIS will coordinate other possible interviews, including urgent humanitarian protection cases, at the request of the Department of State. The previously organized trainings for credible fear will move forward as scheduled.

USCIS, including RAIO headquarters staff, is participating in intra and inter-agency working groups established to implement the Executive Order and field input will be sought as appropriate.

Many of you have expressed interesting in learning more about the ongoing litigation relating to the Executive Order Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States. Oral arguments on whether or not to lift the temporary restraining order took place yesterday before the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals. You can listen to a recording of the oral arguments and find information about the litigation on the 9th Circuit's website:

https://www.ca9.uscourts.gov/content/view.php?pk_id=0000000860

Information about the Executive Orders that impact USCIS can be found on USCIS Connect:

http://connect.uscis.dhs.gov/org/CL/Pages/Presidential-Actions.aspx

And information more specific to RAIO can be found on the RAIO ECN (this site is still a work in process):

http://ecn.uscis.dhs.gov/team/fod/ImplementEO/SitePages/Home.aspx

Finally, I would like to apologize for confusion that arose when all RAIO staff were scheduled for a Town Hall. That was based on a miscommunication error on my part. I had requested an all hands meeting for "Directorate staff," meaning the RAIO Program Chiefs and their staff. In my capacity as acting A/D for RAIO, I plan on holding monthly meetings with my team, just as Maura and I hold monthly all hands meetings with IO HQ staff. This was understood to mean all RAIO staff. Then the cancelation led to some rumors of some other motive. It was pure miscommunication. I am trying hard to get ahead of all rumors and stop them as soon as I hear them. There also has been a bit of miscommunication about a potential Town Hall with Lori Scialabba. We are working to clarify plans with the front office and will provide more info shortly. Things are moving fast and furious here at HQ, so I appreciate everyone's patience when communication mistakes are made. We are truly acting with the best of intentions.

Desk Officers,

Per Barbara's email, you should start working on canceling all arrangements for the CRs, including plane reservations, hotel reservations, etc. Ross will be notifying all TDYers and their Directors of the postponement, and that they will be responsible for canceling any layover reservations/plans themselves. I have informed Miya and she will be informing the rest of the Travel Office, and CI Travel, so that everyone has the heads up about the influx of calls and cancelations. Once Ross has notified travelers, you can send out an email to all team members with any further instructions, as needed.

For anyone that has TDYers in DC now for PDB, they should make arrangements to travel home tomorrow, which will be the official travel day. Should there be any issues with that, they can contact Ross.

PRM will notify their own staff, domestically and internationally, including RSCs and UNHCR. You should also notify any non-DOS/PRM Embassy Partners that you have worked directly with this quarter.

Support Staff, please reach out to the Desk Officers that you are working with so that you can determine how to best assist them in making all of these changes.

I think that is it for now. Please let me know if you can think of any other issues or concerns.

I know this is a challenging time and we really appreciate your efforts.

Hang in there!

Subject: circuit ride update

Dear RAD staff – I know that many of you have seen draft copies of an Executive Order related to the USRAP that is expected to be finalized and signed tomorrow. In light of this anticipated announcement, we've determined that it would be prudent to suspend circuit rides that are scheduled to depart between now and February 15.

We are also suspending the remaining PDBs planned for this week.

For our TDYers who are here in DC, we will be sharing information as soon as possible about travel arrangements for returning to home offices.

I hope to share more information tomorrow.

Subject: Rumors on changes in USRAP by new administration

All,

I wanted to touch base as I have received several inquiries on ROs being informed of USRAP policy changes before HQ, etc. I understand that there are rumors around about reductions in admissions goals/ceiling, the impact on Syrians, etc. Please know that we do not have any information at this point and as soon as we hear anything, we will pass it along. I know the waiting is challenging, and we are all anxiously awaiting hearing any news on the subject. I would like to ask that you avoid spreading the rumors, rushing to conclusions, and speculating -- there is no official order or direction yet.

Thanks for all of your hard work, especially during these weeks while preparing everyone to travel—and for some of you, preparing to travel yourselves.

Hi Richard, I hope you are doing well.

I wanted to update you on the status of RAD Circuit Rides. They are currently suspended between now and Feb 15th—see Barbara's email attached. For your awareness, and as I understand it, International Operations has not yet made a decision on their Circuit Rides.

I will keep you informed of any other changes.

As always, thanks for your support.

Serra,

There is no decision on Q3 CRs right now. I am not involved in FACT/SOS so please direct the TDYers to Valerie and/or Erin.

Thanks,

Sonia

Subject: Executive Order and Refugee Processing

RAIO Colleagues,

As you know, last week we made the decision to temporarily suspend departures for both the Refugee Affairs Division (RAD) and International Operations (IO) circuit rides until February 15. We also temporarily suspended refugee interviews at all international field offices. Following further consultations with the Department of State Bureau for Population, Refugees and Migration (PRM), we have jointly decided that the remaining 2nd quarter circuit ride and USCIS international field office interview schedule will be completely revised. PRM is instructing the Refugee Support Centers to cancel this quarter's USCIS circuit rides and field office interviews at this time.

RAIO will be working with PRM in coming weeks and months to discuss when circuit rides and field office interviews will resume and to identify any interviews that will be needed to reach this year's revised goal of 50,000 admissions, as well as the FY18 ceiling, which has not yet been determined. At this time, we do not have any information to share on 3rd and 4th quarter circuit rides or field office processing, but we will continue to share additional information as it becomes available.

I would like to encourage you to review the RAIO ECN site that we have begun building to share information with you, as well as to provide a space for questions and collaboration:

2017 Executive Orders

You will find there a place where you may submit questions anonymously. Or, you can identify yourself in case we want to get back to you with any follow up questions to clarify your question. While the site tracks number of "responses," that actually means number of questions. It may take a bit of time, but once we have a number of questions, we will work on posting the questions and responses. Also, something to watch for in the coming weeks is that we will be seeking your views on certain implementation issues through the feedback section of that ECN site (such as additional information it would be helpful to know when processing a benefit request).

Thank you for your support, flexibility and patience.

Subject: FW: Transition issues and hiring freeze

Dear RAD Staff – I wanted to follow up on Joanna's message from yesterday evening. I understand that there were – not surprisingly – many questions at today's Refugee Corps meeting, and there are a number of rumors being exchanged through various professional networks about the future of the USRAP.

- First, I can tell you that we – RAD/RAIO – have not been informed of any changes to the USRAP through official channels. Based on conversations with PRM today, we do not believe that PRM has been officially informed of any changes. If and when RAD receives such information, we will share it with you promptly.
- Since Joanna wrote her email yesterday evening, USCIS did obtain a copy of the hiring freeze memo that was reported by the media yesterday. However, there are still a number of questions about how this new policy affects USCIS. The Management Directorate is seeking information on this and will be providing additional guidance as soon as it is received. RAD branch chiefs have been collecting your questions, we will pass them up the chain, and we will do our best to get answers back.

Please know, across the board, that as soon as we have any information we will share it with you. It's the nature of a transition to a new Administration that there will be changes, and that it will take some time to sort out all of the issues that are of significance to us at USCIS and at RAIO. In the meantime, thank you for your continued dedication to our shared mission.

Subject: Transition issues and hiring freeze

RAIO Staff,

On this first business day of the new administration, I realize many of you have many questions about what changes will be implemented. While I am serving as Acting Associate Director, I will do my best to share information with you as soon as I know and have permission to share. It is still quite early, so I simply do not have much information at this time. What I do know is the following:

- Hiring Freeze and Pay Freeze: There have been reports about a federal hiring freeze and a pay freeze. The USCIS Management Directorate is seeking information on this and will be providing information as it is received. I realize there are many questions about what this means. Please hold off on sending questions to HROC at this time, as we simply do not yet have answers. If something is urgent, feel free to send it up via chain of command to me so that I can be sure that the Management Directorate is aware.
- USCIS Transition Team. A broadcast will be coming out shortly with information about the Beachhead Transition Team and who is on it. Please keep your eyes out for that.
- RAIO Leadership. We still do not know how long Jennifer Higgins will be on detail to the Department, but I will let you know as soon as we know when she will be coming back.

I know that times of transition can bring about anxiety and lead to many questions. In particular, we at HQ are going to be spending time preparing and delivering briefings to the new team, and that could also create delays in getting out guidance to the field. In some cases, we also need to wait for direction from the new administration before completing guidance in the works.

I appreciate everyone's patience as together we learn more about changes associated with this transition.

While Jennifer Higgins remains on detail to the Department, I will do my best to stand in her shoes to provide you the support you need to continue to do the meaningful work you do every day.

Hi Daisy,
Today we found out via the draft Executive Order on Immigration and Refugees that refugee admissions will be temporarily suspended. That means that the CAM circuit ride is cancelled until further notice and the Pre-Departure training has been called off so you don't need to dial in tomorrow. We all put a lot of work into this circuit ride already so it's unfortunate. I hope you can interview with RAD in the future. Ross will be sending an email to your Director as well.

Thank you,

Marta

Subject: Executive Order and Refugee Processing

RAIO Colleagues,

As you know, last week we made the decision to temporarily suspend departures for both the Refugee Affairs Division (RAD) and International Operations (IO) circuit rides until February 15. We also temporarily suspended refugee interviews at all international field offices. Following further consultations with the Department of State Bureau for Population, Refugees and Migration (PRM), we have jointly decided that the remaining 2nd quarter circuit ride and USCIS international field office interview schedule will be completely revised. PRM is instructing the Refugee Support Centers to cancel this quarter's USCIS circuit rides and field office interviews at this time.

RAIO will be working with PRM in coming weeks and months to discuss when circuit rides and field office interviews will resume and to identify any interviews that will be needed to reach this year's revised goal of 50,000 admissions, as well as the FY18 ceiling, which has not yet been determined. At this time, we do not have any information to share on 3rd and 4th quarter circuit rides or field office processing, but we will continue to share additional information as it becomes available.

I would like to encourage you to review the RAIO ECN site that we have begun building to share information with you, as well as to provide a space for questions and collaboration:

2017 Executive Orders

You will find there a place where you may submit questions anonymously. Or, you can identify yourself in case we want to get back to you with any follow up questions to clarify your question. While the site tracks number of "responses," that actually means number of questions. It may take a bit of time, but once we have a number of questions, we will work on posting the questions and responses. Also, something to watch for in the coming weeks is that we will be seeking your views on certain implementation issues through the feedback section of that ECN site (such as additional information it would be helpful to know when processing a benefit request).

Thank you for your support, flexibility and patience.

Q2 Africa team members,

Please see the attached document compiled by RAIO Travel with additional information regarding your trip cancellation, including how to handle vouchering and travel authorizations. Please review the document carefully as your action is required on several items which have specific due dates.

In addition, here is some additional information from us on the Desk:

1. If I am currently in possession of your official passport (all of Burundi Team 2 and most of the Tanzania team), I will return it to RAIO Travel. We will retain your completed visa applications in case there is a need for them in the future.
2. We are going to ask you to return any borrowed equipment to our property custodians either by dropping it off in person (if you're local) or by mailing it if you've taken the equipment back to your home duty station already. We'll have more instructions on this soon, so please stand by for a follow-up email.

Let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Thanks!

Good afternoon,

DHS PLCY has requested USCIS review and provide clearance on EO13769 deliverables by the DHS Vetting Board.

Background:

1. EO 13769 Section 3(b) requires Secretary DHS, in consultation with Department of State and ODNI to:
   a. Conduct a review to determine the information needed from any country to adjudicate any visa, admission, or other benefit under the [Immigration and Nationality Act (INA)] in order to determine that the individual seeking the benefit is
      - who the individual claims to be, and
      - is not a "security" or "public-safety threat"
   b. Submit a report on the results of the above review including:
      - S1's determination of the information needed for adjudications
      - A list of countries that do not provide adequate information.

2. EO 13769 Section 3(h) requires Secretaries of DHS and State to produce a report on the progress of implementing Section 3 of the Order. Progress reports are due at 30 (27 February), 60, 90 and 120 days from the date of the Order.
3. EO 13769 Section 4 requires State, DHS, ODNI and the FBI to implement a uniform screening (vetting) program, and DHS/State to provide progress reports at 60, 100 and 200 days.

FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION: Comment on the two (2) draft EO reports.

Desk Officers,

Thanks for time and effort yesterday and today in ensuring that all of the changes go smoothly. I spoke to Miya and RAIO Travel will be sending out some guidance to you all to forward to your teams. It will include information about cancellation fees, vaccinations, travel orders, etc. We can expect that sometime later today.

Have there been any issues with canceling eCCs?

If there are any other pending questions or issues, please let me know.

Thanks!

Hi Sonia and Ross,

CI Travel is in the process of modifying the return flights for those TDYers who are in DC for training to limit the call volume and wait time. Therefore, if the traveler has not already called, their flights will be modified by CI Travel and they should receive an email of their new itinerary.

In addition, I wanted to recap the following action items that need to occur ASAP by the respective personnel for the Circuit Rides.

1) Cancel ALL international ticketed flights (Desks/CI Travel).
   Note: Instruct Travelers to contact the airline and seek a refund for any prepaid seating upgrade expenses.

2) Cancel TDY Location and Layover Accommodations (Desk/ CI Travel/Employee-if booked directly with the hotel)
3) Cancel ALL Country Clearances (RAIO Travel)
4) Return Passports to RAIO Travel for safe keeping (Employees)
5) Amend Travel Authorization(s) (RAIO Travel)
6) Adjust Credit Limits back to normal amounts (RAIO Travel/USCIS Travel Card-FOB)

Let me know if you have any immediate questions or concerns.

Dear RAD staff – I know that many of you have seen draft copies of an Executive Order related to the USRAP that is expected to be finalized and signed tomorrow. In light of this anticipated announcement, we've determined that it would be prudent to suspend circuit rides that are scheduled to depart between now and February 15.

We are also suspending the remaining PDBs planned for this week.

For our TDYers who are here in DC, we will be sharing information as soon as possible about travel arrangements for returning to home offices.

I hope to share more information tomorrow.

Subject: Executive Order and Refugee Processing

RAIO Colleagues,

As you know, last week we made the decision to temporarily suspend departures for both the Refugee Affairs Division (RAD) and International Operations (IO) circuit rides until February 15. We also temporarily suspended refugee interviews at all international field offices. Following further consultations with the Department of State Bureau for Population, Refugees and Migration (PRM), we have jointly decided that the remaining 2nd quarter circuit ride and USCIS international field office interview schedule will be completely revised. PRM is instructing the Refugee Support Centers to cancel this quarter's USCIS circuit rides and field office interviews at this time.

RAIO will be working with PRM in coming weeks and months to discuss when circuit rides and field office interviews will resume and to identify any interviews that will be needed to reach this year's revised goal of 50,000 admissions, as well as the FY18 ceiling, which has not yet been determined. At this time, we do not have any information to share on 3rd and 4th quarter circuit rides or field office processing, but we will continue to share additional information as it becomes available.

I would like to encourage you to review the RAIO ECN site that we have begun building to share information with you, as well as to provide a space for questions and collaboration:

2017 Executive Orders

You will find there a place where you may submit questions anonymously. Or, you can identify yourself in case we want to get back to you with any follow up questions to clarify your question. While the site tracks number of "responses," that actually means number of questions. It may take a bit of time, but once we have a number of questions, we will work on posting the questions and responses. Also, something to watch for in the coming weeks is that we will be seeking your views on certain implementation issues through the feedback section of that ECN site (such as additional information it would be helpful to know when processing a benefit request).

Thank you for your support, flexibility and patience.

EMEA Staff,

Please see the information below we just received this morning regarding refugee circuit rides. We wanted to be sure you have the most recent information right away.

At this time, we in IO are not being asked to cancel circuit rides that are currently deployed and we are not being asked to cease planning circuit rides that are scheduled to deploy. We will be discussing the situation with Maura today and will certainly keep you updated if that changes.

If you have any questions, please reach out to me and Joe.

Thank you,

All,

FYI that RAD is suspending CRs through February 15 in light of the Executive Order that is expected tomorrow and which will affect refugee processing. We will be awaiting implementing guidance from DHS once the order is signed and can then assess what action we may need to take on our 2 currently deployed CRs and those scheduled for departure in February. We'll also then get a sense of how our I-730 caseloads will be affected.

I'm sure you've seen drafts online of the executive order as well as much press about what's likely coming, but we don't know what, if anything, of what's been reported may get changed in the final hours before the EO is signed.

FYI,

Maura

Dear RAD staff – I know that many of you have seen draft copies of an Executive Order related to the USRAP that is expected to be finalized and signed tomorrow. In light of this anticipated announcement, we've determined that it would be prudent to suspend circuit rides that are scheduled to depart between now and February 15.

We are also suspending the remaining PDBs planned for this week.

For our TDYers who are here in DC, we will be sharing information as soon as possible about travel arrangements for returning to home offices.

I hope to share more information tomorrow.

Hi Serra,

IO circuit rides, including Tel Aviv, are officially still on. Please don't have the team cancel flights and other arrangements yet. As soon as I have more information, I will let you know so that you know how to proceed. IO is planning to discuss this issue today, so we're hoping to be able to get you an update quickly.

Thanks,

EMEA Staff,

Please see the information below we just received this morning regarding refugee circuit rides. We wanted to be sure you have the most recent information right away.

At this time, we in IO are not being asked to cancel circuit rides that are currently deployed and we are not being asked to cease planning circuit rides that are scheduled to deploy. We will be discussing the situation with Maura today and will certainly keep you updated if that changes.

If you have any questions, please reach out to me and Joe.

Thank you,

The only other communication I have received was the email from Michael Fattizzi on Wednesday 1/25/17, which indicates that the circuit rides were going to be postponed. I am assuming from your email that they are in fact, cancelled, not just postponed. Can you confirm for me so that I can update my management?

Will there be instructions forthcoming about what to do with the government iPhones we were issued in December?

From HQ. It looks like we shouldn't work cases from the 7 countries during this visit. Bill

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

While we await further guidance, we must temporarily suspend adjudication of all applications, petitions or requests involving citizens or nationals of the listed countries. At this point there are no exceptions for any form types, to include I-90s or I-765s. Please physically segregate any files that are impacted by this temporary hold pending further guidance. As you would expect, we will be developing a weekly report format for you to identify the number and types of cases on hold.

Reena,
Can you please advise me if based on this attached memo asylum offices can continue to adjudicate applications filed for suspension of deportation and cancellation of removal under NACARA 203?

In the first enumerated paragraph, the first sentence indicates that the E.O. "does not affect USCIS adjudications of applications and petitions filed for or on behalf of individuals in the United States [...]"

As the I-881 if filed by persons who claim eligibility for NACARA 203, I'm not sure that it falls under the category of "applications [...] filed for or on behalf of individuals in the United States."

The last sentence of first paragraph ("this includes, but is not limited to [...]") does not clarify the question as it isn't clear to what "this" refers.

I need to advise all offices as soon as possible. Thank you for your help.

Memorandum

TO: All USCIS Employees

FROM: Lori L. Scialabba Lori Scialabba
Acting Director

SUBJECT: Guidance Concerning Executive Order on Immigration

On January 27, President Trump signed an Executive Order entitled "Protecting The Nation From Foreign Terrorist Entry Into The United States." This memorandum provides guidance from the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) regarding the impact of this Executive Order on various immigration benefit requests.

All USCIS employees should be aware of current guidance from DHS, specifically:

1. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order does not affect USCIS adjudication of applications and petitions filed for or on behalf of individuals in the United States regardless of their country of nationality. Section 3(c) also does not affect applications and petitions by lawful permanent residents outside the United States, or applications and petitions for individuals outside the United States whose approval does not directly confer travel authorization (including any immigrant or nonimmigrant visa petition). This includes, but is not limited to, the matters discussed more specifically in paragraphs 2, 3 and 5 below.

2. Applications to Register Permanent Residence or Adjust Status (Form I-485) may continue to be adjudicated, according to existing policies and procedures, for applicants who are nationals of countries designated in the Executive Order.

3. USCIS will adjudicate Refugee/Asylee Relative Petitions (Form I-730) for all beneficiaries, from any country of nationality, currently in the United States according to existing policies and procedures. Further guidance will be issued with respect to beneficiaries currently outside of the United States.

4. USCIS will continue refugee interviews when the person is a religious minority in his or her country of nationality facing religious persecution. Additionally, USCIS will continue refugee interviews in jurisdictions where there is a preexisting international agreement related to refugee processing. USCIS will not approve a refugee application for an individual who we determine would pose a risk to the security or welfare of the United States.

5. USCIS will continue adjudicating all affirmative asylum cases according to existing policies and procedures.

Questions concerning the information contained in this memorandum may be addressed via your directorate or program office through appropriate supervisory channels.

Dear Colleen, Ron, Molly:

We received the inquiry below from the asylum HQ NACARA POC. I'm not sure if RAIO previously advised the asylum offices (for that brief period) to hold off on all I-881 adjudications or something (which would be odd because the applicants typically aren't from the affected countries in the EO). Regardless, per Lori's attached guidance on the EO, it seems as if the adjudication of NACARA 203 applications should continue as per usual as the I-881 is an application and NACARA applicants are "individuals in the United States" per the language in the 1st paragraph of Lori's guidance.

Please advise at your earliest convenience.

Thanks so much,
Reena

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Effectively immediately and until additional guidance is received, you may not take final action on any petition or application where the applicant is a citizen or national of Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya. Field offices may interview applicants for adjustment of status and other benefits according to current processing guidance and may process petitions and applications for individuals from these countries up to the point where a decision would be made. At that point, cases shall be placed on hold until further notice and will be shelved with specific NFTS codes which will be provided through the Regional Offices. Offices are not permitted make any final decision on affected cases to include approval, denial, withdrawal, or revocation.

Please look for additional guidance later this weekend on how to process naturalization applicants from one of the seven countries listed above who are currently scheduled for oath ceremony or whose N-400s have been approved and they are pending scheduling of oath ceremony.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures as needed in the coming days. Questions or requests for additional clarification may be directed to the Regional Offices through your chain of command.

Effective immediately, we have been instructed to prevent any asylum decision document from being issued in person or by mail to a national of any of the following countries unless or until we are instructed otherwise:

Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya

Please ensure that until further notice, no applicant from the countries above is served as asylum decision document in person or by mail. Any cases PUSHing should get mail-out notices and the cases will remain pending with out office until further notice.

You and your team members should continue to process these cases up to the point of decision service, but may not serve the decision documents at this time.

At this time, we may continue to serve APSO decision documents on individuals from these countries, just not asylum decision documents.

If you have any questions, please let me know.

Subject: Executive Order Updates and Refugee Processing

RAIO Colleagues,

As stated in the USCIS Broadcast, U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services has suspended any and all actions implementing the affected sections of the Executive Order entitled, "Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States" (January 27, 2017) (these affected sections are Sections 3(c), Section 5(a), Section 5(b), Section 5 (c) and Section 5 (e) to the extent that it purports to prioritize refugee claims of certain religious minorities).

USCIS has resumed approving refugee cases that are otherwise eligible for refugee resettlement. The travel schedule of these approved cases will be determined by the Department of State so as not to exceed the refugee ceiling set by the current Administration. At this time, USCIS generally will not be regularly conducting refugee interviews in international field offices, or deploying additional circuit rides this quarter other than select, previously scheduled circuit rides. USCIS will coordinate other possible interviews, including urgent humanitarian protection cases, at the request of the Department of State. The previously organized trainings for credible fear will move forward as scheduled.

USCIS, including RAIO headquarters staff, is participating in intra and inter-agency working groups established to implement the Executive Order and field input will be sought as appropriate.

Many of you have expressed interesting in learning more about the ongoing litigation relating to the Executive Order Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry into the United States. Oral arguments on whether or not to lift the temporary restraining order took place yesterday before the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals. You can listen to a recording of the oral arguments and find information about the litigation on the 9th Circuit's website:

https://www.ca9.uscourts.gov/content/view.php?pk_id=0000000860

Information about the Executive Orders that impact USCIS can be found on USCIS Connect:

http://connect.uscis.dhs.gov/org/CL/Pages/Presidential-Actions.aspx

And information more specific to RAIO can be found on the RAIO ECN (this site is still a work in process):

http://ecn.uscis.dhs.gov/team/raio/Pages/RAIO.aspx

Finally, I would like to apologize for confusion that arose when all RAIO staff were scheduled for a Town Hall. That was based on a miscommunication error on my part. I had requested an all hands meeting for "Directorate staff," meaning the RAIO Program Chiefs and their staff. In my capacity as acting A/D for RAIO, I plan on holding monthly meetings with my team, just as Maura and I hold monthly all hands meetings with IO HQ staff. This was understood to mean all RAIO staff. Then the cancelation led to some rumors of some other motive. It was pure miscommunication. I am trying hard to get ahead of all rumors and stop them as soon as I hear them. There also has been a bit of miscommunication about a potential Town Hall with Lori Scialabba. We are working to clarify plans with the front office and will provide more info shortly. Things are moving fast and furious here at HQ, so I appreciate everyone's patience when communication mistakes are made. We are truly acting with the best of intentions.

Thank you, Phil. I know that must have been a bit of torture trying to pull together so much of our simultaneous "ECN-ing" (I like that term ☺).

General question, and I fully recognize this may well have been raised and nixed in other discussions about this E.O. waiver process. If so, please feel free to say "thank you for playing, Alice, time to move on": (b)(5)

Thanks all for your careful review and input. Attached FYI is what I just sent back to SCOPs et al. I used the OPS documents as a baseline as they requested – have tried to capture the key points made in the OCC comments and edits, while trying to trim them down a bit to eliminate some of the redundancy, back and forth, etc. that inevitably arise when lots of people are ECNing (is that a verb? I guess it is now) on short notice simultaneously, so as not to overwhelm the recipients. Let me know if you think I've missed anything essential. Phil

Thanks all—but do we think any of our current forms could be used to adjudicate the national interest standard—which at this point we aren't clear on what it is. But if someone concluded that the waiver was in the national interest where someone needed to travel and showed urgent humanitarian reasons or SPB, could we then use the 131 for the waiver decision? And how would that work if folks who needed the waiver couldn't currently apply for the 131?

I have one issue, although I am not sure if it has been decided already. The EO says in Sec. 3(g):

"the Secretaries of State and Homeland Security may, on a case-by-case basis, and when in the national interest, issue visas or other immigration benefits to nationals of countries for which visas and benefits are otherwise blocked."

The use of and seems like the EO could be read to either 1) require both DHS and DOJ to jointly agree to waivers; or 2) provide independent authority for DHS and DOS to grant waivers. (b)(5)

Looking for quick thoughts on legal issues if we were asked to adjudicate waivers under the EO at section 3 for the 7 countries in the national interest.

Knowing what we know from DACA, what should we be thinking about. This is a tonight issue so what thoughts you have would be appreciated.

Hi all. Adding in OCC and Policy and Strategy…

As well, attached is an updated version based on some feedback received already.

Please send your comments back by 3:00 today. That way we can incorporate them and get the final draft to Lori this afternoon.

Thanks in advance.

Subject: Draft of Exception Process - EO

All: Based on yesterday's discussions for EO, attached is a draft from SCOPS on what might work if we were required to develop an exception for folks that are here in the US, but may need to travel for work and student reasons. Can you please take a look from your perspective and let us know if you have any concerns? Its due to the Department this afternoon, so we will need a response as quickly as possible. So sorry for the quick turnaround on this.

Appreciate your help.

The attached document is a matrix breaking down the EO into its component parts and action items. I've added columns for QAs and started compiling those I saw come across this morning and some early ones I saw from Div. 1.

The Policy and general objectives language at the beginning pulls key language from the EO for quick reference when we're drafting statements. The date conversion chart indicates the calendar dates associated with any specific timeframe mentioned in the EO.

I am working to convert this to Excel over the weekend so it's a little more scalable, but wanted to pass it on for initial use.

Please let me know if you have any questions or see anything that needs editing.

If there are URGENT questions that we need answers to before Monday go ahead and flag those for us but I'm not sure the Department is going to get to us immediately, they are likely dealing with issues at the POEs which have a bit more urgency. I did send the question of whether this impact naturalization or not to the Department in an attempt to get an answer this weekend only because we have oath ceremonies scheduled for Monday.

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Also, since part of the directive is to reviewing to enhance information we collect and screening, we likely will be proposing changes to the I-730 process, to include revisions to the form and the I-730A, which would be completed by the beneficiary. We have mock ups and can move quickly, but need to think first about those in pipeline. Maura has giving directive to staff outside US to cancel pick up document pickups for 730s for next week.

We are working on further guidance and of course will coordinate with SCOP.

State has also issued guidance. Will forward.

As we've discussed, the most urgent question is whether adjustments and extensions or changes of nonimmigrant status are impacted. If we can define "suspend processing" as "suspend prior to approval", then one option would be to continue with the interviews, since it is likely we have some that are scheduled as soon as Monday for affected applicants and then hold the cases post interview. We are trying to scrape our schedulers (C4 and NASS) to see when and where we have interviews scheduled for individuals from affected countries. We should have that sometime Monday.

Tracy,

It is my understanding that POTUS will sign the "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Attacks by Foreign Nationals" order today at 4:30pm. In complying with the EA I believe we need immediate clarification in Section 3 (c) relative to the 30 day suspension of processing immigrants and non-immigrants from the designated countries of interest and if this extends to processing of permanent resident applications. Though the EA states "immigrant and non-immigrant entry into the United States" once we grant an adjustment we "admit" that person. [redacted]
We just need to clarify if by extension this applies to our product lines. If this is the case then Don and Dan will need to get guidance to the Field to put these adjudications on hold. Other than the refugee suspension that appears fully deployed on our end this appears the most urgent clarification we need relative to the EAs.

While I know that a nonimmigrant often shows up at the POE and then CBP makes them fill out an I-212, 193, or 192, I'm not sure this is the same or that we can use this form for this waiver, or that we can require a fee.

Below I said that if USCIS decides to use an exiting a process or form that very closely fits what is necessary that can be easily adapted without change to the 3.(g) waiver process, the PRA does not apply.

But if we are imposing a form and fee, even if it is the I-612 or I-131, on someone who already has a visa, who has never had to submit that form and fee before, that would implicate the APA. However, those concerns would be mitigated somewhat if Lori exempts the from the fee.

Thanks all—but do we think any of our current forms could be used to adjudicate the national interest standard—which at this point we aren't clear on what it is. But if someone concluded that the waiver was in the national interest where someone needed to travel and showed urgent humanitarian reasons or SPB, could we then use the 131 for the waiver decision? And how would that work if folks who needed the waiver couldn't currently apply for the 131?

Molly,
Executive Order 13769, section 3, paragraph (g), states, "Notwithstanding a suspension pursuant to subsection (c) of this section or pursuant to a Presidential proclamation described in subsection (e) of this section, the Secretaries of State and Homeland Security may, on a case-by-case basis, and when in the national interest, issue visas or other immigration benefits to nationals of countries for which visas and benefits are otherwise blocked." Generally requires notice and comment though time frames can be truncated. Regs say that unless an OMB control number has been assigned to an info collection, then adverse action based on the info collection cannot be taken against person. So might give a hyper-technical way for a person denied a waiver to claim government erred if we had not jumped through the PRA hoops to get the OMB control number.

Off the wall qn: any chance advance parole process could be utilized to effectively provide vehicle for such a E.O. waiver if we were forced to handle them? I'm not crazy about it because of uncertainty as to what status/category CBP might then allow a person who should otherwise be in legit non-immig. status to enter (messes things up if he's "paroled") but I'm just thinking of what applications (aka "info collections") we might already have in place. Might need to create some broad fee waiver criteria, too.

Agree it's best if USCIS can avoid having to do these E. O. waivers and keep them at CBP.

Looking for quick thoughts on legal issues if we were asked to adjudicate waivers under the EO at section 3 for the 7 countries in the national interest.

Knowing what we know from DACA, what should we be thinking about. This is a tonight issue so what thoughts you have would be appreciated.

Looking for quick thoughts on legal issues if we were asked to adjudicate waivers under the EO at section 3 for the 7 countries in the national interest.

Knowing what we know from DACA, what should we be thinking about. This is a tonight issue so what thoughts you have would be appreciated.

I'd only add re: rescission of TRIG exemptions that nothing in the EO prevents the continued application of the existing exemptions to TRIG cases while that consideration process takes place. Similar to Kathryn's point about entry vs admission, while I understand the desire to make sure we are not moving forward on cases we shouldn't be processing, we should also be careful not to over-read the EO's directives.

I'll look more closely at the chart, but upon first glance and after reading the chain below, I wanted to raise a couple (b)(5) things:

[redacted]

(c) To temporarily reduce investigative burdens on relevant agencies during the review period described in subsection (a) of this section, to ensure the proper review and maximum utilization of available resources for the screening of foreign nationals, and to ensure that adequate standards are established to prevent infiltration by foreign terrorists or criminals, pursuant to section 212(f) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1182(f), I hereby proclaim that the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry into the United States of aliens from countries referred to in section 217(a)(12) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1187(a)(12), would be detrimental to the interests of the United States, and I hereby suspend entry into the United States, as immigrants and nonimmigrants, of such persons for 90 days from the date of this order (excluding those foreign nationals traveling on diplomatic visas, North Atlantic Treaty Organization visas, C-2 visas for travel to the United Nations, and G-1, G-2, G-3, and G-4 visas).

2. FOD has raised a question of whether TRIG hold cases should be adjudicated, indicating that the EO's directive in Section 6 to "consider rescinding" TRIG exemptions would seem to mean that new TRIG exemptions are not forthcoming. This should certainly be a question for discussion (and a reconsideration of the agency's hold policy has recently been a topic of discussion, even before this order), but nothing in the EO requires us to take this step, and I would urge that it be thoughtfully considered before a decision to adjudicate all TRIG hold cases is made. OCC has also been very involved in the discussion to adjust the TRIG hold policy, and will certainly want to weigh in on this decision also.

I think regular meetings will start Monday, so I think we need to make edits and additions to this ASAP so we can have something Monday morning. Sam - can you give up absolute minimums for changing refs and forms, both in the regular course of business as well in an emergency context (if there is such a difference).
Please include the whole chain as we make edits for now and when there's some breathing room Monday we'll figure out how to get this on ECN.

The attached document is a matrix breaking down the EO into its component parts and action items. I've added columns for QAs and started compiling those I saw come across this morning and some early ones I saw from Div. 1.

The Policy and general objectives language at the beginning pulls key language from the EO for quick reference when we're drafting statements. The date conversion chart indicates the calendar dates associated with any specific timeframe mentioned in the EO.

I am working to convert this to Excel over the weekend so it's a little more scalable, but wanted to pass it on for initial use.

Please let me know if you have any questions or see anything that needs editing.

If there are URGENT questions that we need answers to before Monday go ahead and flag those for us but I'm not sure the Department is going to get to us immediately, they are likely dealing with issues at the POEs which have a bit more urgency. I did send the question of whether this impact naturalization or not to the Department in an attempt to get an answer this weekend only because we have oath ceremonies scheduled for Monday.

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Also, since part of the directive is to reviewing to enhance information we collect and screening, we likely will be proposing changes to the I-730 process, to include revisions to the form and the I-730A, which would be completed by the beneficiary. We have mock ups and can move quickly, but need to think first about those in pipeline. Maura has giving directive to staff outside US to cancel pick up document pickups for 730s for next week.

We are working on further guidance and of course will coordinate with SCOP.

State has also issued guidance. Will forward.

As we've discussed, the most urgent question is whether adjustments and extensions or changes of nonimmigrant status are impacted. If we can define "suspend processing" as "suspend prior to approval", then one option would be to continue with the interviews, since it is likely we have some that are scheduled as soon as Monday for affected applicants and then hold the cases post interview. We are trying to scrape our schedulers (C4 and NASS) to see when and where we have interviews scheduled for individuals from affected countries. We should have that sometime Monday.

Tracy,

It is my understanding that POTUS will sign the "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Attacks by Foreign Nationals" order today at 4:30pm. In complying with the EA I believe we need immediate clarification in Section 3 (c) relative to the 30 day suspension of processing immigrants and non-immigrants from the designated countries of interest and if this extends to processing of permanent resident applications. Though the EA states "immigrant and non-immigrant entry into the United States", once we grant an adjustment we "admit" that person. (b)(5) [redacted] We just need to clarify if by extension this applies to our product lines. If this is the case then Don and Dan will need to get guidance to the Field to put these adjudications on hold. Other than the refugee suspension that appears fully deployed on our end this appears the most urgent clarification we need relative to the EAs.

I saw that FOD sent out guidance to the field yesterday indicating that no final action can be taken on any petition or application for a citizen or national of one of the 7 countries, pending further guidance to come. Processing and interviewing can continue, but the case is to be placed on hold before a final decision is made. NPR seems to have picked up on this and reported it. I'm not sure whether SCOPS has issued any guidance. Has anyone seen?

Kathryn raises great points. If the EO is restricted to "entries," we should be able to adjudicate natz, adjustment, TPS, and non-immigrant applications where the applicant is physically present in the United States.

I'll look more closely at the chart, but upon first glance and after reading the chain below, I wanted to raise a couple things:

(b)(5)

(b)(5)

(c) To temporarily reduce investigative burdens on relevant agencies during the review period described in subsection (a) of this section, to ensure the proper review and maximum utilization of available resources for the screening of foreign nationals, and to ensure that adequate standards are established to prevent infiltration by foreign terrorists or criminals, pursuant to section 212(f) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1182(f), I hereby proclaim that the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry into the United States of aliens from countries referred to in section 217(a)(12) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1187(a)(12), would be detrimental to the interests of the United States, and I hereby suspend entry into the United States, as immigrants and nonimmigrants, of such persons for 90 days from the date of this order (excluding those foreign nationals traveling on diplomatic visas, North Atlantic Treaty Organization visas, C-2 visas for travel to the United Nations, and G-1, G-2, G-3, and G-4 visas).

2. FOD has raised a question of whether TRIG hold cases should be adjudicated, indicating that the EO's directive in Section 6 to "consider rescinding" TRIG exemptions would seem to mean that new TRIG exemptions are not forthcoming. This should certainly be a question for discussion (and a reconsideration of the agency's hold policy has recently been a topic of discussion, even before this order), but nothing in the EO requires us to take this step, and I would urge that it be thoughtfully considered before a decision to adjudicate all TRIG hold cases is made. OCC has also been very involved in the discussion to adjust the TRIG hold policy, and will certainly want to weigh in on this decision also.

2. Should we deschedule oath ceremonies for individuals from the 7?

If there are URGENT questions that we need answers to before Monday go ahead and flag those for us but I'm not sure the Department is going to get to us immediately, they are likely dealing with issues at the POEs which have a bit more urgency. I did send the question of whether this impact naturalization or not to the Department in an attempt to get an answer this weekend only because we have oath ceremonies scheduled for Monday.

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Also, since part of the directive is to reviewing to enhance information we collect and screening, we likely will be proposing changes to the I-730 process, to include revisions to the form and the I-730A, which would be completed by the beneficiary. We have mock ups and can move quickly, but need to think first about those in pipeline. Maura has giving directive to staff outside US to cancel pick up document pickups for 730s for next week.

We are working on further guidance and of course will coordinate with SCOP.

State has also issued guidance. Will forward.

As we've discussed, the most urgent question is whether adjustments and extensions or changes of nonimmigrant status are impacted. If we can define "suspend processing" as "suspend prior to approval", then one option would be to continue with the interviews, since it is likely we have some that are scheduled as soon as Monday for affected applicants and then hold the cases post interview. Tracy,

It is my understanding that POTUS will sign the "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Attacks by Foreign Nationals" order today at 4:30pm. In complying with the EA I believe we need immediate clarification in Section 3 (c) relative to the 30 day suspension of processing immigrants and non-immigrants from the designated countries of interest and if this extends to processing of permanent resident applications. Though the EA states "immigrant and non-immigrant entry into the United States", once we grant an adjustment we "admit" that person [redacted] We just need to clarify if by extension this applies to our product lines. If this is the case then Don and Dan will need to get guidance to the Field to put these adjudications on hold. Other than the refugee suspension that appears fully deployed on our end this appears the most urgent clarification we need relative to the EAs. (b)(5)

For section 6, should we adjudicate cases in TRIG hold? It doesn't seem like exemptions are forthcoming.

To start and just on this part of the EO:

1. Are the following forms impacted: N-400s, N-336, I-601A, I-131, I-765, N-565, I-130, ...?
2. Should we deschedule oath ceremonies for individuals from the 7?
3. How do we handle N-400s 120+ days from interview?
4. Should we stop RFEs?
5. Should we stop scheduling interviews?

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Also, since part of the directive is to reviewing to enhance information we collect and screening, we likely will be proposing changes to the I-730 process, to include revisions to the form and the I-730A, which would be completed by the beneficiary. We have mock ups and can move quickly, but need to think first about those in pipeline. Maura has giving directive to staff outside US to cancel pick up document pickups for 730s for next week.

We are working on further guidance and of course will coordinate with SCOP.

If we can define "suspend processing" as "suspend prior to approval", then one option would be to continue with the interviews, since it is likely we have some that are scheduled as soon as Monday for affected applicants and then hold the cases post interview. We are trying to scrape our schedulers (C4 and NASS) to see when and where we have interviews scheduled for individuals from affected countries. We should have that sometime Monday.

Tracy,

It is my understanding that POTUS will sign the "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Attacks by Foreign Nationals" order today at 4:30pm. In complying with the EA I believe we need immediate clarification in Section 3 (c) relative to the 30 day suspension of processing immigrants and non-immigrants from the designated countries of interest and if this (b)(5) extends to processing of permanent resident applications. Though the EA states "immigrant and non-immigrant entry into the United States", once we grant an adjustment we "admit" that person. [redacted] We just need to clarify if by extension this applies to our product lines. If this is the case then Don and Dan will need to get guidance to the Field to put these adjudications on hold. Other than the refugee suspension that appears fully deployed on our end this appears the most urgent clarification we need relative to the EAs.

And here's what I've learned from RAIO: Asylum has notified field leadership that they should arrange to stop any decision-issuance to asylum applicants from the listed countries until they are instructed otherwise. They also told leadership to review their upcoming schedules and prepare to cancel any interviews for nationals from the listed countries. They were told not to actually begin cancelling the interviews until they received further guidance from HQ.

IO is working with front office on guidance for international staff and ongoing refugee interviews. We have greenlight for refugee interviews in Vienna to continue tomorrow

Subject: Executive Order: PROTECTING THE NATION FROM FOREIGN TERRORIST ENTRY INTO THE UNITED STATES - Service Center Instructions

Center Directors and Deputies,

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

While we await further guidance, we must temporarily suspend adjudication of all applications, petitions or requests involving citizens or nationals of the listed countries. At this point there are no exceptions for any form types, to include I-90s or I-765s. Please physically segregate any files that are impacted by this temporary hold pending further guidance. As you would expect, we will be developing a weekly report format for you to identify the number and types of cases on hold.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures in the coming days.

Please ensure this guidance is conveyed as soon as possible to all appropriate employees and get back to us with any questions. Also, please reply to let me know each center has received this message.

Thanks,

Don

I'd only add re: rescission of TRIG exemptions that nothing in the EO prevents the continued application of the existing exemptions to TRIG cases while that consideration process takes place. Similar to Kathryn's point about entry vs admission, while I understand the desire to make sure we are not moving forward on cases we shouldn't be processing, we should also be careful not to over-read the EO's directives.

I'll look more closely at the chart, but upon first glance and after reading the chain below, I wanted to raise a couple things: (b)(5)

(c) To temporarily reduce investigative burdens on relevant agencies during the review period described in subsection (a) of this section, to ensure the proper review and maximum utilization of available resources for the screening of foreign nationals, and to ensure that adequate standards are established to prevent infiltration by foreign terrorists or criminals, pursuant to section 212(f) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1182(f), I hereby proclaim that the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry into the United States of aliens from countries referred to in section 217(a)(12) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1187(a)(12), would be detrimental to the interests of the United States, and I hereby suspend entry into the United States, as immigrants and nonimmigrants, of such persons for 90 days from the date of this order (excluding those foreign nationals traveling on diplomatic visas, North Atlantic Treaty Organization visas, C-2 visas for travel to the United Nations, and G-1, G-2, G-3, and G-4 visas).

2. FOD has raised a question of whether TRIG hold cases should be adjudicated, indicating that the EO's directive in Section 6 to "consider rescinding" TRIG exemptions would seem to mean that new TRIG exemptions are not forthcoming. This should certainly be a question for discussion (and a reconsideration of the agency's hold policy has recently been a topic of discussion, even before this order), but nothing in the EO requires us to take this step, and I would urge that it be thoughtfully considered before a decision to adjudicate all TRIG hold cases is made. OCC has also been very involved in the discussion to adjust the TRIG hold policy, and will certainly want to weigh in on this decision also.

The Policy and general objectives language at the beginning pulls key language from the EO for quick reference when we're drafting statements. The date conversion chart indicates the calendar dates associated with any specific timeframe mentioned in the EO.

I am working to convert this to Excel over the weekend so it's a little more scalable, but wanted to pass it on for initial use.

Thanks for sending this, Lori.

As we've discussed, the most urgent question is whether adjustments and extensions or changes of nonimmigrant status are impacted. Separately, is there any impact on petitions for beneficiaries abroad since we would not be determining admissibility? I would think not, but it would be good to have clarity.

If we can define "suspend processing" as "suspend prior to approval", then one option would be to continue with the interviews, since it is likely we have some that are scheduled as soon as Monday for affected applicants and then hold the cases post interview. We are trying to scrape our schedulers (C4 and NASS) to see when and where we have interviews scheduled for individuals from affected countries. We should have that sometime Monday.

Tracy,

It is my understanding that POTUS will sign the "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Attacks by Foreign Nationals" order today at 4:30pm. In complying with the EA I believe we need immediate clarification in Section 3 (c) relative to the 30 day suspension of processing immigrants and non-immigrants from the designated countries of interest and if this extends to processing of permanent resident applications. Though the EA states "immigrant and non-immigrant entry into the United States", once we grant an adjustment we "admit" that person. [redacted] We just need to clarify if by extension this applies to our product lines. If this is the case then Don and Dan will need to get guidance to the Field to put these adjudications on hold. Other than the refugee suspension that appears fully deployed on our end this appears the most urgent clarification we need relative to the EAs. (b)(5)

Subject: Executive Order: PROTECTING THE NATION FROM FOREIGN TERRORIST ENTRY INTO THE UNITED STATES - Service Center Instructions

Center Directors and Deputies,

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

While we await further guidance, we must temporarily suspend adjudication of all applications, petitions or requests involving citizens or nationals of the listed countries. At this point there are no exceptions for any form types, to include I-90s or I-765s. Please physically segregate any files that are impacted by this temporary hold pending further guidance. As you would expect, we will be developing a weekly report format for you to identify the number and types of cases on hold.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures in the coming days.

Please ensure this guidance is conveyed as soon as possible to all appropriate employees and get back to us with any questions. Also, please reply to let me know each center has received this message.

Thanks,

Don

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Tracy,

It is my understanding that POTUS will sign the "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Attacks by Foreign Nationals" order today at 4:30pm. In complying with the EA I believe we need immediate clarification in Section 3 (c) relative to the 30 day suspension of processing immigrants and non-immigrants from the designated countries of interest and if this extends to processing of permanent resident applications. Though the EA states "immigrant and non-immigrant entry into the United States", once we grant an adjustment we "admit" that person. [redacted]
We just need to clarify if by extension this applies to our product lines. If this is the case then Don and Dan will need to get guidance to the Field to put these adjudications on hold. Other than the refugee suspension that appears fully deployed on our end this appears the most urgent clarification we need relative to the EAs. (b)(5)

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Also, since part of the directive is to reviewing to enhance information we collect and screening, we likely will be proposing changes to the I-730 process, to include revisions to the form and the I-730A, which would be completed by the beneficiary. We have mock ups and can move quickly, but need to think first about those in pipeline. Maura has giving directive to staff outside US to cancel pick up document pickups for 730s for next week.

We are working on further guidance and of course will coordinate with SCOP.

State has also issued guidance. Will forward.

Subject: RE: Executive Order

I'll look more closely at the chart, but upon first glance and after reading the chain below, I wanted to raise a couple things:

(b)(5)

(c) To temporarily reduce investigative burdens on relevant agencies during the review period described in subsection (a) of this section, to ensure the proper review and maximum utilization of available resources for the screening of foreign nationals, and to ensure that adequate standards are established to prevent infiltration by foreign terrorists or criminals, pursuant to section 212(f) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1182(f), I hereby proclaim that the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry into the United States of aliens from countries referred to in section 217(a)(12) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1187(a)(12), would be detrimental to the interests of the United States, and I hereby suspend entry into the United States, as immigrants and nonimmigrants, of such persons for 90 days from the date of this order (excluding those foreign nationals traveling on diplomatic visas, North Atlantic Treaty Organization visas, C-2 visas for travel to the United Nations, and G-1, G-2, G-3, and G-4 visas).

2. FOD has raised a question of whether TRIG hold cases should be adjudicated, indicating that the EO's directive in Section 6 to "consider rescinding" TRIG exemptions would seem to mean that new TRIG exemptions are not forthcoming. This should certainly be a question for discussion (and a reconsideration of the agency's hold policy has recently been a topic of discussion, even before this order), but nothing in the EO requires us to take this step, and I would urge that it be thoughtfully considered before a decision to adjudicate all TRIG hold cases is made. OCC has also been very involved in the discussion to adjust the TRIG hold policy, and will certainly want to weigh in on this decision also.

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Also, since part of the directive is to reviewing to enhance information we collect and screening, we likely will be proposing changes to the I-730 process, to include revisions to the form and the I-730A, which would be completed by the beneficiary. We have mock ups and can move quickly, but need to think first about those in pipeline. Maura has giving directive to staff outside US to cancel pick up document pickups for 730s for next week.

Asylum has notified field leadership that they should arrange to stop any decision-issuance to asylum applicants from the listed countries until they are instructed otherwise. They also told leadership to review their upcoming schedules and prepare to cancel any interviews for nationals from the listed countries. They were told not to actually begin cancelling the interviews until they received further guidance from HQ.

IO is working with front office on guidance for international staff and ongoing refugee interviews. We have greenlight for refugee interviews in Vienna to continue tomorrow.

The attached document is a matrix breaking down the EO into its component parts and action items. I've added columns for QAs and started compiling those I saw come across this morning and some early ones I saw from Div. 1.

The Policy and general objectives language at the beginning pulls key language from the EO for quick reference when we're drafting statements. The date conversion chart indicates the calendar dates associated with any specific timeframe mentioned in the EO.

I am working to convert this to Excel over the weekend so it's a little more scalable, but wanted to pass it on for initial use.

Please let me know if you have any questions or see anything that needs editing.

The attached document is a matrix breaking down the EO into its component parts and action items. I've added columns for QAs and started compiling those I saw come across this morning and some early ones I saw from Div. 1.

The Policy and general objectives language at the beginning pulls key language from the EO for quick reference when we're drafting statements. The date conversion chart indicates the calendar dates associated with any specific timeframe mentioned in the EO.

I am working to convert this to Excel over the weekend so it's a little more scalable, but wanted to pass it on for initial use.

Please let me know if you have any questions or see anything that needs editing.

Thanks,

Shannon E. Slattery

For section 6, should we adjudicate cases in TRIG hold? It doesn't seem like exemptions are forthcoming.

Everyone should be compiling a list of all of their questions and getting them to Jess so Lori and I have a complete list. If there are URGENT questions that we need answers to before Monday go ahead and flag those for us but I'm not sure the Department is going to get to us immediately, they are likely dealing with issues at the POEs which have a bit more urgency. I did send the question of whether this impact naturalization or not to the Department in an attempt to get an answer this weekend only because we have oath ceremonies scheduled for Monday.

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Also, since part of the directive is to reviewing to enhance information we collect and screening, we likely will be proposing changes to the I-730 process, to include revisions to the form and the I-730A, which would be completed by the beneficiary. We have mock ups and can move quickly, but need to think first about those in pipeline. Maura has giving directive to staff outside US to cancel pick up document pickups for 730s for next week.

We are working on further guidance and of course will coordinate with SCOP.

State has also issued guidance. Will forward.

Tracy,

It is my understanding that POTUS will sign the "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Attacks by Foreign Nationals" order today at 4:30pm. In complying with the EA I believe we need immediate clarification in Section 3 (c) relative to the 30 day suspension of processing immigrants and non-immigrants from the designated countries of interest and if this extends to processing of permanent resident applications. Though the EA states "immigrant and non-immigrant entry into the United States", once we grant an adjustment we "admit" that person. [redacted]
We just need to clarify if by extension this applies to our product lines. If this is the case then Don and Dan will need to get guidance to the Field to put these adjudications on hold. Other than the refugee suspension that appears fully deployed on our end this appears the most urgent clarification we need relative to the EAs. (b)(5)

I'll look more closely at the chart, but upon first glance and after reading the chain below, I wanted to raise a couple (b)(5) things:

[redacted]

(c) To temporarily reduce investigative burdens on relevant agencies during the review period described in subsection (a) of this section, to ensure the proper review and maximum utilization of available resources for the screening of foreign nationals, and to ensure that adequate standards are established to prevent infiltration by foreign terrorists or criminals, pursuant to section 212(f) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1182(f), I hereby proclaim that the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry into the United States of aliens from countries referred to in section 217(a)(12) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1187(a)(12), would be detrimental to the interests of the United States, and I hereby suspend entry into the United States, as immigrants and nonimmigrants, of such persons for 90 days from the date of this order (excluding those foreign nationals traveling on diplomatic visas, North Atlantic Treaty Organization visas, C-2 visas for travel to the United Nations, and G-1, G-2, G-3, and G-4 visas).

2. FOD has raised a question of whether TRIG hold cases should be adjudicated, indicating that the EO's directive in Section 6 to "consider rescinding" TRIG exemptions would seem to mean that new TRIG exemptions are not forthcoming. This should certainly be a question for discussion (and a reconsideration of the agency's hold policy has recently been a topic of discussion, even before this order), but nothing in the EO requires us to take this step, and I would urge that it be thoughtfully considered before a decision to adjudicate all TRIG hold cases is made. OCC has also been very involved in the discussion to adjust the TRIG hold policy, and will certainly want to weigh in on this decision also.

Subject: Clarification on Scope of Section 4a

Good Morning, Shayla,

OP&S would like to obtain clarification on the overall scope of section 4a. If we adhere to the specific wording of the EO, the number of forms that might need to be considered will be significantly reduced. (Many thanks to Kevin Greeley for providing the following analysis.)

> Section 4(a) starts off focusing specifically on USCIS implementing "a program, as part of the adjudication process for immigration benefits, to identify individuals seeking to enter the United States on a fraudulent basis with the intent to cause harm, or who are at risk of causing harm subsequent to their admission."
> Going back to the argument of using the plain language of the EO, to ensure that we don't go outside of the legal scope, the first part of this seems to focus on "individuals seeking to enter the United States." The second part seems to focus on individuals "who are at risk of causing harm subsequent to their admission." (b)(5)

[redacted]

"Admission" is defined in the INA as:

> (iv) has departed from the United States while under legal process seeking removal of the alien from the United States, including removal proceedings under this Act and extradition proceedings,

(vi) is attempting to enter at a time or place other than as designated by immigration officers or has not been admitted to the United States after inspection and authorization by an immigration officer.

The same legal question exists for the other forms already identified.

Shayla – Has this previously been discussed amongst the WG leads? If not, should we get a legal interpretation from OCC or even raise the question to Julie Farnam?

Good Morning,

Kevin Greeley makes a great point about how USCIS should interpret the scope of section 4a of the "Protecting the Nation..." E.O. (See red font portion of email below.) Since clarifying the scope of this section is vital, I propose that we run this question up through the Forms Changes WG lead to Julie Farnam. Please let me know if you agree or if you have other thoughts.

Thanks,
Jerry

If the OP&S representatives (and potentially OP&S management) concur with my interpretation, then I think we should proactively raise this to the WG leads for consideration. I don't know if FNDS will necessarily agree, since it might significantly change the scope of the forms that FDNS predesignated. However, FDNS and adjudications often have differing opinions on certain matters.

I would defer to the group, and Jerry specifically as a management POC, as to the best course of action.

Hi, Steve. I don't have any suggested edits or additions. Although, something to consider for the OP&S POCs, is something I didn't raise until the Interview WG.

Section 4(a) starts off focusing specifically on USCIS implementing "a program, as part of the adjudication process for immigration benefits, to identify individuals seeking to enter the United States on a fraudulent basis with the intent to cause harm, or who are at risk of causing harm subsequent to their admission."

Going back to the argument of using the plain language of the EO, to ensure that we don't go outside of the legal scope, the first part of this seems to focus on "individuals seeking to enter the United States." The second part seems to focus on individuals "who are at risk of causing harm subsequent to their admission." (b)(5)

"Admission" is defined in the INA as:

> (13)(A) The terms "admission" and "admitted" mean, with respect to an alien, the lawful entry of the alien into the United States after inspection and authorization by an immigration officer.
> (B) An alien who is paroled under section 212(d)(5) or permitted to land temporarily as an alien crewman shall not be considered to have been admitted.
> (C) An alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence in the United States shall not be regarded as seeking an admission into the United States for purposes of the immigration laws unless the alien-

> (ii) has been absent from the United States for a continuous period in excess of 180 days,
> (iii) has engaged in illegal activity after having departed the United States,
> (iv) has departed from the United States while under legal process seeking removal of the alien from the United States, including removal proceedings under this Act and extradition proceedings,
> (v) has committed an offense identified in section 212(a)(2), unless since such offense the alien has been granted relief under section 212(h) or 240A(a), or
> (vi) is attempting to enter at a time or place other than as designated by immigration officers or has not been admitted to the United States after inspection and authorization by an immigration officer.

The same legal question exists for other forms already identified.

I should have raised this in the first WG, but it didn't strike me until the second WG. Regardless of what the intent might have been with the EO, I think we need to stick with the specific language. This is why it is essential to have knowledgeable immigration experts involved in drafting and reviewing EOs before they are signed. I think if we adhere to the specific wording of the EO, the scope of forms that might need to be considered will be significantly reduced.

I appreciate any thoughts you have on this in advance of the next WG meeting.

Thanks.

Subject: RE: EO Interview Working Group

Thanks Kevin. I agree with your observation on whether the WGs have a consistent understanding and interpretation of Sec 4. However, with our particular group Sec 4 is clear that we ought to look at our current interview processes in general. We have governing laws and policies in place which govern who we interview and don't, including interview waived cases. I highly recommend we don't focus on form types for the paper as it can become unwieldly and we will lose focus. How I see it, regardless if we are interpreting this section to mean those that are outside or inside the U.S., our goal is to identify interview process enhancements, which can be within any of the categories listed in the invite. These enhancements will benefit the narrow or broader interpretation of this section. I see this as an excellent opportunity for our agency as a whole to identify those short and long term goals for implementation.

To your bigger concern, perhaps your leadership may want to raise your question to the EO bi-weekly meetings. I think this will be the better audience to provide direction.

Talk soon!

Subject: RE: EO Interview Working Group

Hi, Lisette. NSBI was wondering if the WG could readdress one of the possible decisions that was made in the last meeting. We think it was decided that, due to the short deadline, we should focus on those form types where we already conduct interviews.

As was noted in the meeting, some of those interviews are based on forms that don't seem to covered under the plain language of the EO.

The EO is specifically calling for "development of a uniform screening standard and procedure, such as in-person interviews", to "identify individuals seeking to enter the United States on a fraudulent basis with the intent to cause harm, or who are at risk of causing harm subsequent to their admission."

Therefore, after thinking about it some more, we wonder if the first order of business should be to determine if USCIS currently meets the stated suggestion of in-person interviews on all forms where an individual is seeking to "enter" the US or where they might pose a risk after their "admission"? However that is defined.

If seems like the overall intent of the EO is to close gaps and reduce risks. So shouldn't our first priority be to identify if there are any gaps/risks related to forms that do not currently require an interview, rather than first focusing on improving existing interviews? It seems like not conducting interviews, when potentially required or recommended by the EO, is more of a risk than conducting non-uniform or non-standard interviews that could benefit from improvements.

We just wanted to make sure that we had sufficiently examined the top priority in complying with this EO.

Also, OP&S raised to the Forms WG today the issue of whether all the WGs should have a consistent understanding and interpretation of what the beginning language of Section (4)(a) says. If all WGs don't have a consistent understanding, the end results with be an inconsistent analysis that is supposed to result in a uniform standard and procedure.

Thanks for considering this and sorry that this wasn't raised during the first meeting.

Subject: FW: Two Questions

Hi All – attached is the executive order signed early this evening by the President. Please let me, Mike and Larry know if any questions or immediate impacts to policy come to mind. Next week, we may want to consider pulling relevant policy guidance and start thinking about new guidance that will have to be issued. Hopefully we will have more information.

In the meantime, please send any questions!

Thanks,
Natalie

Here is a quick summary (please read the entire document – I tried to hit the "highlights"):

1. Suspension of Issuance of Visas and Other Immigration Benefits to Nationals of Countries of Particular Concern. There are review and reporting requirements that shall be completed within 30 days and additional follow up reporting requirements. While the review is conducted, the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry into the United States of aliens from countries referred to in section 217(a)(12) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1187(a)(12), is suspended for 90 days. The Secretary shall provide a list of countries that do not provided necessary information to adjudicate and additional countries may be added. Visas may be issued to nationals of "blocked" countries in the national interest.
2. Implementing Uniform Screening Standards for All Immigration Programs A program, as part of the adjudication process for immigration benefits, to identify individuals seeking to enter the United States on a fraudulent basis with the intent to cause harm, or who are at risk of causing harm subsequent to their admission will be created and will include development of a uniform screening standard and procedure; a database of identity documents proffered by applicants; amended application forms with questions aimed at identifying fraudulent answers and malicious intent; a process to evaluate the applicant's likelihood of becoming a positively contributing member of society and the applicant's ability to make contributions to the national interest; and a mechanism to assess whether or not the applicant has the intent to commit criminal or terrorist acts after entering the United States.
3. Realignment of the U.S. Refugee Admissions Program for Fiscal Year 2017. Suspension of the U.S. Refugee Admissions Program (USRAP) for 120 days for review of the USRAP application and adjudication process to determine what additional procedures should be taken to ensure that those approved for refugee admission do not pose a threat to the security and welfare of the United States. After 120 days, USRAP admissions resume for nationals of countries for which have been determined that such additional procedures are adequate to ensure the security and welfare of the United States. Refugee claims made by individuals on the basis of religious-based persecution, provided that the religion of the individual is a minority religion in the individual's country of nationality will be prioritized. Admission of refugees from Syria will be suspended. The refugee limit will be 50,000 for fiscal year 2017.
4. Rescission of Exercise of Authority Relating to the Terrorism Grounds of Inadmissibility. The Secretaries of State and Homeland Security shall, in consultation with the Attorney General, consider rescinding the exercises of authority in section 212 of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1182, relating to the terrorism grounds of inadmissibility, as well as any related implementing memoranda.
5. Expedited Completion of the Biometric Entry-Exit Tracking System.
6. Visa Interview Security. The visa interview waiver program is suspended to ensure compliance with section 222 of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1222, which requires that all individuals seeking a nonimmigrant visa undergo an in-person interview, subject to specific statutory exceptions.
7. Visa Validity Reciprocity. The Secretary of State shall review all nonimmigrant visa reciprocity agreements to ensure that they are, with respect to each visa classification, truly reciprocal.

Subject: Executive Order impacting refugee admissions -- flagging issue

Lori and Tracy,

I just wanted to flag a couple of issues for you related to section (5)(f) of the draft executive order that would temporarily suspend most refugee processing.

(f)(a) provides that notwithstanding the temporary suspension, "the Secretaries of State and Homeland Security may continue to process as refugees those refugee claims made by individuals on the basis of religious-based persecution, provided that the religion of the individual is a minority religion in the individual's country of nationality."

We need to know if this will be interpreted to mean that we can continue interviewing and making decisions on Lautenberg cases in Vienna and Moscow. We currently have a RAD circuit rider in Vienna conducting these interviews, and we interview Lautenberg cases 4 days a week in Moscow.

Also, we will need to know whether to pull back the teams currently in South Africa (circuit ride scheduled to end February 3) and Indonesia (circuit ride scheduled to end February 10). One thing to note is that we are interviewing some Rohingya (religious minority) in Indonesia, so arguably they could fall within the exception.

We will need guidance on this ASAP, assuming the language in the final order remains the same. So flagging this to you as something to possibly flag to the Department.

I wanted to flag for you that we are going to need some clarification on the anticipated EO today on refugee and visa issuance in terms of impact on the the asylee and refugee following to join cases. We assume that the refugee following to join would be treated as refugees. Not sure whether the asylee following to join would also be treated as refugees or more like visas. They are of course neither.

We understand that State may be issuing guidance to put all following to join cases on hold.

I know we raised this question, but now flagging for you that CBP guidance is not to board refugees or asylees with refugee travel documents, regardless of their country, unless they have an exemption. See chart below.

This means that there could be someone who has been an asylee or a refugee living in the U.S. for some time (maybe years, in the case of an asylee), who left to go on a business meeting in the U.K. and now cannot get back to family, job, home. Is that really what was intended?

Barbara,

Yes, this has been implemented as refusal to board and admit ALL returning refugees, regardless of nationality. We just confirmed with NTC and the Executive Director of CBP's Admissibility and Passenger Programs Todd Hoffman that this is the policy. The Commissioner has not been very keen to sign waivers to admit those who somehow were able to board. I am told that this policy was negotiated with State Department. Is that the case?

Please see below for the specific NTC guidance regarding boarding. Apologies for the quality. There's no scanner in the crisis room.

FACT SHEET: Protecting the Nation from Foreign Terrorist Entry to the United States

WASHINGTON - The executive order signed on January 27, 2017, allows for the proper review and establishment of standards to prevent terrorist or criminal infiltration by foreign nationals. The United States has the world's most generous immigration system, yet it has been repeatedly exploited by terrorists and other malicious actors who seek to do us harm. In order to ensure that the United States government can conduct a thorough and comprehensive analysis of the national security risks posed from our immigration system, it imposes a 90-day suspension on entry to the United States of nationals of certain designated countries—countries that were designated by Congress and the Obama Administration as posing national security risks in the Visa Waiver Program.

In order to protect Americans, and to advance the national interest, the United States must ensure that those entering this country will not harm the American people subsequent to their entry, and that they do not bear malicious intent toward the United States and its people. The executive order protects the United States from countries compromised by terrorism and ensures a more rigorous vetting process. This Executive Order ensures that we have a functional immigration system that safeguards our national security.

This executive order, as well as the two issued earlier in the week, provide the Department with additional resources, tools and personnel to carry out the critical work of securing our borders, enforcing the immigration laws of our nation, and ensuring that individuals who pose a threat to national security or public safety cannot enter or remain in our country. Protecting the American people is the highest priority of our government and this Department.

The Department of Homeland Security will faithfully execute the immigration laws and the President's executive order, and we will treat all of those we encounter humanely and with professionalism.

Authorities

The Congress provided the president of the United States, in section 212(f) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA), with the authority to suspend the entry of any class of aliens the president deems detrimental to the national interest. This authority has been exercised by nearly every president since President Carter, and has been a component of immigration laws since the enactment of the INA in 1952.

Actions

For the next 90 days, nearly all travelers, except U.S. citizens, traveling from Iraq, Syria, Sudan, Iran, Somalia, Libya, and Yemen will be temporarily suspended from entry to the United States. The 90 day period will allow for proper review and establishment of standards to prevent terrorist or criminal infiltration by foreign nationals.

Importantly, however, lawful permanent residents of the United States traveling on a valid I-551 will be allowed to board U.S. bound aircraft and will be assessed for exceptions at arrival ports of entry, as appropriate. The entry of these individuals, subject to national security checks, is in the national interest. Therefore, we expect swift entry for these individuals.

In the first 30 days, DHS will perform a global country-by-country review of the information each country provides when their citizens apply for a U.S. visa or immigration benefit. Countries will then have 60 days to comply with any requests from the U.S. government to update or improve the quality of the information they provide.

DHS and the Department of State have the authority, on a case-by-case basis, to issue visas or allow the entry of nationals of these countries into the United States when it serves the national interest. These seven countries were designated by Congress and the Obama Administration as posing a significant enough security risk to warrant additional scrutiny in the visa waiver context.

The Refugee Admissions Program will be temporarily suspended for the next 120 days while DHS and interagency partners review screening procedures to ensure refugees admitted in the future do not pose a security risk to citizens of the United States.

The executive order does not prohibit entry of, or visa issuance to, travelers with diplomatic visas, North Atlantic Treaty Organization visas, C-2 visas for travel to the United Nations, and G-1, G-2, G-3, and G-4 visas.

The Department of Homeland Security along with the Department of State, the Office of the Director of National Intelligence, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation will develop uniform screening standards for all immigration programs government-wide.

Upon resumption of the U.S. Refugee Admissions Program, refugee admissions to the United States will not exceed 50,000 for fiscal year 2017.

The Secretary of Homeland Security will expedite the completion and implementation of a biometric entry-exit tracking system of all travelers into the United States.

Federal Government
As part of a broader set of government actions, the Secretary of State will review all nonimmigrant visa reciprocity agreements to ensure that they are, with respect to each visa classification, truly reciprocal.

The Department of State will suspend the Visa Interview Waiver Program and ensure all individuals seeking nonimmigrant visas undergo an in-person interview.

Transparency
The Department of Homeland Security, in order to be more transparent with the American people, and to more effectively implement policies and practices that serve the national interest will make information available to the public every 180 days. In coordination with the Department of Justice, DHS will provide information regarding the number of foreign nationals charged with terrorism-related offense or gender-based violence against women while in the United States.

Maura,

Please see EMEA's full comments attached. In quick summary:

1. We strongly urge the cancelation of the Cape Town CR today and that our officers should not interview tomorrow. If it is too late to inform the applicants of the cancelation, then the officers can stay on the ground and fingerprint only until further guidance is provided.
2. There should be bright line guidance on both I-590s and I-730s without carve outs at this time, since we do not yet have the authority to make the exceptions the EO mentions.
    a. For both I-730s and I-590s, cancel all interviews for now. If the interview cannot be canceled before the individual appears at our office, we should only fingerprint them. No exceptions for now.
3. We suggest completing RFRs if the decision would result in the underlying denial being upheld (which occurs approx. 65% of the time in EMEA).
4. We need cleared language for a wide variety of inquiries our offices are starting to get, both by phone and email. Examples are given in the attached comments. Even if that cleared language is simply "guidance will be forthcoming; please refer to the USCIS website" or "please contact CBP."
5. We do not agree our offices should adjudicate I-131As and issue boarding letters to individuals from any of the 7 named countries. This puts our FODs and officers who will sign off on these letters in a delicate position and may give the wrong signal to the individual, when ultimately CBP will have the final determination.

We very much appreciate how challenging it is to develop guidance right now. Thank you for the opportunity to provide input.

Re: your request for comments on the interim guidance.

Part E references not issuing final decisions on any other form types. This should be clarified to address:

A. Does it include Forms I-407 since this is not an application or petition.

B. Is it intended to include beneficiaries irrespective of age? E.g., an I-130 or I-600 filed by a USC parent on behalf of a child from one of the designated countries.

C. Does it apply to mil Natz N-400s filed by members of the US military or eligible spouses who are nationals of one of the designated countries?

D. Does it apply to I-130s filed by a USC member of the military on behalf of a spouse or child who is a national of one of the designated countries?

Probably more to follow.

Subject: FOR REVIEW: Draft interim guidance on EO

DDs/DDDs,

We are continuing to seek clarification on elements of the E.O. signed Friday night, so the situation remains rather fluid. That said, the attached is a draft outline of the guidance I'm hoping you can review – I want to ensure I've captured our immediate needs, understanding that we'll have fuller guidance once DHS implementing guidance is issued and USCIS is able to issue its own, as well. If you are able to provide a quick review and get me any comments or questions tomorrow, I'll incorporate your feedback into the 'final' interim guidance to the field tomorrow. Continue to send questions my way – they've been very helpful in flagging issues we need to address.

Still no decision on our 2 CRs. At this point, I don't expect I'll have a further update until after their processed ends on Monday, so the teams should plan to proceed business as usual. Hopefully with this knowledge they can fully enjoy their Sunday. I appreciate their patience very much; limbo is not a desirable place to be.

Thank you!

Interim Guidance for International Operations in Response to Executive Order Signed January 27, 2017

Note: We will be creating a case tag in CAMINO to identify all cases on hold per this executive order.

(b)(5)

1. Refugee-Related Processing

Immediate impact of E.O. on refugee processing: Admission of refugees and refugee follow-to-join beneficiaries of all nationalities is suspended for 120 days. Syrian cases have been suspended until further notice. E.O. provides for carve-outs for certain religious minorities, but we are awaiting further guidance on how those will be defined.

A. Refugee and I-730 Refugee Follow-to-Join Processing

We will provide you with a CAMINO report to identify all I-730 Refugee Follow-to-Join Cases. Depending on the volume, we will run a script to place on hold and pause the CAMINO Clock or will ask you to do so, pursuant to the guidance below.

Given what we know so far, staff should follow the guidance outlined below, depending on the stage of case processing:

1. Interview already scheduled, sufficient time to cancel
   - Cancel interview, even if Lautenberg or other religious minority case. We will offer further guidance on these types of cases as soon as it is available.
   - For I-730 Refugee Follow-to-Join Cases, pause CAMINO Clock effective 1/27/2017; enter note "Per Executive Order".
2. Interview already scheduled, insufficient time to cancel
   - If (1) P1 religious minority in his or her country of nationality facing religious persecution or (2) Lautenberg case, proceed with the interview. If P1 that's not a religious minority as described above, collect fingerprints and notify applicant of temporary suspension of refugee processing and that he/she will be contacted with additional information in the future when we are able to proceed. We will get you talking points as soon as possible regarding the suspension, as you may be asked about timing of the decision or rescheduled interview.
   - For I-730 Refugee Follow-to-Join Cases, pause CAMINO Clock effective 1/27/2017; enter note "Per Executive Order".
3. Interview not yet scheduled
   - Do not schedule any cases until further notice. Guidance on continued processing of religious minorities will be forthcoming.
   - For I-730 Refugee Follow-to-Join Cases, pause CAMINO Clock effective 1/27/2017; enter note "Per Executive Order".

I-730 Refugee Follow-to-Join (Only)

4. Already interviewed, pending
   - Stop all case processing. Pause CAMINO Clock effective 1/27/2017; enter note "Per Executive Order". No final decisions or travel packets should be issued.

5. If travel documents already prepared but not yet issued by IOM or USCIS to the individual, ~~issued but individual has not yet traveled~~
   - Get travel packet back from IOM, and keep with case file while case on hold.
   - If IOM does not yet have the travel packet, keep the travel packet with the case file while case is on hold.
   - In locations where USCIS issues travel packets directly to the individual, do not issue the travel packet but keep the packet with the case file while the case is on hold.

6. If travel documents have already been issued to the individual but the individual has not yet traveled

~~6.~~7. If new cases received
   - Immediately pause the Clock upon case entry, noting 1/27/2017 E.O.

B. I-590 adjudication

a. Officers should not proceed with making decisions on I-590 cases.

~~B.~~C. I-590 Supervisory Review

- Stop all supervisory review of cases, as after the 120-day suspension, until further guidance. The manner in which refugee cases are adjudicated and processed may undergo changes.

~~C.~~D. RFR Adjudications

- Please suspend all RFR adjudications until further notice. Pause the Clock in CAMINO as of 1/27/2017.

2. Other Immigration Benefits

Immediate impact of E.O. on visa issuance and other immigration benefits: Issuance of visas and certain other immigration benefits is suspended for 90 days for applicants and beneficiaries of Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, and Yemen.

Given what we know so far, staff should follow the guidance outlined below for any individual who is a national or dual national of the countries listed above, depending on the case type:

~~D.~~E. I-730 Asylee Follow-to-Join Processing

1. Interview already scheduled, sufficient time to cancel
   - Cancel interview. Pause CAMINO Clock effective 1/27/2017; enter note "Per Executive Order".
2. Interview already scheduled, insufficient time to cancel
   - Collect fingerprints and notify them of temporary suspension of processing and that they will be contacted with additional information in the future when we are able to continue processing.

(b)(5)

- Pause CAMINO Clock effective 1/27/2017; enter note "Per Executive Order".

3. Interview not yet scheduled
   - Do not schedule any cases until further notice. Pause CAMINO Clock effective 1/27/2017; enter note "Per Executive Order".
4. Already interviewed, pending
   - If case decision is denial, process to completion.
   - For all other cases, stop all case processing, and pause CAMINO Clock effective 1/27/2017; enter note "Per Executive Order". No final decisions or travel packets should be issued.
5. If travel documents already issued but individual has not yet traveled
6. If new cases received
   - Immediately pause the Clock upon case entry, noting 1/27/2017 E.O.

~~E.~~F. All Other Benefit Types

- Until further notice, do not issue any final decisions on any other form types, unless noted as an exception below. Pause CAMINO case Clock effective 1/27/2017, and enter note "Per Executive Order".
- Form I-131A boarding letters may continue to be processed, even if the applicant is a national of one of the 7 countries listed above.

a. For inquiries from individuals from one of the 7 countries listed above, inform the inquirer..

Joanna,

I believe I-130s among other non-benefit-granting petitions will be allowed to move forward when agency guidance comes out, but for now they can't. In this situation, I think it prudent to have them hold on a decision to State, rather than deny it, in the hopes they can soon move forward.

Is this consistent with your thinking?

Subject: Requests from Consular for Local I-130 Filings

Maura,

Our offices have received a few local I-130 filing requests, involving petitioners and/or beneficiaries from one of the seven countries, from Consular Sections at Posts where USCIS is not present. If there are no exceptional circumstances to justify our FOD authorizing State to accept and adjudicate the I-130, we will inform Post that we have denied the request for local filing on the grounds that no exceptional circumstances exist.

However, if our FOD finds that exceptional circumstances exist, should we not approve Post's request if the petitioner and/or beneficiary is from one of the seven countries? Here is how we propose responding to Consular requests, but we want to be sure we're consistent with how other districts are handling and how IO recommends:

At this time, USCIS has been instructed not to issue any final approvals for any application for nationals or dual nationals of the seven countries referenced in the Executive Order, with the exception of Form I-131A (Carrier Documentation). Therefore, at this time, we do not approve the request of the Department of State to accept and adjudicate the I-130, since the beneficiary is from one of the seven listed countries.

Our reasoning is this: If we grant State's request for local I-130 filing, we are granting them the authority to accept and adjudicate – the I-130 is then out of our hands. Once State has the authority, they will be making the decision on the I-130 and we won't be in a position to tell them not to adjudicate it. Also, where exceptional circumstances exist, there is usually a time-sensitivity to the case, so it would not make sense to simply delay our response to State's request.

Please let us know if IO recommends a different course of action or response. It would also be interesting to know if CA/VO has given any instructions to Posts on this matter. Additionally, there are blanket authorizations in effect (e.g., Yemen), and we aren't even seeing individual requests from Consular for those, of course.

Thank you for your guidance in this matter.

Bobbie

IO colleagues,

Attached please find agency guidance on the handling of adjudications in light of the Executive Order (Protecting the Nation) signed on January 27, 2017.

A couple of clarifying points:

- Point 3 – until further guidance is issued on the handling of I-730 beneficiaries outside of the United States, please continue to follow the guidance I provided on January 29 (relevant text pasted below):

  - Do not issue any final approvals for any I-730 refugee following to join cases.
  - Do not issue any final approvals for I-730 asylee following to join adjudication and travel eligibility cases for nationals or dual nationals of the 7 countries referenced in the Executive Order (Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, and Yemen).

  For these cases, please pause the Clock in CAMINO, and note as the reason Executive Order 1/27.

- Point 4 – IO staff will only interview religious minority cases if referred by State/PRM. We are working with State/PRM to determine the plan for refugee processing, including religious minorities, over the next 120 days and for the remainder of the year. We will let you know when processing of such cases will occur.

Further guidance related to IO adjudications not addressed in the attached will be forthcoming.

Thanks,

Maura

Memorandum

TO: All USCIS Employees

FROM: Lori L. Scialabba
Acting Director

SUBJECT: Guidance Concerning Executive Order on Immigration

On January 27, President Trump signed an Executive Order entitled "Protecting The Nation From Foreign Terrorist Entry Into The United States." This memorandum provides guidance from the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) regarding the impact of this Executive Order on various immigration benefit requests.

All USCIS employees should be aware of current guidance from DHS, specifically:

1. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order does not affect USCIS adjudication of applications and petitions filed for or on behalf of individuals in the United States regardless of their country of nationality. Section 3(c) also does not affect applications and petitions by lawful permanent residents outside the United States, or applications and petitions for individuals outside the United States whose approval does not directly confer travel authorization (including any immigrant or nonimmigrant visa petition). This includes, but is not limited to, the matters discussed more specifically in paragraphs 2, 3 and 5 below.

2. Applications to Register Permanent Residence or Adjust Status (Form I-485) may continue to be adjudicated, according to existing policies and procedures, for applicants who are nationals of countries designated in the Executive Order.

3. USCIS will adjudicate Refugee/Asylee Relative Petitions (Form I-730) for all beneficiaries, from any country of nationality, currently in the United States according to existing policies and procedures. Further guidance will be issued with respect to beneficiaries currently outside of the United States.

4. USCIS will continue refugee interviews when the person is a religious minority in his or her country of nationality facing religious persecution. Additionally, USCIS will continue refugee interviews in jurisdictions where there is a preexisting international agreement related to refugee processing. USCIS will not approve a refugee application for an individual who we determine would pose a risk to the security or welfare of the United States.

5. USCIS will continue adjudicating all affirmative asylum cases according to existing policies and procedures.

Questions concerning the information contained in this memorandum may be addressed via your directorate or program office through appropriate supervisory channels.

Field managers,

I wanted to make you aware of the statement made by Secretary Kelly earlier today with respect to LPRs re-entering the United States. Consistent with S1's directive, all field offices should continue to process I-131A applications filed by LPRs overseas, regardless of the nationality of the applicant. To confirm, I-131As filed by LPRs who are nationals or dual nationals of the 7 countries outlined in the Executive Order signed on January 27 (Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, and Yemen), should continue to be adjudicated and travel documents issued per existing guidance.

Additional guidance related to the issuance of that E.O. will be forthcoming. Thanks for your patience – I know you have a number of questions, and we will work as quickly as we can with others in USCIS and the Department to clarify them.

Importance: High

DDs/DDDs,

I realize that you have many questions about the Executive Order and appreciate that you have been sending them forward. Please continue to do so. Unfortunately, things remain in flux and we do not have cleared guidance we can provide other than the following for the next few days or less (if we get additional guidance sooner):

- Do not issue any final approvals for any I-730 refugee following to join cases. Further guidance will be coming about how to update CAMINO, etc.
- Do not issue any final approvals for any other application, including I-730 asylee following to join adjudication and travel eligibility cases for nationals or dual nationals of the 7 countries referenced in the Executive Order (Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, and Yemen), with the exception of I-131As (see attached email). You can approve I-131As for all applicants following existing guidance, which requires that you flag for HQ any with serious derogatory information for possible discretionary denials. Further guidance will be coming.
- If you have refugee cases scheduled for Monday or Tuesday of this week, please cancel them if there is sufficient time to do so. If there is not sufficient time to cancel, then please collect the applicant's biometrics, review his or her bio-data for accuracy and completeness, and inform the applicant that he/she will be notified when the case is able to proceed in the future.

Right now, we are staying the course on the refugee CR in Indonesia; the team on the ground can continue interviewing and processing the cases there until further notice.

The above guidance is only a stop-gap to assist in addressing the most urgent needs for the next couple of days when more detailed cleared guidance can be issued. Also, for awareness, OCOMM is working on talking points and FAQs related to the Executive Order, which should be issued via USCIS Broadcast soon.

I appreciate the difficulty of being on the front line and getting inquiries from the public and others for which we don't yet have complete answers. Many people throughout the Agency and Department are working hard to sort out the impact of the E.O. on the Agency, and I will continue to keep you posted.

Thank you for your continued patience as we navigate the current policy changes.

See below. This relates to the refugee Executive Order. As noted, it was signed, but HQ/IO has not yet seen it. Of immediate priority is that we are cancelling both refugee and I-730 interviews (both refugee and asylee FTJ), as well as the pick of travel packets by I-730 applicants. While Maura's email mentions cancelling I-730 travel package pickups, but does not mention cancelling interviews, in a separate reply to an inquiry from EMEA she indicates that for now interviews should also be cancelled.

All,

This evening, the EO affecting refugee processing was signed, however we have not yet seen the final text. We believe we will need to stop processing refugees on Monday – I should know more and will confirm later this weekend. DHS is aware of our 2 on-going CRs as well as RAD's in Vienna, and I hope to soon let you know whether we'll need to have our travelers curtail. We are also seeking guidance from DHS on Lautenberg processing in MOS and whether that will be able to continue.

In the meantime, please have your offices cancel all travel document pick-ups for I-730s (both refugee and asylee FTJs) for the next week. That will give us some time to get direction from DHS on the impact that today's EO will have on I-730 processing. We will also coordinate with State early next week on steps taken with respect to that caseload.

It will take some time to get the DHS implementing guidance for the EO, so I appreciate your patience while we sort out precisely what the impact of the EO will be. I will be sure to share any information with you as I can – and please do not hesitate to pose questions so that I can ensure we get the answers you need.

Thanks,

Maura

All,

State/PRM, RAD, and IO spoke this evening to coordinate and determine next steps with respect to refugee processing. Latest we've heard is that the EO will be signed tomorrow, so we still don't have final language which will be key in determining handling of on-going CRs in Cape Town and Indonesia (RAD also has a circuit rider interviewing Lautenbergs in Vienna now), and refugee processing in our field offices. The final EO language will also help inform processing of Lautenbergs in MOS, and other religious minorities (including Rohingya in Indonesia). We need to continue to interview refugee cases until told otherwise.

In the meantime, though, we are cancelling all CRs scheduled to depart between now and February 15, consistent with RAD. This includes the fingerprinting CR to Malta that departs Monday. PRM has notified their RSCs of these cancellations.

RAD, IO and PRM will have a standing daily meeting for the foreseeable future to coordinate, as needed.

More info and guidance to follow when available. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Maura

All,

FYI that RAD is suspending CRs through February 15 in light of the Executive Order that is expected tomorrow and which will affect refugee processing. We will be awaiting implementing guidance from DHS once the order is signed and can then assess what action we may need to take on our 2 currently deployed CRs and those scheduled for departure in February. We'll also then get a sense of how our I-730 caseloads will be affected.

I'm sure you've seen drafts online of the executive order as well as much press about what's likely coming, but we don't know what, if anything, of what's been reported may get changed in the final hours before the EO is signed.

Subject: circuit ride update

Dear RAD staff – I know that many of you have seen draft copies of an Executive Order related to the USRAP that is expected to be finalized and signed tomorrow. In light of this anticipated announcement, we've determined that it would be prudent to suspend circuit rides that are scheduled to depart between now and February 15.

We are also suspending the remaining PDBs planned for this week.

For our TDYers who are here in DC, we will be sharing information as soon as possible about travel arrangements for returning to home offices.

I hope to share more information tomorrow.

Hi Ken,

We have not yet received specific guidance on this issue but I have asked HQ and will let you know as soon as we have a response. In the interim, I would ask that you hold off on finalizing FTJ-A cases. I anticipate we will receive a reply tonight and will let you know as soon as we do.

Thanks,

Brian,

Maura's message stated the following:

- Do not issue any final approvals for any other application, including I-730 asylee following to join adjudication and travel eligibility cases for nationals or dual nationals of the 7 countries referenced in the Executive Order (Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, and Yemen), with the exception of I-131As (see attached email). You can approve I-131As for all applicants following existing guidance, which requires that you flag for HQ any with serious derogatory information for possible discretionary denials. Further guidance will be coming.

Probably over thinking it, but does that mean we can issue travel packets (foils for pilot and transportation letters for non-pilot) for FTJ-Asylum cases where applicants are not from 7 designated countries. Maura indicates we can approve the cases, but doesn't state whether we can issue travel packets.

Thank you,
Ken

DDs/DDDs,

I realize that you have many questions about the Executive Order and appreciate that you have been sending them forward. Please continue to do so. Unfortunately, things remain in flux and we do not have cleared guidance we can provide other than the following for the next few days or less (if we get additional guidance sooner):

- Do not issue any final approvals for any I-730 refugee following to join cases. Further guidance will be coming about how to update CAMINO, etc.
- Do not issue any final approvals for any other application, including I-730 asylee following to join adjudication and travel eligibility cases for nationals or dual nationals of the 7 countries referenced in the Executive Order (Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, and Yemen), with the exception of I-131As (see attached email). You can approve I-131As for all applicants following existing guidance, which requires that you flag for HQ any with serious derogatory information for possible discretionary denials. Further guidance will be coming.
- If you have refugee cases scheduled for Monday or Tuesday of this week, please cancel them if there is sufficient time to do so. If there is not sufficient time to cancel, then please collect the applicant's biometrics, review his or her bio-data for accuracy and completeness, and inform the applicant that he/she will be notified when the case is able to proceed in the future.

Right now, we are staying the course on the refugee CR in Indonesia; the team on the ground can continue interviewing and processing the cases there until further notice.

The above guidance is only a stop-gap to assist in addressing the most urgent needs for the next couple of days when more detailed cleared guidance can be issued. Also, for awareness, OCOMM is working on talking points and FAQs related to the Executive Order, which should be issued via USCIS Broadcast soon.

I appreciate the difficulty of being on the front line and getting inquiries from the public and others for which we don't yet have complete answers. Many people throughout the Agency and Department are working hard to sort out the impact of the E.O. on the Agency, and I will continue to keep you posted.

Thank you for your continued patience as we navigate the current policy changes.

EMEA Staff,

Please see the information below we just received this morning regarding refugee circuit rides. We wanted to be sure you have the most recent information right away.

At this time, we in IO are not being asked to cancel circuit rides that are currently deployed and we are not being asked to cease planning circuit rides that are scheduled to deploy. We will be discussing the situation with Maura today and will certainly keep you updated if that changes.

If you have any questions, please reach out to me and Joe.

All,

FYI that RAD is suspending CRs through February 15 in light of the Executive Order that is expected tomorrow and which will affect refugee processing. We will be awaiting implementing guidance from DHS once the order is signed and can then assess what action we may need to take on our 2 currently deployed CRs and those scheduled for departure in February. We'll also then get a sense of how our I-730 caseloads will be affected.

I'm sure you've seen drafts online of the executive order as well as much press about what's likely coming, but we don't know what, if anything, of what's been reported may get changed in the final hours before the EO is signed.

FYI,

BCs,

Wanted to give you a heads up on the draft guidance I issued to the DDs/DDDs for their input. While most of this deals with refugee and I-730 processing, please note that I've also instructed the field not to issue any decisions on any form type for any individual who is a national or dual national of one of the 7 nationalities referenced in the E.O. (Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, and Yemen). For HQ, this implicates parole cases.

Jess, on Monday, I'll need your help in running stats to identify IO cases with applicants or beneficiaries of these nationalities. I'll send you something separately on that. We'll also need to establish a case tag to help us i.d. cases being held due to the E.O.

Sorry to email on a weekend, but I wanted you to be able to weigh in, if desired, so that I can issue this guidance by COB tomorrow to the field.

Thanks,

Maura

DDs/DDDs,

We are continuing to seek clarification on elements of the E.O. signed Friday night, so the situation remains rather fluid. That said, the attached is a draft outline of the guidance I'm hoping you can review – I want to ensure I've captured our immediate needs, understanding that we'll have fuller guidance once DHS implementing guidance is issued and USCIS is able to issue its own, as well. If you are able to provide a quick review and get me any comments or questions tomorrow, I'll incorporate your feedback into the 'final' interim guidance to the field tomorrow. Continue to send questions my way – they've been very helpful in flagging issues we need to address.

Still no decision on our 2 CRs. At this point, I don't expect I'll have a further update until after their processed ends on Monday, so the teams should plan to proceed business as usual. Hopefully with this knowledge they can fully enjoy their Sunday. I appreciate their patience very much; limbo is not a desirable place to be.

Thank you!

All,

Based on the guidance acting D1 has issued, we are able to move forward with re-paroles for individuals already in the United States, regardless of nationality, as they are not affected by section 3(c) of the EO. However, we are still unable to issue parole approvals for individuals outside the U.S. who are nationals or dual nationals of the 7 countries. Wally has been alerting me to affected cases, and we will work with the FO and DHS to determine handling of those cases.

IO colleagues,

Attached please find agency guidance on the handling of adjudications in light of the Executive Order (Protecting the Nation) signed on January 27, 2017.

A couple of clarifying points:

- Point 3 – until further guidance is issued on the handling of I-730 beneficiaries outside of the United States, please continue to follow the guidance I provided on January 29 (relevant text pasted below):
  - Do not issue any final approvals for any I-730 refugee following to join cases.
  - Do not issue any final approvals for I-730 asylee following to join adjudication and travel eligibility cases for nationals or dual nationals of the 7 countries referenced in the Executive Order (Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, and Yemen).

  For these cases, please pause the Clock in CAMINO, and note as the reason Executive Order 1/27.

- Point 4 – IO staff will only interview religious minority cases if referred by State/PRM. We are working with State/PRM to determine the plan for refugee processing, including religious minorities, over the next 120 days and for the remainder of the year. We will let you know when processing of such cases will occur.

Further guidance related to IO adjudications not addressed in the attached will be forthcoming.

Wally and Pilar,

I wanted to make sure you both were aware of the guidance I have issued below relative to adjudications and the impact of the EO. Effective immediately, please do not issue any approvals on parole cases where the applicant/beneficiary is a national or dual national (we will need to make sure to verify this) of Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, or Yemen. Those cases must go on hold. You may proceed processing denials to completion. I'll be coming out with something more official in the coming days. From a CAMINO report today, we seem to have quite a number of these cases, so I wanted to flag that for you.

Let's regroup tomorrow to make sure we have the right protocols in place to enact the holds.

I am focusing on Lori's positive response to my two messages combined below (cut and pasted here to illustrate the two thoughts she said Yes to). As long as your message is consistent with this and clearly just interim, stop-gap message for tomorrow or Tuesday, short and sweet (don't worry about CAMINO updates, etc.), Lori should be fine with it:

We can also say they can process a request for boarding letter from LPR per existing guidance (our existing guidance directs them to contact HQ if there is significant derog). Would be consistent with press release Tracy just forwarded.

Do you want us to send a simply message like FOD and SCOPS and Asylum did to their leadership to just hold all decisions for cases from affected countries and proceed otherwise?

Note we have no cases for boarding letters pending from the affected countries.

Joanna – this is what I'd like to send to the Field Managers. I'll attach the EO when I send it for their reference.

International Managers,

We continue to work as rapidly as possible to get clarification on implementation of the Executive Order signed on January 27, 2017 (attached for reference), and are working on detailed guidance to help field staff address various scenarios you may be encountering overseas. In the meantime, please follow the below guidance for the next few days until more complete guidance is available:

1. Refugee-Related Processing

A. For all I-590 Refugee Cases (all nationalities), all I-730 Refugee Follow-to-Join cases (all nationalities), and I-730 Asylee Follow-to-Join cases where the beneficiary is a national of Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, and Yemen:

1. Interview already scheduled this week, sufficient time to cancel

- Cancel interview, even if Lautenberg or other religious minority case. We will offer further guidance on these types of cases as soon as it is available.

- If I-730 cases, pause CAMINO Clock effective 1/27/2017; enter note "Per Executive Order".

2. Interview already scheduled, insufficient time to cancel

   - Collect fingerprints, review bio-data on case for accuracy and completeness, and notify applicant that he/she will be contacted with additional information in the future when we are able to proceed in the processing of his or her case.

   - For I-730 cases, pause CAMINO Clock effective 1/27/2017; enter note "Per Executive Order".

3. Interview not yet scheduled

   - Do not schedule any cases until further notice.

   - For I-730 cases, pause CAMINO Clock effective 1/27/2017; enter note "Per Executive Order".

4-6 below relate to I-730 Refugee Follow-to-Joins (all nationalities) and I-730 Asylee Follow-to-Joins of the 7 nationalities (Only)

4. Already interviewed, pending decision or travel packet issuance

   - No final decisions or travel packets should be issued. Pause CAMINO Clock effective 1/27/2017; enter note "Per Executive Order".

5. If new cases received

   - Immediately pause the Clock upon case entry, noting 1/27/2017 E.O.

Note: I-730 Asylee Follow-to-Join cases of all other nationalities can continue processing to completion, as usual.

B. I-590 Adjudications, I-590 Supervisory Review and I-602 Adjudications

- Staff should stop making decisions or completing supervisory review until further notice.

C. RFR Adjudications

- You may continue to process RFR adjudications to completion if they are denials. All others should be held until further notice and the Clock in CAMINO paused as of 1/27/2017.

2. All Other Benefit Types where the Applicant/Beneficiary is a national or dual national of Iraq, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, or Yemen

You may continue processing other case types but do not issue any final decisions until further notice, including I-131A boarding letters. If you receive an I-131A boarding letter request from a national or dual national of one of the 7 countries listed above, please contact me and Jen Kliska for guidance. I-407 abandonments can continue to be processed.

3. Handling of Inquiries

If you receive inquiries from foreign governments about any DHS equities related to the Executive Orders, please direct those inquiries to Matt King, Deputy Assistant Secretary, Policy at [redacted] Please do not provide his contact information to parties external to USCIS.

(b)(6)

The above guidance is only a stop-gap to assist in addressing the most urgent needs for the next few days or even this week when more detailed cleared guidance can be issued. Also, for awareness, OCOMM is also working on talking points and FAQs related to the Executive Order, which should be issued via USCIS Broadcast soon.

All-
Just a quick heads up that we are expecting anytime to get a signed executive order on issues that will impact us. You may have seen what's online, but we understand that language is draft.

At any rate, we may be asked to work out the impacts of the final executive order quickly and/or what steps we will need to take to implement. So I ask that you be near your phones or email this weekend in case we need to work quickly. Apologies for having to ask!

Thanks.

That could get very dicey in that many N600 and N600K applicants are already citizens by operation of law - save the oath taking. We would also need to consider those cases where State Department has already issued the COC applicant a US Passport.

Would N-600/N-600K be included in this? Should we also suspend COC for the affected countries? I am thinking specifically of over 14 that are required to take the oath prior to receiving their certificate.

The attached document is a matrix breaking down the EO into its component parts and action items. I've added columns for QAs and started compiling those I saw come across this morning and some early ones I saw from Div. 1.

The Policy and general objectives language at the beginning pulls key language from the EO for quick reference when we're drafting statements. The date conversion chart indicates the calendar dates associated with any specific timeframe mentioned in the EO.

I am working to convert this to Excel over the weekend so it's a little more scalable, but wanted to pass it on for initial use.

Please let me know if you have any questions or see anything that needs editing.

Thanks,

For section 4, do we need to take any actions prior to the"plan" described in section four being developed and implemented? And who is responsible for developing the plan?

For section 6, should we adjudicate cases in TRIG hold? It doesn't seem like exemptions are forthcoming.

To start and just on this part of the EO:

1. Are the following forms impacted: N-400s, N-336, I-601A, I-131, I-765, N-565, I-130, ...?
2. Should we deschedule oath ceremonies for individuals from the 7?
3. How do we handle N-400s 120+ days from interview?
4. Should we stop RFEs?
5. Should we stop scheduling interviews?

Everyone should be compiling a list of all of their questions and getting them to Jess so Lori and I have a complete list. If there are URGENT questions that we need answers to before Monday go ahead and flag those for us but I'm not sure the Department is going to get to us immediately, they are likely dealing with issues at the POEs which have a bit more urgency. I did send the question of whether this impact naturalization or not to the Department in an attempt to get an answer this weekend only because we have oath ceremonies scheduled for Monday.

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Also, since part of the directive is to reviewing to enhance information we collect and screening, we likely will be proposing changes to the I-730 process, to include revisions to the form and the I-730A, which would be completed by the beneficiary. We have mock ups and can move quickly, but need to think first about those in pipeline. Maura has giving directive to staff outside US to cancel pick up document pickups for 730s for next week.

We are working on further guidance and of course will coordinate with SCOP.

State has also issued guidance. Will forward.

Thanks for sending this, Lori.

As we've discussed, the most urgent question is whether adjustments and extensions or changes of nonimmigrant status are impacted. Separately, is there any impact on petitions for beneficiaries abroad since we would not be determining admissibility? I would think not, but it would be good to have clarity.

If we can define "suspend processing" as "suspend prior to approval", then one option would be to continue with the interviews, since it is likely we have some that are scheduled as soon as Monday for affected applicants and then hold the cases post interview. We are trying to scrape our schedulers (C4 and NASS) to see when and where we have interviews scheduled for individuals from affected countries. We should have that sometime Monday.

Tracy,

It is my understanding that POTUS will sign the "Protecting the Nation from Terrorist Attacks by Foreign Nationals" order today at 4:30pm. In complying with the EA I believe we need immediate clarification in Section 3 (c) relative to the 30 day suspension (b)(5) of processing immigrants and non-immigrants from the designated countries of interest and if this extends to processing of permanent resident applications. Though the EA states "immigrant and non-immigrant entry into the United States", once we grant an adjustment we "admit" that perso[redacted]
We just need to clarify if by extension this applies to our product lines. If this is the case then Don and Dan will need to get guidance to the Field to put these adjudications on hold. Other than the refugee suspension that appears fully deployed on our end this appears the most urgent clarification we need relative to the EAs.

Field Leadership

As noted below, it will be critical for field offices to ensure that staff members are aware of the need to hold all pending cases for individuals who were born or who are nationals of these countries. We will be providing the standard NFTS code to which offices must place these cases while pending additional guidance. It is important that all field offices uses the code provided to facilitate national tracking. I will provide you with that code Monday. Additionally, NER is in the process of creating a report for all field offices in USCIS what will identify the cases and NFTS file locations within your respective offices to facilitate the segregation of the cases. We should have that also early next week.

Please let us know if you have questions or concerns. Thanks

Subject: Executive Order: PROTECTING THE NATION FROM FOREIGN TERRORIST ENTRY INTO THE UNITED STATES - Field Operations Instructions

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

Effectively immediately and until additional guidance is received, you may not take final action on any petition or application where the applicant is a citizen or national of Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya. Field offices may interview applicants for adjustment of status and other benefits according to current processing guidance and may process petitions and applications for individuals from these countries up to the point where a decision would be made. At that point, cases shall be placed on hold until further notice and will be shelved with specific NFTS codes which will be provided through the Regional Offices. Offices are not permitted make any final decision on affected cases to include approval, denial, withdrawal, or revocation.

Please look for additional guidance later this weekend on how to process naturalization applicants from one of the seven countries listed above who are currently scheduled for oath ceremony or whose N-400s have been approved and they are pending scheduling of oath ceremony.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures as needed in the coming days. Questions or requests for additional clarification may be directed to the Regional Offices through your chain of command.

Pharrah,
Just a quick run through of ACMS shows we have some open cases. The Iranian cases are not yet assigned. Shelly has the Yemeni cases, and Trevor has the Sudanese cases. Not as fancy as a Robin report, but something to start with.

Colleagues,

Please see the message below from AD Daniel Renaud. Per his instructions please cease taking final action on those petitions and applications where the applicant or beneficiary is a citizen or national from any of the listed countries. If you encounter a case that falls into this category please set it aside for the time being. We'll issue further guidance early next week. Thanks for your help in this matter.

Subject: Executive Order: PROTECTING THE NATION FROM FOREIGN TERRORIST ENTRY INTO THE UNITED STATES - Field Operations Instructions

On January 27, 2017, the President signed an Executive Order that, in part, relates to the suspension of processing of certain immigration benefits. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order invokes sections 212(f) and 217(a)(12) of the INA to temporarily suspend the entry immigrants and nonimmigrants who are from Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya for 90 days from the date of the Executive Order.

Effectively immediately and until additional guidance is received, you may not take final action on any petition or application where the applicant is a citizen or national of Syria, Iraq, Iran, Somalia, Yemen, Sudan, and Libya. Field offices may interview applicants for adjustment of status and other benefits according to current processing guidance and may process petitions and applications for individuals from these countries up to the point where a decision would be made. At that point, cases shall be placed on hold until further notice and will be shelved with specific NFTS codes which will be provided through the Regional Offices. Offices are not permitted make any final decision on affected cases to include approval, denial, withdrawal, or revocation.

Please look for additional guidance later this weekend on how to process naturalization applicants from one of the seven countries listed above who are currently scheduled for oath ceremony or whose N-400s have been approved and they are pending scheduling of oath ceremony.

We expect to issue more detailed guidance and procedures as needed in the coming days. Questions or requests for additional clarification may be directed to the Regional Offices through your chain of command.

Subject: Draft of Exception Process - EO
Attachments: 192 eo option.docx

All: Based on yesterday's discussions for EO, attached is a draft from SCOPS on what might work if we were required to develop an exception for folks that are here in the US, but may need to travel for work and student reasons. Can you please take a look from your perspective and let us know if you have any concerns? Its due to the Department this afternoon, so we will need a response as quickly as possible. So sorry for the quick turnaround on this.

Appreciate your help.

Exception Options

Background: As a result of recent Executive Orders relating to limiting travel to the United States from 7 identified countries, the Department of Homeland Security is in a challenging position to assist individuals that may be stuck in this process.

This proposal specifically applies to the population of individuals, currently in the United States, that came to the US on a valid business or student visa, and still has a current, unexpired visa and passport.

This is a truly unique situation for the Agency. One that we haven't encountered to date, thus, will require something new to be implemented. Essentially, DHS needs to create a process that would allow the individuals stuck in this scenario to apply to the Department prior to leaving the country. This provisional review will ensure that, upon their return to the United States, they will be allowed reentry. The goal being that this new process will provide them with a document that they could present to CBP when they arrive to allow entry.

It is estimated per the Department of State (DOS), as communicated to USCIS by CBP that approximately 18,000 people could be in this population.

While we believe that the best option to truly stay aligned to the intent of the Order is to not allow this, we understand that the Department needs to consider and possibly create an option to assure impacted individuals a safe return to the US. USCIS currently doesn't have an existing process that allows for this; thus, a new process must be created for this sole reason. As a result, USCIS is proposing two possible options for consideration: (b)(5)

Subject: EO Country Statistics
Attachments: CAT Reports 2-1.xlsx

Julie,

Here are the EO country statistics for 1/31/2017 for I-485s, N-400s, N-600s, and N-600ks. Note that we are still working on interviews scheduled for I-485s but we wanted to get these to you tonight. We do not have I-730 data yet but we met late this afternoon with SCOPS and RAIO to come up with a plan on how to consolidate and report the data. We were able to run totals on the I-485s pending to see how many were asylees (9.7%) and refugees (64.2%).

Let me know if you have any questions or concerns. I have not sent these tables to the larger group, but the data specifications have been coordinated at the worker level.

Julie,

Attached is the EO report with data primarily through 2/2. Please note the following issues:

- FOD was sent 20 I-485 case records on 2/2 where it appears that I-485s were approved after 1/27/17. They are still in the process of reviewing them.
- The increase in pending I-485s between 1/31 and 2/1 of about 1,000 held steady into 2/2. The assumption is that the increase was due to incomplete uploading before 2/1 and not any significant increase in receipts.

Note: Delays in reporting will result in changes in totals by date. Data should be mostly complete after 2-3 days.

Applications selected if the beneficiary had either a country of birth or country of citizenship in the 7 countries.

* The number of pending (I-485) adjustments increased by 1,054 between 1/31 and 2/1. Pending was relatively unchanged on 2/2.

It appears that this may have been due to a system issue which is still under investigation..

The pending totals may be revised depending on the findings as to the cause.

Julie,

Attached is the EO report with data primarily through 2/1. Please note the following issues and changes in the report from yesterday:

- FOD was sent 20 I-485 case records where it appears that I-485s were approved after 1/27/17. They are still in the process of reviewing them.
- As I indicated when I spoke to you, we have an inexplicable increase in the number of pending I-485 applications pending over the past day. We suspect this is a system issue as nearly all of the added records were received in 2015 and should have appeared in the 2 previous daily runs. We did not change our program so we suspect it was a system uploading error. We will adjust the totals to the extent we can after we research this some more.
- We now have data on interviews scheduled over the next 7 days for both I-485s and N-400s, though the I-485 data are not available by country. The totals for 1/28 show the number of interviews scheduled for 1/29 and the next 6 days.
- The N-600K receipt total of 3 from yesterday's report was in listed in error. The correct total in today's report is that we have not received any N-600Ks from the 7 countries.

Lori and Tracy – were you award of this recommended delegation that would make CBP responsible for exercising the refugee exemption authority under 5(e)? Seems quite odd to me. At least it should be "in consultation with" USCIS.

Also, the factual representation under "Need" is off-base. There is no reason to "expect hundreds of individuals to seek such waivers in the next week." PRM will be controlling who gets put forward for exemptions.

Julie,

Please find attached a completed, final TRIG package for AD1's consideration. We made sure to note in the briefing memo that the draft PM would need to go through the Exec Sec process, but we wanted to include a complete draft now just in case a quick decision is made to go this route. We'd then be poised to get this into that process immediately.

Thank you for coordinating the feedback on this package. We look forward to next steps.

Thanks,
Karen S.

Hi, Karen. Please see OCC's edits. If you could review the briefing memo and the attachment A and have those back to me by noon today, that would be appreciated.

I think they're correct about needing to send the PM update through the full clearance process, but I think we can hold off on that until the front office and Department give us more direction as to where they want to go with these TRIG cases. But it's great that we already have this drafted. Thanks for all your work on this.

Julie,
Attached are OCC's edits to the briefing memo. Also included are the attachments that we edits. We did not have edits to the other two attachments. I was wondering if this briefing memo is just for the USCIS FO or if it's intended for DHS? I assume that it is being packaged as EO-related since you are coordinating all EO-related items. Also, will the draft PM (Attachment D) go through ExecSec in a separate process or is this the clearance process for the PM? I guess I'm just trying to figure out the intent here. Appreciate any insight.

Thanks again for the extension of time.

All,

Materials are coming in fast and furious.

Hawaii has moved to intervene (or in the alternative be counted as amicus) in the Washington v. Trump litigation at the request for stay and the appeal of the TRO.

Washington and Minnesota have filed their response to the request for stay.

A number of other amici have filed briefs.

All I have so far received are attached. You may have received these from other sources. Sorry if I am doubling up, but I want to have everyone have all of these.

Washington has finally cited the Fifth Circuit Texas case as supporting their bid to challenge the EO here. Interestingly, this is a the opposite of the position they took when they were among the non-plaintiff states opposing the attack on DAPA/DACA where they approved of the brief filed by the United States opposing the PI and its reasoning and filed additional briefing to the argument made by the United States: http://agportal-s3bucket.s3.amazonaws.com/uploadedfiles/Home/News/Press_Releases/2015/Texas%20v.%20US%20Multi-State%20PI%20Amicus%20As%20Filed.pdf

It was the same Washington AG as it is now. There are distinguishing factors. We have the additional procedural hurdle at being at the TRO stage rather than the PI stage. Also, Washington factually asserted that the Nov. 20 Memo from Secretary Johnson was a net economic positive and they argue only economic harm from the EO. However, the U.S. argued no standing for Texas and the other states on their economic harm theory, and Washington signed onto a brief saying (on page 3)

"To avoid redundancy, the amici States will not repeat the United States' compelling arguments as to why the district court erred in holding that Plaintiffs' APA claim was likely to succeed. Instead, the amici States will focus on the other three elements of the preliminary injunction test: irreparable injury, the balance of hardships, and the public interest. The amici States will also explain why the preliminary injunction is so overbroad that this error independently merits reversal."

My comments:

1) While it's helpful to see in the draft WH guidance that they appear to want to provide "categorical" mechanisms to permit various groups of the E.O.- affected aliens to enter or reenter the U.S., should the full TRO be lifted, I don't really understand how they get around POTUS' directives in secs. 3(g) and 5(e) that the Secretaries of HS and State do "case by case" determinations. But if they want to read his E.O. to permit category exemptions w/o need for waivers, I would not object.

2) Would help to make it a little clearer in the DOS paper in para. beginning "For an individual who is physically present in the United States....the revocation will take effect...." that the adv. parole grant by DHS may be relied upon by State to grant a Section 3(g) waiver for the issuance of visas. Does the person then have 2 docs to get back in the U.S.: a DHS-issued I-512 AP + a DOS waiver-infused visa? Or does the issuance of the visa cancel our adv. parole doc? Just curious. Maybe it doesn't have to be stated in these two docs., but affected travelers and CBP may want guidance.

No further edits or comments, and please disregard these if they aren't helpful. I know this a very moving target.

Thanks,
Alice

Thanks all for your careful review and input. Attached FYI is what I just sent back to SCOPs et al. I used the OPS documents as a baseline as they requested – have tried to capture the key points made in the OCC comments and edits, while trying to trim them down a bit to eliminate some of the redundancy, back and forth, etc. that inevitably arise when lots of people are ECNing (is that a verb? I guess it is now) on short notice simultaneously, so as not to overwhelm the recipients. Let me know if you think I've missed anything essential. Phil

That was the plan discussed. SCOPS was given flexibility on how to set it up so we will comment on what they provide. I think they are considering using the 131 and the 192. But Lori was focused on AP. Neither is on point and would have to be adapted. I understand you all recommended not going with the 192 because that generally goes to inadmissibility, but the 131 is targeted for the parole standard so both will require adaptations. Let's see what they come up with and I look forward to learning more about our best recommendations. Thanks so much for us know and careful work on this front.

Based on what Phil said offline, just confirming that it will be implementation using the advance parole process as a model—it will not be for advance parole itself. So, if the person is an H-1B, gets the waiver, leaves the US, and then returns, CBP will admit this person as an H-1B.

Thanks, Bryan, for finding that case law. Much appreciated!

I think if we model implementation after how we conduct the case-by-case parole program, such that there are only guidelines put out there for adjudicators, and adjudicators retain discretion in the decisions, we should be able to withstand an APA challenge.

Thanks all—but do we think any of our current forms could be used to adjudicate the national interest standard—which at this point we aren't clear on what it is. But if someone concluded that the waiver was in the national interest where someone needed to travel and showed urgent humanitarian reasons or SPB, could we then use the 131 for the waiver decision? And how would that work if folks who needed the waiver couldn't currently apply for the 131?

I have one issue, although I am not sure if it has been decided already. The EO says in Sec. 3(g):

"the Secretaries of State and Homeland Security may, on a case-by-case basis, and when in the national interest, issue visas or other immigration benefits to nationals of countries for which visas and benefits are otherwise blocked."

The use of and seems like the EO could be read to either 1) require both DHS and DOJ to jointly agree to waivers; or 2) provide independent authority for DHS and DOS to grant waivers.

Also, as for broader legal issues with USCIS adjudicating these waiver requests, and along the lines of the rule making issues Evan raised, there's the question of how people would make these requests to us - just with a letterr? I would think we'd need a form for these requests, which could raise potential PRA issues. I defer to Phillip on that, but wanted to flag it.

Claudia,

Kathryn and I just rang. Just curious whether there's been any further movement or discussion of USCIS developing an interpretation of what "entry" means, as used in the EO and in the context of INA 212(f), for the purposes of deciding what USCIS adjudications can go forward. We've continued to hear piecemeal of which adjudications are being suspended and which are not. (It's haphazard at best – including SCOPS holding not only TPS cases for the 4 TPS countries covered by Section 3(c) of the EO that have TPS (Sudan, Somalia, Yemen, and Syria), but also South Sudan.) Is the posture still just wait and see what comes down from on high w/o giving any independent thought ourselves to what we think falls within the ambit of the EO? We're checking on this again now as we're prepping Larry to potentially raise this as a question for leadership's consideration.

Thanks,

Hi, Claudia,

Wanted to flag for you FOD's question in the chain below and in the attached matrix regarding whether to adjudicate TRIG hold cases in light of the EO's directive to "consider rescinding" the TRIG exemptions, as FOD (reasonably) suggests that new exemptions are unlikely. Not sure exactly how all these issues will shake out or be discussed next week, but just wanted to share that it may be part of the discussion. My thoughts here. Brandon also made a good point that we need to make sure people understand that nothing in the EO prevents continuing to apply the existing exemptions.

Also, wondering whether once it's decided if we can grant natz cases at all, we should make another push with Lori to apply the exemptions to those cases while we still have them – as discussed in the WG meeting, as an application of a legal interpretation, not a policy change.

Finally, was curious whether you knew if OCC has arrived at an interpretation of what "entry" means, as used in the EO and in the context of INA 212(f), for the purposes of deciding what USCIS adjudications can go forward? We've heard most FOD, SCOPS, and RAIO adjudications from the 7 countries are currently on hold pending further guidance. Wondered whether this is precautionary at this point or if it's based on OCC's legal interpretation of the order. More here.

Subject: RE: Executive Order (b)(5)

I'll look more closely at the chart, but upon first glance and after reading the chain below, I wanted to raise a couple things:

[redacted]

(c) To temporarily reduce investigative burdens on relevant agencies during the review period described in subsection (a) of this section, to ensure the proper review and maximum utilization of available resources for the screening of foreign nationals, and to ensure that adequate standards are established to prevent infiltration by foreign terrorists or criminals, pursuant to section 212(f) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1182(f), I hereby proclaim that the immigrant and nonimmigrant entry into the United States of aliens from countries referred to in section 217(a)(12) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. 1187(a)(12), would be detrimental to the interests of the United States, and I hereby suspend entry into the United States, as immigrants and nonimmigrants, of such persons for 90 days from the date of this order (excluding those foreign nationals traveling on diplomatic visas, North Atlantic Treaty Organization visas, C-2 visas for travel to the United Nations, and G-1, G-2, G-3, and G-4 visas).

2. FOD has raised a question of whether TRIG hold cases should be adjudicated, indicating that the EO's directive in Section 6 to "consider rescinding" TRIG exemptions would seem to mean that new TRIG exemptions are not forthcoming. This should certainly be a question for discussion (and a reconsideration of the agency's hold policy has recently been a topic of discussion, even before this order), but nothing in the EO requires us to take this step, and I would urge that it be thoughtfully considered before a decision to adjudicate all TRIG hold cases is made. OCC has also been very involved in the discussion to adjust the TRIG hold policy, and will certainly want to weigh in on this decision also.

The attached document is a matrix breaking down the EO into its component parts and action items. I've added columns for QAs and started compiling those I saw come across this morning and some early ones I saw from Div. 1.

The Policy and general objectives language at the beginning pulls key language from the EO for quick reference when we're drafting statements. The date conversion chart indicates the calendar dates associated with any specific timeframe mentioned in the EO.

I am working to convert this to Excel over the weekend so it's a little more scalable, but wanted to pass it on for initial use.

Please let me know if you have any questions or see anything that needs editing.

If there are URGENT questions that we need answers to before Monday go ahead and flag those for us but I'm not sure the Department is going to get to us immediately, they are likely dealing with issues at the POEs which have a bit more urgency. I did send the question of whether this impact naturalization or not to the Department in an attempt to get an answer this weekend only because we have oath ceremonies scheduled for Monday.

I would also like to flag I-730s. While adjudication does not give status to those outside the US, it does for those inside. Also, since part of the directive is to reviewing to enhance information we collect and screening, we likely will be proposing changes to the I-730 process, to include revisions to the form and the I-730A, which would be completed by the beneficiary. We have mock ups and can move quickly, but need to think first about those in pipeline. Maura has giving directive to staff outside US to cancel pick up document pickups for 730s for next week.

We are working on further guidance and of course will coordinate with SCOP.

State has also issued guidance. Will forward.
